AFTER THE INQUIRY, WHAT?

Last evening's evidence at the market enquiry was enough to convince every citizen that there must be a very decided house-cleaning in that department. Among those who should have no part in the work of reform are at least two aldermen and two officials. The greater responsibility rests upon the aldermen, since they were guardians of the city's interests. The chairman of the safety board should have pursued a course different from that which he admits in his evidence. If there was forestalling, and the regulations forebade it, and the regulations were unworkable, it was clearly his duty as a public representative not to share in the forestalling himself, but to go to the safety board and the council and insist upon either a change in the by-laws or their enforcement against all-comers. With regard to Ald. Potts, whatever he might feel justified in doing as a business man before he entered the city council, his plain duty as an alderman was to denounce a system which produced such results as he now describes. When we consider the evidence given by the director and the market clerk, it is very clear that they are not the officials upon whom the citizens can depend to conduct the market as it should be done.

The committee and Recorder Baxter have done good work in their enquiry thus far, but it may be hoped that before they finish they will get the evidence of every dealer in the market who can throw any light upon th mannr in which its affairs have been conducted.

ANOTHER $100,000

The attention of the business men of St. John is respectfully directed to the fact that the city council seems bent upon rushing into the expenditure of another $100,000 for a ferry-boat without thinking at all about the future or looking into the question of a harbor bridge. There is a heavy ferry deficit at the present time. This and the interest on $100,000 would be a tidy sum toward the interest on the city's share in the cost of a bridge. Looking ahead ten or fifteen years, and bearing in mind that the city owns a good deal of land on the west side, that would increase in value if a bridge were built; and that the city must expand in that direction as well as toward the east, it does not seem to be very good business to go on piling up expenditure for ferry boats without making a full enquiry concerning a bridge across the harbor.

This question should have been dealt with before, and was side-tracked without sufficient reason. Now we are confronted with a demand for $100,000 for another ferry boat. The citizens should insist upon a thorough and prompt enquiry concerning a bridge.

BOURASSA, MONK AND BORDEN

The Montreal correspondent of the Toronto Telegram asked Mr. Henri Bourassa to state his attitude toward British connection. In the course of his reply Mr. Bourassa said:—

"I may say frankly that I consider independence the natural destiny of Canada."

Mr. Bourassa went on to say that he would like present relations to continue as long as possible and to have Britain and Canada continue as allies after the latter had become independent.

This is the gentleman the Conservatives are taking to their imperialistic bosoms, and cheering on in his self-imposed task of stirring up an anti-British feeling in Quebec province. Mr. Borden, their leader, has not repudiated the Monk-Bourassa campaign. Mr. Monk is still his Quebec lieutenant. The more the people think about it the more they are convinced that for broad-gauge statemanship the Conservative party needs a leader, and needs a policy for all Canada instead of one for each province.

THE WORLD'S WHEAT

The latest bulletin issued by the International Institute of Agriculture, with headquarters at Rome, gives some very interesting figures showing the wheat production of the various countries of the world. Taking 1,000 as the total, the percentage of each country of that total is as follows:—

United States	207.3
Russia in Europe	167.9
France	108.4
British India	98.4
Italy	60.0
Hungary	53.6
Argentine	46.6
Germany	44.9
Spain	35.8
Canada	33.9
Roumania	24.2
Russia in Asia	20.9
Australia	20.1
Austria	18.3
Great Britain and Ireland	17.7
Other countries	42.0

The bulletin gives also a statement of the average yield of wheat from 1904 to 1908 inclusive, and the statement for the leading countries is as follows, in quintals:

United States	172,818,131
Russia	139,992,443
France	90,415,399
British India	82,079,863
Italy	50,000,000
Hungary	44,708,356
Argentine	38,865,269
Germany	37,382,728
Spain	29,873,870
Canada	28,306,708
Roumania	20,186,456
Russia in Asia	17,420,218
Australia	15,206,175
Great Britain and Ireland	14,748,073

Four countries, the United States, Russia in Europe, France and British India, produce about half of the world's total wheat crop. Of course the yield in Canada and some other countries will be increasing from year to year, and a comparison ten years hence would doubtless show a considerable change.

When it comes to a comparison of the yield of wheat per acre in the different countries the order of precedence is completely changed. For example, Great Britain and Ireland, which are almost at the bottom of the list of producing countries, have the largest yield per acre, and Russia, which is next to the United States as a producer has the smallest yield per acre. Canada, which is tenth on the list as a producer is fifth in point of yield to the acre. Great Britain and Germany are far ahead of the others in yield per acre, and the rest follow in this order:—France, Austria, Canada, Hungary, Roumani, Italy, United States, Spain, Argentina, Russia in Asia, British India, Australia, Russia in Europe.

In the matter of fire protection, the city is trusting to luck and the leaks.

EXECUTION OF CANDY WILL BE PRIVATE

Montreal Sheriff Does Not Believe in Catering to the Morbidly Curious

Montreal, Nov. 12—Sheriff Lemieux has decided that the execution of Timothy Candy, who wil be hanged in the jail yard next Friday for the murder of Constables Fortia and O'Connell, will be strictly private, so much so that even the identity of the executioner may not be known. It is useless for anyone to apply to the sheriff for tickets of admission to the execution, for none will be issued and only a few who are compelled by law to be present on such an occasion, such as the sheriff, governor of the jail, magistrate, jail physician, with one representative from each newspaper, will be permitted inside the walls at the time of the execution.

In making the execution as private as law permits him to make it, Sheriff Lemieux believes he will have the moral support of the community, and he sees no reason why a lot of morbidly curious people should be admitted to the jail yard to see an unfortunate human being put to death at the hands of the law to expiate the crimes he had committed.

RELIEVES ALL THE STOMACH MISERY IN FIVE MINUTES

Distress From Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn or Dyspepsia Goes After Taking a Little Diapepsin

As there is often some one in your family who suffers an attack of Indigestion or some form of Stomach trouble, why don't you keep some Diapepsin in the house handy?

This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat without the slightest discomfort, and overcome a sour, gassy Stomach five minutes after.

Tell your pharmacist to let you read the formula, plainly printed on these 50-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will readily see why it makes Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Heartburn and other distress go in five minutes, and relieves at once such miseries as Belching of Gas, Eructations of sour, undigested food, Nausea, Headaches, Dizziness, Constipation and other Stomach disorders.

Some folks have tried so long to find relief from Indigestion and Dyspepsia or an out-of-order stomach with the common every-day cures advertised that they have about made up their mind that they have something else wrong, or believe theirs is a case of Nervousness, Gastritis, Catarrh of the Stomach or Cancer.

This, no doubt, is a serious mistake. Your real trouble is, what you eat does not digest; instead, it ferments and sours turns to acid, gas and poison, which putrefy in the digestive tract and intestines, and, besides, poison the breath with nauseous odors.

A hearty appetite, with thorough digestion, and without the slightest discomfort or misery of the Stomach, is waiting for you as soon as you decide to try Pape's Diapepsin.

COURAGE

Because I lift my head above the mist,
Where the sun shines and the broad breezes blow,
Because I hold it sinful to despond,
And will not let the bitterness of life
Blind me with burning tears, but look beyond
Its tumult and its strife;
By every ray and every rain-drop kissed
That God's love doth bestow;
Think you I find no bitterness at all?
No burden to be borne, like Christian's pack?
Think you there is no ready tears to fall,
Because I keep them back?

Why should I hug life's ills with cold reserve,
To curse myself and all who love me? Nay!
A thousand times more good than I deserve,
God gives me every day.
And each one of these rebellious tears
Kept bravely back—He makes a rainbow shine;
Grateful I take His slightest gift, no fears;
Nor any doubts are mine.
Dark skies must clear and when the clouds are past,
One golden day redeems a weary year;
Patient I listen, sure that sweet at last
Will sound his voice of cheer.
Then vex me not with chiding—let me be,
I must be glad and grateful to the end.
I grudge you not your cold and darkness, me,
The powers of light befriend.

SWEET INNOCENCE

A pretty, rosycheeked country girl entered the large department store. It was bargain day and the crowd was greater than usual. She had wandered about from floor to floor a little bewildered at the magnitude of the establishment—the largest she had ever seen! Seeing her, a shopwalker approached and said: "Is there anybody waiting on you?" "Yes, sir," said the girl, blushing to the roots of her flaxen hair. "He's outside; he won't come in."

OH, CHRYSANTHEMUM!

Oh, dazzling chrysanthemum,
You are an autumn dream;
In pink and white and gold you come,
Through nature's endless scheme,
And when I have to skip my lunch,
A noon-day sacrifice,
It is to you I gladly turn,
Of posies fresh and nice,
It is to you I gladly turn,
So scintillating fair,
For roses cost more than I earn,
And violets are rare,
They'd put my income on the bum—
So you, oh, you, chrysanthemum!
