Birds Have a Swatfest.

Baltimore was revenged yesterday for the great swat fest that Toronto had in the Birds' home some time ago. Yesterday the Orioles made a total of 18 runs and incidentally landed on Toronto's crack slabman, Applegath and Currie, for 15 hits. Griffin, who has been on the sick list with a broken rib, was the chief offender; he made a triple, two doubles and two singles in six attempts. Toronto had hard work in locating Wiltse's offerings, and he was never in the hole.

Manager Harley cannot be blamed for this defeat. His lack of twirlers has made him use his men too often, and this sort of thing is bound to occur. When the men have a chance to rest up a little, the team will continue its winning form under the hard-working manager.

Baltimore got one in the initial inning, when Jennings walked into a shoot, stole second and scored on Lewis' double.

Toronto grabbed up two in their half. Wiedensaul doubled and scored on White's triple. White scored on Massey's grounder to third.

The Birds cinched the game in the third, when Applegate blew up. He passed three men, after McFarland and Hayden had hit safely. The latter's effort was a triple. Currie was put in, with three on bases, and he was touched up for three safe drives, which scored three runs. The plate got too hot, and the scorers were in a fit, so the Birds called off the picnic until the next innings. Here they garnered three more, on three passes and Griffin's two-bagger.

More joy for the visitors in the next innings. Two doubles, two singles and a base on balls netted four more runs.

In the seventh they carried off three more, to aid them against Montreal to-day. Jennings got hit again and stole second. Lewis and Jordan went out and Kelly walked. Griffin was there with another single, scoring Jennings and Kelly, and Byers' hit scored Griffin. Wiltse joined in the gaiety, his contribution being a stinging drive to left.

In the ninth Griffin was apparently not satisfied with his day's work, so he tripped off another triple, but was stranded on third.

Toronto were so dumbfounded at the fusillade of base hits that they could not do anything. They plucked up a little "ginnegar" in the sixth, and were quite rude to Mr. Wiltse. White walked and Murray obligingly struck out. Rapp hit the ball on the nose for two bases, and Raub's single scored two runs. After this, however, the Harleyites were quite contented to chase the ball all over the lot and let Wiltse severely alone. The score:
