THE GHOST OF LOUIS RIEL.

LIKELY TO ARISE AGAIN IN THE MONTREAL EAST ELECTION.

The Contest for the Constituency Expected to be Exciting—Mr. L. O. David Mentioned as the Probable Liberal Candidate—Conservatives Reticent.

OTTAWA, Aug. 9.—The coming election in Montreal East to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Mr. C. J. Coursol is attracting some interest here. The Free Press to-night says Mr. L. O. David will probably be the Liberal candidate. But Mr. David will very likely think twice before giving up a seat in the Local House for a big chance of being defeated for the Federal Parliament. If Mr. David decides that discretion is the better part of valor then, says The Free Press, Mr. A. Ferrier stands the best chance of being the Liberal nominee.

A number of Conservatives are named as possible candidates, amongst them Senator Lacoste, who would be about as strong a candidate as the Conservatives could run; Mr. Joseph Tasse, ex-M.P. for Ottawa, Mr. O. M. Auger, Q. C., of Montreal and others.

The election is likely to prove the most exciting which has taken place since the general election, when Mr. Coursol, after having been a life-long Conservative, was elected as an Independent Nationalist, having bolted on the Riel question.

The ghost of Louis Riel will rise again during the coming contest in Montreal East, and on the result of the election may to a great extent depend whether or not that ghost is to be finally laid at rest or continue an active factor in Canadian politics.

THEY WILL FIGHT.

The Hamilton and Milton Road Co. Not Satisfied with the Engineer's Report.

HAMILTON, Aug. 9.—The solicitors for the Hamilton and Milton Road Company have appealed from the report of the engineer, and have given notice of arbitration as to the question of repairs required by the statute. These proceedings, they state, will leave the question of taking off the tolls to the arbitrators. They also state that to-morrow the company will sue out a writ from the High Court of Justice to set aside, as null and void, all the proceedings of the engineer. They also state that the company will bring actions against all persons who may refuse to pay toll.

Ad. Marentette, who has been assistant weights and measures inspector for the counties of Essex, Kent, Lambton and Huron, has been transferred to Hamilton, where he will be inspector of the scale factories. His salary has been increased $200.

At the close of the prayer-meeting in Erskine Church last evening, St. John Smillie, who is about to leave for England, was presented by the congregation with a purse of money.

The trustees of school section No. 7 have decided to erect a new schoolhouse on Barton-street east, outside the city limits. The cost will be about $5800.

A large number of farmers who backed their loads into position on the disputed territory near the markets this morning have received summonses to appear at court to-morrow morning, charged with blocking up the public thoroughfare.

Mr. Thomas Beckingham reported to the police last night that some man had tried to induce his little daughter to go away with him by offering to get her candies. It is probable that this is the same man who was trying a similar game some weeks ago.

Last night Michael Marrion, William Cochlin, Thomas Cummings and John Cochlin, jr., four Dundas toughs, were tried before Squires Bickford and Biukley for disorderly conduct on the street, and whistling a disturbance on a railway car on Aug. 4. Marrion was fined $20 or 30 days. The other defendants were fined $10 each.

Frederick Hatfield, John Reynolds, Edward Reynolds and Thomas Wilson, Dundas boys, were arraigned at the Police Court this morning on a charge of stealing a box of cigars on Aug. 1 from B. Johnson, who has a refreshment stand at the beach. Hatfield admitted that he went into the store with John Reynolds and took the cigars. The other boys were there but took no hand in the matter. Hatfield and J. Reynolds were each fined $3, and the others were discharged.

Robert Robinson and Wm. McAllister, the lads who pleaded guilty to stealing four bottles of beer from Frederick Beckman's store, were brought up for sentence at the Police Court this morning but as this was the prisoners' first offence the magistrate let them go under deferred sentence.

CANADA'S NATIONAL ROAD.

How the Stock is Owned—Another Globe Illusion Dispelled.

MONTREAL, Aug. 9.—At the time the Canadian Pacific Railway contract was before Parliament and at continued regular intervals since Liberal leaders and press, from Blake and Cartwright and The Globe down to the lesser lights of the party, have declared it was only a question of time before our railroad would be controlled by Americans, and the recent change in the presidency has been hailed as a proof that the predictions were correct, because Mr. Van Horne happens to be an American by birth and training.

Like nearly everything else in this world, a question of this kind can be settled by recourse to statistics, and the application of these proves most conclusively that, so far from Americans owning a majority of the stock, they are in a decided minority.

There are 650,000 shares in all, of which 580,323 are held by 2846 English, European and Canadian holders, leaving only 69,677 shares owned by 179 Americans. Thus, it is seen, scarcely one-tenth of the shares are held in the States, which fact seems to dispose, once for all, of the Liberals' illusions.

A VALUABLE DISCOVERY.

Rich Find of Gold and Silver in Nova Scotia—The Bellrophon's Cruise.

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 9.—The flagship Bellrophon and fleet leave on Aug. 29 for a cruise to the St. Lawrence going as far as Quebec.

A small quantity of quartz was sent to New York to be examined and has been reported on as containing about an equal quantity of gold and silver, about $350 worth of each metal to the ton of quartz.

Lonsdale Looking for the Pole.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 9.—The Pioneer Press learns from Edmonton that James Hyslop and E. N. Nagle, who wintered on Athabaska River 30 miles south of Chipewayan, arrived at the landing on July 13. Lord Lonsdale was at Chipewayan on May 2, going north. Last winter was severe at Lake Athabaska, and the Indians were frequently unable to hunt, and as the rabbits were remarkably scarce they suffered greatly from hunger. Nineteen out of one camp of twenty-three Indians died of starvation. The Hudson Bay Company sent provisions to the camp and brought in the survivors. About fifty Indians starved to death in the district.

Waiting for Uncle Sam to Lead.

PARIS, Aug. 9.—At a luncheon yesterday to M. Viette, Minister of Agriculture, the prohibition of the importation of American meat having been referred to by Deputy Lalande, M. Viette declared himself in favor of reciprocity between France and America. America, he said, by raising her tariff forced France into the paths of protection. It was for America to reduce her tariff and France would willingly follow.

"ALWAYS WITH YOU."

What a Committee of Islanders are Going to do for Little Sufferers.

There was a large attendance of Island residents from both the west and centre at "Monreith Cottage" last night to discuss the project of holding a water carnival in aid of the Sick Children's Hospital. Col. Sweny was chosen chairman, and Mr. James Murray secretary-treasurer. Among those present were James Morrison, Walter Heming, J. E. Ellis, John Macgregor, John French, Rufus S. Neville, John Murray, John Walker, Ald. Piper, M. Kirdland, H. P. D. Armstrong, Roy Sweny, Charles Matheson, Robert Young, Walter Stewart, George Dunstan and A. W. Croil.

It was determined, after considerable discussion, to fix the date of the carnival for Aug. 25. The spot chosen for the sports was the lake shore about quarter of a mile south of the Turner Baths. The program will include water polo, canoe-racing, a duck hunt, swimming races, water football, etc. An executive committee was chosen, composed of Messrs. Matheson, Dunstan, Stewart, Victor Armstrong, Macgregor, Croil, R. Boulton, John Murray, Arthur Denison, Ald. Piper, Ald. Irwin and Ald. Swait, with power so add to their number. All the special committees, including the sporting and subscription committees, will be struck from the executive committee, and it was determined to go to work at once in order to make the affair a success. Already twenty valuable prizes have been contributed and the committee expect a large addition before the date of the carnival.

THOSE YONGE-STREET GAS PIPES.

A Case Where the Home Manufacturer Failed in His Contract.

The various nuisances caused by contractors, builders and the companies who require a right of way above or under ground, are a frequent cause of complaint in Toronto. The Consumers' Gas Company has received its share of abuse in some of the daily papers in connection with the pipes now lying on Yonge-street. Mr. Whitsimore, cashier of the company, was seen by a World reporter yesterday concerning the matter complained of.

"We endeavor," he said, "to encourage home manufacturers, and with that end in view gave an order for 3550 yards of 16-inch pipe to Mr. Gartshore of Hamilton, the pipes to be delivered prior to June 15. Up to the present only 700 yards have been delivered. We cannot commence operations until all the pipe is on hand, or until we are certain it will be in proper time. We have written several times to Mr. Gartshore with the intension of hurrying him up, but it appears he cannot fulfil his contract on time, and we contemplate transferring the order to a firm in the Old Country. We wish this matter to be put before the public in a proper light, and at the same time wish to show every consideration to our native manufacturers."

HE LEFT SHARP ON TIME.

A Suspicious Character who was Glad to Get out of Toronto.

Detectives Davis and Slemin yesterday located, in a leading hotel, two suspicious characters, one of whom at least they knew to be a man of unsavory reputation in the matter of honesty. This one they arrested and brought to Headquarters. He had registered as "George Reynolds," but when confronted by Inspector Stark he confessed his name was James Sullivan and his home at Baltimore. It was explained to him that if he remained in the city he would be locked up as a suspicious character or kept safe until enquiries could be made about him. Then Sullivan weakened, and expressed a willingness to get out of Toronto at once. He was given two hours to do so. He left presumably for Detroit at 2.50 p.m., but got off the train at Hamilton. It is expected that his stay in the Ambitious City will be short as the police of that city have been notified of his presence.

Festine accompanied Sullivan's companion, who is believed to be three-card monte sharps, the detectives took his valise and coat to Headquarters. He can get them as soon as he presents himself and tells the officers all about his antecedents.

TRENTON, Aug. 9.—John Taylor & Co., the leading pork packers of New Jersey, suspended yesterday; liabilities, $250,000; assets estimated at $33,000. Disastrous speculation in New York and Chicago precipitated the failure. It is believed the firm can resume business.

DUBLIN, Aug 9.—United Ireland says the Parnell Commission Bill is the greatest fraud ever fashioned. The Parnellites did not reject it because their action would have been misinterpreted and did not accept it because it is a fraud and the tribunal will be packed. The Pernellites, however, will pass the ordeal earnestly and in good faith. Though the dice are loaded they feel that the game is theirs.

THE FISHERIES DEBATE.

CONCLUSION OF MR. EVART'S ADDRESS ON THE TREATY.

The Discussion Continued by Messrs. Morgan and Blair — President Cleveland Characterized by the Latter as Recalcitrant, Pigheaded and Obstinate.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—In the Senate today Mr. Evarts (Rep., N.Y.) resumed his argument against the Fisheries Treaty. The position which should be taken by the United States was, he said, to insist that the United States had always rejected the headland theory and did not tolerate the claim of right on the part of Great Britain to make a bay by calling it a bay and to shut out of it American fishermen, and then there might be or there might not be an opportunity to find out what Great Britain meant. That would not mean war or fear of war.

As to the complaint made on the Democratic side that publicity was given to the discussion of the treaty, Mr. Evarts said that the initiation of such publicity was due to the executive in recommending the treaty and all communications connected with it to be given to the public.

As to the complaint made by the Senator from Alabama (Morgan) against the majority of the Committee on Foreign Relations for stating in its reports that the time for negotiations had passed, Mr. Evarts read the extract in question: "On Jan. 19, 1887, Congress came to the conclusion that the period of negation and unavailing remonstrance had passed." So that it was Congress itself, he said, and not the committee which had come to that conclusion. As to the same senator's charge of servility against the committee, Mr. Evarts failed to find anything offensive or servile in the paragraph referred to.

In conclusion he said that he would prepare a comment upon the terms of the treaty itself, and he hoped not an unfair one, but he would forbear to proceed with it at present.

President Grant's Good Sense.

The discussion then turning on President Grant's message to the Senate, with a proposed treaty on the same subject, was taken up by Mr. Morgan (Dem., Ala.) who declared that the President had on that occasion given counsel in favor of a true and wise policy and now spoke from the grave better than any senator had done in this discussion.

Mr. Frye (Rep., Me.) resented the manner in which the payment of duties on preserved fish is evaded; that is, by having the fish frozen solid and introduced duty free as "fresh fish for immediate consumption," and while in fact such frozen fish could be kept for months. He argued that a construction should be placed by Congress upon that provision of the law or else that a duty should be imposed on fish preserved by freezing just as if it was preserved in any other way.

Mr. Morgan said that the object of destroying the treaty at once was nothing more nor less than political and was connected with the presidential election. One of the senators from Massachusetts had pronounced (Mr. Morgan) a silly man because he had alluded to the fact that war might grow out of the question. He might be silly, but he had seen enough of war to be afraid of it, perhaps the senator from Massachusetts had not.

Mr. Hoar (Rep., Mass.) disclaimed having spoken of the senator from Alabama as silly. What he had said was that if he had not so much respect for the senator he should pronounce the suggestion that war with England might grow out of insisting on the rights of American fishermen supremely silly.

"Our Country, Right or Wrong."

Mr. Morgan said that the Democratic party had in it the backbone of Andrew Jackson, that it was not going to make a foolish quarrel, but that if the quarrel came it would stand by the country right or wrong. When the negotiations should fail, then the Democratic party means, as the President meant, that the Retaliation Act—which then and not before would become mandatory—would be observed, and yet, when it was expected that the law was to be obeyed, there came a howl from the Fishery Association because the President would not pledge himself in advance to limit the retaliation to the fishery business.

Mr. Blair's Sarcasm.

Mr. Blair (Rep., N. H.), whose resolution had been alluded to by Mr. Morgan, declared sarcastically that if there was to be no war with England or Canada until the discussion on the treaty ended, war would be postponed until the destruction of the world by fire or till a deluge came again. He supposed that the object of the senator from Alabama in talking war was for effect in the political campaign at home. He did not know of any Republican who talked about war as a result of the rejection of the treaty. The resources of diplomacy are all open and had not yet been exhausted. A recalcitrant, obstinate and pig headed executive was not going to take the responsibility of inflicting on the American people needless injury, mercantile distress and the destruction of business unnecessarily and simply because he had the power. When it was intimated to the Senate that the President was going further and would destroy the industrial fabric of the United States simply because he and his party were in a fret, it appeared to him (Blair) that the whole party might as well be banished from the country as being too ignorant, too foolish or too unpatriotic to exist properly under the protection of American laws.

Mr. Hale criticised Mr. Morgan's position and that of the Democratic party on the treaty as being in the interest of free trade. There was no demand in any American quarter for free fish. It was only within the last year that an American administration was to be found that was willing to trample American interests under its feet and to make long homilies and have its friends in the Senate make long speeches in favor of "our enemies the British people." He congratulated the country on having seen in this debate what the animus of the Senator from Alabama was.

An Unfortunate Adjective.

Mr. Morgan said that the senator from New Hampshire had spoken of President Cleveland as pigheaded. Mr. Cleveland was not pig headed and was not a fool. He had been wise enough to beat the Republican party every time he came in contact with it and he was going to do it again so easily that Republicans would not know how it happened.

Mr. Blair said he had used an unfortunate adjective, "pigheaded," in reference to the President's anticipated conduct as foretold and proclaimed by the senator from Alabama. He had no wish to qualify the expression. He did not want to interfere with the senator's adoration. That senator was at liberty to worship any fetich he chose and would naturally select such a god.

After some further interchange of like compliments between the two senators the day's discussion came to a close.

THE ST. NICHOLAS HOME OUTRAGE.

Chief of Police Grasett on Rival Bands—Looking for the Guilty Parties.

The World saw Chief Grasett yesterday and interviewed him on the measures he had adopted to secure the arrest of the authors of the St. Nicholas Home outrage. "We are leaving no stone unturned," said the Chief, "to find out the guilty parties. I understand that two names of participants have been secured, but it will be difficult to fasten the crime on them, from the fact that the names are very common ones. As far as I can learn the trouble was caused by a collision between young men of the opposing factions in the first place. The press should take the band question up, and demand legislation for their suppression. As it is, bands of all descriptions promenade the streets every night, playing party tunes, irritating the people and giving the police endless anxiety. It is my opinion, except on national holidays, no bands with the exception of the military should be allowed to march on the public streets. The music is of the worst, and the tunes all party ones."

Detective Inspector Stark told The World that the "band nuisance" was becoming abominable and called for immediate action. He would suggest that no band outside of the military ones be allowed to parade except with permission. The application for leave to walk should be accompanied by a description of the route to be taken, so that the police would be the more fully prepared in case of emergency.

Another officer said: "One of the chief causes of the fights between Orange and Green in Lombard-street is the presence of the Central Firehall there. You know that the great majority, if not all, of the men belong to the Orange Society, and when the True Blues and Prentice bands come down of a night to serenade their older brethren. Now, the tunes that please the firemen in the hall do not agree with the residents' tastes, and in consequence there is often a free fight."

Told by an Eye-Witness.

An eye-witness of the attack on St. Nicholas' Home gave to The World last night the following version of the affair. He said: "The Derry fife and drum band from over the Don had been parading the streets for some time, and at half-past nine o'clock they were making their way to West Market-square, where they intended to disperse. When in Church-street they were assailed by a volley of stones, but took no notice of this. When at the end of Lombard-street a second volley of stones saluted them, one of the members of the band being struck. This enraged some of the crowd following, who pursued the assailants down Lombard-street to Jarvis-street. They then returned and joined the band and the main corps on Church-street. It was while these sympathizers were in Lombard-street that stones came from the direction of the Home. This enraged the crowd and a rush was made for the gates of the Home and damage was done. The main corps of the Orangemen following the Derry band were not in the affray at all. Those who forced the gate open were young fellows following the band as crowds do. The Orangemen and Derry band had nothing to do with the attack at all. The mob was annoyed by the stone-throwing at the band on Church-street and by the stones which came from the Home."

The Derry Band Repudiated.

It is denied that the True Blues had anything to do with the attack on St. Nicholas' Home last Tuesday night. A prominent officer of the association states that the True Blues returned direct to their hall on Dundas-street as soon as the procession in honor of Mr. N. Clarke Wallace reached Victoria Hall. The Derry Band, he further states, has no connection with the True Blue association, and is not, indeed, part of the Orange body in Toronto.

TROUBLES OF THE TRADES.

PROGRESS OF THE STRIKES THAT ARE NOW ENVELOPING THE CITY.

Seventy Plumbers Imported from the United States—A Strange Procession in Victoria-street—The Parson and the Bricklayers' Union—Other Disputes.

About 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon a curious procession entered the south end of Victoria-street. It consisted of forty-five plumbers from the States, three detectives, several policemen and a number of the "boss" plumbers.

The men from the States had arrived from Port Dalhousie by the Empress of India. The strikers' pickets had discovered who the passengers were, and it did not take long for a crowd to gather near the "boss" plumbers offices, 16 Victoria-street. The president of the union, Mr. D. Glenn, went upstairs and asked to see the new arrivals, but he was of course refused. The men were speedily drafted off to the masters most urgently requiring their services, and the strikers' pickets took notes of where they went.

During the day the pickets brought in over a dozen plumbers and steamfitters and so far as appearances go the strikers are as confident as ever of success.

Yesterday closed with 46 steamfitters and 68 plumbers on strike and about 65 plumbers at work for employers who have signed the agreement. The strikers were further cheered by Mr. Williams of Spadina-avenue, one of the members of the "boss" association, signing the agreement and setting several men to work. At ten o'clock last night the Strike Committee reported the capture of eleven of the day's arrivals.

It is stated that about twenty more plumbers arrived by G. T. R. at 5.30 in the afternoon, all of them from New York.

At about 10.30 last night a number of the new arrivals came to the strikers' committee rooms and asked to be sent to Chicago or New York. The strikers decided to send no one away except those who gave practical proofs of their being plumbers, and for the purpose of testing a committee was appointed and those desirous of going back must pass the test.

A Clergyman's Trouble with the Bricklayers' Union.

Rev. C. E. Thomson, pastor of the Anglican Church of West Toronto Junction, having advertised for non-union bricklayers at 37 cents an hour, that is 3½ cents over the union wages, The World reporter saw Mr. Thomson, who said that he was having a house built near Davenport station, and he paid the contractor, Mr. McMillan of Parkdale, week by week every cent which the architect certified for. He found on Saturday last that the men were not all paid, and that his work would be at a stand still. He asked the union bricklayers if they would work for him if he paid them the current wages, but he made it clear that he would not pay the balance due them by the contractor. The men agreed and continued on till dinner time on Monday, when they refused to do any more work unless he would pay them the money due by the contractor. He refused to do so, paid them for the time they had worked for him, and now had good non-union men at work finishing the job.

The workmen state that the contractor had the job by the thousand; that under those circumstances the owner ought to pay clear up; that on Monday they found that no money was due from Mr. Thomson to the contractor; they were legally entitled to their wages; they explained this fully to Mr. Thomson, showed him that he was legally bound to pay them and to stop the money out of the balance due to the contractor; but instead of doing so, he paid them off, and thus has put them into the position of having to incur heavy legal expenses to recover the balance of wages due, all of which might have been avoided, not one cent for both, they determined to accept the prosecutor's brief and politely told the alleged infringer of the law to go.

The Barber Works.

"I do not think that the people will be dissatisfied with the work," said Ald. Swait, superintendent of the Island cribwork, to The World yesterday. "We have lots of good stone, no bad stuff, and we are putting it where it does the most good. I am sure you would say yourself that more has been accomplished in the last six months than for a year previously. I have 30 men busy all the time, and they know what to do and how to do it well."

Still Haunting Fire.

The commission appointing Mr. Morson Acting Deputy County Judge was expected yesterday from Quebec, where the papers had been sent down to receive the Governor-General's signature, but the mails failed to bring it along. Mr. Morson expects to receive it this morning, when he will at once proceed to take the necessary oath.

In the meantime you can purchase a nice cool summer hat at cost from Harris & Co., hatters, 99 Yonge-street. You can't beat the quality and price in town.

CITY HALL SMALL TALK.

The Mayor and Councillors from St. Mary's Did Not Materialize.

Ontario Ministers on Holiday.

This August weather in town has been too simmering for our Ontario ministers. They have all gripped their grips and left their work in the hands of their efficient deputies. Mr. Mowat is still lingering in England. He will be home by August 25. Mr. Fraser has gone down to his Brockville residence on the shore of the St. Lawrence. Mr. Hardy is roving the wild woods in the vicinity of Parry Sound. Hon. A. M. Ross likewise is courting favoring breezes in the Muskoka district. Hon. G. W. Ross is down at Danville, N. Y., getting rid of rheumatic pains. The Minister of Agriculture was the last man to desert his post, but when the news came that the grasshoppers were chewing the rail fences up in Simcoe County no one can say that he did anything but his duty in going up to Crown Hill.

Parties visiting Hanlan's Point can get tea, coffee, hot water, ale, cider, etc., at city prices. Bakery in connection. Mrs. Burnan's.

A JOLLY GOOD TIME.

So Ald. Hallam Says the Lancashire Lads and Lasses will Have.

The following is from The Preston (Eng.) Chronicle. It is headed "Lancashire Lads and Lasses and Lord Stanley of Preston":

Mr. John Hallam of Toronto, Canada, says in a letter to us, "Lord Stanley of Preston is now our Governor-General, and he will open the Toronto Exhibition on Sept. 19 next. The Lancashire lads and lasses have intend to present him with an address. During my time in Canada we have had Scotchmen and Irishmen as figure-heads amongst us, but we have never had an English Lancashire man, so we intend to go in and have a jolly good time, as I think Lord Stanley of Preston will compare favorably with any of them.

Accused and Accuser Unexpectedly Meet.

A curious coincidence occurred yesterday afternoon in the office of a well-known legal firm in Toronto-street. A man came in and sought advice as to how he should defend a charge of false pretences which he thought might be brought against him. While he was pouring out his side of the story in walked the man whom he believed was about to have him arrested. The recognition was mutual. The last-arrived had come for information as to how to secure the other fellow's arrest. As the firm could not act for both, they determined to accept the prosecutor's brief and politely told the alleged infringer of the law to go.

The Salters and Cigarmakers.

The salters' dispute developed no new phase yesterday. All the vessels leaving port that required hands had no difficulty in securing all they required at $1 and $1.25 per day. In spite of this, however, there is evidently trouble brewing, as the union men are active in hunting up recruits and otherwise taking stock of the situation.

The cigarmakers picket yesterday secured the only "scab" they came across, the city, fetching him out of Mr. Dobson's factory. Everything else in their dispute is exactly in statu quo.

Mr. Chase, who was taken by surprise, thanked the members. Several short addresses were given. Mr. Chase is retiring from active work in the association owing to his duties at the Parliament Buildings.

Powderly Assembly No. 4614, K. of L., met in Richmond Hall last night, unanimously endorsed the action of the steamfitters in coming out to assist the plumbers, agreed to aid the printers and entered several new members.
