that the whole week's effort had been to wear them out, argued that it had been a failure.

Scattered seventeen ways from three leaders to Champ Clark and Woodrow Wilson, there was no doubt whatever that the votes of the convention were ready for any lucky man who could turn one of those tricks of convention legerdemain which pull a presidential nomination out of a hat.

Dark Horse Backers Stubborn.

With the thre leaders knocking their heads together, friends of the candidates of lesser strength showed renewed determination to keep their favorites in the running.

The attitude of the dark horse backers, who in the last ballot of Saturday night held a combined voting strength of one-tenth of the convention, helped to lock the situation tighter. For the present the task of putting over any one of the big three without breaking into that block of votes seemed to be a remote one.

The list of dark horses, for whom movements seemed to be on foot still included John W. Davis, West Virginia; Senator Glass, Virginia, Senator Owen, Oklahoma, and Bainbridge Colby.

Champ Clark was talked of by some and so was Vice-President Marshall. There was an indication that Indiana, which supported him solidly at the outset, might soon return to him if the deadlock continues.

The two votes for President Wilson in the 22nd ballot, the first to be cast for him thruout the long grind of roll calls, were not regarded as prophetic of a swing in his direction. The idea of his nomination for a third term seemed to be farthest from the thoughts of even his most devoted followers among the big men of the convention.

Davis Had Greatest Strength.

Of the four heading the lesser group, Ambassador Davis had the greatest strength. But all efforts to start a serious break in his direction had been unavailing, and after conferences his friends tonight were claiming more strength for him, but nothing like a stampede at the start tomorrow.

Ranking next to Davis on the 22nd ballot was Senator Owen, with 35, which included Nebraska votes controlled by W. J. Bryan. It was recognized that Bryan had been deprived by his defeat on the prohibition issue, of most of the power he might have held over the destinies of the presidential contest.

There was still talk of Senator Glass, entrusted by the president to conduct the fight for an administration platform.

In all dark horses' camps the attitude was the same; they were hoping for a break tomorrow, but were convinced that they would have to bide their time while the managers of the leading three tried out any new alignments they might have arranged over Sunday.

A Tumultuous Session.

The closing hours of Saturday's tumultuous session were prophetic of the scenes which might be expected when the battle is resumed tomorrow.

Demonstrations began with the switch of a handful of votes. The band and pipe organ joined in repeatedly and wrought mightily to stimulate the efforts of partisans. Scrimmages occurred around state standards, where support for the candidates was divided. Rival partisans fought to get them into parades that lurched thru the aisles, or to keep them out. Frequently the big placards that marked the place of state delegations were destroyed in the struggle.

When an announcement from the platform showed Cox's strength to be approaching 500 there came a tumult of Cox enthusiasm rivaling the earlier outburst when New York broke and planted 73 votes behind the governor. The red-coated Cox band, the red-headed yell leader and the leather-lunged rooters jumped into the uproar.

McAdoo supporters scented danger. As if by magic, they organized on the floor in opposition, and with the Texas standard leading, began a parade of their own. The Cox band began to march around the gallery aisle. Ahead of them capered an elderly but agile Ohioan exhorting spectators to join in the uproar. Ohio delegates on the floor joined in. Followed by a group of midwestern and eastern standards, and led by a big Cox band, they swung thru the aisles in one direction while the McAdoo parade surged slowly and jerkily ahead thru the crowd in the other.

The Ohio band and the regular convention musical forces got at odds. They hurled musical bombardments at each other over the heads of the delegations. A terrific din and blare of sound was the result.

A New Uproar.

When the storm of noise reached its height, Palmer hosts in the Penna delegation again got into action. The maroon pennants, associated with demonstrations for the attorney, appeared again.

When Georgia's 28 went over to McAdoo as a compliment from the state of his nativity, a new uproar came. McAdoo followers leaped to their feet all over the hall, prepared to begin all over again, even while still drawing breath from their last effort. There were some looks of agitation among the Cox groups as they watched the poll vote by vote, when order was restored. Each change of one vote caused an uproar.

When adjournment came and the convention broke up, managers for the leading candidates were as positive as ever in their claims of approaching victory, but state leaders not directly aligned with any camp admitted that they did not know what to expect.

Message From Wilson.

President Wilson in a telegram to National Chairman Homer S. Cummings, which was read to the convention, declared that the course the Democratic party had taken with respect to the league of nations filled him "with perfect confidence that it will go from victory to victory until the traditions of the republic are vindicated."

"This is a conquering purpose and nothing can defeat it," the president asserted.

The message, which was in reply to one of appreciation and greetings from the convention, follows:

"The White House, July 2.

"Hon. Homer S. Cummings, Chairman Democratic National Committee, San Francisco, Calif.:

Keeping Faith.

"It was with the most grateful appreciation that I received the message from the convention so kindly transmitted by you. It is a source of profound pride with me to receive such and evidence of the confidence of the great party which derives its principles direct and untainted from the founders of our government and the authors of our liberty.

"While our opponents are endeavoring to isolate us among the nations of the world, we are following the vision of the founders of the republic, who promised the world the counsel and leadership of the free people of the United States in all matters that affected human liberty and the justice of law. That promise we deliberately renewed when we entered the Great War for human freedom, and we now keep faith with those who died in Flanders fields to redeem it. That I should have been accorded leadership in such great matters fills my heart with gratitude and pride, and the course the party has taken fills me with a perfect confidence that it will go from victory to victory until the true traditions of the republic are vindicated and the world convinced not only of our strength and prowess, but of our integrity and our devotion to the highest ideals. This is a conquering purpose and nothing can defeat it.

"WOODROW WILSON."

NEW MEMBERS FOR THE BOARD OF COMMERCE

Capt. William White, K. C., Former Secretary, Is Now Chairman.

TWO OTHER MEMBERS

They Are Members of Civil Service, and Appointments Are Temporary.

Ottawa, July 3.—An order-in-council was passed on the day after prorogation with respect to the board of commerce. In view of the appeal now pending before the judicial committee of the privy council as to the validity of the act under which the board was established, the appointments which have been made are to be regarded as temporary.

Captain William White, K.C., the former secretary of the board, has been appointed chairman, and the other two vacancies have been filled by the appointment of Mr. F. A. Acland, deputy minister of labor, and Mr. C. A. Dillon, purchasing agent of the department of justice.

These two gentlemen have been given leave of absence from their present duties in order that they may discharge effectively the responsibilities placed upon them as members of the board.

In addition to his experience with the board of commerce as secretary, Capt. William White, K.C., has had considerable legal and military experience, chiefly in the west. He was born in Hamilton, Ont. He was called to the bar in 1882 and he practiced for 15 years in the northwest territories (now Saskatchewan). He practiced law two years in British Columbia and five years in the Yukon. He was made a queen's counsel in 1880. He was crown prosecutor for eastern Assiniboia from 1887 to 1897. In politics Capt. White represented Regina in the northwest council from 1883 to 1886. He contested the Revelstoke, B.C., riding in the federal election of 1898.

Capt. White served thru the rebellion of 1885 against Louis Riel when he held rank as major. He was 30 months overseas in the late war with rank of captain.

He lived in Vancouver, B.C., for some years previous to taking up the secretaryship of the board of commerce at its inception last July, which post he has filled since that time.

NINETEEN KILLED WHEN CARS COLLIDE

Scranton, Pa., July 4.—In a collision between three cars on the Lackawanna and Wyoming Valley Railroad, near South Pittston station, at 7.30 o'clock last night, 19 people were killed and 35 seriously injured.

The accident occurred near South Pittston when lightning struck a telephone pole along the line of the track, and the pole fell over on the tracks in front of a car bound for Scranton. A moment later a limited car crashed into the rear of the car that struck the pole, and a third car telescoped the second. All three cars were piled in a heap.

It was declared today that two or three of the injured will probably die, while at least half a dozen will be maimed for life. The company will open an investigation on Tuesday.

WOMAN DIES OF INJURIES NATURE NOT DISCLOSED

A Mrs. Britlow, whose address is unknown, is reported to have been admitted recently to St. Michael's Hospital suffering from injuries, the nature of which are not at present known, and to have died there last night, and later been removed to the morgue.

The night staff of St. Michael's know nothing of a woman of that name having been admitted to the hospital, and no further details are as yet available.

COBALT MAN BELIEVES THERE IS COAL IN NORTH

Cobalt, July 4.—James Price of this town has an idea that coal can be found in the district between New Liskeard and Englehart, and he has suggested to the town council that the municipality should engage in the search for it at the ratepayers' expense. Mr. Price thinks the mineral would be found at from 100 to 300 feet, and wants a test bore sunk, but the council negatived the idea. A. A. Cole, mining engineer of the T. & N. O., says there is no coal in the region indicated, as the geological formation is too old. There is a slight possibility of oil there, he says.

Palestine Commissioner Gets Rousing Reception

Jaffa, July 4.—Sir Herbert Samuels, the first British high commissioner for Palestine, arrived here Thursday and was given a rousing reception. After the official reception Sir Herbert proceeded by special train to Jerusalem, where he was received at headquarters by General Bols, who for some time past has been British administrator in Palestine.

Ottawa, July 4.—Rev. Gerald Clarke, curate of St. Matthew's Anglican Church, Ottawa, has been appointed curate of St. Augustine's Church, Toronto.

SENSATIONAL EVIDENCE AT MARENILLI TRIAL

Sydney, N.S., July 4.—Evidence of a sensational nature, given by Stephen Steplock, regarding a letter written by the accused murderess, Mrs. Marenilli to the young Russian, Mike Koval, who was originally charged with the murder of the accused woman's husband, and was acquitted of the charges and subsequently arrested on a charge of perjury, was the feature of the Saturday afternoon session of the Marenilli murder case.

Steplock said that on the day preceding the murder a letter had been given to him by the Marenilli woman, who asked him to read it to Koval. The letter, according to Steplock, read in part:

"Dear Mike—I love you so, that if you leave me I will kill myself."

After the completion of Steplock's evidence, Koval was called to the stand. He denied ever having received the letter spoken of by Steplock.

GERMANY TO REFUSE ALLIES' DEMANDS

Cannot Pay Half Minimum Sum She Will Inform Premiers at Spa.

Spa, Belgium, July 4.—The allied and German prime ministers are here to meet each other for direct negotiations for the first time since the Versailles treaty was signed. The probability of reaching an agreement on the total sum of reparations Germany is to pay appears slight. The allied premiers will communicate their collective decisions to Konstantin Fehrenbach, the German chancellor. He and his associates affirm they are prepared to refuse demands which they consider beyond Germany's strength to meet.

Herr Fehrenbach said tonight that he had nothing to add to his considered declarations to the German parliament, until after he met the allied premiers. Germany's resources and capacity to pay, he declared, were set forth in the memorandum given to each of the principal and allied governments.

The conviction of the German delegation as derived from another German source is that, taking the minimum official reports of the equivalent of $20,000,000,000 with interest, or the maximum of $30,000,000,000, Germany will not agree to pay even half the lower sum.

The allied premiers, the correspondent is informed, have doubts themselves of Germany engaging at this conference to pay anything like what the allies must insist upon, nor can the prime ministers reduce in the present state of opinions of their own parliaments and peoples, the high figures arrived at tentatively. Both sides will feel each other out on this question, without a reasonable prospect of agreeing, but with the view of being in a position to renew the discussion at another conference.

Conclusions reasonably satisfactory on other extremely important questions may be reached, sufficient in themselves to make the conference well worth while. The spirit of both sides does not promise much for a compromise of the allied determination to impose their will. The other side is expected to remain passively resistant until it tests what further means of pressure the allies can apply.

FOREIGNER FOUND SHOT THRU HEAD

Believed to Have Committed Suicide as Wife Refused to Return to Him.

What is believed by the police to be a case of deliberate suicide occurred at 460 West Richmond street, at 11.45 last night, when Steven Cheren, of Peter street, is alleged to have shot himself, because his wife refused to return to his home.

It seems that Mrs. Cheren left her husband last March and went to live at the Richmond street address. Last night Cheren, who had been living on Peter street, went to his wife and asked her to go back and live with him again. According to the story told to the police, the wife refused, and Cheren went out into the hall and shot himself thru the head.

Dr. Bowrie, of 191 Spadina avenue, was at once called, but arrived too late to be of any service. It is stated that 11 or 12 foreigners were in the place at the time the shooting occurred. B. C. Ironsides, of No. 3 division, investigated. Cheren was 29 years old. A letter written in a foreign language was found in the dead man's hand, of which only the word "godby" was intelligible to the police.

GREEKS FIGHT WITH ITALIANS

Clash is Reported on the Aidin Railway Southeast of Smyrna.

London, July 4.—Fighting between Italian and Greek troops near Ajasoluk, on the Aidin railway, southeast of Smyrna, is reported in a despatch to The London Times from Smyrna. The despatch says that Turkish forces, having penetrated the Italian lines, burned a railroad station without Italian intervention. The Greek commander sent a force to occupy a position within the Italian lines. The Italians ordered the Greeks to withdraw, and they refused. Thereupon the Italians fired and the Greeks replied. There were several casualties on both sides.

The despatch says the Greeks retain the position, but that the incident is worrying the Greek authorities, who maintain that it is imperative to safeguard the Aidin railroad. They fear that if the friction continues, the Turks will be confirmed in their belief that the Italians sympathize with them.

Niagara Falls, Ont., July 4—By Canadian Press).—The largest Hydro boarding house was destroyed by fire last night at an estimated loss of $10,000; cause of fire said to be defective wiring. GENERAL MEETING HYDRO ASSOCIATION

Railway, by Hydro Commission for the municipalities. This is the parting of the ways, as opposition has developed from outside interests that is direct interference with municipal rights, and we must act now or never."

Send Message to All.

This message is being forwarded to all municipalities in districts served by the proposed line, and a large meeting will certainly be the result. As the people of these municipalities, by the overwhelming majorities by which they have carried bylaws providing for the acquisition or construction of railways thru these districts, have shown that they are not only alive to the absolute necessity of an efficiently operated system of electric railways thru these districts, but that they have absolute faith in the Hydro-Electric Power Commission as an administrative body, and being the parties financially responsible for the enterprise are not going to submit tamely to anyone interfering with their just rights, it is understood that the cabinet intends holding a meeting some time Monday and Mr. Lyon has sent the following telegram to the hon. the prime minister of the province:

Telegram to the Premier.

"Hon. E. C. Drury, prime minister, parliament buildings, Toronto: If your government is unfavorable to issuing necessary order-in-council re transfer of Guelph Radial Railway to Hydro Commission, or approving purchase of electric railways by municipalities from Dominion government, our association requests no action be taken thereon, and no royal commission appointed until municipalities be accorded opportunity to present views."

Mr. Thomas Macpherson, president of the Guelph Trades and Labor Council, is rather disappointed at the government's attitude re the taking over from Guelph of the railway, as expressed in certain press despatches, and, after consultation with several of his colleagues, wires were sent to the prime minister and members of the cabinet, stating that Guelph Trades and Labor Council endorsed and worked for the taking over of the radial railway by the Hydro Commission, and trust that the government, opposition, etc., are incorrect, as any delay or obstacle would be a blow to public ownership, as well as their refusal to listen to the voice of the people. Mr. Macpherson asks for the support on this matter, and he is getting in touch with other prominent labor men thruout the province, as he expresses himself as unable to understand how the government could so readily sanction the taking over of the electric railway at Windsor and the border cities and refuse or delay the taking over by the Hydro of the Civic Action.

The only difference of the two cases is that the one at Windsor belonged to the powerful Detroit United Railway Company, and the one at Guelph being the property of the municipality. The civic authorities also have taken action in the matter and his worship the mayor has wired the hon. the prime minister and members of the government urging that the necessary order-in-council be granted at once. As before the matter will be submitted to the electors for their decision in order-in-council will be granted giving the necessary permission, the mayor and citizens generally feel that any unfavorable action by the present government means a breaking off with the people.

BAD RADIAL CRASH NEAR PORT HURON

Eight People Injured Include Sydney Smith, of Toronto.

Sarnia, Ont., July 4.—As the result of a crash on the D.U.R. radial line between a local car and a freight car near Port Huron, as it was speeding to that city with a capacity crowd for the fourth of July celebration in the Michigan city, eight persons were injured, including residents of western Ontario, who were coming to this side of the river for the week-end.

Those who were injured: Louis Butter, New York City; Herbert Whidden, Mount Clemens; Sydney Smith, Toronto; Mrs. Charles Flanders, New Baltimore; Dr. Eanes, Mount Clemens; Joseph Califer, New Baltimore;; Phillip Kawa, Detroit; Miss Springer, Hamilton.

Cars Are Set Ablaze.

Both the passenger car and the freight car became ignited from a shipment of matches in the freight car and were totally destroyed by fire.

All persons injured were passengers. Members of both crews escaped by jumping at the time of the crash. The smash-up took place on a bad curve of the railway, and is reported to have been the result of the passenger overrunning orders to stop at Salem.
