1. It shall be unlawful for the Master of a steamer engaged at the seal fishery to send upon the ice or permit to be sent upon the ice any members of the crew of such steamer a distance greater than that which is reasonable to enable them to perform the work ordered or required of them and to return to the said steamer within one hour after sunset of the same day as that upon which they were sent or permitted to be sent as aforesaid. (Penalty, on summary conviction by and to informer.)

2. It shall be unlawful to kill any seals found upon the ice or to take any seal pelts therefore, or to remain upon the ice in charge of any seal pelts except between the hours from sunrise to sunset; and no person being a member of a crew of any steamer engaged at the seal fishery shall, without lawful excuse, be or remain upon the ice or away from ship after one hour after sunset or before sunrise. (Penalty, on summary conviction by, payable to informer.)

(a) If death results from the injury, if he leaves any dependant wholly or partially dependant upon his earnings, the owners of the ship shall pay the sum of $1,000 as compensation to the dependants, the said sum to be recoverable as hereinafter set forth invested and distributed in manner similar to that provided with respect to sums payable under the Workmen's Compensation Act, provided that the injury causing death is not attributable to his serious and wilful misconduct, and provided also that the amount of any weekly payments and any lump sum paid in redemption thereof shall be deducted from such sum.

(b) When total or partial incapacity for work results from the injury a weekly payment shall be made by the owners of the ship during the incapacity, not exceeding fifty per cent of his average weekly earnings during the previous twelve months, such weekly payments not to exceed five dollars, provided that in case of partial incapacity the weekly payment shall in no case exceed the difference between the amount of his average weekly earnings before the accident and the average weekly amount which he is earning or able to earn in some suitable employment or business after the accident. When any weekly payment has continued for not less than six months the liability therefor may, on the applications by or on behalf of the owners of the ship, be redeemed by the payment of a lump sum to be settled in default of the agreement by the Supreme Court or a Judge thereof, and such lump sum may be ordered to be invested or otherwise applied in a manner similar to that provided in respect of sums payable under the Workmen's Compensation Act provided that the said weekly payments and lump sum together shall not exceed $1,000, and provided that the said injury or accident is not attributable to his serious and wilful misconduct.

(c) Any party suffering injury as aforesaid and whose death results from the injury, his dependants may proceed in the Supreme Court either by personal action agreeable to the owners of the ship or against the ship in an action in rem on the Admiralty side of the said Court for the recovery of compensation as aforesaid, and shall have a lien therefor upon the ship and her cargo in like manner and with the same priority as in the case of claims for seamen's wages. Costs to be in the discretion of the Court or Judge.

4. Proceedings for the recovery of compensation for injury shall not be maintainable unless notice of the accident has been given as soon as practicable after the happening thereof, and before the sealer has left the ship after the conclusion of the voyage and unless the claim for compensation with respect to such accident has been made within six months from the occurrence of the accident causing the injury or, in the case of death, within six months of the time of death and within two years from the date of the accident.

And provided always that (a) The want of notice or any defect in or inaccuracy in such notice shall not be a bar to the maintaining of such proceedings if it is found in the proceedings for the settlement of

Cape Report

SPECIAL TO EVENING TELEGRAM.
CAPE RACE, To-day. Wind N.E., blowing strong, weather dull, ice packed on land eastward, shore clear west from here. The s.s. Stephano passed west at 4 p.m. yesterday; nothing sighted to-day. Bar 29.10; ther. 30.

Volunteers in Mimic Warfare.

Yesterday afternoon the Volunteers now in training had some very interesting experiences in mimic warfare. At 3 p.m. a contingent of about 200 men, under Lieutenant H. S. Windeler, assisted by Lieut. S. R. Robertson, left the C. L. B. Armoury and marched countrywards by way of Newtown Road, and traversed the intervening territory between that section and Smithville, where they assumed a position, sending out a party of scouts and an advance guard to reconnoitre and report proceedings. In the meantime, another party of about 150 men under command of Capt. Eric Ayre, with Acting Platoon Commander J. J.

O'Grady, Sergt. H. Reader and Acting Platoon Commander L. C. Murphy, marched in another direction, and having reconnoitred, sent out advance guards and scouts to locate the enemy. All the parties were instructed very carefully by Capt. Ayre in the duties devolving upon them, the importance of shelter, and the value of ambush, and throughout the afternoon a thoroughly instructive series of practical experiments in tactical movements were carried out. One of the clever features of the sham engagement was the work of Lance-Corporal G. C. Martin, who disguised as a female, almost entered the enemy's lines several times and obtained important information for the attacking party under Capt. Ayre. The Volunteers returned to the City shortly before 6 p.m. a little tired, perhaps, but by no means down-hearted, and thoroughly benefited by their experience.

A Request.
