BITS OF MERRIMENT.

"Cholly seems changed since his trip away, doesn't he?" Frances—"Indeed he does—seems like another girl almost."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

"How do you feel about the income tax?" "I am in favor of having a law passed giving every man an income large enough to be taxed."—Brooklyn Life.

Hayes—"I wonder why Brown sold the watch dog he used to blow about so much." Jackson—"A tramp stole the chain the dog was tied to."—New York Sun.

Caller—"Wonder if I can see your mother, little boy? Is she engaged?" Little boy—"Engaged? Whatcher givin' us? She's married."—Boston Transcript.

Teacher—"What is one of the greatest sources of discontent in this world?" Pupil (whose parents live at a boarding house)—"Prune sauce."—Boston Transcript.

Yeast—"Does Gullivan's wife always have the last word?" Crimsonbeak—"You seem to forget, man, that Gullivan is a professional pugilist."—Yonkers Statesman.

Daughter—"I love him. He is the light of my life." Father—"Well, that's all right, but I object to having my house lit up by him after midnight."—Pearson's Weekly.

Maud—"How do you define love?" Marie—"Love is the life of illusions." Maud—"And what is marriage?" Marie—"Oh, marriage is the death of them."—Vogue.

"Could I see the boss for a few minutes?" "Yes; as soon as she gets through tellin' the mistress that she's got to have another afternoon off each week."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Cholly—Now you may show me the most stunning thing you have in your establishment. Tailor—Yes, certainly. Here is the bill for the suit you have on.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Cholly—Ethel Knox told me last night I wasn't over half-witted. Susie—I shouldn't feel badly about that; she never did know anything about fractions.—Kate Field's Washington.

"Are your sympathies with the Chinese in this war?" asked his wife. "Just look at that shirt front;" said Mr. Simpkins glowingly, "and ask me a fool question like that again."—Chicago Record.

Mrs. Querie—I understand you had a narrow escape coming across? Mr. Hard Port—Yes, indeed; the coal ran out and the captain had to split the ship's log to keep the fires going.—Truth.

"Is it true that Houser is hustling for the postoffice?" "Guess it is. I heard his wife tell him if he didn't get her letter mailed inside of twenty minutes she'd know the reason why."—Buffalo Courier.

Visitor—I suppose you have a good deal of poetry sent into you for publication? Editor—No, not very much poetry as a rule; some of it is verse and some of it is worse.—Somerville Journal.

"O, papa, see these lovely opals! I don't believe opals are unlucky. Do you?" "It will be very unlucky for you if you take a fancy to a high-priced one, Ethelinda. You won't get it."—Chicago Tribune.

Father—Are your prospects good? Suitor—Well, sir, if I were married to your daughter I can say that I wouldn't exchange them for those of any young man of my acquaintance.—Harlem Life.

"A man who read Coxey's speeches is now an inmate of an insane asylum," remarked the horse editor. "Well," replied the snake editor, "what are insane asylums for?"—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

"Yes, my daughter married an artist," said the old lady. "You don't say! Have you any of his work in the house?" "Lands, no. He's got a shop of his own. Tonsorial artist, you know."—Indianapolis Journal.

First lobster—It's getting lonesome here now, with all the society bathers gone. Second lobster—Never mind; we are liable to meet them after supper this winter, and then we'll get the rest of our fine work in.—Syracuse Post.

Timmins—What do you think of my new desk? Bought it second-hand; made the money all from my jokes. Simmons—Well, that is as it should be—the jokes were all second-hand, were they not?—Cincinnati Tribune.

"See, there comes Hummel. I don't want to meet the man. Only last week I asked him to lend me 100 marks." "He might have given you the money; he is rich enough." "Well—um—the fact is, he did."—Illustrirte Chronik.

Maud—They ought not to allow marriages between cousins. Marie—Why not? Maud—Because if you marry your cousin, your own children are scarcely related to you. They are only your second cousins.—Harlem Life.

Dear Sirs,—I was suffering very much from diarrhea, and could get nothing to cure me. A friend told me of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and a few doses completely cured me. Thos. L. Graham, Melita, Man. 246

SEE THE CONQUERING HERO COMES.

Baron Dhanis Given a Warm Welcome by the Belgians.

Antwerp, Oct. 12.—The steamer Wilhelmine, having on board Baron Dhanis, commander of the Belgian troops in the Congo State, who is returning from a three-years' bloody but victorious campaign against the Arab slave traders in that district, arrived this morning.

She was boarded by a special messenger from King Leopold, who bore to Baron Dhanis the greeting of the King, and His Majesty's congratulations upon his safe return, and the success of the work in which he has been engaged. Many Government and military officials and newspaper representatives were among those who had assembled to welcome the Baron, who held a levee on board the ship.

Great crowds of people had gathered at the wharf to greet the Baron, and when he landed the enthusiasm was almost unbounded, the scene not having been equalled since the return of Henry M. Stanley from his last African trip. The streets were crowded, and the returned commander of the Belgian forces in the Congo was cheered continually. A series of festivities in his honor will begin to-morrow. Baron Dhanis brought with him three converted Arab chiefs with their wives and children.

Caretaker of Fern-Avenue School.

Besides passing a few minor accounts the Property Committee of the School Board, at their meeting yesterday, recommended the appointment of James Carruth to the position of caretaker of Fern-avenue School.

A BAD TEMPER and a bad liver—you'll always find joined together. Make a note of this, and see if it isn't true.

Now, why not give your naturally sunny disposition a chance? Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will do it for you. They correct your disordered liver, clear up your system, and make life look different to you. They do it in a pleasant way, too. They're the smallest, the easiest to take, and the most natural remedy.

Keep a vial of these tiny Pellets in your vest-pocket. They'll give you a permanent cure for Biliousness, Jaundice, Constipation, Indigestion, Sick or Bilious Headaches, and every derangement of the liver, stomach and bowels.

The makers are so sure you'll be satisfied that they'll lose, if you're not, to return the money.

For twenty-five years these Pellets have sold on their merit. Why buy other pills, when P. P. P. are "guaranteed"?

There's nothing likely to be "just as good."

Tips From Wall-Street.

S. V. White bought Sugar to-day.

Cammack covered B and Q. and St. Paul.

L. and N. earnings for first week of October show increase of $67,000.

Henry A. King & Co.'s special wire from Ledenburg, Thalman & Co., New York: Covering of shorts in railroad stock list was not sufficiently marked to create any activity in that department of the market. It was, however, enough to give a strong tone to prices. It is understood the buying was mainly by the leading bear operator, support being given to this idea by the strength of B.Q. Sugar, however, was the feature of the day. A manipulative interest, which is believed to have taken hold of the stock at the recent decline, is apparently responsible for a further advance this morning. Selling, however, was met on the way up and in the afternoon the stock was exceptionally weak. Gas shared in the early strength of Sugar. The closing was without special feature, apart from the efforts of traders to sell Sugar down. The market as a whole was firm, but stagnant and uninteresting.

Schwartz, Dupee & Co., Chicago, wire Dixon: The market for wheat to-day was extremely dull, with no new features worthy of note. Receipts in the Northwest were nearly 1000 cars. The continent reported that the offerings of Russian wheat were very heavy. Duluth shipped more wheat than received and for the past five days their shipments exceed 1,500,000 bushels. The bulk of the buying to-day was by local traders against privileges. In absence of any support wheat may sell lower, but we don't feel like advising sales at present. With wheat at the present price there is not much show to get an advance in corn. However, we don't look for any great decline, if there should be anything like the usual winter demand.

Provisions opened weak under increased receipts of hogs, but quickly rallied on buying by several packers. As yesterday the market acted independently of corn, and although quite dull through the latter half of session there was no weakness, and the close was firm. Would sell the market on further advance.

Henry A. King & Co.'s special wire from Logan & Co., Chicago: To-day's market has been narrow in fluctuation and rather wanting in feature except about same as has been noted for several days back in way of liberal primary receipts, lower cables and light trade. To-day's export clearances were more liberal, over 400,000 bushels in wheat and flour. Duluth is reported as having already chartered for shipment by Nov. 15 2,000,000 wheat seeking vessel room at slight reduction in freight rates for as much more. There was some firmness towards last of session in sympathy with corn. Corn ruled fairly active, with fair business, but narrow price changes. No other feature of special importance, receipts moderate and no prospect of material change until new corn commences to move.

Provisions moderately active, and prices show an improvement over yesterday's close. To-day's buying was mostly on local account, but packers taking a little stuff. An improved demand for cash product is reported by packers.

At Liverpool cotton is easier at 3 3-16d.

At New York the market is weaker. November closed at 5.67, December at 5.73, January at 5.79, February at 5.85 and March at 5.90.

WHEAT at 53c for December in Chicago may not be cheap, but any foreign complication would quickly make it worth much more money.
