The nows by the last steamer from the Cape of Good Hope is more satisfactory, but nevertheless the Kaffirs show no disposition to succumb. It appears that Sir H. The Government despatch of these remarkable operation details in the fullest manner the whole of each day's movements, and it is so far satisfactory to say that although the loss on our side has been very severe, still the enemy has been extirpated from that stronghold, and S. It would be unfair to deny to Sir John Packington the merit of considerable talent for the manner in which he introduced his measure the other night for the government of New Zealand. We are not of the number of those, who can see no virtue in a political opponent. On the contrary, we can afford to hail and to receive a good measure, come from whose hands it may, and we repeat, that the new Colonial Minister has shown marked talent and a very modest bearing in introducing the new constitution for New Zealand.—Wilmer and Smith, May 8, 1852.

THE WIFE OF SIR JOHN FRANKLIN.—Eleanor Ann Porden was born in 1785. She early manifested great talents and a strong memory, and acquired a considerable knowledge of Greek and other languages. Her first poem, "The Veils' was written when she was seventeen. Her next was the "Arctic Expedition," which led to her marriage with Captain Franklia. Her principal work is the epic of "Cœur de Lion," which appeared in 1835. Her poems display much elegance, spirit, and richness of imagination.

We believe the bench and bar of Halifax hold proper views upon the question of the appointment of Queen's Counsel; and that they have given a proper check to a Reform Ministry, which has certainly worked very hard, upon more occasions than one, to make itself an object of ridicule. The "office should be a judicial, far more than a ministerial, appointment;" and the gentlemen who have silk gowns bestowed upon them, should be rather distinguished members of the profession, than the mere tools of a Ministry. We think a beneficial change in the system of appointing Queen's Counsel might be introduced into Canada, for manifold reasons; but chiefly to check the prostitution of the dignity of the bar, by the corrupting influence of the government of the day, in the selection of preferments of silk gowns.—Toronto Colonist.

Sir.—I have to acknowledge your despatch No. 5, of the House of Assembly of Newfoundland on receiving his Lordship's reply to the address in favour of Responsible Government.

2nd. I have to thank you on the part of her Majesty's Government for the assistance which you have afforded them by your clever and able statement of the circumstances under which these resolutions and the addresses were passed, and of the present political state and prospects of the colony.

3d. Her Majesty's Government see no reason for differing from the conclusions at which their prodecessors had arrived on the question of the establishment of Responsible Government, and which were conveyed to you by Lord Grey in the despatch already mentioned. I consider, on the contary, that the wisdom and justice of those conclusions are confirmed by the accounts since received from Newfoundland, and especially by the contents of the addresses from the Chamber of Commerce at St. John's, and from the majority of the Bar, enclosed in your present despatch.

4th. I concur also in your own general views on this subject, and approve of the liberal and conciliatory principles by which your personal conclust, and your distribution of patronage have been guided.

5th. Her Majesty's Government will entertain no disinclination to place Newfoundland on the same footing as to Responsible Government as the other North American Colonies whenever it shall appear that such a boon can be conceded with the general concurrence, and for the general advantage of all classes. But whatever objections are felt to this concession under present circumstances can only be increased by the unlappy dissensions aggravated as it appears by religious differences by which the community has been and continues to be distracted.

distracted.

6th. It is impossible for instance, for her Majesty's Government not to notice with deep regret that the Roman Catholic Prelate of the Island, according to his own declarations, of his sentiments through the press is disposed to take the part of a political leader rather than to instil into the minds of the members of his persuasion the duties of forbearance and Christian Charity. They will not however, refuse to entertain a hope that the Bishop may yet be brought to see the impropriety and injurious consequences of such a course.

7th. Should the event of a collision between the Executive and Legislative powers in the colony unfortunately occur, her Majesty's Government will depend upon your meeting such a crisis in that judicious and temperate, but at the same time firm and decided spirit which characterises your despatch. While you continue to act in such a spirit you may rely on the support of her Majesty's Government, and if the necessity for such a course should unhappily arise, they will not hesitate to recommend to Parliament such measures as in their judgment the case may require, in order to ensure the better government of the Colony.

From the Advertisement, it will be seen, that the new Church of Covehead and Brackley Point is at length to be opened for divine service. For actitements like Covehead and Brackley Point, it is a handsome edifice, and reflects credit and honor on the small congregation. It affords too an indication, that, on the whole, the people of the Island are improving in taste, and advancing in all the substantials of prosperity; and, what is better than either, growing in right moral feeling and proper seatument. For anomalies of this description have been and may still be witnessed, viz., settlements containing dwelling houses comparatively showy and well farmished; while the public Chapel and Schoolhouse are miserable in the extreme. The people of these actitements, therefore, are descring of public sympathy and encouragement; and we trust these will be accorded to them, on the day of the opening of their Chapel. We trust, that many of the personal friends of the people, the friends of religion and of the country's prosperity, whether in Town or Country, will then give their attendance, and accompany their attendance with a donation to the funds. As far as the building has already advanced, we believe, it is free of debt; but the work now in progress, viz., the painting of the interior, together with a proper heating apparatus, communion service, furniture for the vestry, fence, &c., will require little less than £100 additional. The Members of the Congregation—who do not, however, embrace the whole population in the district—have already contributed towards it very handsomely, some not less than £45, and others fully in proportion to their circumstances.

At the annual Meeting of the Congregation of St. Paul's Church, held this day (Whit Tuesday) the following gentlemen were appointed Vestry Men for the ensuing year—Messrs. Thomas Owen, Charles Stewart, Hon. T. H. Haviland, Robert Hutchinsen, Churles Palmer, Samuel Nelsou and Theophelis Desbrisay, and Capt. Orlebar. Of whom Robert Hutchinson and Charles Stewart, Eaqu, were elected Church Wardens.
