RAIN WELCOME TO ALL LONDON

Glorious Summer, Which Removed Ancient Reproach, Brought Gloom, Too.

London, Sept. 10.—The heat wave has come to an end, for which relief the perspiring and jaded Londoners are thankful. In the last few days the thermometer has been about 20 degrees Fahrenheit lower than for the week previous. This refreshing coolness came after a heavy fall of rain Tuesday night and Wednesday morning.

"The music of the rain" was no trite phrase. Its monotony on roofs and trees, the long, steady drum usually so depressing, proved quite exhilarating. Wednesday was positively joyous, with puddles of mud, dripping roofs, a leaden sky and gutters full of waste water. It was the kind of day which Londoners are wont to call "rotten," but which, after such a long spell of drought and heat, was hailed with delight.

In fact, several men were seen about the city wearing overcoats. But, after all, the English summer has been vindicated, and the ancient reproach "three fine days and a thunderstorm" will now have to be reconsidered. In the southern districts, at least, the spell of fine weather has been of quite remarkable duration. The glories of June inspired confident predictions of a rainy July, but the latter month bettered its predecessors.

"Ah!" said the prophets. "Now we can depend on a wet August." The holiday month was foredoomed, but again the expectation was agreeably disappointed, and those who had postponed their flight until July was ended lost nothing by the delay.

But the glorious summer, with its abnormal heat, has had its gloomy side as well. It has not been all in sunstroke and prostration, numerous as lately have been the cases in the hospitals, for, according to this week's return of the registrar-general, during the last fortnight nearly 1,000 children, mostly all under 1 year old, have died of "summer sickness."

The figures are most remarkable, for about 40 per cent of all the deaths are considered due to this trouble of infancy. Since the last week of July the weekly deaths among children from this cause have mounted in an extraordinary degree. Starting with 74, they increased to 184, 288, 424 and 458, and last week were 555. The doctors are quite unable, in South and East London in particular, to cope with the number of illnesses from "summer sickness," same having as many as 200 cases on their books.

Three children died in one family in one week, and in more than one instance two have died. It is a disease which makes rapid progress, even strong children dying within 48 hours after the first attack.

CHURCH NOT TO GIVE IN

Prelate Says France Will Have To Strip Her of Everything.

New York, Sept. 9. — Speaking of the French situation, Archbishop Farley, who arrived from Rome yesterday, said:

"Either the Government will compromise with the clergy before Dec. 11, or the French clergy will be stripped of all they have. The feeling of the French clergy on the subject may be well illustrated by what Mgr. Lecot and other clergy said: "We hace written 'No surrender' on our banner. We are ready to be stripped of everything, and if that is done we will begin all over again and evangelize France as the apostles did."

He conitnued: "You know that a few bad men can make more noise than a whole city. It is all nonsense to suppose that there is no faith in France. The bad element among the laity at the head of the Government have encouraged all this confiscation of church property that they might benefit thereby. I will give you an instance:

"A group of men made 15,000,000 francs by the confiscation of the convent of the Sacred Heart alone. This confiscation business is simply a game of stealing on the part of irreligious men—not even Christians."

There are some people who never think of heaven except when they see a graveyard.

Few women who make fools of themselves can refrain from advertising the fact.

Report on the Food Problem

Uncle Sam's Investigators Make Some Important Observations.

The United States Department of Agriculture has learned much about food by its investigations throughout the past half century or more. A report recently published by the department is especially welcome at this time because of the widespread public interest in the composition and value of food. Knowing our readers are awake to the importance of this subject, we quote one paragraph of the Government's report which speaks vividly of the uses of food:

"Blood and muscle, bone and tendon, brain and nerve—all the organs and tissues of the body—are built from the nutritive ingredients of food. With every motion of the body, and with the exercise of feeling and thought as well, material is consumed and must be resupplied by food. The chief uses of food, then, are two: (1) To form the material of the body and repair its wastes, and (2) to furnish muscular and other power for the work it has to do."

Read over that last sentence about the chief uses of food and you will understand more readily why physicians, scientists and other authorities on the value of foods say Malta-Vita is the perfect food. Malta-Vita builds up the body, repairs its waste and yields muscular and other power to the greatest extent. This is because Malta-Vita is the whole of the best white wheat, steamed and cooked, then mixed with pure barley malt extract, rolled into little wafer flakes and thoroughly baked. The malt extract, a powerful digestive agent, converts the starch of the wheat into maltose, or malt sugar, which physicians recommend because it is so strengthening. Malta-Vita supplies the body with every food element required to build blood and muscle, bone and tendon, brain and nerve, and it is easy to digest.

Malta-Vita is delicious to the taste, always crisp and appetizing. Served with cream or milk or fresh fruit it makes the ideal breakfast. People who know how good to eat and how nourishing Malta-Vita is wouldn't try to get along without it. All grocers sell Malta-Vita, 10 cents a package.

HANDCUFFED, BUT BROKE FROM CELL

"Wizard's" Feat Was One to Make All Genuine Prisoners Burn With Envy.

New York, Sept. 10.—For a vaudeville man's "stunt," pure and simple, it was done smartly. The breaker of bolts and bars, who gets out of all handcuffs, shackles and man-holding devices of all sorts yet invented undertook to "show'em" at the Yorkville police court prison yesterday afternoon by authority of Correction Commissioner Langtry.

Houdini is the stage name of this performer, and he stands upon his dignity a little. His managers—he is showing at the Keith-Proctor Union Square Theater—had gone to the commissioner, and said: "Our man will enter any of your prisons, under any conditions you may devise, and get out."

"Will he, indeed?" said Mr. Langtry, whose sporting blood was up on the instant. "I may give any instructions I like to —for instance—Warden Lynch at the Yorkville Prison?"

"Go as far as you like," said Mr. Fynes, representing the vaudeville managers.

Houdini, therefore, was welcomed with distinguished consideration. The warden told the most zealous and efficient keeper, one Cooney, to devise ways and means to keep the jailbreaker in jail.

When Houdini was ready about all the ward workers and loungers in the Assembly district were gathered together. Warden Lynch said to Cooney, "Strip him."

Before the incarceration Houdini showed off a peculiar trick. He put a paper of needles into his mouth, two and three at a time, and appeared to swallow them; then swallowed a thread and brought up the needles all threaded.

Thereupon Cooney took his naked prisoner and handcuffed him, holding his wrists to his sides with a strong leather belt. "Now, I'll just examine ye," said Cooney. He searched Houdini's head for files and keys that might be concealed in his curly locks.

"Open your mouth," ordered the keeper.

"Wash your hands first," said the prisoner, pettishly.

Cooney obeyed, but thereafter he examined behind and under Houdini's tongue most carefully.

"You've made me swallow it," said Houdini, when Cooney's job was done.

"Now, let me see your feet," demanded the keeper.

Houdini refused. He was put into a cell and the half a hundred spectators were ordered, under Houdini's conditions, out of sight of his cell door.

In five minutes he was free of the handcuffs and belt, in ten minutes he had picked the lock of his cell.

Warden Lynch said he had seen Houdini at work at the lock with a wire and thought that was sort of unfair. "But, said Houdini's agents, "you ought to have seen that he took nothing into the cell."

"I can tell you, warden, some things you ought to know about prisoners' tricks."

"Don't want 'em," growled the warden.

The theory was advanced that Houdini swallows a bunch of keys and some wire just prior to the test of this sort and brings them up when needed. This theory doesn't explain how he gets out of the handcuffs, unless he is clever enough with his toes to pick the locks with the instruments from his stomach

CHAIR AS PHONE BOX

English Woman Combines the Usefulness With the Ornamental.

London, Sept. 8. — The latest pattern of telephone box is a genuine Sedan chair.

A telephone in a boudoir or drawing-room is unsightly, but one woman has solved the problem of combining the useful with the ornamental.

She had in her possession a genuine Sedan chair, the panels of which are decorated with delicate paintings, and the inside lined with pink satin. Opposite the cushioned seat she has had her telephone fixed, and an electric light inclosed in a rosy shade.

"We have executed several orders for Sedan chair telephone boxes," the manager of a west end firm said yesterday. "One of the prettiest was designed in white and silver, the lining being of pale green silk.

"But Sedan chairs are not the only novel form of telephone boxes. A lady has had a miniature tent of rose-colored silk erected in one corner of her boudoir. A colored Japanese lantern hangs inside, and nobody realizes that it is not only for show until the curtains are drawn and disclose a telephone.

"Another dainty arrangement is a rustic arch before the telephone, over which imitation roses, perfect copies of the real flowers, are trained."

WELLMAN AT CHRISITIANIA.

Christiania, Sept. 10.—The Aftonbladets Tromsoe correspondent says that Walter Wellman, head of the Chicago Record-Herald polar expedition, has arrived there aboard the steamer Frithjof with his balloon, which will be sent to Paris in order to make improvements on the motors.

SAVED THE PIANO.

Belleville, Sept. 10.—Fire this morning destroyed a frame dwelling house on St. Charles street, owned and occupied by Miss Beatrice Ryan. Only a piano and a few household effects were saved. Small insurance.

WIRE-TAPPERS BAILED.

Windsor, Sept. 10.—Three of the men recently arrested for tapping the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company's wires, namely Walsh, Maran and Robinson, have been released on bail. The other man implicated, P. McGory, was liberated on bail last week. They will all be tried here on Friday the 14th inst.

The Paris jehu, not noted for the mercy he shows his horse, is of the opinion that the sunbonnet is too hot for the beast. Therefore, some of the drivers have provided their animals with parasols, strapped to their heads.

CRUEL SLAYER RUN TO EARTH

Murderer of Chicago Druggist Is Caught After Two Years.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—After eluding detectives on his trail for over two years, William Donahue, accused of the murder of Walter G. Seibert, a Chicago druggist, on the night of April 8, 1904, was arrested in Indianapolis by Detective Joe Kennedy.

When the officer confronted him Donahue tried to fight for his liberty, but was forced to surrender at the point of a gun.

Donahue was arrested after officers had followed him thousands of miles—even as far as Ireland. He always managed to escape their grasp a few hours, and the Chicago police had almost given up hope of capturing him.

Kennedy had known Donahue since the two were boys, and knew he surely had his man.

The crime for which the prisoner is wanted was one of the most cold-blooded in the last decade in Chicago. Donahue, with Stephen Quinn and John Liston, entered Seibert's drug store at Garfield Boulevard and Center avenue at 10:30 p.m. One of them made a small purchase and paid for it.

As Seibert, who was only 26 years old, opened the cash drawer, the men told him to give them all the money it contained. Seibert complied and turned over $18 to the three robbers. He was "covered" by their revolvers and could not spread an alarm. After the men had put the money in their pockets they told Seibert to walk to the back of the store. The druggist did as he was told. When he reached there Donahue or one of the others deliberately shot Seibert in the back. The deed was committed in such cold blood that it stirred the whole community. Seibert died soon after the shot was fired.

Diamond Dyes

—VERSUS—

COMMON IMITATION DYES

The DIAMOND DYES are the only package dyes admitted to the homes of wise and economical women. Why? Because they have every quality which true home dyes should possess. DIAMOND DYES are, today, the only dyes guaranteed to give decided and happy successes. All druggists and general merchants who desire to please their customers, sell only the DIAMOND DYES, for the simple reason that they always give complete satisfaction.

Common and adulterated package dyes put up to imitate the DIAMOND DYES are sold by some merchants because of the extra cash profits they yield. These deceptive dyes are, in every case, worthless as coloring agents. They produce weak and blotchy colors, and invariably ruin good garments and materials. Their use has caused grief and loss of money in many homes.

Always use the reliable and popular DIAMOND DYES and you will make the old and faded things as good as new. Send to Wells & Richardson Company, Limited, 200 Mountain street, Montreal, P. Q., for New Direction Book, Diamond Dye Cook Book and Illustrated Booklet, entitled "Diamond Dye Longjohns' Winter and Summer Sports;" all sent free to any address. 89u-y-t
