Dunlop.

The Christmas cards poured into this post office last week in abundance.

Our architect went a hunting on Christmas day, guided by a Saltford sport. He bagged a rabbit and a partridge.

Colborne.

A new feature in the line of scholars was seen to make its exit from out the Benmiller school, in the shape of an eight month's calf, chewing some other calvie's muffler.

The trustees of school section No 7, held their annual meeting on the 26 inst, Jacob Willson being re-elected as trustee for 1884. Mr. Habel's tender for wood was accepted. 10 cord at $1.25 per cord.

Wm. Forster is visiting his old home in Markham.

The correspondent who wrote the items about those Baer boys, had better get the truth of such affairs before reporting them.

Paramount.

Wm. McKenzie, of Washington Territory, is spending his holidays among his old friends in this place. Mr. McKenzie is an employee on the P. P. Railway, holding the position of inspector of bridges. He will return back again shortly.

HYMENEAL. — An interesting event took place on the twentieth inst., at the residence of Mrs. Jas. Hunter, 12th con. of Ashfield, when her daughter Elizabeth was united in holy bond with William Struthers, of this place. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Hamilton, of Ashfield circuit. The bride and groom are enjoying their honeymoon in the neighborhood of Toronto and Galt.

Our school teacher, J. D. Murray, has given up the profession. Mr. Murray was very successful as a teacher. We hope he may be as successful in his future business. We understand that H. Horton, of Colborne, is to be our teacher in this school for the coming year.

Andrew McLellan has rented his saw mill to R. McMillan & W. Davis. Mr. McLellan has purchased land in Michigan, and intends to emigrate there in the spring.

Belfast.

School re-opened yesterday (Thursday.)

At the annual school meeting, on Wednesday last, P. Smeltzer was elected as trustee, in place of Hugh McCrostic retired.

Our population is on the increase, as two more citizens moved in this week, i. e., R. D. Cameron and G. M. Kilty. The latter was accompanied by his newly made bride.

A grand tea-meeting was held in the Zion Methodist Church, north-west of this place, on New Year's night

Some very large sticks of square timber have passed through here, lately, to the Lucknow station, of the G. T. R.

Leeburn.

Miss Emily Hillier, of Goderich, visited friends here last week

J. Cook and family spent Christmas at Holmesville.

R. E. Brown, teacher, is visiting "the old folks at home" during vacation.

Chas. Jefferson enjoyed the pleasures of New Year's day in the brick village of Amberley.

Divine service at the Presbyterian church was very impressive. Special thanksgiving was given for the many mercies of the past year in the opening prayer. In the sermons allusion was made to the chances of life. A choir of eleven voices took part in the service. Its leader, John Linklater, and the organist, Miss Edith Horton, deserve much praise for the deep interest they have taken in the prosperity of the choir.

LOST THEIR WAY. — Our Dunlop cotem, with a large sleighing party (chiefly ladies), made enquiries at a comfortable house near the temperance hall as to the geography of the surrounding country. The genial host made all alight and stable their horses, when the precious cargo were conveyed to the house. There all tested the new flooring in the mazy dance and social song. Joe and comrade saw the fair ones safely home.

SAYING FAREWELL.—Our friend Harry Horton has secured a school at Paramount, near the Sepoy village. At the last meeting of the I. O. G. T. lodge here, addresses were given by members, alluding to his sterling worth as a constant and consistent worker in lodge affairs. In reply, Bro. Horton said he could look back upon the gatherings in the temperance hall as among the happiest in his life. Then came the "Good-byes," and as Harry was a favorite with both sexes (particularly the ladies) it was a trying time. We wish him success in his chosen profession.

Amberley.

SCHOOL EXAMINATION.—One of the most largely attended and successful examinations ever seen in "Poverty Section" was held on Dec. 24th. The examination was conducted by the teacher, Mr. McLean, assisted by Messrs. Lane and Humphrey. The pupils in their different classes shewed great readiness in answering all the questions asked, which, is always proof positive of superior teaching. The section justly regret the departure of their earnest, energetic, painstaking and progressive teacher, Mr. McLean. At the close of the examination the following address was read to Mr. McLean, when he received a very appropriate gift.

DEAR TEACHER,—As you are severing your connection with us once more, we desire to express to you, as we did on a former occasion, our thanks for the deep interest you have taken in our school and welfare through the four years you have been our teacher. And though we have far oftener than otherwise repaid that solicitude and deep desire you ever had for us to learn, by waywardness and neglect, yet as days shall sink into months, and months be swallowed up in years, should we be spared in the providence of God, the grateful remembrance of how well you have done your duty in the school combined with the influence of your character as one of true moral worth, shall ever command our increasing admiration. And as you have displayed those qualities which form the motto of "Fair Canada," which we fondly call our country, industry, intelligence and integrity, so well in the past, we sincerely wish that in whatever profession or business you engage in success may be yours. And we feel assured that if the faithful adherence to those qualities ensure success, success will be yours. In bidding to you good-bye we desire you accept this slight token of our gratitude and esteem for you as our teacher, and to express our deep regret that we have so often discouraged your kindness and earnestness for our educational advancement by our neglect, and to say to you in parting that, without the least disparagement to other teachers under whom it has been our lot to have been placed, none, to say the least, excelled you in earnestness, and in the manly discharge of your duty. Signed on behalf of the school.

MAGGIE MCDONALD,
JANE MCRAE.

The art of advertising has reached a height in these modern days undreamed of a few years ago. At Rochester the other day a young couple were married in the large show window of a clothing house, in full view of an immense crowd that blockaded the street.

NEWS FROM EGYPT.

The Insurrectionary Movement of a Religio-Political Nature.

LONDON, Dec. 31.—A dispatch to the daily News from Suakim says that El Mehdi intends to descend upon Egypt Proper. The insurrectionary movement is spreading along the coast, and Baker Pasha is convinced it is of a most formidable religio-political character. The Abyssinian demonstration on the Kassalo road renders the situation still more critical. Nothing can be done at present, as an immediate advance would mean disaster. British gunboats have gone to Massowan. One thousand women and children, with four hundred soldiers, are bravely holding out at Sincat. Even with the promptest action on the part of England there will be barely time to save those people from a terrible fate. It is believed there are twenty thousand rebels between Suakim and Sincat. Should the Egyptians attempt to march to Berber, it is believed that a hundred thousand rebels would oppose them. A general order was issued on Monday announcing the appointment of Baker Pasha as Governor-General of Eastern Soudan. Major Holroyd, a British officer, has been dismissed from the Egyptian service for striking a native officer.

LONDON, Dec. 31.—The state of affairs in the Soudan is very complicated, and trustworthy information is unobtainable. The latest reports are that El Mehdi is advancing on Sennaar, after the capture of which he will attack Khartoum. Baker Pasha is said to be possessed of gloomy forebodings of the fate of his Egyptian forces, and believes that Dongolo and Sennaar will be in the possession of El Mehdi in a short time. He is very anxious to secure the services of English volunteers to assist him, but the London Government will not permit this. The European journals of note generally favor England's opposing the Mehdi's further progress. The Berlin Neue Freie Presse says the situation in Egypt is such that England cannot refrain from assisting the Khedive in restoring Egyptian authority in the Soudan. The Tagblatt says that if El Mehdi invades Egypt the effect will undoubtedly be to change the international relations of the Powers.

THE BITTER STRIFE.

Orangemen and Nationalists Separated by Lines of Gleaming Bayonets—The Troubles at Dromore.

Dublin, Jan. 1—The trouble between the Orangemen and Nationalists at Dromore has been partially prevented by the efforts of the military, but notwithstanding all that the cavalry and infantry could do, the opposing parties fought one short battle. Several bodies of Orangemen, headed by bands, proceeded from Dnngannon to Dromore this morning, command by Lord Caledon and Grand Master Knox. A battery from Woolwich has been also despatched to the scene of the disturbance. The Nationalists and Orangemen held their meetings within sight of each other, and were only prevented from engaging in desperate combat by the lines of gleaming bayonets which stretched between them. Twice the opposing parties surged up to the very bayonet point to meet each other and only retired before the military charge. The Nationalist meeting was attended by 2,000 people, and was addressed by Messrs. T. D. Sullivan and W. O'Brien, both members of Parliament, and different members of the Land League. The Orangemen turned out 15,000 strong and listened to an anti-Parnellite address from Grand Master Knox. Among the other speakers were Lord George Hamilton, Lord Claude Hamilton, Major Hamilton and Lord Caledon. Resolutions were passed opposing the extension of the franchise in Ireland ; condemning the action of the Government in allowing seditious meetings in Ulster ; opposing Home Rule in Ireland ; and endorsing Lord Rossmore's action. When the meetings broke up more attempts were made by the different parties to attack each other, frustrated, however, by the military. Patrick McGiven, a young man received a fatal bayonet stab in the abdomen in melee with soldiers. The Orangemen later on made a detour across the fields and got within fighting distance of their enemies. Revolver shots were fired, bludgeons used, and quite a number of people wounded. The Hussars and Lancers charged across the fields and dispersed the Orangemen, several of whom were cut and stabbed by the sabres and lances, the infantry meanwhile escorting the the Nationalists out of harm's way with fixed bayonets.

Rossmore's Latest Cool Proposal

London, Dec. 29. A circular has been issued to the Orange Grand Master's of Ireland advising the enrollment of an Orange volunteer force, or militia, to be composed, if possible, of old soldiers, in order to strengthen the Orange Society as a fighting force. The Government will be petitioned to allow these volunteers to be armed with rifles.

Dublin, Dec. 31. — The Freeman's Journal, commenting on the circular sent to the Orange Societies, says that if such a document had been issued by a man suspected of having any leaning to the popular cause in Ireland he would have been prosecuted and imprisoned

A ceremony representing a funeral of O'Donnell, who was hanged in London, took place in San Francisco Sunday. Efforts were made to make it a grand demonstration, but the Board of Supervisors and prominent Irish organizations declined to take part. There was only 300 in line.

"Habit" is hard to overcome. If you take off the first letter it does not change "a bit." If you take another you still have a "bit" left. If you take off another the whole of "it" remains. If you take off another it is "t" totally used up. All of which goes to show that if you wish to be rid of a "habit" you must throw it off altogether.

London, Dec. 31.—An old man named Henry Yates, whose drinking habits are well known, attempted to put an end to his existence on Christmas day by drinking a solution of rat poison. His wife called a physician and the man's life was saved. Yates has caused his wife a great deal of trouble.

Providence and the People.

"It depends on two things," said Sir Leonard Tall Talker Tilley at Strathroy, "first, on Providence, and then on you, the people of Canada, who have to say how long we shall remain in power." We fancy that if the people of Canada continue to speak as they are speaking at the ballot box that Providence will not trouble to arrest the downfall of the Administration.—[Belleville, Ontario.

The Climax of Absurdity.

The climax of absurdity has just been reached in the matter of duties on Manitoba goods. A Brandon man with a deformed foot was under the necessity of importing a pair of shoes from England. A pair was sent with duty paid to Montreal. For shipment from there to Brandon, the man was charged the extortionate high freight charges of $8.50.—[Stratford Beacon.

The Boundary Dispute.

The Premier of Ontario has certainly scored one against Sir John A. Macdonald in the boundary business. He has entered into an arrangement with the Manitoba Government by which they agree to submit the disputed points to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, a satisfactory arrangement having been made between them as to the points to be submitted. Arrangements have also been made as to the joint management. Of course, any settlement is to be without prejudice to the rights of the Dominion Government or without prejudice to the Ontario Government in so far as these two are concerned among themselves. But Mr. Mowat's action will, in all probability, end the dispute as between Ontario and Manitoba. This move seems to be a very wise one.—[St. John Globe.

Authorization of Readers.

The subject of school readers is to be re-opened. The fact that it is to be reopened may be taken to mean that the newly elected Minister of Education is not satisfied with the policy that has been pursued in authorizing two sets of readers, and that this policy will be reversed. The two sets of readers were recommended for authorization by the Central Committee, the members of which did not seem to be able to make up their minds as to the relative merits of the rival series. Following out this recommendation, Mr. Hardy, the acting minister, authorized two sets and left one set unauthorized. It was seen at once that a mistake had been made, as the rival publishers immediately began a campaign with the object of having their books adopted by the various school boards throughout the province. It has been contended, and with no little force, that if the object sought was competition between rival book publishers, not only two series of readers but three should have been authorized. Under the present system the authorization of a school reader is a valuable franchise, for which no return is made. If one publisher secures the right to publish a certain school book he is put in the way of making a large sum of money, every penny of which must be paid by the parents of the school children of the province for which the book is authorized. The proper plan would be for the government to acquire the copyright of the series it concluded to authorize, and then throw the publication of that series open to all Canadian publishers. In this was competition would be encouraged and the price of the readers kept down to a reasonable figure. This would also do away with all ground for charging the government with favoring one firm of book publishers over the others. We assume that Mr. G. W. Ross, the new Minister of Education, will confer with the central committee determining which set of readers to authorize, in order to attack at the hands of his political opponents. The course which would give the greatest satisfaction to the province at large would be take the best books in the three series, and compile one complete series from them, throwing the publication of all the books comprised in this series open to Canadian publishers. The matter will be settled within the next two weeks, and it is not unlikely that this course will be adopted.

John Hillman, a switchman in the G. T. yard at Windsor, caught his left hand between a car and an engine Friday night, and it was crushed so badly that Dr. Coventry had to ampute the thumb and middle finger. Hillman displayed much grit, and did not even drop the pipe he was smoking.

The Right Hon Sir John A. Macdonald was born on the 11th of January, 1814. Consequently he will celebrate his seventieth birthday a week from Friday next. Although the Right Honorable gentleman has reached the allotted three score and ten, he is still in vigorous posession of all his faculties ; and every citizen of Canada, regardless of their political opinions, will doubtless join with us in wishing the first Minister of the Dominion many happy returns of the day.

A young man in Aberfoyle, Ont., named Inkerman, met with almost a fatal accident. He had procured some powder, and while going to lift the cannister touched it with the end of his cigar which he had lighted, and the powder exploded all over his face, scorching it badly and destroying one eye completely. Dr. Cormack, of Guelph, who was called to attend him, thinks he may be able to preserve one eye; otherwise he is progressing favorably.

Mr. Knowles, Tory member for Wigan, Lancashire, who died on Dec. 3, began work in a mine when 9, and often attended a night school after a fifteen hours' work. When 24 he was made manager of collieries at Ince, his native township, and six years later he was taken into the firm. He came out here with the duke of Sutherland not long ago for his health, but failed to get restored.

Judge Ross of Ottawa, has decided that Government employees cannot be compelled to pay municipal taxes on income. The sooner there is a reform of this abuse the better. Civil servants have no more right to be forgiven their taxes for street repairs, lighting and police than they have to escape payment of their grocer's and tailor's bill. They enjoy the same privileges as other citizens, and they should pay for them. This is a country where a privileged class should not exist.

An Excuse for the Exodus.

1884 is Leap Year, and the ladies will have the right to assume the male prerogative of popping the question. We hope this fact will not be seized hold of by the Tory newspapers as an excuse for the increased exodus which is sure to take place under this government during the coming twelve months.—[Ottawa Free Press.

Dangers of "Coasting."

Morrowville, Pa., Jan. 2.—On Sunday night a party of young people from Stoke's Mills, a village 10 miles from here, went coasting on Long Hill. The party used an old cutter which was steered by a man named Ruhe, who was between the shafts. On the last trip down the hill the shafts broke and the cutter went over the embankment 60 feet high into a creek where the water is eight feet deep. Jennie Mitchell was found in a tree with her skull fractured and ribs broken. She cannot recover. Eugene Craft had his ribs broken. The screams of those thrown into the creek were heard by persons living near, and seven of them were taken from the water in a drowning condition. Mary Hyde will probably die. The others not seriously hurt.
