COMMONS VOTES MUCH MONEY FOR MARITIME WORK

New Brunswick Gets $102,000 for Repairs and Nova Scotia $274,050.

MAJORITY OF NINE ON SNAP DIVISION

Parliament Tower Will be Completed Within Next Two Years.

Ottawa, May 27.—The House this afternoon voted money rapidly, public works estimates were under consideration for a time, there was considerable criticism and Fred Pardee of West Lambton, moved to reduce by $45,000 a vote of $95,000 for harbor and river improvements. There was some hub-bub when a vote on the motion was taken. Deputy Speaker Boivin called the vote and government supporters rushed in through the lobby doors.

Majority Was Nine.

"Order, order ,you can't do that," called oht opposition members, while one voice shouted "sit down, Jimmy, you don't know what you are voting for." The amendment was defeated by a majority of nine, thirty-five voting for it and 44 against, and the item passed.

Subsequently, votes for public works passed with little debate. In this connection, when a million dollar vote for restoration of the Ottawa Parliament buildings was under discussion, Hon. F. B. McCurdy, minister of public works, announced that the tower would be completed in two years.

Tower Inscriptions.

A section would be constructed each year. On the face of the tower would be the inscription: "Give the King thy judgments, O God, and thy righteousness unto the King's son;" on one side "Where there is no vision, the people perish," on the other, "He shall have dominion from sea to sea."

The vote for restoration of the Parliament buildings were still under discussion at six o'clock, when the House adjourned for the evening recess Public works estimates gave way to those of the Naval department at the night sitting, so this item stands for the present.

During the discussion on the estimates for British Columbia, A. W Chisholm (Inverness), called the minister's attention to the uncompleted condition of the fishery harbor at Inverness. It was most unfortunate he said, that the matter should have been dropped. There was not much expenditure involved and he had hoped to see an appropriation for its completion in the forthcoming year.

Protests Western Grants.

J. H. Sinclair (Antigonish and Guysboro) protested against money being expended on new construction in British Columbia when breakwaters were allowed to fall into disrepair on the Atlantic coast.

Mr. McCurdy replied that there must be a certain amount of new construction if new communities were to be adequately served. Money was expended according to the best judgment of the officials of the public works department.

Harbor and river estimates for Nova Scotia amounting to $274,050, covering repairs to wharves, breakwaters and piers, carried with little demur.

The sum of $43,400 for similar repairs in Prince Edward Island, and $102,100 for New Brunswick, were also voted.

Old Time Engineer Goes Back On Job

Had Given Up Hope of Ever Pulling Another Throttle, Says Skinnick.

"Although I am now past seventy-six years of age I am working every day for Tanlac has put me back on the job after I had given up all work and didn't think I could ever get well," said C. L. Skinnick, 520 Maryland street, Winnipeg, recently. Mr. Skinnick has spent the greater portion of his life on the sea, being Chief Engineer on several of the largest ocean liners plying the Atlantic. Twenty years ago he gave up the sea and is now employed as stationary engineer by the Canadian National Railway

"There is one thing I hope I never have again, "he went on, "and that is rheumatism. It simply had the best of me, and I was practically helpless. It had started four years before and I was so crippled up I couldn't do a lick of work. My knees were actually as stiff as boards, and of mornings I had an awful time trying to get clothes on; why, the pains nearly killed me. My appetite went back on me and got so I didn't want to eat a thing. I didn't know what a good night's rest meant, and I was as weak as a baby.

"But it's all over with now, thank goodness. Tanlac has simply made a clean sweep of all my troubles and I feel like a man made all over again. Those pains have all disappeared, and so has that stiffness, and I am eating hearty and sleeping fine like I used to years ago. I take pleasure in speaking a good word for Tanlac. It has certainly done great work for me."

Proved Honesty But Is $100 Out

Man Deposited Amount to Guarantee Change of Dollar Bill.

Montreal, May 27.—"I know that I will not get my money back, but you might as well know what is going on," said James Smith, to the man in charge at the Detective Bureau desk yesterday afternoon as he reported how he had lost $100, partly through his own fault earlier in the afternoon. Smith said that he was in Montreal on his way to England from Western Canada. He had made arrangements to sail on the Tunisian, and yesterday afternoon he went to the ship to make sure that all his baggage was on board the ship which sails this morning. He had been to see some officials on board, and was walking one of the decks towards the gangway when a man who told him that he was going to be a fellow passenger. The two talked for a short time and examined their cabins. As they were leaving the ship they met a third man who seemed to be slightly crippled. The third man asked Smith's new found friend if he would mind crossing to a shop on the wharf and buying him a good cigar. The man gave the necessary money, and Smith's friend left. Later he returned with a package of cigarettes and the man who wanted a cogar said that the cigarettes were of no use to him and he gave them to Smith, and asked him if he would go and buy him a cigar. He gave Smith a dollar and as the latter started out to buy the cigar, the man said: 'How do I know that you will bring me back the change?' "I am honest," said Smith. "How do I know," said the man, "you have my dollar." Smith then took $100 from his pocket and offered it as security. The offer was accepted and Smith went to a nearby shop and bought a cigar. When he returned the man who wanted the cigar was gone with his $100.

REVOLVER READY PREACHER STOPS MASKED RAIDERS

Mob Was Bound to Get Wounded Man Who Had Shot Woman.

"SHOOT IF YOU DARE" WAS HIS TAUNT

Raiders Vanished at the Brave Front Before Police Arrived.

Hattiesburg, Miss., May 27.—Pistol in hand, the Rev. G. S. Harmon, a Methodist preacher stood off last night, a masked mob intent upon removing Casey E. Jones from the Methodist Hospital here. Jones was wounded yesterday by J. H. Mosely, after he had shot and dangerously wounded Mrs. Mosely. Dr. Harmon, commissioner of the hospital, until learning that feeling was aroused against Jones, took his stand at the stair head, after asking for police protection. Before the officers arrived, however, a number of masked men slipped into the building to find themselves confronted by the preacher.

Preacher Was Brave.

"Doctor, we aren't going to make any racket," said one, "we just want our man."

"I am a Methodist preacher," replied the doctor, "in charge of this hospital, and responsible for all in it. You dare not come up these steps unless you cross my dead body. Now shoot if you dare. You may kill me, but you shall not come up those steps."

The mob had dispersed when the officers arrived.

He Wants All The World To Know

THAT IT WAS DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS THAT HELPED HIM.

Mr. Alfred Labbie, Who Suffered From Rheumatism and Backache, Tells Why He Recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills.

St. Honore, via Armand, Que., May 27.—(Special.)—Mr. Alfred Labbie, a well-known and highly respected resident here, is recommending Dodd's Kidney Pills to all sufferers from rheumatism or backache. He has a reason.

"I suffered from backache and rheumatism," Mr. Labbie states. "I spent much money on other remedies. But it was Dodd's Kidney Pills that helped me. I work now and I am well. This is why I would like all the world to know about Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are purely and simply a kidney remedy. They strengthen the kidneys and enable them to do their full work of straining the impurities out of the blood. Healthy kidneys make a healthy body. Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not make healthy kidneys.

No More Legislation For Commons' Mill

Ottawa, May 27—There will be no further legislation brought down by the government at the present session of parliament. This statement was made by the Prime Minister in the House of Commons this afternoon in reply to an enquiry by the leader of the opposition. Mr. Meighen said he knew of no further legislation of which notice had not been given. He recalled that yesterday the Minister of Justice gave notice of a bill to validate the proclamation for the prohibition referenda.

Hunt Over Three Mountain Ranges

British Columbia Sportsmen Make Start from Golden on Big Bear Hunt.

Vancouver, May 27.—J. W. French and Leo Tennis, two of British Columbia's most renowned big game hunters, have just left Golden on an expedition which will occupy six weeks, and in the course of which the nimrods will traverse three mountain ranges and shoot a number of rapids that are among the most dangerous in North America.

Travelling down the Columbia in a boat they have built especially for swift waters, Messrs. French and Tennis will shoot the Surprise, 26-Mile, and Golden rapids in the early stages of their journey, and then spend two or three weeks in the tangled country between the Big Bend and the Beaver-mouth. At Kinbasket Lake, 60 miles north of the C. P. R. line, the hunters will decorate the grave of Walter Steinoff, a well-known trapper who met his death by drowning in Surprise Rapids a few years ago.

This is the fourth trip which French and Tennis have taken through the Big Band country, and as they are noted for "getting the limit" in big game, they expect to bag three grizzlies apiece, and an unlimited number of black and brown bears—all the law allows in each case. In the course of their wanderings the hunters will traverse three ranges of mountains, the Selkirks, the Rockies, and the Gold Range. During the last few days of their hunt they propose shooting some very dangerous rapids, including the Big Eddy, the Death, and the Priest waters, and as a final test of their craftsmanship they will negotiate the Revelstoke Canyon at high-water, a particularly difficult feat.

Line Saves Boy In Five Story Plunge

Clings to Clothes Cord as it Parts and Swings Him Across Yard.

New York, May 27.—Alfred Bertaris, 7, of 323 West Seventeenth street, was playing railroad train with other boys yesterday afternoon on the roof of the five-story tenement house in 313 West Seventeenth street, and as the locomotive he got up such a terrific burst of speed he was not able to stop when he reached the edge of the roof at the rear. He ran off into space.

But the boy had fallen only a matter of ten feet or so when he bumped into a clothesline which had been strung from a window on the fifth floor to a window on the fifth floor on the rear of 310 West Eighteenth street, across a courtyard divided by a high fence. Alfred flung out both arms and luckily he managed to grab the line close to where it was fastened to the window of the Seventeenth street tenement.

It was not a big line, and it supported the boy's weight only for a moment, but that was long enough for him to get a good grip upon it. So when it broke he clung to it and swung across the courtyard, over the high fence and landed with a slam against the sill of a window on the third story of the Eighteenth street tenement.

His comrades watching him from the roof saw him lose his hold and plunge from the third story window to the flagstones of the courtyard. Patrolman Flynn of the West Twentieth street station arrived a few minutes later and found that the boy's face and body had been bruised and left leg broken. He was taken to Bellevue Hospital, where it was said he was not seriously hurt.
