PARISH AND COUNTY ASSESSMENTS

To the Editor of The Telegraph:

Sir,—I was interested in "Assessors" letter in your issue of this morning. What he says about assessments being too low is very, very true, but how is it to be remedied? There is no standard of assessment in country districts. Some parishes assess fairly well, but others make valuations as low as possible. The county assessors are guided largely by the judgment of the parish assessors, and the district with a low valuation gets a low county rate.

Why should there not be a standard making it necessary for assessors to value farms according to acreage and state of cultivation, houses and buildings according to size, etc. This would make it easier for the parish boards who now are in danger of making bad friends if they increase the valuation of any man's property.

Further than this, there should be a provincial law making it impossible for retired merchants to leave the city and live in the country to escape taxation. I know of men worth from a quarter to half a million who have left St. John and now live in the country who are assessed upon only a few thousand dollars.

Again, incorporated companies often make their head offices in some country village while their business is carried on in St. John or some large business place. They are welcomed by the parish which taxes them upon purely nominal amounts and they escape the just tax that they would have to pay in the larger community.

Rothesay, Westfield, Fairville have all been used for this purpose.

Only a short time ago a councillor from one of these parishes told me that incorporated companies dictated their assessment, threatening to change their head office if the amount was made larger than a certain sum.

Surely there is need for legislative action when such things are possible—but deliver us from any more political appointments in parish or county matters. The sooner the province gives the people sole control of their highway and revision boards the better.

Yours,
FAIR PLAY.

MR. MAXWELL AND MR. McDONALD GET FAT JOBS

The position of deputy receiver-general has fallen to the lot of Hon. Robert Maxwell, who has received notice of his appointment from T. C. Boville, deputy minister of finance, and who assumed office yesterday morning, the first day of a month. Since the late George Robertson, former deputy receiver-general, became ill some months ago, his duties have been capably attended to by Samuel P. deCavour, who now again takes up his work as chief accountant. It is said the salary is greater than was formerly paid. It is said that John McDonald, Jr., is to receive the appointment of inspector of land revenue, succeeding Timothy Burke, who is to be superannuated, and there is also a report that William Brown will succeed J. A. Clarke, superannuated, as assistant collector.

WEAK STOMACHS

Need New, Rich Blood to Restore Them to a Healthy Condition.

Actually in need of food to nourish them and yet afraid to eat because of the sharp pains that follow. That is the condition of the sufferer from indigestion with no choice between starvation or merciless cure.

The urgent need of all dyspeptics, of everybody whose organs of digestion have become unfit to perform their important duty, is for stronger stomachs that can extract nourishment from food. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills give weak stomachs just the strength they need by enriching the blood supply, thus giving tone and strength to the stomach and its nerves, and enabling it to do the work nature intended it to do. Thousands of cases of indigestion have been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, of which the following is but one instance. Miss L. A. Brown, Port Colborne, Ont., says: "For a number of years I was a terrible sufferer from indigestion, and as a result I became completely run down, and suffered from backaches and various troubles as well. I had to force myself to eat, but never enjoyed a meal owing to the awful pains that followed it. Life was becoming a burden, and medicine after medicine failed to help me. I felt I was doomed to go through life a constant sufferer. Finally a married sister strongly urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I have reason to be thankful that I followed her advice, as they have fully restored my health, and I can now eat all kinds of food without the least discomfort, and my friends say I am looking better than I have done for years. At all events I know I feel like a new person, and shall always praise Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.
