THE ENGLISH CRAZE IN NEW YORK

A Great Change Since the War—The Humble Canadian Nowhere.

NEW YORK, May 5.—In spite of strikes and anarchy the gens d'ore are trying to enjoy themselves. There has been since Easter a perfect burst of social activity and a concomitant flood of fine clothes. The ladies on Fifth Avenue have never been so gorgeous as last Sunday afternoon; the balls have never been so enthusiastically attended, the weddings never so numerous. I say in spite of strikes and the like, for it may be that as a man is especially extravagant when the sheriff is after him, so the projected victims of Communism have determined to make the most of their property while that ancient institution lasts. Another plausible reason is that Lent was never so generally or so strictly kept. This is probably due to the general anglicising that has been going on for some years.

To one who lived in New York during the war, or shortly after it, and only returned this year, it must seem incredible that he has come back to the same world in the same century. Then no English thing was good. Englishmen had no manners; English women no taste, and neither could speak French. "Frenchy" was an adjective of superlative praise. But all that is over. French pictures are the last things to mark this old regime; and even they are beginning to be grumbled at. Now no collection is considered complete without a Millais or Burne-Jones, and not even respectable without an Alma-Tadema. English clothes are the standard for men and women; English manners and English voices things to be longingly imitated. A man with an English title is of all men the most desirable. Sir Roderick Cameron is in great demand, accordingly. At the "Orthopedic Ball," as it is called with singular appropriateness, Sir Roderick was the most conspicuous person; and this was the greatest ball of the year.

On the other hand, your humble Canadian is about the least honored animal in the country; and, as you ordinarily find him, he shows his snubbing by being a little more violently in love with the preamble to the declaration of independence than the Jeffersonian himself—democratior democraticis.

Mr. Wm. Wilson, barrister, of Napanee, late "Billy" of Toronto, has been in town for a week on his wedding trip. The fortunate Mr. Wilson married one of the most delightful of Toronto's delightful girls. Mr. Goldwin Smith has been in New York, also, and at the Canadian Club of which he is a member. That body is, like the rest of the world at this season, in the throes of moving.

Inflammation of the Eyes Cured.

—Mr. Jacob D. Miller, Newbury, writes: "I was troubled with inflammation of the eyes, so that during nearly the whole of the summer of 1882 I could not work; I took several bottles of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, and it gives me great pleasure to inform you that it cured me of my affliction. It is an excellent medicine for costiveness."

An Enchanted Ship.

The Norwegian schooner Peder set sail on Jan. 25 for Christiania, Norway, for Peterhead, in Scotland, a distance of about 500 miles. Two days out a violent gale sprang up, and drove her in spite of every effort towards a lee shore. Seeing no chance of saving their vessel from destruction on the rocks, the crew deserted her, and got ashore in their boats. Scarcely had they touched land when the wind went right round and carried the Peder out to sea. In the morning the crew overtook the drifting vessel in their boats, and once more set sail for Scotland. The wind, lately so boisterous, died away altogether, and the ill-fated Peder was frozen up in Christiania fiord. When the ice threatened to crush her, the crew once more deserted her and went ashore. No sooner were they on land than a west wind swept the icefield and the Peder out to sea together. After two weeks' drifting around in the North Sea the Peder was towed as a derelict into Christiania harbor by the Scotch steamer Ben Nevis. A fourth time the crew took possession of her, and after a stormy voyage reached Peterhead on April 12 last. The crew refused to ship on the vessel again, believing it to be enchanted.

Public Notice.

—All testimonials in favor of Hallamore's Expectorant are from well known residents of Toronto. Mr. S. J. Willcock, 189 Spadina avenue, says: "I have used Hallamore's Expectorant for coughs and colds for thirteen years, and would not be without it. It never fails to cure me." edx

Portraits of the Queen.

Queen Victoria has had many portraits painted—good, bad, and indifferent. The latest addition to her royal category is a full-length study of Her Majesty by Herr Von Angeli. The picture is interesting as a study of Her Majesty. It represents the Queen standing in front of the throne. She is richly dressed in black satin, her now favorite costume, trimmed with ermine. She wears a diamond crown. Her face is depicted in profile. The ensemble of the picture is the painter's invariable decorative style, and the technique of it is in his usual high but conventional manner.

—Severe colds are easily cured by the use of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, a medicine of extraordinary penetrating and healing properties. It is acknowledged by those who have used it as being the best medicine sold for coughs, colds, inflammation of the lungs, and all affections of the throat and chest. Its agreeableness to the taste makes it a favorite with ladies and children.

Canadian Items.

Peterboro has several cases of diphtheria. The houses are placarded.

A young man and a boy were badly bitten by dogs at Hamilton yesterday.

Archibald Fines, of Mono Centre, is wanted for a murderous assault on one of his sisters.

John Huston, 71 years of age, a resident of Severn Bridge, suicided by hanging Sunday last.

W. R. Campbell, teacher at Burke's Falls, has been fined $20 or thirty days for carrying a revolver.

The Roman Catholic Church at Buctouche, N.B., was struck by lightning and burned to the ground.

Three Montreal toughs laid out Joe Best with a frying pan Thursday evening. Joe's head is badly cut.

Odias Beaubien of Montreal has been arrested on a charge of stabbing Joseph Verzina in the lung and groin.

At Montreal some unknown persons stole a horse, wagon and mail bag, in which were all the letters and newspapers for Cote St. Michel.

Joseph Brown, of Caledon, found eleven young foxes in a hollow log. He took them to Orangeville and sold them for 25 cents a piece.

Near St. John, N.B., a little 4-year-old boy, in trying to climb up the side of a pile of wood, upset the pile on the top of him, and was crushed to death.

Diphtheria of the black or most fatal type has broken out at Belwood near Fergus. Three children in one house have fallen victims to the scourge.

Some scoundrels wrecked a couple of self-binders on exhibition at the Cartwright Spring Show. They entered the drill Shed by the window during the night to accomplish the deed.

Hotels and hotel sheds in Newcastle are all closed, except to commercial travelers. The Scott Act men started a temperance hotel in Massey's foundry, but it collapsed in two days.

P. E. Drake, well known in Canada, suicided at Niagara Falls Thursday by drowning. He was ill last winter, and an old family physician from Toronto stated he had softening of the brain.

Fred Moss, of Dundas, who is Captain of the Salvation Army at Port Dover, was in Dundas the other day, speaking of the Scott Act, which is in force at Norfolk, he said he did not think much of it, or at least of the way it was enforced there.

About a fortnight ago J. Hogan and J. B. Ganton of Toronto, went from Burpee to Gore Bay, Manitoulin Island. On their return they must have gone through the ice in Campbell's Bay, as they have not since been heard of. W. F. McRae and W. Martin of Gore Bay started in search of the missing men next morning, and were both drowned while attempting to cross an open channel in the ice in a canoe.

PANSIES AND FORGET-ME-NOTS.

Two Floral Gems that Are Always Popular With Our Maidens.

From the New York Mail and Express.

The language of flowers clings to very few of the numberless beauties of the garden or conservatory, but this cannot be said of those star-shaped little blossoms which we call forget-me-nots, or of those many-hued flowers, the pansies. Little faces have the pansies looking at us and nodding from between the sprightly green leaves that are among the first that in April peep through the ground. That their colors are purple and gold; that their texture is like velvet and their odor delicate is not all their charm. They keep their language. So it is that when the young girl receives gifts of flowers—roses, violets, lilies of the valley—they may or may not mean what the poets bid them say, but the pansies with no uncertain voice repeat, "Think of me."

The forget-me-nots, too, never lose the refrain of their legend. Two lovers, says the German story, on the eve of marriage were walking on the banks of the Danube. A flower, blue as the deepest sky, swung upon the waves, which seemed ready to bear it away. The young lady admired its beautiful color and bewailed its impending destiny. The affianced bridegroom leaped into the stream, seized the blooming stem and sank engulfed in the flowing waters. With a last effort he threw the flower on the bank, and at the moment of his disappearance forever, cried out: "Love me. Forget me not."

—If your children are troubled with worms, give them Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator; safe, sure, and effectual. Try it, and mark the improvement in your child.

Aristocratic Patrons of Actors.

From the Chicago Times.

The London theatrical host and hostess are on the increase. The most noticeable of the number are the Duke of Beaufort and Lord and Lady Londesborough, the last being the sister of the first. Lord Londesborough is a typical specimen of the English swell. Tall, with tawny beard and mustache, at home in the theatre or at the theatrical supper, in the hunting-field or on the box of a four-in-hand, he is good-natured and heavy, with no definite ideas, probably, on any subject which does not appertain to pleasure or sport, and, as an hereditary legislator, animated by the traditional hatred of the aristocratic Whig for the plebeian Radical. He is never more happy than when he is entertaining a select party of histrionic artists of both sexes at his country seat in Hampshire, driving his drag, freighted with these same ornaments of the drama, to Sandown or Epsom. He was once mistaken by an American visitor for a popular comedian, which he thought an excellent joke.

Lord Dunraven is also a warm patron of the playhouse and of players. This nobleman has crossed the Atlantic so frequently and sojourned on the other side of it so long that he has contracted, or affects to have contracted, something of the American accent. Seen anywhere he would excite attention. His face, with the strong-defined eyebrows, the long, elaborately brushed and waxed mustache, the dark complexion, and the slightly sinister though not unkind expression, is suggestive alternately of a mediæval Mephistopheles and a modern conjurer. He has brains, knowledge and experience, is a good talker, and can write English which is always grammatical, and sometimes vigorous. He will long be remembered as their benefactor by many bright particular stars of the stage. He is not an ascetic, but he is too astute to be, or ever to have been, a spendthrift libertine. Lord Rosebery and Lord Iffe can each of them pose as the Mæcenas of the Thespian profession, especially when the Prince of Wales graces the occasion by his presence.

A girl may frown and frown and be a wilin' still.

—Ill-fitting boots and shoes cause corns. Holloway's Corn Cure is the article to use. Get a bottle at once and cure your corns.

The British steamer Martello from New York, April 25, for Hull, collided with and sunk the cutter Ida off Lizard Point lighthouse. One person was drowned.

It Acts Like a Charm.

—Ex-Ald. George Evans, 445 Queen street west, testifies to the efficacy of "Hallamore's Expectorant" as follows: "It is undoubtedly far superior to all other advertised remedies for coughs and colds, especially in the case of children, with whom it acts like a charm." edx

At Paris Henri Rochefort, editor of L'Intransigeant, and M. Portalis fired four shots at each other in a duel, none of which did any harm.

Several fatal cases of cholera have occurred at Venice, Vicenza and Bari.

—Mrs. O'Hearn, River street, Toronto, uses Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for her cows for cracked and sore teats; she thinks there is nothing like it. She also used it when her horses had the epizootic with the very best results.

The Orange Societies throughout Ulster continue their preparations for fighting. Promises of help have been received from England, Scotland and the Colonies.

Hoarseness and Bronchitis.

—Among the many remedies used for the cure of coughs and colds, none more speedily gains the confidence of the sufferer than "Hallamore's Expectorant." For hoarseness and bronchitis its rapid effect is surprising. In private sale during 25 years it has gained for itself an enviable reputation and produced wonderful results. In 25 cent bottles at all drug stores. edx

Two sailors have reached San Francisco after residence of fifteen months on small island in Caroline group, where they were shipwrecked.

Alice Cook, aged 36, the accomplished and handsome sister-in-law of A. J. Waterman, District Attorney at Pittsfield, Mass., has eloped with and married Waterman's coachman, John Agras, 23.

—So rapidly does lung irritation spread and deepen, that often in a few weeks a simple cough culminates in tubercular consumption. Give heed to a cough, there is always danger in delay, get a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and cure yourself. It is a medicine unsurpassed for all throat and lung troubles. It is compounded from several herbs, each one of which stands at the head of the list as exerting a wonderful influence in curing consumption and all lung diseases.

The oil trade is excited over a strike made at Legionville, two and a half miles from Kosonny. The well is doing fifty barrels an hour.

Catarrh.

—Catarrh, on account of its prevalence in this country, is attracting a good deal of attention, more especially now when there is a probability of a visit from cholera, for where either is a muco-purulent discharge, such discharge forms a midus very inviting to cholera germs, and very favorable for their reproduction in a more virulent form, thus placing sufferers from catarrh at a great disadvantage in the event of a cholera visitation.

Catarrh is a contagious disease. It is a muco-purulent discharge, caused by the presence of a vegetable parasite in the lining membrane of the nose. These parasites reproduce themselves in great multitudes, and each generation is more virulent. They spread up the nostrils and down the fauces or back of the throat, causing ulceration of the throat, up the eustachian tubes, causing deafness; burrowing in the vocal cords, causing hoarseness; usurping the proper function of the bronchial tubes, ending in pulmonary consumption and death.

The reason that catarrh has become so prevalent a disease is entirely due to the fact that it has not been understood. Physicians have been unanimous in treating it as a simple inflammation of the membrane and have signally failed to produce cures, but microscopic research has revealed the presence of the parasite, and now sufferers from this disease who appreciate the fact that it is by way of its secondary effects a most deadly one, will be glad to learn that a wonderfully successful treatment has been formulated, whereby the most aggravated cases of catarrh have been permanently cured in from one to three simple applications. The interesting pamphlet descriptive of this new treatment, from which we glean the above, is sent free to all who address on receipt of stamp by A. H. Dixon & Son, 305 King street west, Toronto, Canada. —The Star 15

EPPS'S COCOA.
BREAKFAST.
"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—"Civil Service Gazette."
