OUR GLORIOUS QUEEN

Jubilee Address Passed by the Senate.

A MOST FITTING TRIBUTE

To the Grandest Sovereign That Ever Ruled on This Green Earth.

Sir Oliver Mowat and Sir Mackenzie Bowell Eloquently Discoursed on the Sixty Years of Her Majesty's Sway and Talked of What They Both Could Remember in That Eventful Period—Transformations That Have Taken Place in the Empire and Colonies—Senator Bernier Spoke for the French-Canadians and Introduced the Manitoba School Question.

Ottawa, June 1.—(Special.)—The joint address of both Houses to the Queen passed the Senate this afternoon amid a scene of great enthusiasm, and to-morrow it will probably be passed by the Commons.

Sir Oliver Mowat, in moving the adoption of the address, spoke at considerable length. The present, he said, was a most opportune time for the Parliament of Canada, in common with the other legislative bodies in the Dominion, to give some expression of congratulation to Her Majesty on the occasion of the sixtieth anniversary of the beginning of her long and glorious reign. The reign of Queen Victoria had been essentially a reign of peace.

Sir Oliver outlined the progress made during the Victorian era by the British Empire in the acquisition of new territory throughout the world, the extension of her commerce into every portion of the known world, the improvement of her railway and steamship transportation facilities, and her application of all the latest scientific discoveries to the useful commercial arts. Consequent upon the immense growth of British commerce and the commercial wealth of the country, he pointed out that the poverty which existed in England 60 years ago was fast disappearing. Sixty years ago 1,100,000 of the population of the British Islands were aided by the poor rates. To-day, despite the immense increase in the population, that number had been reduced to 800,000, and was rapidly diminishing. The improvement in the system of education and the growth of a strong moral and religious tendency among the people, had resulted in a tremendous reduction in the number of criminals, who, 60 years ago, numbered 20,000, while to-day there were only 6500 in British prisons.

Canada's Progress.

Great as had been the progress of England during the 60 years of the Queen's reign, the progress in Canada had been even greater. He drew a picture of the scattered provinces of the Dominion as they were 60 years ago, and compared it with the present condition of Canada as a solidified country—the chiefest colony of the greatest empire in the world. Canada's constitution had its faults, but he did not think there was another as good in the wide world. It was true that the Canadian Parliament had not always legislated wisely and well, but there was, in his opinion, no parliament in the world that legislated more wisely, even at the present time.

After dwelling upon the birth and growth of representative institutions in Canada, the improvement in the educational facilities and the growth in importance of our commerce, he attributed much of the progress and development which had come to Canada during the past 60 years to the wise and beneficent rule of England's Queen. To that noble woman was due the unswerving loyalty of the entire population of Canada and the Empire, for her conduct, public and private, since her ascension to the throne had done more than anything else to strengthen the British monarchy and render such development possible.

When in God's good time she passed into another world, she would long be remembered by her faithful subjects in Canada as Good Queen Victoria.

The Address.

He concluded, amidst great applause, by moving the adoption of the following address, which was read by the Secretary of State to the Senators, who listened to it standing:

To the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty:

Most Gracious Sovereign.—We, Your Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the Senate and House of Commons of Canada in Parliament assembled, beg to offer our sincere congratulations on the happy completition of the sixtieth year of your auspicious reign.

When, on the memorable occasion of Your Majesty's golden Jubilee, the representatives of your loyal Canadian people joined those of other parts of the empire in expressing their heartfelt pleasure that by the grace of God the nation had for half a century enjoyed the inestimable benefit of Your Majesty's constitutional and beneficent rule, they stated their earnest hope that Your Majesty might be spared for many more years to reign over your loyal subjects.

A decade has since passed and today we contemplate with renewed satisfaction the fact that Your Majesty is still the head of the state. Not only have none of your illustrious predecessors sat on the throne of our country for so extended a period, but in the history of the nations of the world few monarchs have ruled so long, and none have been so universally honored and revered.

Looking back across the 60 years which have elapsed since Your Majesty's coronation, it is impossible not to be impressed with the immense strides which, during that period, have been made by the civilized world in all that constitutes the moral, intellectual and physical well-being of mankind. The gospel of our divine Teacher has been preached in

GERMANY AND CANADA

Britain and the Zollverein Treaties.

PROTEST SENT TO BRITAIN

Against Canada Favoring English More Than German Goods.

Mr. Chamberlain Says the Law Officers of the Crown Are Looking Into the Matter—A Further Inquiry Into the Transvaal Raid—Mr. Alfred Beit Denies Mr. Labouchere's Charges—Lord Salborne's Evidence is All That is to Come Now—Other Cable News.

London, June 1.—Replying in the House of Commons to-day to a question put by Sir Charles Howard Vincent, Conservative and Fair Trader, member for Central Sheffield, the Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, said Belgium and Germany had protested against British goods entering Canada at a lower tariff than German and Belgian goods. Mr. Chamberlain added that the law officers of the crown were considering the matter.

The Standard, in an editorial with reference to the denouncing of the Belgian and German treaties, says it is difficult to see how a conclusion can be arrived at favorable to Canadian desires.

Transvaal Raid Enquiry.

London, June 1.—When the inquiry of the Parliamentary Committee into the Transvaal raid was resumed to-day, Mr. Alfred Beit, a former director of the British Chartered South African Company, read a statement denying the charges of Mr. Henry Labouchere to the effect that he had "rigged the market," and offered the books of his firm to prove the truth of the denial.

Lord Robert Cecil, counsel for Dr. Rutherford Harris, made an application to the committee in behalf of his client, asking that Mr. Harris be re-examined on the subject of Mr. Labouchere's letter of Tuesday last, which, while purporting to be an apology, in reality reiterated in a veiled form the charges made by Mr. Labouchere against Dr. Harris. The committee put the question under advisement.

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain testified that he was convinced Dr. Harris had not said to him that a force of the British Chartered South Africa troops would be on the border ready to assist the Uitlanders if a rising occurred at Johannesburg. Touching the raid itself, Mr. Chamberlain said the moment a suggestion of the raid was brought to his notice he cabled to Cape Town telling Sir Hercules Robinson to warn Mr. Cecil Rhodes, who was then Premier of Cape Colony. But, Mr. Chamberlain explained, nobody, however unfriendly, would believe that he (Mr. Chamberlain) had any foreknowledge of the raid or of the preparations for the raid, in view of the fact that when suspicion was aroused he had not lost an instant in taking every possible means to defeat it.

The chairman, Mr. W. L. Jackson, here announced that the committee had heard all the evidence necessary in this part of the inquiry, except in the case of Lord Selborne, the Under Secretary of State for the Colonies, and son-in-law of the Marquis of Salisbury, who will testify on Friday next, when counsel will also be heard.

Von Tausch's Trial.

Berlin, June 1.—The trial of Herr von Tausch, the former chief of the Secret Police, was continued to-day. The prisoner is charged with perjury, high treason and forgery. Herr Hamann, a Councillor of Legation, testified to the discovery that Norman Shumann (an implicated newspaper man, who escaped from Berlin last year in time to avoid arrest, and prosecution with Baron von Luetzow), was the author of the dangerous article in the Paris and Brussels newspapers concerning the health of Emperor William of Germany, and the financial affairs of General Count von Caprivi, the former Chancellor. Herr Hamann said Von Tausch should have revealed these facts years before and he must have known the publication of the articles was a crime against the state.

The witness added that a former publisher of The Tageblatt informed him (Herr Hamann) that Von Tausch remarked to him (the former publisher) that General von Caprivi must be removed from the Chancellorship and be replaced by General Count von Waldersee.

London, June 1.—At the annual meeting of the International Arbitration and Peace Association of London here yesterday, Moncure D. Conway, Minister of the South Place Ethical Society, denounced the United States Senate for its rejection of the arbitration treaty and characterized it as a "rotten borough body" and "an anti-Republican relic." He said the United States would become a happy nation when that non-representative body was finally swept away. All the speakers expressed their regret at the action of the Senate.

To Welcome the Bishops.

London, June 1.—A largely attended public meeting was held last evening in the Shoreditch Town Hall to welcome the bishops, who have arrived here to attend the approaching Lambeth Conference. Among those present were the Bishops of New York and Minnesota. Bishop Potter of New York, in the course of an eloquent address, exhorted English Churchmen to a larger vision of their duties with respect to the ever-increasing responsibilities of the Anglo-Saxon race. Addresses were delivered by other visiting delegates.

THE ALIEN LABOR BILLS

Emasculated and Crippled by Mr. Davies.

THE MINISTER OF MARINE

Called the United States Law Infamous and Heathenish.

It is Recommended That the Bills Introduced by Messrs. Taylor and Cowan Shall Only be Effective on Proclamation by the Governor—Talk of Prorogation June 19—The Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railway Troubles Again Before the Committee—Toronto Employment Agent Sat Upon—General News From Ottawa.

Ottawa, June 1.—(Special.)—The special committee appointed to lick the alien labor bills of Mr. Taylor and Mr. Cowan into legislative shape met this morning and completed its work.

On the suggestion of Mr. Davies, Minister of Marine, who was chairman, the committee so emasculated and crippled the measure as to render it practically useless. Mr. Davies' clause was to the effect that the bill should only be put in operation by consent of the Attorney-General of Canada. Under the American law any person can prosecute.

Mr. Davies described the American law as an infamous and heathenish thing. This was the feeling produced by his recent careful examination of it.

Mr. Sifton (in a jocular mood): "I don't think, Mr. Chairman, you are fit to sit on this committee." [Laughter.]

Mr. Davies: I don't think I should. If I had known at the time I was appointed, I would not have been. He was of opinion that the act should only be put in force by future proclamation of the Government.

Mr. Cowan and Mr. Wood wanted the act to go in force if it passed.

Mr. Davies suggested a clause that the act should not come into force until a date fixed by the Governor-General.

The committee decided that the law would come into force when passed.

Mr. Sifton, Mr. Wood, Mr. Taylor, Mr. Casgrain and Mr. Cowan supported this, while Mr. Davies and Mr. Langelier wanted the act put in force by proclamation.

The bill will only apply to such countries as will have similar legislation against Canada.

Talk of Early Prorogation.

There is talk in the lobbies to-night of Parliament proroguing on the 19th inst., to enable most of the members to celebrate the jubilee at their own homes.

The T., H. & B. Bill Again.

The Railway Committee spent all morning on the Toronto, Hamilton & Buffalo Company's bill. The creditors again pressed for a cash deposit to cover the claims of the sub-contractors. Mr. Gibson, M.P., held that the Dominion Construction Company, which built the road, had disgraced the name of contractors. He moved that the act do not come into force until $150,000 be deposited to satisfy debts and claims upon the contractors and sub-contractors.

Mr. B. B. Osler, for the company, offered to deposit such a sum as would satisfy the claims of Canadian creditors.

After a fight that lasted until after 1 o'clock, the committee adopted Mr. Gibson's clause. Mr. Osler then withdrew the bill, remarking that he would warn American investors against putting any money in such Canadian ventures.

Safety of Railway Employes.

The special committee appointed by the House of Commons to report on bills proposed for the safety of railway employes continued its deliberations to-day, two conductors, Messrs. Mackenzie of St. Thomas and T. C. Jones of London being examined. A communication was received from Mr. Corbett of the Fort Sheppard Railway, with headquarters at Spokane, fully approving of the principle of the proposed legislation standing now in the name of Messrs. Casey and Maclean.

The evidence of the two gentlemen heard to-day was also strongly in favor of the bills.

Montreal and Quebec Pilots.

The bill for the incorporation of the pilots plying between Montreal and Quebec produced another lively fight before the Private Bills Committee. The steamship companies put in a denial to the statements that had been quoted against them at the last meeting of the committee. The committee proceeded to deal with the clauses, and the greater part of the bill of minor importance was struck out.

An Employment Agent "Soaked."

At the Ottawa Assizes to-day an action of considerable interest was decided, and one that will serve as an excellent precedent to protect workingmen from the designs of dishonest employment agencies. One Gilbert, a laboring man, and four others went to Toronto on the strength of representations from one Dunn, who assured them higher wages and most glittering promises of good times. The usual deposit had to be made, and on arrival in Toronto the promises failed to materialize. His Lordship allowed each plaintiff $41 damages, being sufficient to cover railway fares, hotel bills and wages for the time lost.

Personal and General.

Quite a number of Torontonians are in town to-day, among them J. K. Kerr, Q.C., B. B. Osler, Q.C., Alderman Preston, A. B. Aylesworth, Q.C., and J. C. Ritchie, Q.C.

Mr. Thomas Gibson, the veteran member of the Ontario Legislature, is in the city.

The Premier's Departure.

Mr. Laurier leaves here on Thursday morning at 8 o'clock for Montreal, where he will spend the day and proceed by the night train to New York, whence he sails by the Lucania Saturday.

He will be accompanied by Madam Laurier and his private secretary, Mr. Boudreau. Chief Justice Sir Henry Strong will also be a passenger by the Lucania and will be accompanied by his grandson, Mr. L. M. Lyon, who has been on The Globe staff in the gallery this session. Sir Henry will be sworn of the Privy Council while in England, and is expected to return to Ottawa in September.

WITH MILITARY HONORS.

Major Baldwin's Funeral Was a Great Testimony to the High Respect in Which He Was Held.

With full military honors the remains of the late Mayor James Buchanan Baldwin, M. D., were laid away yesterday afternoon in the family vault under the trees in St. James' Cemetery. The funeral took place from the family residence, 46 Avenue-road, where a large number of prominent people viewed the remains and paid a last tribute to one who was popular and much respected by all who knew him.

The funeral was under the direction of the Governor-General's Body Guard and a firing party of 16 men, and two non-coms. and Capt. Denison were present from that corps.

The Toronto Field Battery furnished one gun, Sergeant Johnson in command.

Service at the House.

At the residence the service was conducted by Rev. Septimus Jones of the Church of the Redeemer, assisted by Rev. A. H. Baldwin, a cousin of the deceased.

The chief mourners were Messrs. Kenneth J. and Carlyle B. Baldwin, sons of deceased; Messrs. St. George Baldwin, Russell Baldwin and Acmilius Baldwin, brothers; Messrs. Lawrence Baldwin, John Baldwin and Charles Baldwin, step-brothers; Hon. A. S. Hardy and Mr. J. O. Buchanan, brothers-in-law, and Messrs. Ernest, Harold, Benjamin, Lefroy and Curran Morrison, nephews.

The casket was carried from the house and placed upon the gun carriage, where it was enveloped in the Union Jack.

By Loving Comrades.

The pall-bearers, who wore the uniforms of their various corps and walked beside the gun carriage, were: Major Bruce, R.G.; Major Clarence Denison, G. G. B. G.; Major Cartwright, R. R. C. I.; Major Murray, Q. O. R.; Capt. Heward, R. C. D.; Capt. Merritt, G. G. B. G.; Major Mutton, Q. O. R.; Lieut. Shanly, R. G.

On top of the casket were the dead Major's sword and helmet, while his handsome black charger, led by two of the Body Guard, followed the remains of his master to the cemetery. In the stirrups were the deceased's riding boots and spurs in reversed position.

The cortege moved off, led by the Queen's Own Band, directed by Mr. Bayley. To the solemn, slow music is preceded the Rev. Mr. Jarvis, Wellesley and Parliament to the cemetery. Following the band was the firing party of the Guard. Then came the draped gun carriage and after that a long line of carriages containing sorrowing friends.

At St. James' Cemetery.

At the grave the service was conducted by the Rev. A. H. Baldwin, and which the casket had been lowered the selected party fired three volleys as a farewell to their late comrade, and those assembled around the vault dispersed, the soldiers marching back to the Armouries, accompanied by the band.

Among those who attended the obsequies were: Col. Otter, Dr. Lessile, Dr. Thorburn, Dr. O'Reilly, O. A. Howland, M. L. A., Dr. Ryerson, M. L. A., Dr. Nattress, Wm. Roaf, D. Rose, John Laidlaw, Dr. Richardson, Dr. Cassidy, Dr. Millburn, Commander Law, R. N., Major Hewitt, ex-Mayor Beaty, Capt. Irving, Chief of Police Grasett, Frank Somers, Mr. Justice Moss, P. M. Clark, Dr. Britton, Dr. Rose, Dr. Spencer, James Henderson, Hamilton MacCarthy, William Ramsay, Dr. Ballies, Widmer Hawke, Samuel Nordheimer, D. M. Defoe, Dr. Sprague, J. B. Lang and many other well-known citizens.

His Military Record.

Major James Buchanan Baldwin was a son of the late W. A. Baldwin of Mashquoteh, Toronto. He was a grandson of the late Dr. William W. Baldwin, and a nephew of the late Hon. Robert Baldwin. He was in his 58th year, having been born in Toronto July 14, 1839. In 1872 he married the second daughter of Hon. J. C. Morrison of the Court of Appeal. Major Baldwin was prominent in military circles, having been connected with the Second Dragoons, Niagara, of which regiment he was adjutant, and with the Governor-General's Body Guard, Toronto, of which he was ex-surgeon and paymaster. He was an active member of the Canadian Military Institute. He served in the Northwest Riel troubles in 1885. His death occurred at his residence on Sunday from congestion of the lungs after an illness of only two days.

Power Company Officials Had a Meeting and Discussed the Tunnel Scheme—Other Items of Interest.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 1.—(Special.)—The Power Company officials had a meeting at Niagara Falls, N.Y., to-day in reference to the Canadian tunnel. There was nothing definite done that they will give to the public. Mr. Rankine and Col. Shaw, when interviewed, said they did not know when the tunnel construction will be gone on with. The plans are being altered and perfected, and will then be submitted to the Park Commissioners. The commissioners, as yet, have not passed upon several portions of the former plans. Mr. Rankine further said the Michigan Central were making a big kick as to the placing of the power house. The railway company fear it will injure their view of the Falls from the escarpment at Falls View. This morning Charles F. Cox, Allyn Cox and J. B. Morford of the Michigan Central and J. N. Beckley of the T., H. & B., with Mr. Rankine, went in a private car to Falls View and formed their opinions on the subject.

MR. MOLSON'S REMAINS

Literally Ashes to Ashes and Dust to Dust.

THE CREMATION AT BOSTON

All That is Left of the Dead Millionaire is About a Quart.

The Furnace of the Massachusetts Cremation Society at West Roxbury Converted the Body to Ashes in Less Than an Hour—Mrs. Molson and Other Relatives Accompanied the Body to Boston and Witnessed the Solemn Operation of Reducing the Body—All the Constituents Except the Actual Ashes of the Body Went Away in the Flues.

Boston, Mass., June 1.—The mortal remains of the late J. H. R. Molson were resolved to their original elements by the agency of fire at the crematory of the Massachusetts Cremation Society at Forest Hill, West Roxbury, a suburb of this city, at noon to-day. The remains arrived here from Montreal shortly after 8 this morning, accompanied by some of the relatives of the deceased. In the party were: Mrs. Molson, widow of deceased; Miss Hill, H. Archibald, E. S. Archibald, E. W. Molson and H. Markland Molson. On arrival the case enclosing the casket and remains was entrusted to the care of Lewis Jones & Sons, undertakers of La Grande-street. Mrs. Molson and friends proceeded to the Hotel Brunswick, and at 11 o'clock re-assembled at the Union Station, and the casket having been transferred to a hearse, the cortege set out for the cemetery. This is situated in a lovely spot, some ten miles from the centre of the city, in a rolling, naturally-wooded country, where are situated a number of peaceful, well-kept cemeteries. The crematory itself occupies a pretty rustic property in a wealth of forest trees and wild flowers, and with an idea of care and refinement conveyed by the trim drives leading up to the quiet yet ornate little structure, and the well-kept lawn and fragrant flowering shrubs, just now in full bloom, surrounding it.

At the Crematory Door.

It was about noon when the remains of the late Mr. Molson were driven up to the crematory door, through rows of flowering rhododendrons and dentzies. The little steam engine in the rear apartment was in operation, the great flues in the stack were heated, and everything in readiness for the cremation. At the door stood a plain black catafalque on castors. The casket in which the remains had been brought from Montreal was at once taken out of the severely plain hearse and placed on top of the little black-draped bier, which was wheeled over to the floor of the retort nearest the door of the crematory.

Sorrowing Friends Followed.

A little group of sorrowing friends followed. They found themselves in a severely neat little apartment, say 15 by 20 feet, 15 feet high, tiled floor and tinted walls. The sun was shining through the open windows and gave a bright appearance while the chorus of the song birds without and the perfume of spring flowers pervading the whole place formed a marked contrast to the grief of the mourners assembled in the little apartment.

The breast plate having been removed by the undertakers' assistant to be later on affixed to a receptacle containing the ashes of the deceased, the casket was quietly rolled into the retort, the relatives taking the last look as the massive door closing the entrance was drawn down.

The retort is practically a long, arched fire-brick chamber, just large enough to accommodate a casket. In the case of Mr. Molson's remains the process occupied little more than an hour, after which the jets were turned off and the ashes and retort, which by this time was heated to a perfect white glow, were left to cool off.

Only About a Quart.

The ashes will be placed in a plain copper cylinder of about a quart capacity and taken back by the sorrowing friends to Montreal to-night or to-morrow.

The superintendent of the crematory states that all the constituents of the casket and the clothing, being lighter than the constituents of the body, are dissipated and delivered up the flues, all of the ashes left in the retort being human ashes, practically the mineral matter of the bones. The combustion of inorganic matter is complete and during cremation there is not the least visible discharge from the chimney.

Mrs. Molson and most of her friends returned to Boston about 1 o'clock.

Will It Be Divided?

It is now supposed that the delay in the appointment of Archbishop Fabre's successor has been caused by the revival in Rome of a plan advocated by the late Mgr. Fabre to sub-divide the Archdiocese of Montreal.
