AN OPEN LETTER

To the Ladies of Athens and Vicinity:

Having fitted up over store a comfortable suit of rooms for the conducting of Dress and Mantle making in all their varied branches, I have much satisfaction in announcing that I have secured the services of Miss May Campbell, late of Ingersoll, to take charge of the department.

Miss Campbell has had over six years experience in the making to order of Ladies' garments in several large towns in Western Canada, and has been successful in suiting the tastes of the most fastidious class of society, and from her many and excellent testimonials, we feel confident her patrons will in every respect be satisfactorily dealt with.

Miss Campbell will be in her rooms each day during business hours, when she will be pleased to see prospective customers, either to advise as to material and trimming or to receive orders.

Respectfully,

H. H. ARNOLD,

Central Block. GENERAL MERCHANT

The annual meeting of the Athens Mechanics' Institute will be held in the library room at 8 o'clock Thursday evening. A full attendance of members is requested.

On Friday last Mr. John T. Tennant, of Caintown, met with an accident that resulted in his receiving serious injuries. A colt that he was leading, becoming frightened, threw him to the ground and dragged him some distance. Besides being bruised his collar bone was broken.

Tale of a Dog.

It is not the office of this paper to discuss the rewards and punishments of life, although daily observation confirms the fact that retribution frequently follows sin. Desecration of the Sabbath's sanctity is in many instances succeeded by catastrophe, as the following narration will tend to confirm. During the past three years two of our most popular citizens,—Jumbo and Little Vic,—have been in the habit of making Sunday visits to the hunting-grounds in the vicinity of Alguire's Mineral Springs. On the morning of the 8th inst., these gentlemen ate a light breakfast and departed for a day's sport. These expeditions have never been attended by accident to the hunters, and no concern was felt during the day as to their safety. The sun had just sunken behind the Parish block, when Dr. Harte was hastily summoned to attend Mr. Vic. The unfortunate gentleman had suffered the punctures of a hundred porcupine quills about the head and neck, and it was found necessary to administer chlorform before the operation of extraction could be completed. We are pleased to announce that Mr. Vic is at present feeling quite recovered from his experience of last Sunday.

No apprehension was felt as to Mr. Jum, for he was thought to be following the trail of some big beast. Midnight came, the moon descended below the celestial equator, but still no Jum! Dr. W. Hawkins had just entered his office,—having come from visiting a long list of patients,—when his attention was attracted by long, low, moans outside his door. Going out upon the adjoining lawn, he discovered Mr. Jum—lying prostrate, and bleeding from a thousand wounds. Observing the complicated character of the case, the doctor immediately communicated with Dr. Cornell, who came hurriedly for consultation. Although the patient had always been destitute of hirsute growth about his lips and chin, his personal appearance,—always admired by the good ladies of Athens,—was much altered by ten thousand spikes and spurs, black, white, and mottled, protruding from nose, tongue, throat, face, breast, and sides, and crimson creeks of blood streaming down. The doctors, by headlights, mirrors, forceps, mouth-gags, nasal speculum, and douches, succeeded, after two hours' work, in relieving the sufferer of his goads. The patients fortitude did not render the administration of chloroform necessary.

Mr. Jum will be confined to his house for a few days to come.

Put away those winter flannels
That so many moons you've worn—
And you'll catch the influenza
Just as sure as you are born.

Sala Blancher is gaining slowly. His friends had more hope of his recovery yesterday than at any time since he was confined to his bed.

Next week's Reporter will contain a handsome 8-column cut of the Central Block. Parties wanting extra copies to send to their friends should order at once.

Mr. H. Blanchard, of Helena, Mont., after an absence of six years, spent in the Western States, returned to Athens last week for a visit with his parents and friends.

A resident of Delta captured a big mud turtle recently and it now makes its home in a barrel on the shore of Lake Abel. It is guarded by a large black snake.

An action for $25,000 damages has been instituted against the contractors for the tunnel work at Niagara through whose negligence, it is alleged, Robert Addison received the injuries which have just proved fatal. The case will come on next September.

Athens boys may not be able to shine as football players, but they have an established reputation for playing good baseball and are now preparing to sustain it by organizing. We are assured that a good nine could be placed in the field almost any day. There is a probability of a match taking place on the 24th.

Fisher's Carriage Works is one of the busiest spots in town. One of his agents, Mr. Cheney, takes away some five or six every week and is coming for five more on Thursday next, so that with his own local sales he is taxed to keep the demand supplied, but is doing it, and is determined to do so.

Attention is directed to the advertisement of the Traveling Dairy meetings to be held in this Electoral District during the next week also to the article on "The Traveling Dairy" to be found on the third page of this issue. The article shows the origin of the dairy, the work accomplished last season, the work planned for this season, when the work will commence, and a lot of matter interesting to farmers.

From the beginning of its manufacture until now not a single ounce of any but pure Virginia leaf of the finest quality has been used in the "Myrtle Navy" tobacco. The manufacturers of it have a settled belief that the public cannot be misled on this point, and that any tampering with the quality of the brand would be a monetary loss to them. Thousands of dollars a year saved by mixing with an inferior leaf, would not repay them for a doubt on the part of the public as to the quality of their tobacco.

Referring to the frequent complaints about poor mucilage on postage stamps the deputy postmaster-general in his last annual report says: "Complaints of defective mucilage would be far less frequent if the public would kindly bear in mind, that it is the envelope of a letter or packet, and not the postage stamp, which should be moistened when stamps are affixed in prepayment of postage. When the stamp is passed over the tongue, the mucilage is frequently almost wholly removed.

Football.

A closely contested game of football took place here between junior teams of Brockville and Athens. Individually, the Athens boys played well, but owing to the entire absence of practice their team play was poor. The Brockville boys played a strong game and a few minutes before the lapse of the time limit they won the only goal taken. The Athens team were: Blake Halladay (Capt.), G. Ellis, G. Slack, C. Nash, M. Arnold, G. Taylor, C. Oliver, S. Myers, H. Kilborn. Taylor and Kilborn were injured during the game and were substituted by McKinley and J. Johnson. Brockville team are accused of playing three of their seniors, so that the record of 1 to 0 against an unpracticed team is probably less glory than the visitors expected.

Quarterly Services.

The fourth and last quarterly meeting for the year of the Methodist Church in this place was held on Saturday and Sabbath last. The business meeting on Saturday showed the finances to be in a satisfactory state. Prosperity has been experienced in all departments of church work.

The large congregation on Sabbath morning from all the appointments on the circuit is a strong proof of the high esteem in which the pastor, Mr. Grenfell, is held, and if, as is said, the necessary things to a good sermon are good preaching and good hearing, we had them both morning and evening in a marked manner. The sermon in the evening on "Heroes" was a fine effort and did much to stimulate those present to become heroes in the true sense of the term. The text was in Prov. 16: 32. The Athens church is to be congratulated upon having such an able and original preacher.

Unionville Fair.

A meeting of the Directors of the above fair was held on Wednesday last, 4th inst., nearly all the directors being present. After the reading and adoption of the minutes of previous meeting, the list of special prizes was taken up, and those not placed by the donors were offered in competition in such form as the directors thought for the best interest of the givers and the society. Mr. Jelly, one of the committee, not being present, and it being understood that he had obtained several specials that were not yet reported, it was decided to appoint a committee to finish the list. A committee consisting of Messrs. Saunders, Davis, Beecher, Jelly, Barry, Barlow and the secretary were appointed to meet at the secretary's office on Friday, May 13th to complete the list. On motion, the offer of the Reporter office for printing for 1892 was accepted. It was decided to proceed to move the sheep building and lengthen the horse ring to ½ of a mile.

CAME HOME TO DIE.

"Doc" Addison's Brave Battle for Life Ended.—A Peaceful Death.

Robert B. Addison died at the home of his parents at 8 p.m. on Sunday. As the news spread through the village many a heart was stricken with sorrow and throbbed with sympathy for his bereaved relatives.

Our readers will remember the details of the accident. As superintendent of a large gang of men at the Niagara tunnel he was prosecuting the work when the lining, through some defect, gave way and the falling rock and timbers killed several of his men. He was himself struck with a falling timber which fractured his spine, completely paralyzing him below the hips. He was conveyed to the hospital at Buffalo and there with his brother and three sisters in attendance he underwent with cheerfulness and marvelous fortitude the rare operation known as trephining the spine. The operation was pronounced a success, and then followed many days of weary watching by his friends in Buffalo and anxious waiting by his friends in Athens, the darkness of their sorrow being lighted only by the hope inspired by the patience and cheerfulness of the sufferer. Then came the welcome tidings that he was to be brought to Athens for convalescence. Accordingly, last week he was placed on a couch and, in company with Miss Jessie and Mr. Kenneth Addison and a nurse from the Buffalo General Hospital, he commenced his long journey to his native village. At Brockville the party, was joined by Miss Leah Addison, of New York. The patient appeared to stand the trip all right, and when at length he reached his home his friends breathed more freely than for weeks, as they thought that the pure country air and the loving ministrations of his relatives and the friends of his earlier years would woo him back to the enjoyment of some measure of the vigorous health that had always been his. But their hopes belied their fears, for on Sunday at 3 p.m., without warning, his spirit passed quietly away. He had been talking with members of the family only a short time before, and in the depth of the grief that they feel it should be comforting to them to realize that in the last hours of his heroic battle for life he was permitted to enjoy the society of his father and that dearest of earthly friends, his mother. To them we tender our heartfelt sympathy.

A minister, annoyed by tobacco chewing, thus spoke to his congregation: "Take your quid of tobacco out of your mouth on entering the house of God, and gently lay it on the outer edge of the sidewalk or on the fence. It will positively be there when you come out, for a rat won't take it, a cat won't take it, a dog won't take it, neither will a hog; you are certain of your quid when you go after it. Not the filthiest vermin on earth would touch it."

After Nine Years.

During the last week in April Oliver T. Phillips, better known as Tom Jones, of New Boyne, was made happy by receiving a pension certificate from Washington. For over nine years Mr. Phillips has been earnestly pressing his claim upon the Department at Washington, and being a poor man unable to bear the expense of prosecuting the claim he felt a short time ago like giving up the effort in despair. Now, however, he feels glad to know that his claim has been recognized even after his long years of waiting for such recognition.

The pension allowed him is at the rate of ten dollars per month, and is allowed him under Act of Congress of March 1890.

We congratulate Mr. Phillips, and hope that he may be successful in having his claim for pension under the old law fully recognized.

Shoving the Queer.

On Saturday evening two young men drove into Athens from the direction of Charleston and one of them at once proceeded to unload a quantity of spurious silver American coin upon our unsuspecting merchants. Scarcely a business place was overlooked, but in at least one place—the store of R. D. Judson—the coin was rejected. His method of operation was simple and bold. Some article of small value, such as a plug of tobacco or a pair of shoe laces, would be purchased and a counterfeit silver dollar tendered in payment. Current coin would be given in change and with this the rogue would depart in quest of a fresh victim. But he made a mistake when he visited Hickey's Corners, for the astute merchants of that commercial centre at once ran the fox to earth. A coin had been left with Mr. Slack, and seeing the stranger enter Mr. Rappell's grocery a minute later, he suspected something wrong and a consultation was held which resulted in Mr. Slack going on a still hunt for his patron. He found him on the street without difficulty, and demanded that the spurious coin be redeemed with genuine at once. The stranger promptly satisfied him and shortly thereafter disappeared. In the meantime the Chief had been communicated with, and on his arrival he secured the companion of the man who had passed most, if not all, the money. He proved to be a young man from Mallorytown, well known in this village. He was subjected to a search and examination and as no spurious coin was found on his person, and he told a plausible story of his connection with the stranger, he was allowed to go. Several of the victimized were called but none could, or would, identify him as having uttered any of the counterfeit. His story was that he had picked up the man near Baile's mill, and at his suggestion had driven to Charleston, before coming on to Athens.

The coins counterfeited were American silver dollars of the issue of 1884 and half-dollars of 1875. They were a poor imitation, but would pass in the dark with the majority of people. Besides being much lighter than the genuine, the design was not sharply cut and the milling on the edges was very poor. Between fifteen and twenty dollars was unloaded here and at Charleston, and word comes this morning that the merchants at McIntosh's also suffered.

So far as we know, no steps have been taken to secure the arrest of the man who uttered the false coin.

Odd Fellows' Anniversary.

A large gathering of three-linked men assembled at Delta on Sunday last to attend divine service, in commemoration of the 73rd anniversary of Oddfellowship in America. The contingent from Athens numbered about a score, so that when the brethren were formed in procession by W. M. Stevens, acting as Marshall, there were fully sixty in line. At the Methodist church a large congregation awaited their arrival, and as soon as they were seated the service commenced. Rev. G. S. White, of Prescott, a brother high up in the order, was to preach the sermon, and from him the brethren naturally expected something specially good, and they were not disappointed. After reading and expounding the 10th chapter of Luke he selected for his text the latter part of the 37th verse, "go, and do thou likewise." He said that since becoming an Odd Fellow his view of the teaching of the parable of the good Samaritan had changed somewhat, and he regarded it as being chiefly a lesson in philanthrophy. It was, then, this first principle of Oddfellowship that formed the theme of his discourse, and his definition of man's duty to man was clear, logical and convincing. Though the sermon was for Oddfellows, and to them possessed a special significance, there was something for all present in the rev. gentleman's fine condemnation of selfishness as manifested within and without the christian churches. The Oddfellows were simply delighted with the able enunciation of the principles of their order and with the sermon as a whole.

The singing by the choir was excellent, a duet by Mrs. Percival and Miss Stevens being particularly fine. All the voices blended sweetly in the choruses and the singing was much enjoyed.

On returning to the lodge room a pleasant hour was spent. A vote of thanks was tendered to Rev. Mr. White for his able sermon and to the choir for the choice music they had rendered. Brief speeches on the subject of the order were then delivered by Rev. Mr. White, Mr. Blancher, of Minneapolis, and Messrs. W. M. Stevens, D. Wiltse, J. L. Gallagher, J. Thompson, Dr. Mallory and G. F. Donnelley.

The fine weather, the large attendance and the impressive and pleasing services of the day, all combined to make the anniversary in every respect a success.

CORRESPONDENCE.

A Lacteal Question.

Editor Reporter:

DEAR SIR.—In the last issue of the Reporter I noticed that the representative of the Old Reliable (?) cheese factory saw fit to relieve me of some work in the correspondence line, and in so doing questions the veracity of some of my former statements. Now, in reply, I may say that if necessary I can give the names of the owners of at least nine cans of milk which are going to the Delta factory, and as these men are no one horse farmers, the quantity of milk is large. It is very true concerning the two or three extra cans from towards Lyndhurst, but as they only represent about a dozen cows they are not deserving of special notice.

Now, I have neither time nor inclination for newspaper controversy, but I would say to that cheese man that he had better put on his eyeglass and examine my statements more closely before he makes such a ridiculous attempt to lay a falsehood at the door of your humble knight of the quill for Oak Leaf.

CORRESPONDENT.

The new Baptist church at Philipsville is nearing completion. Frank Reynolds is to do the painting and decorating.

The Chief of Police of Smith's Falls has begun a crusade against corner loafers. Four young men who were caught loitering on a corner on Sunday evening were brought before a magistrate and fined $2 and costs.

The following is the gist of the new amendment to the license law passed at the session of the Ontario Legislature, a copy of which has been issued to the license inspectors of the province: "In future all new transfers or removals will cost the applicant the sum of $25 in a city having less than 100,000 population. No constable can become bondsman for a license. All druggists may keep liquors for medical purposes for sale in quantities of not more than six ounces, either with or without medical certificates, but shall keep a special book wherein shall be stated the date of sale, quantity, purpose, and name of residence of purchaser and medical practitioner, if any: such being open to the inspector at all times.

Jim Woods Falls is a little hamlet near Watertown. A few weeks ago a sensation was created there by Jennie Green, Amy Green and Myrtle Sneider, three young ladies of the village, taking Frank Bartlett out and giving him a good sound horsewhipping while the father of the Green girls looked on. The girls alleged that young Bartlett circulated scandalous stories about them. Bartlett, however, caused their arrest and the case was tried at Brownville before a justice of the peace. The girls pleaded guilty to horse-whipping the young man, and the father of the Green girls also said he was guilty of encouraging his daughters. The four were fined six cents each, and Bartlett is still smarting from the lashing he received at the hands of the girls.

Cheap Excursion to Ottawa.

The Leeds Farmers' Institute are making arrangements for an excursion to Ottawa about the last of May, or as soon as the farmers get through with their spring work. The excursion will go by special train, leaving Kingston about noon; and connecting with a special train at Brockville. The exact date and the price of tickets have yet to be decided upon. But the excursion will go on some Tuesday, with tickets good to return by any regular train up to the following Thursday night. The fare from Gananoque and return will be $2. Arrangements will also be made with the Brockville and Westport R. R. for reduced fares on that line. Full particulars will be published as soon as all the arrangements shall have been completed. This will give everyone an opportunity to visit the Experimental Farm at Ottawa, the Parliament, which will be in session, and other public institutions at the Capital.—Reporter.

The bishop of Ontario sails for Canada this week, and will be home in ample time to take part in the ceremonies which will mark the reopening of St. George's cathedral, Kingston, at which priests and deacons from many points in the diocese will be present.
