WOMEN and THE HOME

First Big Social Function Is Held In Arts Building

Faculty-Alumni Reception Is a Brilliant Event at Western.

200 ARE PRESENT

The great new halls of the university of Western Ontario will be new no longer. With the events of the last two days, tradition has been piling up in the empty spaces. Last night the beautiful new convocation hall, in the main building, harbored the strains of dance music for the first time. For the first time restless feet danced their way across the floor which had been travelled the day before by the robed procession of dignified professors.

Last night those same professors, their academic robes thrown aside, danced and chatted with the large company of Western Ontario university alumni gathered there for the alumni-faculty reception.

This first social function held in the new arts building was one of the most interesting functions held in connection with the whole series of opening ceremonies.

Following the alumni dinner it came as a pleasant reunion of professors and their wives with former students. Receiving the guests were Dean and Mrs. Sherwood Fox, Mrs. Fox wearing a lovely gown of silver cloth and yellow brocade satin showing touches of fur; Dr. and Mrs. Paul McKibben, Mrs. McKibben in a becoming gown of pale green chiffon; Dr. Hill, Mr. Richard Crouch, president of the men's alumni; Miss Marion Wrighton, president of the alumnae, Miss Wrighton wearing a becoming gown of peacock blue crepe satin; Dr. Fred Campbell, president of the Meds. alumni, and Miss Marie Loughlin of Brescia hall, in an attractive yellow gown.

About two hundred were present, the success of the event being due to the energetic committee in charge, which included Mr. Percy Simpson (convener), Mr. Richard Crouch, Mr. Beverly Baker, Mr. J. F. McMillan, Mr. Allan Talbot, Miss Marian Wrighton, Miss Helen Davey, Dr. Fred Campbell, Miss Doris Liddicoatt and Dr. Gordon.

Among those present were: Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Detwiler, Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Macklin, Dr. and Mrs. George A. Smith, Miss Mabel Hynd, Miss Helen Allison, Miss K. Gillespie, Miss G. Auden, Miss Lillian Hill, Miss Helen Patterson, Mr. George W. Robinson, Mr. Cecil A. Wright, Mr. W. Percy Simpson, Mr. Allen Talbot, Dr. A. T. Turner, Mr. K. WOMEN ARE WINNERS OF NIVEN CUP MATCH

London Hunt Ladies' Golf Arranges For Big Field Day Monday.

When Miss Marion Beck yesterday defeated Arthur Mitchell in the final game of the Adam and Eve match, the women golf players of the London Hunt club were proclaimed the winners of the Niven cup for this year.

Monday will see the close of the golfing events for the season. On this occasion a big field day will be held. Approaching and putting at 10:30 o'clock, and driving competitions for seniors and juniors, will be followed by a club luncheon. In the afternoon a nine-hole "field hole" competition for seniors and juniors will be brought to a close with afternoon tea, and the presentation of the trophies won during the year. It is expected that a large number of the members will be present on this one of the most important occasions of the year.

Whitefoot the Mouse Thanks Prickly Porky For Saving His Life

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Whitefoot the Wood Mouse, peeping out from under the leaves where he had hidden from Hooty the Owl, had seen Hooty make his dreadful mistake and strike at the tail of Prickly Porky the Porcupine. I fear that Whitefoot was not even sorry, not the least little bit sorry for Hooty the Owl. You see, Hooty had tried so many times to catch Whitefoot and had given Whitefoot so many dreadful frights that Whitefoot couldn't find it in his heart to be sorry now that Hooty was in trouble.

But Whitefoot was grateful to Prickly Porky. He knew that Prickly Porky had saved his life. He knew that when Hooty had hooted he himself had rustled the leaves where he was hiding because he had been so startled. He knew that if Prickly Porky had not also been startled and rustled the leaves over where he was, Hooty would have heard and known just where he, Whitefoot, was.

He knew there was nothing to fear from Hooty the Owl now. Hooty wasn't thinking of his stomach. He was thinking of nothing but getting those little spears out of his foot. So Whitefoot scampered after Prickly Porky, who was shuffling along quite as if nothing had happened.

"I'm ever so much obliged to you, Prickly Porky," said Whitefoot in his squeaky little voice as he caught up with his big neighbor.

Prickly Porky stopped and looked at Whitefoot. There wasn't a spark of interest in those dull eyes of his. "What for?" he grunted.

"For saving my life!" cried Whitefoot.

"Huh!" grunted Prickly Porky. "I don't know what you're talking about."

"You saved me just now from Hooty the Owl," explained Whitefoot.

"Huh!" grunted Prickly Porky again. "I guess I didn't save much."

This sounded like a joke. It wasn't, for Prickly Porky never jokes. But Whitefoot took it that way. "That may be," said he, "but I'm just as much that big robber right. The next time I guess he'll look before he strikes at obliged just the same. If you hadn't moved just when you did Hooty the Owl surely would have found me, and he would be snapping his bill with pleasure over a Mouse dinner this very minute, instead of snapping it in anger and pain over those little spears of yours in his foot."

"Huh," grunted Prickly Porky, "I don't know what you are talking about.

"Huh!" grunted Prickly Porky again. "It serves him right. It serves any one. You don't owe me any thanks."

"Why not?" demanded Whitefoot. "Didn't you save my life?"

"Perhaps so, perhaps so," grunted Prickly Porky. But I didn't do it purposely. I didn't know I was doing it."

"That doesn't make any difference," squeaked Whitefoot. "You did it, and I am ever and ever so much obliged."

"Huh!" grunted Prickly Porky once more, and started on his way without so much as another glance at Whitefoot.

The next story: "Hooty Has a Sorry Time."

ELECT M'DOWELL "LIT" PRESIDENT

First Autumn Meeting of Normal Literary Society Is Held.

The literary society of the Normal school held its first autumn meeting on Friday afternoon, when the society was organized, and the election of officers held. Mr. Franklin presided, Miss Crookshanks, acting as secretary. The pupils met in the assembly hall, where the votes were taken. While they were being counted a program was given, with Miss Workman and Miss Coates delighting their audience with readings. Miss Sypher contributed a piano solo, and a violin solo was given by Mr. Jack Urie. Mr. Elmer Laing led the school in songs, with Miss Mary Adams at the piano.

After the program the results of the election were given as follows: Honorary president, Wm. Prendergast, who was elected to office by acclamation; president, William McDowell; vice-president, George Currie; secretary, Miss Helen Moody, and Miss Mary Adams holds the office of treasurer. Speeches were given by some of the new officers, and the meeting closed with the National Anthem.

EAST COLLEGIATE GIRLS ARRANGE HIKING PARTY

Close Membership Drive With Merry Event This Afternoon.

As the final feature of a membership drive which has been conducted this week by the East London collegiate athletic club, the girls are arranging a hike this afternoon. Of the 170 girls attending the school 165 have already been enrolled in the athletic association.

Miss Alberta Watson, who is in charge of the girls 'athletics at the East London collegiate, is the leader of the club, and will be a member of the hiking party. Special guests for the occasion will be Mrs. O'Neill, wife of the principal; Miss Ada Minhinnick and Miss M. Taylor. The walk will commence at Pottersburg, the party continuing east and stopping for supper in the late afternoon.

It is of special interest that it was the East London collegiate girls who carried off all the girls' athletic prizes at the recent field day. The executive includes: Hon. president, Mrs. A. E. O'Neill; president, Miss Alberta Watson; vice-president, Miss Jean Johnston; secretary, Miss Margaret Talbot; treasurer, Miss Doris Rider; basketball convener, Miss Alice McMurray; baseball convener, Miss Vera Sumner; form representatives, Dorothy Alderson, Alma Parker, Isabel Cook, Dorothy Cline, Jean Topping, Ruth Erdman, Gertrude Wallis and Margery Wood.

ABERDEEN MOTHERS' CLUB.

The home of Mrs. T. Byrne, Dreaney avenue, was the scene of an afternoon tea last Thursday, when the members of the mothers' club of the Aberdeen school met to complete arrangements for the bazaar they are holding on the second Thursday in November. The tea, which took the form of an apron shower, claimed Mrs. Byrne and Mrs. Will Carrothers as joint hostesses. During the afternoon Mrs. Beam entertained the guests, which numbered about 25, with several piano selections. Refreshments were served, and the hostesses were assisted by Mrs. G. Currie.

About fifty invitations have been extended, and if the weather is favorable the hostess will send a hay wagon into the city to convey the small guests to "Woodholme."

Mrs. William Baldick, Muir street, was a recent hostess when she entertained at 12 tables of euchre at her home. Mrs. Byron, Dundas street, and Mr. Cyril Tuckey, carired of the first prizes, and the consolation was awarded to Mrs. Percy Wood and Mr. Robert Phillips. During the evening light refreshments were served.

One of the most interesting of the social functions held in honor of Sir Arthur Currie, president of McGill University, Montreal, during his sojourn in the city, was the dinner party tendered him last night by the graduates of McGill residing in London. The event was held at the Highland golf club and had been arranged by Col. Ibbotson Leonard, Dr. George C. Hale and Col. Eric Reid. The function was a purely social event, the distinguished guest being allowed to chat with former McGill men rather than make an official speech. Those present included: Brig.-Gen. W. B. King, with whom Sir Arthur Currie is a guest, and the following men: Alex. A. Anderson, Dr. E. D. Busby, C. M. Duffield, Dr. J. L. Duffy, Dr. George C. Hale, B. H. Higgins, George M. Hobart, Dr. David H. Hogg, Charles H. Ivey, Mr. Jolly, Dr. Charles D. Jento, John S. Labatt, Col. E. I. Leonard, Dr. James R. Le Touzel, Col. Eric Reid, Rev. C. C. Waller, Dr. Wm. Waugh and W. G. Wright.

The pretty bungalow of Mrs. John McGill, Base Line road, was the scene of a delightful miscellaneous shower on Wednesday evening, when Miss Gladys Carmichael entertained there in honor of Miss Gladys Somerville of Rodney, a bride-elect of early November. The rooms were artistically decorated with autumn leaves, marigolds and mauve and yellow chrysanthemums. The bride-to-be was the recipient of many useful and beautiful gifts, presented in a wagon gaily decorated in mauve and yellow, and drawn into the room by little Miss Welda McLachlan, quaintly garbed as a bride. The evening was pleasantly spent in music. Vocal selections were given by the Misses K. Gibson and Olive Pearson, accompanied by Mrs. Frank Smith and Miss Alberta Kent. At the conclusion of the evening a dainty buffet luncheon was served. Mrs. Silcox and Mrs. Stevens poured tea. The tearoom assistants were the Misses E. Housen, N. Campbell, O. and E. Hodgins. The guests numbered about forty.

The Kidneys— and their relation to Good Health

You want good health. You want to enjoy life to the full, unhampered by sickness and disease. Then you must see to it that every organ of your body is working smoothly and performing its functions properly.

Particularly is this true of the kidneys, the filters of your body. If the kidneys become clogged with impurities, your blood becomes poisoned, and your whole system suffers. You have headaches, pains in the back, swollen hands and joints, rheumatism. Urination is painful, scanty, or too frequent.

Unless this condition is checked, serious and perhaps fatal illness will result. If you detect any of these symptoms, correct the trouble right away by taking

Gin Pills FOR THE KIDNEYS

They will restore the kidneys to their normal action, and give you back the good health you desire so much.
