NEW YORK, April 7.—Members of the stock exchange have sent a petition to the governors to close the exchange on Good Friday and following Saturday. The petition will be submitted to the governors for final action. Governors are scheduled to meet tomorrow.

LIVERPOOL, April 7.—Closed quiet, 5½ down.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Federal Sugar Refinery declared quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent on preferred stock, payable to stock of record April 20th.

Uptown—A man who is in touch with a large number of banking interests in this city says that he would not be surprised to see the market advance several points in the near future. In his judgment and according to his information business throughout the country is not improving at the rate that it was expected a few weeks ago it would do. He says that the bond market does not show distinct signs of improvement either. Money, however, continues to flow to this center at surprisingly large amounts. This banker believes that the large amount of money at this center still unemployed and for which it is not thought there will be an active demand will be invested in the standard stocks and to some extent in bonds.

MONTREAL, Apl 7—Ex-dividend today Shawinigan Power common 1 p. c.

NEW YORK, April 7—(Morning letter)—The market yesterday sunk further into speculative dullness with the trading confined to a very limited number of traders. The activity occasioned by the announcement of the new Erie financing plan soon subsided and traders were waiting for some developments to shape their market movements. Until such is forthcoming little comment on the market is necessary. Prices have reached a level which would command support from conservative interests in periods of weakness but, on the other hand, the rather discouraging trend of general business conditions causes sales from the same source on the rallies. Meantime, the market is left to drift with shifting currents of room speculation which at present presents little temptation to the outsider to enter the market.

LAIDLAW & CO.

TORONTO, April 6—At a special meeting of shareholders of the Rio Janeiro Tramway held here at noon, the shareholders approved of the revision of the by-laws. The meeting was preliminary to the placing of a part of the proposed new $15,000,000 preferred stock issue in Paris and an interim balance sheet of the company to the 30th November 1907 was submitted.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Sub-treasury debit at clearing house, $1,786,378.

ROME, April 7.—J. P. Morgan has passed the danger point. He has spent an easy morning. Doctors ordered him to take iron for his blood. Patient swallowed two railroads and washed them down with a steamship line. Says diet agrees with him.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Cotton ports estimated receipts, 24,000, against 28,246 and 19,964 and 26,905 in 1906.

POLICE ON HUNT FOR DARING SWINDLER

Once Brilliant Student at German University, He Lapsed Into Life of Crime.

PARIS, April 6.—Photopraghs and an account of his past performances have been sent to the police abroad with a view to the capture of an adventurer, Maurice George Guttmann. He is a Pole by birth, 35 years old, well educated, and has, it appears, a varied experience of London.

His identity was revealed as the police were searching for a certain Joseph Pey, who disappeared a month ago from a hotel in Milan with over $30,000 in jewelry and money belonging to a Russian dancer, whom he had accompanied from Brussels. The police have established that he is the much-wanted Guttmann.

He was once a brilliant student at Heidelberg, but soon after he left the university an amorous adventure made him take flight to London, where he adopted the name of Schumann, and became a teacher of languages. Trouble like the first made him seek refuge in Paris, where he soon got a term of imprisonment for attempting to extort money.

When he was free he reappeared in London as Baron de Gourdel, and devoted himself to robbery.

Eventually he was arrested and sentenced in England to five years' penal servitude. On completing his term he was extradited to France and sentenced to a fresh period of imprisonment.

On his release he went, under the title of Count de Poliban, to Brussels, where he was implicated in a marriage swindle which brought him $12,000.

It is considered not improbable that Guttmann may be in London trying to dispose of the stolen jewelry.

POLICE STOP VOYAGE OF MOTOR CAR BURGLAR

Successful Career of Swell Thief Ends Just as He Is About to Skip.

MARSEILLES, April 6—The Marseilles police have arrested a man named Maurice Roussel, who is known far and wide in France as "the motor-car burglar."

Roussel, who was leaving Marseilles yesterday for Buenos Ayres, is only 32 years old, but has during the last two years committee at least seventy and probably more daring burglaries.

He had a magnificent 80-horsepower motor-car and his favorite victims were solicitors, country bankers and other people likely to have considerable sums of money in their offices.

He called in his motor car on these gentlemen in the daytime on some small matter in which he pretented to need their help, took notes of the disposition of their offices, and in the course of the night removed what valuables he could find and disappeared.

The police have known of his existence for a long while. On the night of February 20 he committed seven successful burglaries in and near Chateau Thierry, getting away with over $15,000 and two days later he got $3000 out of one office and robbed five others of lesser amounts.

SUICIDE EPIDEMIC IN RUSSIAN CAPITAL

ST. PETERSBURG, April 6.— As many as fifteen suicides in a single day have lately been reported in St. Petersburg. Many of these occur in public in the most dramatic circumstances.

A few days ago a student shot himself in a box at the Imperial Opera, during one of the concluding scenes of "The Queen of Spades." He was the sole occupant of the box, and during the performance was seen to smell repeatedly at a beautiful bouquet of flowers which he had with him. In this bouquet was concealed a revolver, and at the last he lifted the flowers to his face and pulled the hidden trigger, dropping back dead in the box amid a scene of confusion and terror.

The day before yesterday Lieutenant Colonel Kovalevsky shot himself in one of the rooms of a fashionable restaurant. At a skating rink, where the skaters included a large number of children, one of the performers in the orchestra drew a revolver during an interval and took his life in full view of everybody.

BOARD OF TRADE WILL DISCUSS MANY MATTERS

Want a Branch of the G. T. P. to St. John and a Report From the Harbor Commission.

The Board of Trade will hold its monthly meeting today at 3.30. There will be a discussion in regard to the change of plans made in connection with the new wharf at West End. It is understood that there will be considerable criticism in regard to this step. Another discussion of interest will be in regard to the lack of a report from the harbor commission. This commission was appointed about thirteen months ago and is composed of John E. Moore, W. H. Thorne, T. H. Estabrooks, J. B. M. Baxter and John Sealy. Hon. Wm. Pugsley was formerly a member of the commission and upon his resignation his place was taken by John Sealy. The commission, as far as can be learned, have done nothing and at this afternoon's meeting of the Board, they will probably be asked to make a report as soon as possible.

There will probably also be a discussion in regard to the best method of voting at civic elections.

W. F. Hatheway will move a resolution to have the government memorialized in behalf of a scheme to have a branch of the G. T. P. Ry. run into St. John. In Montreal lately a similar movement was set on foot and Sir Wilfred Laurier gave his consent to the project. The result of the efforts of the Montreal Board of Trade and Common Council is that that city will have a branch terminus. Mr. Hatheway is of the opinion that St. John could carry out a similar project with success and he will accordingly make the resolution mentioned above.

CUBA, LIKE P. E. ISLAND, SHUTS OUT AUTOMOBILES

Puff-Puff Wagons Not Wanted in the Land of Sugar and Revolutions.

NEW YORK, April 7.—The Times says: "Another British insular possession has declared war on the automobile. New Yorkers returning from Bermuda say the sentiment against motor cars there is as intense as in Prince Edward Island, where a bill providing for the exclusion of all automobiles is now before the legislature. There is but one automobile in Bermuda and the public disapprobation is centred upon that machine, according to Walter Cook, a New York architect, just returned from a two weeks' stay in Bermuda.

"This automobile," said Mr. Cook, "is used as a stage for transferring passengers between Hamilton and Saint George, about fourteen miles. Recently a horseback rider, whose mount was frightened by the sudden appearance of the machine on a mountain road, narrowly escaped death. This accident seemed to mark the doom of the automobile in Bermuda, judging from the tone of public sentiment. I learned that a movement was on foot to pass a bill which would enable the local government to purchase the automobile stage and abolish it."

SWEDENBORG'S BODY TAKEN BACK TO SWEDEN

LONDON, April 7—The body of Emmanuel Swedenborg, the famous mystic and writer was exhumed in this city today and started on its journey to Sweden for final burial in Swedish soil. The remains were taken up this morning from the vault in front of the Communion Table in the Swedish Church in Princess Square, where they were deposited in 1772, one hundred and thirty-six years ago. Services were held over the body this afternoon, after which it was placed on a train for Dartmouth, where it will be embarked on the Swedish Cruiser Fylgia for transit to Sweden. The Swedish Government formally requested the exhumation and surrender of the body and the British Government assented.

COLORADO SHERIFF SHOT BY DESPERADO

TRINIDAD, Colo., April 7.—Deputy Sheriff Tony Shelby was shot and instantly killed last night by an unknown man who sprang upon him as he was nearing his home, fired two shots at short range, jumped into a nearby rig and drove rapidly out of town. A posse was quickly formed and is now in pursuit.

Shelby had served several terms as deputy and was an officer during the strike troubles several eyears ago.

Kendall Hall reached home today, after an extended trip to the Pacific coast.

John A. Ewing was a passenger on the incoming Montreal express today.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Spears were among the arrivals on the incoming Montreal express today.

Sheriff Foster of Woodstock came in on the Montreal with a male patient for the Provincial Hospital.

A young boy named Linkletter called at the police court a few days ago and complained that he had no place to go, as his step-mother locked him out of the house. The boy's brother gave him a note, saying that the boy could not go to school as he was kept out of home. The father and step-mother were brought into court, and when the matter was talked over, it was decided that the boy should stop at his father's home, do as he was told, and attend school regularly.

WIFE OF GRANDEE CAN USE HER FISTS

Belabored by Her, He Flees from House and Seeks a Magistrate

MADRID, April 6—Madrid is convulsed with merriment by the tale of the troubles of a great household—troubles which have ended in a suit for divorce by a henpecked grandee.

The gentleman is married to a woman some years his senior and his inferior in rank. Madame is a vigorous personality, accustomed to having her own way, even if she has to use her fists to get it. Her husband's opposition to her wishes has often been crushed, the tale runs, by force majeure.

Last Sunday the noble family, with their retainers, were at service in the private chapel of the husband's splendid residence, when madame fell furiously upon an inattentive chauffeur, chased him down the aisle and through a garden, and was brought up in midcareer by a motor car, behind which the fugitive hid. The furious woman beat the car with all her force and seriously damaged it.

She told her protesting husband that she had a poisoned dagger, with which she meant to kill him, and the poor gentleman took the precaution of getting some male friend to take every meal with him as a measure of protection.

Matters came to a head on Thursday, when madame so belabored and reviled her husband that he, escaping from her clutches, ran desperately to a magistrate and unfolded his tale of woe. The magistrate and two attendants went back to the house, and in madame's presence the husband swore that he went in daily terror of his life. Madame has been removed to a convent, and will remain there while the husband's divorce proceedings are being carried on.

NOTED CRIMINAL IS ARRESTED ON STAGE

Detectives Go On in Theatrical Costume and Capture Man Before Audience.

PARIS, April 6.—A curious and realistic scene occurred at the Odeon Theatre last night during the performance of "Ramuntcho."

Just before the "pelote Basque" scene in the second act, two policemen in plain clothes entered the theatre, and told M. Antoine, the manager that they had come to arrest a dangerous criminal, who, they learned, was there at the moment.

The man had been engaged at a "super" and the detectives, standing in the wings recognized him as he went on the stage from the opposite side. "We must arrest him at once," they said.

"You can't stop my performance," protested M. Antoine, "and you can't go on the stage in those clothes; but, as you say there is danger of the man escaping you, I will do what I can for you if you will wait."

A few minutes later the detectives, dressed in the picturesque Basque costume, went on the stage, laid hands on their man, and after a short struggle handcuffed him, tied his feet together, and carried him bodily off without any special excitement on the part of the audience, who imagined that what they had seen was merely an incident in one of the wonderful stage pictures of "Ramuntcho."

WIRELESS AND LIGHT

A Problem Which Marconi Has Yet to Solve

LONDON, April 6.—In a lecture delivered recently at the Royal Institute, Mr. Marconi detailed the causes of the difficulties and delays in connection with the establishment of an uninterrupted wireless telegraphy service across the Atlantic.

One remarkably interesting fact Mr. Marconi recorded. "There exists," he remarked, "certain periods, fortunately of short duration, when tansmission across the Atlantic is somewhat difficult, and at times ineffective, unless an amount of energy greater than that used at normal times is employed. These periods occur in the morning and evening, when ,owing to the differences in longitude, daylight or darkness extends only part of the way across the Atlantic.

"Sometimes the receiving signals are weak, and cease altogether: It would appear to me as if illuminated space possessed for electric waves a different refractive index as compared with dark space, and that these waves may, in passing from one medium to another, be refracted and reflected. In the same manner, perhaps, an isolated storm area in the path of the aerial signals may bring about a considerable weakening. Curiously enough, we have noticed that if stormy weather prevails right across the Atlantic no perceptible interference with our signals is noticeable.

WOMAN SHOOTS NEGRO, SAID "HOW DO, HONEY"

KANSAS CITY, Arpil 6.—Mrs. Callie M. Long,fired five shots at a negro who entered her restaurant late last night and said "How do, honey?" Two of the bullets took effect, but the negro escaped. When the negro addressed the woman she began firing almost before he had finished his salution. Mrs. Long is of Indian blood.

In Belgium 70 per cent. of telegraph messages are delivered in from one to fifteen minutes.

ALPINE MURDERER TO PRISON FOR LIFE

Tired of Shepherd's Life, He Planned to Kill First Tourist That Passed

GENEVA, April 6.—The shepherd, Joseph Michaud, who murdered Robert Munziger, a young Swiss Alpinist, on the Col de Balme last August, was sentenced to life imprisonment at Martigny yesterday.

This crime was perhaps the most remarkable ever committed in the Alps.

According to Michaud's confession, which was made with great callousness, he lay in wait on the Col de Balme for days, intending to murder the first unaccompanied tourist who came along.

He hoped the victim would be a rich Englishman or American, and his intentention was to leave Switzerland with the proceeds of the robbery and go to America,where he hoped to make his fortune. Michaud explained that he had thought this out carefully while attending to his flock and he concluded that he would remain a shepherd boy to the end of his days unless he could make a coup by murdering and robbing a wealthy tourist.

"Many Englishmen passed," said Michaud in his confession, "but they were all accompanied by guides or friends."

Finally Munziger appeared. He intended crossing the Col de Balme and descending to Chamonix,when he meant attempting an ascent of Mount Blanc When near the summit of the Col de Blame Michaud attacked him with a hunting knife and stabbed him to death.

Michaud robbed the body, stripped it of clothes and then buried it under some rocks. He forgot, however, to remove the traces of the crime, and guides who searched the precipices of the Col de Balme for a week finally discovered these traces of a struggle, which led to Munziger's body being disinterred.

Michaud aroused suspicion in a neighboring village by displaying a watch which afterward proved to be Munziger's. When the shepherd was arrested he was wearing the clothes of the murdered man. He showed great unconcern and laughed and joked with the gendarmes.

The booty amounted to about $5 and Michaud's only regret was that he had killed a Swiss instead of a wealthy foreigner.

"I was too hasty," he complained to the judge during his trial, "but I had been waiting so long that I had become impatient."

ROYAL DUKE HELD UP BY MOB OF PEASANTS

Pretend That Car Was Run Into by His Motor and Levy Blackmail on Spot

BERLIN, April 6.—The Duke Franz of Bavaria has brought a charge of blackmail against peasants who are being tried at Eichstaett.

The duke was returning late in the evening by motor car from Munich to Bamberg,where he is serving as a lieutenant in a Baravian Uhlan regiment, when he saw a peasant's cart being driven along the wrong side of the road ahead.

He stopped his car, whereupon the peasants, who led their horse into a ditch, asserted that they had been run down by the motor car. They gave an alarm, and a crowd of peasants rushed up and dragged the duke and his chauffeur from the car. They uttered threats of further violence,whereupon the duke stated that he was a member of the royal house, and promised the people to send them $15 if they let him pass.

The ringleader, however, compelled the prince to write on his visiting card, by the light of the car lamps, a statement that he would send $30 within three days for the damage sustained by the cart.

The duke made preparations to proceed, and the chauffeur had started the car, when the peasants again surrounded it, and one of them said: "If you don't give more you can sit here until morning." After much discussion the duke promised a further $5, but was again stopped when he had gone a few feet, and the crowd demanded witnesses' fees.

As the crowd made it impossible to proceed, nothing remained for the duke but to take out his purse and distribute various sums amounting altogether to $10. After being delayed for more than three hours, the duke was allowed to go on his way. He has now started his action for blackmail against he peasants, who belong to the village of Dorndorf.

Jimmy Fairbanks' Minstrels at the Cedar

At the popular North End theatre last night Jimmy Fairbanks and his minstrel circle made a big hit. The circle was handsomely dressed and staged, the jokes all new and the songs first class. Jimy made his usual hit with the bones on one end and Mr. Brown as Tambo on the other handled his work well. The interlocutor's chair was occupied by Dave Higgins, dressed in a handsome costume of red and black satin. Elmer Holder and Dave Higgins will sing solos tonight.

The pictures were all brand new and first class, the principal being The Shaughraun, one of the grandest pictures ever manufactured, the others being three bright comedies.

Elmer Holder sang the illustrated song. This programe will be repeated tonight.

PRINCE DISMISSED FROM GERMAN NAVY

Kaiser Punishes Defiant Cousin Involved in Scandal With an Actress.

BERLIN, April 6—Prince Joachim Albrecht of Prussia is reported by the Berliner Zeitung to have been dismissed from the army by the Kaiser, who is his cousin.

The journal which makes the announcement under the headline, "Prince Joachim Albrecht in Disfavor," states that the Emperor has also deprived the Prince of the right which retiring officers as a rule possess to wear military uniform. The reason for this surprising measure is stated to be the continuation of Prince Joachim Albrecht's relations with the Baroness Liebenberg, nee Sulzer, who is not yet divorced from her husband.

The Emperor's decision to dismiss the Prince, who is well known in Berlin bohemian circles, recalls the scandal which created a great stir in 1906, and ended in Prince Joachim Albrecht being sent to German southwest Africa. It was hoped at court that the Prince would put an end to his relations with Marie Sulzer, the actress. Many people knew, however, that the Prince, although supposed to be abroad, spent months in strict incognito in Berlin and continued his relations with the actress.

The immediate cause of the Emperor's intervention was Marie Sulzer's marriage to Baron von Liebenberg. This marriage took place in London at Prince Joachim's suggestion, in order that the actress might obtain the title of Baroness. Subsequently Baron von Liebenberg caused difficulties regarding a divorce which had been arranged, as money which had been promised to him was not paid. Prince Joachim Albrecht's relations with the Countess would have constituted, according to German law, a criminal offense if Baron von Liebenberg had chosen to sue for divorce. When the Prince was sent away to Africa it is stated that the Baroness accompanied him a good part of the way.

Although the divorce did not, as he hoped, take place during his absence, he resumed his former relations with the Baroness as soon as he returned, and the Emperor, shocked by his cousin's conduct and angered by his persistent defiance, thereupon resolved upon drastic punishment.

It is stated that the Prince intends henceforth to divide his time between Paris and London. The Prince's elder brother, Prince Frederick Henry, was degraded and banished by the Kaiser last year.

LADY RUBY ELLIOT MARRIED IN LONDON

English Society in Large Numbers Attended Wedding

LONDON, Apl. 4—The wedding took place today in the presence of a large number of members of the British aristocracy, and others prominent socially and politically in London, of Lady Ruby Elliott, second daughter of the Earl of Minto, Viceroy of India, and formerly Governor-General of Canada, and the Countess of Minto, and Rowland Thomas Baring, Viscount Errington, eldest son of Lord Cromer, of Cromer Hall, Norfolk, who is famous for his services as a diplomatist and administrator in Egypt. Unfortunately the Earl of Minto was unable to be present, on account of the pressure of his duties in India, but Lady Minto arrived from India about three weeks ago to prepare for her daughte's wedding.

The marriage was solemnized at half-past two this afternoon, in the Church of St. Margaret's, Westminster, which has been the scene of many fashionable weddings.

The bride was graceful and beautiful in a gown of soft white satin, made in Empire style. The deep high belt las closely embroidered with pearls, and finished with pearl tassels, and a shower of orange blossoms and buds fel down the front of the gown. She also wore a very long real lace veil. Her two tiny pages were the Hon. Evelyn Baring, half brother of the bridegroom, and Master Richard Baring, cousin of the bridegroom. They were dressed in pale blue satin court dresses. The two small maidens who attended the bride in white picture frocks and picturesque lace caps, were Miss Vere Smith, cousin of the bride, and Miss Diamond Hardinge, the little daughter of Sir Charles Hardinge, Permanent Under-Secretary of Foreign Affairs, whose wife was the Hon. Winifrid Sturt, Bedchamber Woman to Her Majesty the Queen.

The grown-up bridesmaids were six in number. They were the Ladies Eileen and Violet Elliott, sisters of the bride, Lady Dorothy Browne, daughter of Lord and Lady Kenmare, and cousin of both bride and bridegroom; Lady Evelyn Grey, daughter of the Governor General of Canada, Miss Mabel Elliott and Miss Margaret Dawnay, the last three cousins of the bride. Miss Dawnay is one of the brides of the spring, as she is to be married very shortly herself. The six bridesmaids were gowned in charming frocks of turquoise blue chiffon, made in the Romney style, with draped fichus knotted in front. Their hats were of blue tulle trimmed with ribbon work and pale pink roses. The best man was the Hon. Wyndham Baring, brother of the bridegroom.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at 23 Great Cumberland street, Hyde Park, the house which Lady Minto took upon her return from India, to prepare for her daughter's wedding.

This afternoon the bride and bridegroom leave to spend their honeymoon at Sutton Courtney, which has been lent them by Mr. Harry Lindsay. A large number of beautiful gifts were received by the bride and bridegroom from various parts of England, Ireland and Scotland, as well as from India and Canada.
