Von Hindenburg.

It is not without reason that the London papers regard with satisfaction the crisis in Germany that has resulted in the dethronement of the royal favourite Falkenhayn and the elevation in his place of the popular idol Hindenburg. Not that there is cause for rejoicing in the appointment itself, for Hindenburg has given proof of far greater abilities than his rival; but there is a wealth of meaning in the mere fact that it was possible. Matters must be desperate indeed when popular feeling has acquired strength enough to bend and break the imperial will. Nor could the agitation have been confined to the people, great though their idolatry of Hindenburg is; it must have found considerable echo in the ranks of the army and in the supreme army councils. There is good reason to believe that it did. Last January Germany still strongly held the initiative and choice of directing it. Broadly, the choice lay between "finishing Russia" and breaking through in the West. She chose wrongly, disastrously. Verdun was the colossal blunder of the war. It was followed by another almost as great, the "Trentino offensive." To both adventures Hindenburg was strongly opposed, and their failure has vindicated his judgment. It is the hour of his triumph, but a triumph that brings with it the fruits of the errors he sought to prevent.

The surmises of the London papers concerning his immediate plans, though merely conjectures, are founded upon a good knowledge of his methods and strategy. Two prophecies, radically different, are made. One is that he will put into execution his pet project of an offensive from Riga towards Petrograd; the other that he will set about the now necessary task of conserving Germany's waning strength by shortening her far-flung lines. We think the former can be dismissed as too improbable. It is six months too late. We need not concern ourselves to speculate what would have happened if Hindenburg had had his way when he wanted it; it is enough that he did not, and that Russia has come back in the south with such effect that we have won Roumania, and probably Greece, over to our side. Austria's plight is such that once appreciable progress is made by Russia and Roumania south of the Carpathians, the armies north of them must fall back. Lemberg will be evacuated and as a consequence Kovel also. The extreme danger, therefore, of pushing the attenuated line from Riga to Brest Litovsk further east is apparent. Rather do we expect to see the whole line fall back very soon to a much stronger defensive position, because a much shorter one.

The other alternative, a falling back in the West, is far more probable—in fact, it will have to come sooner or later. And we can well believe that it will need a personality like Hindenburg's to still the German people while the process is going on. The most interesting question to the Allies is how far such a retirement can be carried out, and with what success. It is familiar enough in the East, but there has been nothing of the sort on the very different Western front since it first assumed the position that it has preserved almost unaltered for two years. If the Germans withdraw from the salient on the Somme, say from Arras to St. Quentin, they may carry out the movement successfully and take up another and shorter position. On the other hand, it may not be so easy. It cannot be done without much of the material for which the Allies are spilling. The moral effect upon Germany of such an admission of defeat would be tremendous; what remains to be seen is whether the British and French could add to it a military effect which would not need the assistance of any other factor whatever to bring about the complete overthrow of the German arms in the field.

Rev. Bro. Kennedy.

We understand that Rev. Bro. A. P. Kennedy, of the Mount St. Francis Order of Christian Brothers, will be leaving here permanently, either tomorrow evening by the Red Cross steamer or by Sunday's express, en route to New York, where he has been appointed a member of the Executive Council of the Mount St. Francis Order of Christian Brothers, which is the best known and esteemed Christian Brother in the country. He taught school here for thirty-three years, during which period he was Superior of the Order for several years. He made countless friends in the community amongst all classes and walks of life, and who always sought and cherished his kindly advice. However, his loss here will be a gain elsewhere. Bro. Kennedy's many friends wish him a fond goodbye and God-speed.

Canada Not Yet Exhausted.

Krenz Zeitung (Berlin).—We must warn the public against looking at the situation too optimistically. England has developed during this war a vigour and energy such as she never has shown before in her history, not even in the Napoleonic wars. Her friends are exhausted, but she is not. Herr Morant believes that this is a war of exhaustion against England; that she cannot produce more recruits than are necessary to drag the war along; that India can hardly provide more recruits than are required to fight in Mesopotamia, Egypt and Salonika; and that Canada and Australia are already exhausted of men. This view to say the least, is optimistic out of all proportion to reality. There are no grounds at all to warrant the conclusion that Canada cannot send any more troops; on the contrary, the dispatch of troops from the Colonies still continues. Besides, South Africa will also send troops to Europe immediately the campaign in East Africa is finished. It is not without reason that British statesmen speak of the rich sources of supply in men and material within the Empire. England, moreover, is still very strong as regards finances, and even Russia and Italy are not yet exhausted financially. We must pay no attention to any rumors about England's "exhaustion" until there are positive signs of it. Not merely are any such signs quite lacking at this moment, but on the contrary everything goes to show that England is still resolved to go on fighting with all her might.

Caught Red Handed.

Shortly before last midnight a 40 year old laborer was caught getting away with a full barrel of corned beef from the store of James C. Baird, on George Street, by Sergeant Savage and Constable Simmons, who had been lying in ambush for the burglar, and pounced upon him when they saw their own time. The accused was brought to the look-out; what remains to be seen is whether the British and French could add to it a military effect which

H. J. B. Woods.

One of St. John's most exemplary citizens in the person of Hon. Henry J. B. Woods entered into his rest early this morning at his residence on King's Bridge Road. Jaundice was his complaint and he suffered from many severe attacks during late years. Deceased reached the advanced age of 73 and his lengthy career was marked by honour and integrity. Born in St. John's, October 20th, 1842, he was the son of the late John and Mrs. Woods. He was educated at the General Protestant Academy. He first received his commercial training in the office of W. H. Thomas & Co., later entering the office of his father, Mr. John Woods, who was at one time here a large ship-owner, coal merchant and lumber dealer. In 1880 he became a partner in the firm which subsequently did business as John Woods & Son. Then Mr. Woods entered the political arena and was twice elected in the Whiteway Government as representative for Bay de Verde district and appointed to the Executive Council with the portfolio of Surveyor-General. Some fifteen years ago he retired from public life and accepted the position of Postmaster-General, which important post he filled with credit and efficiency up to the hour of his demise. In fact it may be said that he died in harness. Mr. Woods was recognized in his community as a man of ripe experience, keen observation and withal a high character. There was no more active worker in the city. He was prominently identified with Newfoundland Methodism and held the responsible position of Hon. Secretary to the Board of Governors of the Methodist College for nearly a half century and was one of the most active workers for the well being of that institution. He was an active member of Cochrane Street Methodist Church and was Secretary for many years of the St. John's and Newfoundland Auxiliary Bible Society. Mr. Woods also occupied the position of Superintendent of the large and flourishing Sunday-School associated with Cochrane Street Church since its inception in 1882. His estimable wife, who is still living, was Maxima, daughter of the late John Bemister, Sheriff of the Northern District and for many years member of the Executive Government of this country and Receiver-General, under the Hoyles and Carter administrations. He is also survived by three brothers, Sydney and Charles of this city and Rev. Alfred Woods, of Boston, Mass.; two sisters, Mrs. William Bulley, of the Western States, and Mrs. Joseph Pippy, of this city. Also seven daughters, Miss Milcent Woods, Mrs. Arthur Peters, Mrs. Arthur Mews, Mrs. A. Marshall, Mrs. E. Lindsay, Mrs. (Rev.) Peter Bryce and Mrs. (Rev.) Rice, besides a large circle of friends. The Telegram extends its deepest sympathy to the bereaved family.

A Pimply Face or Poor Complexion Quickly Restored

Thousands of young men and women would be handsome and attractive were it not for unsightly pimples, blackheads, and rough uneven skin. Custom seems to recommend lotions and salves, but unfortunately their effect is but temporary. These disgusting blemishes do not originate in the skin—their birth in every case goes further back, to the blood, which must be cleansed of humors before the pimples depart for good.

A physician who has made a careful study of such cases, says that the quickest cures come from a blood-building medicine like Ferrozone. The minute Ferrozone strikes the blood its good work begins. Poisons and foul matter are expelled. Every trace of humor is driven out, and the whole life current is supplied with nutriment and health giving qualities. You can always tell a Ferrozone complexion when you see it—the cheeks are clear and rosy, no signs of sallowness—the eyes are bright and expressive because rich, red blood is circulating through the whole system carrying health, energy, and strength with it. Not only will all skin eruptions disappear, but an increase in vitality, strength, and all-round improvement will be apparent. No rebuilding tonic could be more efficient. Get Ferrozone to-day—Good for young and old, for well folks and sick ones, too. 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or direct by mail from The Catarrhose Co., Kingston, Ont.

German Prisoners Recaptured

One Declined to Surrender and was Shot Dead.

Amherst, August 25.—Three of the German prisoners, who escaped on Wednesday from the train while being conveyed to the government experimental farm, have been caught. One was secured last night on the road near Nappan. To-day the farm party were sent out as usual with the guards, in charge of Lieutenant White. A sharp watch was kept, and Lieutenant White discovered that after their dinner, which is prepared at the cook house, quite a quantity of food was left. He at once got in communication with Colonel Morris, the officer commanding, who instructed him to quietly have three men on guard. The men concealed themselves in the cook house, and within twenty minutes after the party had left, two of the escaped men came out of the nearby woods and opened the door only to be met by the armed guard, who ordered them to surrender. One of them did so, but the other, though repeatedly warned and ordered to stop, made for the woods, where one of the guards shot him through the heart, killing him instantly.

The four men who escaped belonged to the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm. One of them, August Meyer, was one of the men recaptured after tunnelling their way out last January.

POLICE COURT (Before Mr. Morris, J.P.)—A stoker, charged with desertion, was discharged. A 40-year-old laborer of James' Street, charged with larceny, was fined $10 or 30 days. A laborer of Lime Street, drunk, his 6th offence, was fined $2 or 10 days. Several civil cases were disposed of in the Central District Court.

Let's End That Corn!

Apply a little Blue-jay plaster. That brings a wonderful wax in touch with the corn, and protects it. This wax was invented by a chemist who has spent 25 years studying corns.

Tomorrow

You'll forget the corn. Blue-jay ends all pain. It will prove to you that all corn pains are needless. You can stop them in an instant—and forever—with a Blue-jay. You will always do that when you know the facts.

Next Day

The corn will disappear for good. And no soreness follows. Blue-jay has proved that on 70 million corns. It will prove to you, we promise. After that, you will never keep a corn.
