TOOK TEN INNINGS FOR FREDERICTON TO WIN OVER WOODSTOCK MEN

Special to The Standard.

Fredericton, July 25.—Playing ball on what was a veritable sea of mud the Fredericton team won from Woodstock in a ten-inning game today and this increased the locals lead in the N. B. and Maine league championship race.

The final count was 3 to 2, and considering the state of the playing field, which was deep with mud when the game started, and was made worse by a shower which caused a 20 minute let up in the fifth inning, it was a well played contest, being full of exciting situations.

The Woodstock team worked a new battery, and they looked pretty good. Whitney, the University Pennsylvania pitcher, did the hurling. He is a big fellow, weighing 190, and standing about 6 feet. He had a barrel of speed, but the locals waited him out pretty well, and he issued seven bases on balls, the last two of the Pets to count having got on through Whitney's generosity.

Stone, the Colts new catcher, is the same good player he was with the Houlton team of the old Maine league which toured New Brunswick several years ago. He did good work behind the bat today, and it wasn't altogether his fault that Captain Ganley and his men pilfered six sacks.

Joe Callahan replaced Red Wildes at second base for the Fredericton team and didn't have a very good day. His fielding errors can be forgiven on account of the bad field, but he seemed over anxious throughout, and that was noticable at the bat, while on bases he cut third base in the fourth when he had got on on an error, stole second and he had a chance to romp home easily on Frank Harrington's screeching liner past second base to right centre field. Umpire Duffy caught play and so did the Woodstock players, with the result that Callahan was called out.

Woodstock got an early start through opportune batting by Bobby Black, who batted in their two runs, but by the eighth inning the locals had evened up. Frank Harrington did the best work for the Pets and had a lot on the ball all the time, as well as fielding his position well. As the game progressed he got better, and in the ninth inning struck out two of the three Woodstock batters who faced him.

After Callahan and Hoyt had been retired on flies to the outfield in Fredericton's half of the ninth, it looked as if the locals would win the game right there. Fitzgerald hit safely and Frank Harrington followed with his second hit. Keaney drew his third base on balls during the game, and it was up to Bob Ganley, but Paddy Duff smothered his grounder and the inning was over.

Only three men faced Harrington again in the tenth, Duff and O'Donnell ballooning to Duggan, while Bob Conley handled Black's high infield fly.

Then came the final session. Duggan, the first man up, drew a base on balls. Larry Conley tried to sacrifice him down, sent a bunt towards first, and Paddy Duff slipped in the mud, fell down, and both runners were safe, the batter being credited with a hit. Bob Conley made three attempts to bunt, to sacrifice Duggan along to third, but sent the ball foul each time, and on the third one was declared out. Callahan's best effort to redeem himself was a short fly to O'Donnell, and with two down it was up to Hoyt. He sent a grounder at Corcoran, who let the ball get away from him and Duggan crossed the plate with the winning run.

WOODSTOCK AND GREEKS TODAY 3.30

The Woodstock baseball team arrived in the city last night and if the weather permits they will open their engagement with the Marathons on the local diamond this afternoon at 3.30. Yesterday Woodstock, handicapped by a slippy, muddy field, played Fredericton to ten innings and were then defeated only through an error which allowed the winning run to score. In their recent games with the league leaders the Woodstock aggregation have been more than holding their own and it should be a battle royal when they clash with the Greeks this afternoon and tomorrow.

It is Winckler's turn to work on the mound this afternoon and "Blondy" is generally there with the goods. Should anything happen, however, there will be no scarcity of relief men for Joe Foley, the Holy Cross twirler, touted as one of the most effective in New England, will be on hand to step in if needed and Steve White and George Winter will also be available. It is not known yet who will pitch for Woodstock this afternoon. The double umpire system will probably be used on Saturday and it was expected that both Evans and Duffy would work today but there is a probability of Fredericton and Houlton playing a postponed game this afternoon and Duffy may be expected to report there.

If it can be arranged Saturday's game may be converted into a double header and all for the one admission fee. If this is decided on the first game will start at 2 o'clock and the second immediately after the finish of the first. With a double header on Saturday Foley will probably pitch the first game with Steve White in line for the second.

On Monday the Marathons will go to Fredericton to play and there is a probability of Fredericton coming here for a double header on Tuesday.

Today, if the weather man is kind, will afford the fans the first chance for a week to see the Greeks at work on their home diamond. Although the schedule provided a busy week for the Greeks the weather had precedence and none of the Marathons' scheduled games were pulled off. Today at 3.30, however, the ball will open with Woodstock as the contenders and if the game is at all to the standard which both teams have been playing an excellent game should be seen.

THE ST. JOHN CRICKET TEAM BEATEN AGAIN

Montreal, July 25.—The St. John cricketers met their second defeat today, the victors this time being Montreal Amateur Athletic Association eleven. The winners batted first and piled up 154 and St. John following on could only make 44. Not one of the visiting batsmen reached double figures, although Mr. Extras attained this, contributing fifteen of the St. John total.

The St. John cricketers then started a second innings and fared better, getting 86 runs for five wickets before time was called. Robson was responsible for 38 of this total.

The Montreal club entertained the St. John team at lunch in the clubhouse before the game started and gave the visitors a most enjoyable day.

The St. John team play McGill tomorrow, and may go to Ottawa for a match on Saturday.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MRS. JOHN GOLDING

Passed Away Suddenly at Woodman's Point This Morning Before Relatives Could Reach Her Bedside.

The many friends of Mrs. John W. Golding, Sr., will be grieved to learn of her death which occurred suddenly at an early hour this morning at Woodman's Point on the St. John river. Her death was quite unexpected and came as a great shack to her family, none of the members of which were able to reach her bedside before she passed away.

Mrs. Golding had been an invalid for the best part of a year, and confined to her couch, but a few months ago she began to recover, and about three weeks ago, being then in fairly good health, went to the Cosman hotel at Woodman's Point.

She seemed to have recovered from the effects of the weak spells from which she formerly suffered, and at 10.30 last evening was sitting in the hotel parlor chatting with friends and apparently in excellent health and spirits.

Shortly after retiring she was taken ill and gradually sunk till she passed away shortly after midnight. Her family were notified of the illness and her husband, John N. Golding, Sr., and her two sons, Walter H. and John N. Jr., accompanied by Dr. Corbett, her physician, left for Woodman's Point in an automobile. But she died before they could reach there.

Besides her husband and two sons living in the city, Mrs. Golding leaves one daughter, Mrs. Charles H. Coburn of New York, who has been summoned home.

Two brothers, Wm. Brown, of this city, and Walter H. Brown, of Western Canada, and one sister, Mrs. Charles D. Dykeman, of Jemseg, on the river, also survive.

Mrs. Golding was the eldest daughter of the late Wm. H. Brown, a prominent shpi blacksmith in the old shipbuilding days of St. John. She was a lifelong member of the Brussels street Baptist church, and was prominent in the mission work of the church. She organized the first Chinese mission of the church in this city 18 years ago and had been superintendent of the mission ever since. She was a member of the governing board of the Associated Charities and was an active member of the investigating committee. She was a member of the Local Council of Women and identified with many other societies.

CRACKSMEN SURPRISED WHILE DRILLING SAFE

Two of them Afterward Spied Out by Police Auto Searchlights — Third Prisoner Walks In.

Passaic, N. J., July 25.—Philip Herman and his son on their way home from New York early today thought they would look in at the dry goods store that Herman has at 286 Main avenue and see if everything was all right. When they opened the front door they saw a dim light in the rear and as their eyes got accustomed to the half darkness they made out three men who were trying to drill the safe.

"Who's there?" called Herman.

The men jumped and one of them turned so Herman could get a pretty good view of him. Then they bolted through the open back door. Herman's store is a short way from the police station and his shouts brought half a dozen policemen. They got out the police automobile and turned the headlights on. Under a carriage they found one man and another was captured after a chase by the machine.

The prisoners said they were Morris Liebman of 5092 Pitkin avenue, East New York, and John Yonkosi of 100 Barclay street, Newark. They were arraigned this morning before Judge Costello in the police court and held without bail on a charge of attempted robbery. While they were being taken to the lockup a man somewhat under the influence of liquor went to Chief of Police William Hendry and said he would help him find the third man concerned in the attempted safe blowing if he could get a chance to talk to the prisoners. The visitor said he was Philip Goldberg of 70 Jackson street, Passaic.

While Goldberg was talking Detective Sergeant Turner came in. Goldberg looked familiar and the detective wondered if it wouldn't be a good plan to have the complainant against the two men under arrest look him over. Sergt. Turner brought Herman in and Herman at once identified Goldberg as the third of the trio that had tried to blow open his safe. He could not be mistaken, he said, because he had seen Goldberg's face when he turned toward the light.

Goldberg was then taken before the judge and held on the attempted burglary charge. According to Passaic records he was arrested here in 1901 for horse stealing and got a five years prison sentence. Soon after he was released from jail a fireman passing Ringer's soda water factory saw a spark sputtering near the stables. He found Goldberg close by, nabbed him and stamped the spark out.

The spark proved to be a fuse which led into the stable where two horses as well as a lot of hay had been soaked with oil. Goldberg was in jail for several months and finally made a confession in which he implicated Louis and Jacob Liebman—not related to the present prisoner of that name, it is said—who were rival soda water manufacturers. Jacob was acquitted and Louis was sentenced to serve a prison term and pay $1,000 fine.
