"MIDNIGHT ASSASSINS" PRESIDENT CALLS TROOPS

Says Evidence is Positive That Brownsville Outrages Were Committed by Soldiers.

Washington, Jan. 14. — President Roosevelt to-day sent to the senate a special message regarding the Brownsville incident.

The president declares that evidence is positive that the outrages of Aug. 13 were committed by some of the colored troops that have been dismissed, and that some or all of the members of the three companies of the 25th Infantry had knowledge of the deed and have shielded the guilty ones.

The negro troops are referred to by the president in his message as "midnight assassins," and he declares that few, if any of the soldiers dismissed "without honor" could have been ignorant of what occurred.

That part of the order which bars the soldiers from all civil employment under the government is revoked by the president. This clause, the president says, was lacking in validity. The discharged troops, however, will be forever barred from re-enlisting in the army or navy, and as to this the president says that "there is no doubt of my constitutional and legal power."

KILL THE GERMS.

Nothing is so deadly on the germs of disease as good health. Good health for the lungs drives out consumption. Scott's Emulsion makes a specialty of supplying good health to diseased lungs.

They Will Show You!

You have no idea what a comfort a bank balance is until you have become a depositor and have money to your credit on bank books. The Crown Bank of Canada is teaching common sense habits of thrift as few other banks have thought of teaching it. Go to them whether you have little money or much, and ask more about it.

VALUABLE FORMULA.

A noted authority on diseases of the throat and lungs, who established a camp for consumptives in the Pine Woods of Maine, and whose remarkable cures there have attracted great attention from the medical world, says that his entire treatment consisted of fresh air, nourishing food and the Pure Virgin Oil of the White Pine Trees mixed with Whiskey and Glycerine, in the following proportions:

Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) ½ oz.
Glycerine ..... 2 "
Good Whiskey ..... 8 "

Used in teaspoonful doses every four hours.

It is claimed that the above mixture will heal and strengthen the lungs, break up a cold in twenty-four hours, and cure any cough that is curable.

The ingredients can be secured from any good prescription druggist at small cost and can be easily mixed in your own home.

Enquiry at the prescription department of a leading local pharmacy elicited the information that Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) is put up only in half-ounce vials for dispensing. Each vial is securely sealed in a round wooden case, with engraved wrapper, with the name —"Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure)" —plainly printed thereon. Only the cheaper Oils are sold in bulk, but these produce nausea, and never effect the desired results.

HAMILTON HAPPENINGS

APPOINTMENTS SURPRISE M'KAY AND FEARMAN OUT

City Council Committees and Representatives— St. George's Society Annual Meeting.

Hamilton, Jan. 14.—(Special.)—The city council held its inaugural meeting this morning, and by a combination between the Conservatives and the Liberals the state was fixed up as follows: Board of works, Ald. Sweeney, chairman; Church, Baird, Jutten, Kennedy, Lewis and McLaren. Markets, Ald. Nicholson, chairman; Lees, MacLeod, Gardner, Dickson, Lewis and Bailey. Four Conservatives and three Liberals. Fire and water, Ald. Clark, chairman; Allen, Peregrine, A. J. Wright, Anderson, Farrar and Church. House of Refuge, Ald. H. G. Wright, chairman; Bailey, Baird, Peebles, McLaren and Lees. Sewers, Ald. Baird, chairman; Allen, Kennedy, A. J. Wright, Anderson, Peregrine and Jutten. Court house, Ald. Farrar, chairman; MacLeod, Lewis, Farrar and Baird. Harbor and beach, Ald. Jutten, chairman; Allen, H. Wilkes, a labor representative; board of health, C. H. Peebles and J. C. Boligan. Library board, John Milne.

The court of revision and board of education appointments occasioned some surprise. James Maithews was put on in the place of Richard MacKay and Mr. Wilkes, a labor man, was put on the board of education in the place of Robert C. Fearman, who was slated for the chairmanship of the board next year. The power and the four money bylaws were given the third reading.

There are 706 members on the rolls. These managers were elected: John Bell, W. H. Stewart; Wm. Hill and Ald. Dickson. Col. Gibson reported that arrangements were being made to erect a church that will cost $150,000. It is expected that it will be finished within a year.

An Exciting Arrest.

James Williamson, 163 Rebecca-street, was arrested this afternoon by P. C. Barrett after an exciting chase. It is charged that while the prisoner's pal was looking at some goods in W. Acre's store, the proprietor caught Williamson with $125 mink stole under his coat. Acres grabbed the fur. Williamson wheeled and struck the storekeeper, and fled. Constable Barrett caught him hiding behind an express wagon in J. Morris' yard on Park-street.

Turbine S. S. Co. Affairs.

There was a lively time at the annual meeting of the Turbine Steamship Company this afternoon, altho the old board was re-elected. Some of the shareholders kicked because the season showed a loss of $17,000, not counting $24,000 of a loss on the southern trip of the boat.

TRINITY CONCEALED CRIME COCKBURN DID NOT KNOW

Evidence Taken Yesterday in the Case Against the Ex-President of Ontario Bank.

The trial of George R. R. Cockburn, late president of the Ontario Bank, charged with making false returns to the government, was commenced before Magistrate Denison yesterday, and will be continued in the police court to-day, when Inspector J. W. Caldwell of Ottawa will be examined.

The evidence of Pope and Chenoweth, head office accountants, went to show that Mr. Cockburn signed false reports, but without the knowledge that such reports were incorrect.

Frank R. Pope stated that McGill, Chenoweth and himself prepared the monthly statements from the branch returns, the head office ledgers and the security ledgers. Several reports were produced and witness claimed that errors had been made in each item because a certain amount of money had been paid out for securities and placed under the column of current loans in Canada. This money, he thought, went to New York.

"Did Mr. Cockburn ever attempt to investigate any of the reports you submitted for his signature?" asked Col. Denison.

"Sometimes he would ask what had caused increases or decreases," replied Mr. Pope.

"Could he have found out where returns were false?"

"He would have to be a good bookkeeper. I don't think that he could have examined all branches of current loans."

"Could he in two or three days satisfy himself that all was correct?"

"Not if he had to go to each branch. That would take months. He could have discovered errors in the returns if he got the necessary assistance from McGill, Chenoweth and myself," said the witness. So far as he knew, the president knew nothing of the false returns. This was concealed from him.

When asked what opinion the president could have had of the current loans account, the witness said that Cockburn might have thought there was something wrong. These should have been placed under the head of securities. When handed returns, the president accepted them as correct, trusting to the officials of the head office. Mr. Pope did not think it his duty to enlighten Mr. Cockburn without the order of his general manager so to do, but "the general manager never told me to keep anything back from him," added the witness. The books containing information regarding the New York transactions were kept locked up, and not brought out for general inspection.

Walter Chenoweth, head clerk, did not know that transactions were being concealed. Mr. Cockburn often asked questions when signing the report.

Witness stated that the head office had not had a decent inspection for a long time. Errors could have been located right there without going to New York. He had concealed transactions from Cockburn, but did not think Cockburn knew of any wrongdoing.

Acting Crown Attorney Bayley asked witness what Cockburn's salary was.

"Four thousand dollars a year," was the reply.

"The financial aspect is important," said Mr. Bayley.

Frank Arnoldi, for Mr. Cockburn, claimed that the Bank Act failed inasmuch as a bank president had not time enough to verify all reports.

GRAND JURY ON BRIBERY CASES.

The grand jury spent all yesterday on the London election cases, and only succeeded in getting thru with two witnesses.

"The Blight of Triviality."

In an interesting article in Macmillan's Magazine, on "The Blight of Triviality" the writer warns Englishmen of the fate of a race which deliberately chooses to play the fool with its abilities and its inheritance.

Cricket posters and placards, he says, have appeared when great battles have been raging, even when England has been at war with another nation; and the implication that the Englishman thinks more of play than of events which are of vital concern to his country, is one which has been raised and must be met, with whatever consequences.

Nation is striving against nation for the world's prizes, both by the crude bludgeon of warfare and by the subtler (and as some hold) no less deadly engine of commercial competition—for the choicest territory, the richest markets, and, it may be, for the cheapest labor from inferior races; and while nations on right and left collectively turn themselves into huge fighting machines and individually keep their business paramount in their waking hours, the Englishman finds it easier to look forward to his next game of golf, or to ruminate over the cricket averages.

The cricketer's apology (should he think one necessary) is that indirectly his game trains him in those qualities which are necessary for supremacy; and, tho he can no longer quote the Duke of Wellington uncontradicted, there is plenty of evidence to show that if he plays his game zealously and well it tends to physical fitness. But physical fitness without mental aptitude is useless in commerce and not much better in warfare, as some British officers found to their cost in the early stages of the Transvaal war; and intelligence, like muscular skill, becomes dull and atrophied without use.
