ALMOST A BREAKDOWN.

THE BELT OF THE KEMMLER DYNAMO SLIPPED AT THE CRITICAL MOMENT.

Held in Place by Two Men—All the Arrangements Were Crude—Had the Belt Slipped Off the Result Would Have Been Disastrous and the Execution More of a Bungle than it Was—A Westinghouse Explanation.

ROCHESTER, Aug 9.—City Electrician Charles R. Barnes, who operated the dynamo at the Kemmler execution, gave the World correspondent an interesting account of his work, and incidentally told how narrow an escape they had from breaking down at the critical moment.

"The Kemmler execution was a decided failure," said he, "but if managed properly it might have been a success. The dynamos were placed upstairs on an ordinary wooden floor, with no additional precaution to make them strong and secure. The dynamo, when running at full speed, would vibrate the floor from one-half to one inch. The countershaft was placed on a wood framework resting on the floor, and was not lined up properly so that the pulleys would run true. The belts used were new ones, not worn enough so they would run smooth, and had not been used enough to get the stretch out of them, so when the load was thrown on them they would slip.

"The electricians in charge of this room consisted of three men besides the citizens who were to look on with me. One of these men gave signals which he received from the switchboard room to the engine room, which was below the dynamo. Another one was busy oiling the dynamos and putting rosin on the belt to try to stop the slipping, while the third was busy holding a board against the pulley to keep the belt on, and had all he could do to attend to this part of the business, as, when the current was turned on the first time and the extra resistance of the chair circuit, which included Kemmler's body, was thrown on the dynamo, the belt came very near leaving the pulley.

At that time there was not even one-half of the belt on the dynamo pully, and the armature was brought down so that it was not running much, if any over half speed. It took two men to keep the belt from flying off before the signal came to shut down. Even after a short interval the signals to start came in quick succession, and the same thing was repeated. All the time the dynamo was running the slipping of the belt could be heard in the prison yard. If that belt had come off when the current was sent to the chair the result would have been simply terrible."

ACRES OF CROPS RUINED.

A RAIN AND ELECTRIC STORM DOES GREAT DAMAGE IN NEW YORK.

Farmers in Orange County Suffer Severe Losses—Barns Blown Down and Shade and Fruit Trees Destroyed—Havoc in a Camp—Church Struck by Lightning.

MIDDLETOWN DEPOT, N. Y., Aug. 10.—The region of Orange county north of the Erie railroad main line was visited at noon today by an electric storm and tornado, accompanied by rain and hail of unprecedented violence. The damage to buildings and crops is very great. At Scotchtown, four miles north of here, the Presbyterian Church was unroofed, and the barns on the farm of Denton and James Mills were wrecked. Just north of this city the big new barn of Farmer Henry L. Beakes was totally destroyed, and the debris scattered over the adjoining fields. It is reported that 10 barns are in ruins in the towns of Montgomery and Hamptonburg. More serious is the damage done by the hail to the growing crops, more particularly to corn and grapes. The hailstones fell in enormous quantities and of extraordinary size. It is no exaggeration to state that thousands of acres of growing crops have been ruined. The destruction of fruit, shade and forest trees is very great.

There was an exciting scene at the Wesley Grove camp meeting grounds in the town of Montgomery. About 40 tents were up standing in the midst of a grove and were many of them occupied by families in the anticipation of the annual camp meeting. The furious storm of wind, rain and hail struck the grounds while the morning religious services were in progress. Most of the tents were blown down and more than 50 of the finest trees were prostrated with a great crash. For a time while the fury of the storm lasted, there was imminent danger to the lives of the campers and many of them were wild with fright. Fortunately none of the drenched and frightened worshippers were seriously hurt. The reformed church in the village of Montgomery, of which Rev. Dr. Schenck is pastor, was struck by lightning while the morning services were going on and considerably damaged. William Rockfellow was struck senseless by the blot and his face burned. He will recover. More than twenty persons in the congregation were severely shocked by the electric current.

GRAND ARMY WEEK.

Old Soldiers Pouring Into Boston and Marching to Their Quarters Under Escort of Their Hosts.

BOSTON, Aug. 11.—Grand Army week opened here with bonfires and enthusiasm. Fortunately the weather is cool, fine and overcoats being in demand this morning. The headquarters of the department of Massachusetts at the Parker house all night and today displayed a scene of great animation to the incoming veterans, large delegations of which arrived during the morning hours, when the streets about the depots were filled with marching bodies of men.

One of the first delegations to arrive was E. B. Wallcott Post 1 of Milwaukee 150 strong. They were escorted to Medford where they will be the guests of S. C. Lawrence Post. Phil Sheridan Post 615 of Oak Park arrived at 2 a. m. and were taken to Wakefield as guests of Lieut. H. D. Warner Post 12. Later Edwin Libby Post 16 of Rockland, Me., 200 strong, passed through the city with their hosts Hiram G. Berry Post of Malden en route to historic Plymouth where they are to be entertained today. To-night they will return and enjoy a lawn party at Malden.

At the New York & New England depot several long delayed trains came in during the night and were sidetracked, the occupants making themselves as comfortable as possible until morning. This morning some of the cars looked as though they had been taken possession of by a wrecked gang. The seats were taken up and placed endwise as substitutes for beds and the travellers slumbered as best they could in various unique postures with shoes and coats for pillows.

The train bearing the Wisconsin delegation, 1,000 strong, arrived in three sections of seven cars each, the last one at 7 a.m. The party are at Horticultural Hall. The Deleware department, 150 strong, arrived via Fall River at 7.10 a. m. and were quartered in Mechanics Hall. On the same train were the Naval Legion of Philadelphia, 35 men, Anna M. Ross Post 94 of Philadelphia, 150 men, escorted by the Lewis Guard of Honor and accompanied by the Woman's Auxiliary, 100 members.

The steamer City of Portland from Portland brought Thatcher Post 111, 75 men, and numerous stray delegates, including several delegates from George H. Thomas Post 5, of Chicago, who were on the train on which the Pullman car was burned at Ada. The main body of this Post, over 600 men, is due this afternoon.

GRAND ARMY PARADE.

THE WEATHER FAVORABLE AND REJOICING IS UNIVERSAL.

The Incoming Trains Crowded—One Hundred Thousand Strangers Estimated in Boston to-day—Gen. Alger Appoints Comrade Ryan Headquarters Standard Bearer.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—8.30. Had the weather been made to order for the veterans the conditions could hardly have been more favorable for the big G. A. R. demonstration than they are at this writing and the claims of Boston as a desirable summer resort are fully indicated in the atmospheric conditions that prevail. The sun is entirely obscured by clouds, while a brisk northeast wind holds the flags on the buildings straight out from their masts, and causes a constant and pleasing, though at times a rather violent agitation of the streamers and smaller decorations with which the buildings are so profusely covered. The thermometer at the signal office is 65°.

As early as six o'clock many veterans were already about the streets and crowds of people had begun to arrive in town and appear on the thoroughfares in holiday attire. Every regular train and many special ones that are arriving bring more than their usual amount of passengers, and with the veterans and their families the estimate that 100,000 strangers will be in the city to-day does not seem large. The police and signalling arrangements are in perfect order and everything points to a most successful demonstration.

Algor has appointed Comrade John Ryan of Michigan to bear the headquarters standard, Ryan has seen four years' active military service and was with Custer and Reno in Reno's division when the massacre at Little Bighorn occurred.

The influx of veterans continued during the entire night and until the small hours the streets and sidewalks of the principal streets were simply packed with humanity. This morning long special trains were standing back from all the depots waiting an opportunity to run in and unload the visiting grand army loads and sight seers.

Before 8 o'clock the roar of cannon from the fleet in the harbor announced that the "Despatch" with Secretary Tracy, Vice-President Morton and Gen. Sherman on board was coming up the bay and half an hour later and the salute announced her arrival in the distance. The distinguished gentlemen were escorted to the Vendome and subsequently to their seats on the presidential reviewing stand at Copley Square.

President Harrison breakfasted at the Vendome early. Shortly before 9 o'clock he received the governor and state delegation, and the party took carriages and rode over a portion of the route of the parade to view the decorations. He then took his place on the reviewing stand and was soon surrounded by many other notable gentlemen. During his carriage ride the president was the recipient of many expressions of good will and respect from the crowds along the way. Meantime the formation of the great parade was proceeding with all possible despatch on Commonwealth Avenue the department moving on the parallel street until opposite their proper places and then coming into position through the side streets. The Common and streets adjacent were black with the marching hosts while many thousands of spectators witnessed the manœuvres from the Public Garden and every other spot in the neighborhood where space could be procured.

At 11.30 a. m. all was ready and General Alyer with his full staff of 600 mounted men rode to the head of the Department, and it was 1.45 o'clock p.m. when the general and staff arrived at the final reviewing stand in Adams square. It is thought some five hours will be consumed in the parade passing this point. The procession is now passing down Washington street uninterruptedly.

HALIFAX MATTERS.

Fell From an Electric Light Post—Lost a Finger—Crushed to Death—Committed for Trial—Harbor Championship—Lieut. Stairs' Banquet.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.

HALIFAX, Aug. 12.—A boy named Grant fell from an electric light post here last evening and sustained injuries that may prove fatal. He was climbing the post at the time and when near the top lost his hold.

Robert Conway who works with Simpson & Co., druggists in this city, had a finger cut off last night while in the act of driving a cork in a bottle with a corking machine.

David Langille, son of George Langille of River John, Pictou county, was crushed to death this morning by a log falling on him in McKenzie's mill.

Annie Joy, the young woman who was charged with stealing over $300 worth of jewellry from the Cameron house in this city, was committed for trial at the supreme court. The police have intelligence from Newfoundland that shows that Annie is an old hand at the business.

F. Garnett, Louis Lovett and Bernard Riley have entered for the scull race for the championship of the harbor which takes place tomorrow. Garnett's boat was badly damaged by some unknown person who broke into the shed in which the boat was stored.

Lieut. Stairs is to be feted tomorrow night at Bedford by the officers of the 66th P. L. F.

PIGEONS VS. RAILWAY.

RACING AN EXPRESS TRAIN TO BOSTON.

Carrier Pigeons Despatched from Montreal to Boston—Political Petitions—Persecuted by Rowdies Who are Arrested and Make Compensation.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.

MONTREAL, Aug. 12.—Two messengers left for Boston this morning an hour behind the express trains and are expected to reach the Hub early in the afternoon while the railway travellers will not be due there until evening. They were two carrier pigeons despatched at 8·35 a. m. from the roof of the Windsor Hotel. The birds were sent from Boston by J. H. Harris to D. T. Irish agent of the Canadian express Co., requesting him to give them a start from Montreal. They came up on Sunday and would have been given their liberty yesterday had the morning been clear, as the instructions were not to start the pigeons later than 9.30 a. m. so as to give them the early part of the day for the journey which it is expected will be acconplished within six hours. The birds were let go from the Windsor roof and started rapidly on their journey.

The Delyrobols boom has taken practical shape and yesterday. Petitions signed by 6000 people in the different counties in the townships were forwarded to Premier Mercier, asking him to take the member for Shefford into his cabinet as a special representative of that section of the country. The petition is signed by men of both political parties, and it is accompanied by a circular marked, confidential, dated Waterloo, July 26 and signed by G. G. Stevens, J. P. Noyes and C. H. Parmelee concluding as follows. It is of course understood that this arrangement shall not conflict with any plans the premier may have respecting an English protestant representative, who will no doubt be selected at the earliest convenient moment."

Napierville has for the last three years suffered from the unpleasant antics of a number of rowdies who made the lives of the citizens a burden and more especially selected as a mark for their pleasantries a farmer named Pare. Among the things they did to anuoy this gentlemen and family was putting rollers on to a log house belonging to them and allowed it to slide down to a creek where it was dashed to pieces. Then his wagons were hidden away and a big cauldron in which his wife used to make soap was mysteriously emptied with the occasional disappearance of his horses and mowing machine. The final trick was played last week, when early one morning the people of Napierville saw a strange monument in St. Mary's square, consisting of 7 carts and a number of other farm implements belonging to Pare, piled up in the shape of a pyramid with an auctioneer's flag on top. In consequence of this last act of persecution the police authorities of this city were communicated with, and through their efforts the guilty parties were found out and compelled to pay handsomely.

POLYGAMOUS MORMONS IN CANADA.

Pacific Coast Fortifications and Armament—German Capitalists at Sudbury Mines—A Quarrel of Neighbors.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

OTTAWA, Aug. 12.—Sir Adolphe Caron has returned from Riviere Du Loup. Bishop Grandin of Pt. Albert N. W. T. says the Mormons at Lee's Creek are enacting poligamy and declares they are a blot on civilization.

Advices from England state the Imperial authorities have abandoned the idea of sending the heavy armament hundred ton guns they originally proposed to mount for defence of British Columbia, at Esquimault and in their stead several guns of lighter ordnance have been shipped from Woolwich. The system of defence which embrace shore batteries from Victoria to Esquimault. The fortifications are to be maintained by the Canadian government and not by a detachment of the British marine artillery as originally proposed. Armaments will also be sent to Esquimault and Hong Kong to be held in reserve for equipping the steamships now being built.

Baron Foulter and Dr. Burkhardt, two German capatalists, left here last night to visit the Sudbury mining districts. They were accompanied by a representative of Duncan McIntyre, C. P. R. magnate.

Mrs. Amy M. Archibald and J. R. Arnoldi government mechanical engineer are neighbors; their rows for weeks proved the talk of the city. It originated over the action of Mrs. Archibald in cutting open a window in her house abutting her neighber's property. Arnoldi used garden hose on her but the lady got satisfaction in the police court recently. Arnoldi avenged his wrong by boarding up the window, but last night amid the gaze of a big crowd, Mrs. Archibald sawed a hole in the boards. Further developments are expected.

The Aurington was built to be a French steamer but she was instead rigged into a ship and is now under the Swedish flag.

THE LEARY RAFT getting ready for sea was watched by crowds of people last evening. The water in the harbor was still and as the big raft ranged along the harbor front from Rankin's wharf to opposite the Market slip, a distance of 1200 to 1300 feet, and then slowly followed the tugs Storm King and Dirigo down the east side of the harbor, it formed an interesting sight. The Storm King's tow had struck while coming through the falls and she had to put into Lower Cove slip to repair damages. Three pieces of piling were broken. These will be replaced by others, some wire put around the whole structure and the tug will sail this evening. The Dirigo proceeded with her cribs. It was about 10 o'clock when the lights on the raft could be seen slowly gliding from the entrance of the harbor. Capt. Watters, formerly of the schooner Lexington, went as pilot.

Some Were Picnics and Some Weren't.

St. Peter's S. S. picnic was held at Torryburn to-day. Notwithstanding the threatening appearance of the weather about 700 people went out in the morning train.

St. John's church people took the Shore Line train to Lepreaux at an early hour this morning. Later in the day rain drove the picnickers to the various places of shelter, but didn't put an end to the fun.

Quite a number of excursionists started down to Partridge Island with Verner L. O. L. this morning. The band was in attendance. Owing to the rain, however the tugs with their abundance cotton-dressed freight put back, and the picnic was postponed until the first fine day.

President Van Horn Arrives.

President Van Horn, of the Canadian Pacific railway, arrived in this city this afternoon in his special car attached to the C. P. R. express. Accompanying him were Mr. O'Shaughnessy, assistant president of the C. P. R.; Mr. C. J. Cross, president of the Shore Line and Mr. Peter White M. P. for Renfrew, Ont., Mr. H. P. Timmerman who went out to meet the party this morning returned with them this afternoon.

In conversation with a GAZETTE report-Mr. Van Horne said that his visit was in connection with consummating the lease of the New Brunswick road.

Speaking of the question of terminal facilities needed here he said the company could take no action till the business he was on this trip was completed. Although he was not to meet any of the city authorities just now to discuss the needs of the port the company had been communicating with persons in regard to that matter. If any ocean business was to be done here deep water wharves with railway connection must be had as soon as possible.

The party will go to St. Andrews over the Shore Line to-morrow.

The population of Ottawa City is 51,378 according to the recent local census.
