PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS.

The Grand's Big Attractions.

Sol Smith Russell will conclude his engagement at the Grand Opera House with two performances to-day, the matinee being billed to start at 2.15. Augustin Daly's Musical Company, originally from Daly's Theatre, New York, will present for the first time in this city, the London and New York musical sensation of last season, entitled "A Runaway Girl," at the Grand on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings and Saturday matinee. Without doubt the quaint and melodic comedy, which is the joint work of no less than six eminent English writers and composers, will be heartily welcomed, for it is said to be far and away ahead in many respects of the numerous other stage maidens that have taken their musical comedy start from the London Gaiety Theatre. As with all its sisters, the extent of complexity of the plot is not likely to prevent the sense of humor concentrating itself entirely on the clean, genuine, bustling fun of dialogue and action, or the ear and eye from using their fullest faculty of appreciation in the direction of its numerous taking songs, almost every one of which usually secures from a couple of encores to a half dozen, or its equally attractive and novel dances, that have all the merit, originality of idea and pretty costuming that their capable exponents can give them. In short, from an entertainment point of view, "A Runaway Girl" justifies the superlative degree of comparison right through. Nothing is aimed at where it can be said not to make a hit. Almost with the opening scene it captures the average auditor completely, and from that point to the final chorus, the hearer follows the tuneful melodies of "A Runaway Girl" with an attention that is the best possible recognition of its charms. In a line with the laugh interest of the libretto, the tunefulness of its effective airs, its magnificent mounting and dressing, is the superior cast. James Powers, as Flipper a jockey, is a prime mover in the prevalent merriment, and his past excellent efforts are held clearly in mind when it is said he, as the boisterous slangy rider, has never been so fresh, so unctuous or so fertile, in all the resources of the genuine comedian. In keeping with the standard set by him is the work of Ethel Jackson, Van Rennsalaer Wheeler, Rachel Booth, Arthur Cunningham, Joseph C. Fay, Mae Baker, Miriam Lawrence, Henry Stanley, Maurice Abby, Jeanette Towler, Thas. Ruthven Smith, Spottswood Aiken and George Lesoir and the rest of the company, that in its more important members, as in its smallest roles, are eminently worthy the name of Augustin Daly. The sale of reserved seats for the engagement began yesterday.

"The Shaughraun" Catches on.

"The Shaughraun" has caught on big at the Princess Theatre this week, as expected, and there certainly will be a rush for seats during the balance of the week. The "wake" scene makes the biggest hit in the whole show, and a more amusing or laughable scene has not been put on at the Princess. The revolving prison, in the Old Gate Tower, is a striking piece of stage mechanism, and St. Bridget's Abbey is the prettiest scene of the play. This play is the heaviest undertaking this company has made here, and it has certainly made a deserved hit. "The Shaughraun" runs for the balance of the week, with two performances daily, and on next Monday Rose Coghlan's famous play, "Diplomacy," will be presented in a manner which it is claimed will surpass any production given this season in artistic merit. "Diplomacy" is a powerful, well-known play, and should be well suited to the company. "Diplomacy" is one of Toronto's strongest favorites; it has not been seen here in some time, and its production by this company will attract much interest.

The First Minstrel Show.

In the "Devil's Auction" the Toronto Opera House has a great "matinee" attraction this week. The spectacle is one which appeals to children as well as grown people, and it is said that many children's theatre parties have been arranged for Thursday and Saturday afternoons. The advent of William H. West's Minstrels is already being heralded by a small army of billposters. This year George Primrose who formerly was a partner in the minstrel firm of Primrose & West, is not with the great minstrel show, Mr. William H. West having purchased the attraction outright. The number of "leading" minstrels on the stage is not large, but Mr. West appears to have secured control of nearly all of them. His advance program includes the names of Carroll Johnston, who is probably one of the most popular minstrel men who ever entertained a Toronto audience, Richard Jose, the great tenor, and Tom Lewis, the comedian, the three men having the reputation of being the highest-priced minstrels upon the continent. The appearance of the company at the Toronto Opera House is a new departure, as Mr. West's organization has never played in this city, or in fact, in any other except at high prices. A number of additions have been made to the company since last season.

Best Light Opera Co. in America.

The company supporting Alice Nielsen in the brand new Victor Herbert-Harry B. Smith-Stanislaus Stange opera, "The Singing Girl," is termed by Manager Frank L. Perley, who is withal a conservative man, "the best light opera company in America." This seems like a broad statement at first, but a hasty glance at the names which follow may tend to the conviction that Mr. Perley is stating no more than the truth for his organization. Eugene Cowles, the noble basso, so long associated with the Bostonians; Richie Ling, the most adored tenor in New York; Lucile Saunders, the famous contralto of the Carl Rosa Company in England; Edward Metcalfe, Jennie Hawley and Ursula Gurnett are among these singers, while, as for the comedy department, Miss Nielsen enjoys not one but four of the best fun-makers on the stage to-day—Joseph Herbert, John Slavin, Joseph Cowthorne and Louis Kelso. "The Singing Girl" will run all next week at the Grand.

At Shea's Theatre.

Shea's Theatre is serving a good show all round this week. Some of the cleverest people that have faced a Toronto audience are on the bill, but Marshall P. Wilder, that clever little funny man whom everybody enjoys to laugh with, is the magnet that will call out the finest audiences of the season thus far. Wilder has a host of friends in the city in society circles, and the number of theatre parties present last night was proof that his popularity is as great as ever. A recent press notice of him says: "To miss Wilder and his wit and humor is to miss a treat of a lifetime."

At the Empire.

Rough Riders figure in this week's show at the Empire Theatre. The living pictures presented form a surprising ending to the first part of the program. The olio is replete with sketchy bits of humor. Smoking is always allowed.

Christ's Life in Pictures.

The reception recorded to the exhibition of Tissot's great paintings, illustrative of the Life of Christ, at Massey Music Hall, is gratifying to the art-loving people of Toronto, and to the clergy, who have recognized in this collection of pictures a medium of Christian teaching that they are glad to endorse. It is not surprising that a centre of culture and refinement like Toronto should welcome the opportunity to see these pictures, for no community is more ready to respond to an appeal to education and intelligence.

The impression that an inspection of the paintings is a matter of one short afternoon has been rapidly dispelled, and every visitor becomes a constant attendant at the exhibition. The problem for the managers now seems to be the proper distribution of the attendance, and it is hoped that all who can do so will visit the hall in the morning, and thereby relieve the crush that prevails in the afternoon and evening.

Kneisel Quartet Concert.

A treat is in store for those who attend the "Kneisel" concert this evening. The four artists who compose the Kneisel Quartet render music fit for the gods. Herr Schroeder, the fine 'cellist of the organization has not been heard in solo in Toronto before. Miss Huston sings a charming group of songs, which will give a pleasing variety to the program. Mrs. Sullivan Mallon will play the piano in the suite for violin and piano. Holders of admission tickets may reserve their seats without charge. The doors will be closed as usual during the performance of any number.

McMaster Opens To-Day.

McMaster University opened yesterday with a very large attendance, the prospects pointing to many more students than ever before. Last year few ladies were registered, but this year there is a marked increase.

The formal opening of McMaster takes place on Friday evening, Oct. 13, in Bloor-street Baptist Church, at 8 o'clock. The principal speaker will be Prof. William Dale, who will give an address on "Rome and England." Chancellor Wallace and Dr. W. R. Smith, the new professor of biology, will also speak.

Young Man Gone West.

Mr. J. S. McLean, member of the graduating class, '96, Toronto University, left yesterday for Vancouver, B.C., whither he has been sent by the Imperial Insurance Company.

East Toronto.

East Toronto, Oct. 3.—(Special.)—The monthly meeting of the East Toronto Village Council was held in the fire hall this evening, Reeve McMillin presiding. A communication from Superintendent Jones of the G.T.R. gave rise to considerable discussion in connection with the proposition to have a bracket sidewalk placed on the west side of the G.T.R. bridge. This bridge has been a source of danger to school children for a long time, as it is narrow, and the planks are wide enough apart to admit of large puffs of smoke coming between when engines are shunting, which is an all-day occurrence at this point. The railway company feel disposed to assist in putting a bracket sidewalk on the side of the bridge, and the communication asked the Council how much they were prepared to give towards the work. The Council decided to leave it in the hands of the Reeve, who will see the officials in regard to the matter. A petition was read from Mrs. Wiggins asking that certain houses on Gerrard-street be connected with the water mains. Several crossings were ordered to be put in, and accounts to the amount of $318.32 were passed, after which Council adjourned.

Among the funerals of the late Mr. James Seals and Mr. John Busby, who was killed on the G.T.R., were very largely attended this afternoon. Both interments took place at Norway.

North Toronto.

Thanksgiving service will be held this evening at Leaside Episcopal Mission. Rev. R. Ashcroft of St. James' Cathedral will preach on the occasion, and the rector, Rev. T. W. Patterson, will assist in the service.

The regular meeting of the Town Council was held last evening, the members present being Mayor Davis and Councillors Brown, Spittel, Ellis, Armstrong and Stibbard.

The report of the commissioner condemning portions of the sidewalk on Merton and Balliol-streets caused a long discussion, and particularly a short portion on Balliol-street. The Rev. T. W. Patterson was present and addressed the committee in respect to Balliol-street, and asked that a walk of some kind be laid without delay. Councillor Ellis objected to burdening vacant lot owners with any improvements not absolutely necessary, and advocated tiding over the difficulty by a small expenditure out of the general tax rather than creating a local improvement. The mayor and Councillors Armstrong and Stibbard favored local improvement, and the report was adopted, and new sidewalks will in all probability now be laid on the initiative.

Mr. James Logie of Erskine-avenue was allowed to put in a private drain on that street under the supervision of the commissioner.

The report of the special committee appointed to deal with the Metropolitan Railway was presented, and stated that whereas the company named had not treated the Council with common courtesy, by not having acknowledged a communication sent to them, therefore the committee be empowered to co-operate with York Township in endeavoring to interest the Toronto Railway in extending their line to the northern limits of the town. The report was concurred in.

The sale of land now owned by the town was postponed till the first of November next, and on the suggestion of Councillor Ellis a recital of the advantages of the town will head the published list of lands.

What Was the Damage?

Two insurance cases set down for trial at the Civil Assizes, and referred to Judge Morgan, were heard yesterday in County Court. The defendants are the Waterloo Mutual Fire Insurance Company and the Economical Mutual Fire Insurance Company. They dispute a loss claimed by John F. East, a storekeeper of Kleinburg, and M. J. Crottie of this city, mortgagee. East held two policies for $2000 each, and he says his loss by fire was $4650. The defendants offer $500 each, and Judge Morgan is hearing evidence to determine the real damage.

ROBILLARD—TARTE.

The Daughter of the Minister of Public Works Was Wedded in Montreal Yesterday.

Montreal, Oct. 3.—Mr. J. E. Robillard, son of Mr. Joseph Robillard, ex-M.L.A., for Bertheir, and Mlle. Amelia Tarte, daughter of the Hon. J. I. Tarte, Minister of Public Works, were married here to-day. The ceremony was performed in the beautiful church of St. Louis de France. The wedding was a private one, no invitations having been issued. Nevertheless, in spite of the early hour, a large number of friends were in the church to see the marriage. Amongst them was Lady Laurier, who is an intimate friend of the family. The bride, who was given away by her father, the Hon. J. I. Tarte, looked very charming in a most lovely costume of grey cloth.

The presents were varied and extremely handsome, the number testifying to the popularity of the young people. Her Excellency Lady Minto, Lady Laurier and a great many other friends sent beautiful remembrances.

The couple left after the wedding for Toronto.

Pianos That Have Stood the Test.

In 1883 the Ontario Ladies' College, Whitby, equipped their musical department with a number of pianos bearing the well-known name of Heintzman & Co. Within the past week the management of this successful institution have placed an order with Heintzman & Co. for three of their best upright pianos and one of their famous concert grands. The opportunity has been given them to thoroughly test these instruments, for if there is any place where a piano finds hard usage it is in an institution where it is in daily usage with puplis. The opinion expressed over the signatures of the faculty of the Ontario Ladies' College some years ago in these words: "Their durability of mechanism and solidity of construction render them especially serviceable for the educational requirements of the college. They have stood the severe tests admirably," finds fresh emphasis in the new piano purchase made from Heintzman & Co. to-day. It is this excellence in construction that is giving the pianos of this firm a front position wherever known, and especially in circles where what constitutes a thoroughly high-class instrument can be
