A public meeting of the ratepayers has been called for Tuesday evening next to discuss the proposed electric light bylaw. The Council have given the bylaw two readings, which provides for an annual payment of $515.07 for 29 years on engine and plant, which, including coal amounting to $400, will make the actual cost $1215.07 per year. It is now thought that by purchasing the woollen mill property and extending the period of payment over 30 years that the saving by running the plant by water power would enable it to be operated for $867.19 per annum, and in addition to the electric lighting the town would have the means at its disposal for supplying water for fire and street sprinkling purposes. By this scheme the village would also have a valuable asset in the mill, a 200 horse power engine, two force pumps, main shafting and belting. It is these two schemes which will be considered on Tuesday night.

PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS.

A Real English Drama.

The dramatic season will gain new impetus next week by the production of "London Life" at the Toronto Opera House. Considerable interest attaches to this production for the reason that the play was a big success in England, and theatre-going London is reported to have crowded the Prince of Wales Theatre for four consecutive months. If the play justifies the reports of its merit, Toronto theatregoers should take kindly to it. "London Life" is described as having a piquant atmosphere, action, with lots of touch and go, and scenes that are alternately humorous and pathetic. As regards "London Life," it is quite enough to say that the plot turns on the schemes of a couple of cool, brainy adventurers, who have succeeded in enmeshing an English baronet, Sir George Ferrers. His daughter Gladys discovers the true nature of these smooth-spoken scoundrels and is only restrained from unmasking them by the fear that the shock of the discovery would kill her father. Sir George cannot understand his daughter's antipathy to these people and they so prejudice him against her that Sir George drives her from his home. Gladys is not without resources, however, for she has a staunch friend in Happy Jack, a warm-hearted fellow, who is himself a gentleman and a man of breeding, but has suffered reverses of fortune through the machinations of the same villainous pair who are responsible for Gladys' misfortunes. Throughout the remainder of the play Happy Jack employs his wit and courage in circumventing his enemies and restoring Gladys to her ancestral home.

This brief outline of the plot of "London Life" will suffice to show that the play is an intensely interesting one.

"London Life" will have the additional advantage of an elaborate scenic production. Messrs. Murray & Long, the managers of the enterprise, have spared no expense in presenting the play with absolute artistic perfection.

The play will be given with a promising cast, which includes two clever children, Master Martie and Little Primrose. They are said to be precocious to an almost preternatural degree. Attractive musical features are also promised, including two characteristic quartets, the Newsboy Nightingales and the Costermonger Choristers. The famous Gardner Brothers will also be seen in a musical specialty of their own creation. Little Dick Gardner, by the way, holds the championship as a baton manipulator and drum-major expert.

Altogether, it is safe to predict that "London Life" will prove a thoroughly entertaining production—one that is sure to appeal to all classes of theatregoers.

At Shea's Theatre.

If the opening week is any indication of Toronto people's appreciation of high-class vaudeville, then Shea's Theatre, from the initial performance, is a certain success. The audiences have been larger at every show, last night there being hardly a vacant chair. Mr. Shea is exceedingly gratified at his reception by the Toronto public and promises to make and keep this cosy amusement resort sparkling with the brightest he can bill, taking scrupulous care to have every act every week high-class and clean. Next week's show is a strong one and ought to pack the house, afternoon and evening at every performance.

The three Ronays will perhaps be the star act, three pretty blondes, handsomely costumed, a little on the bloomer order, do a unique musical act on all kinds of weird musical instruments, a feature of the act being the musical ladder.

Mme. Mary Arnistis holds five men on her arms at one time and uses her arms as a supporter in a "teeter-totter," in which her husband assists her.

The Todd Judge family, father and two sons, do a wonderful acrobatic act; 17-year-old Mige Judge is a wonder of physical development.

Zaelle and Vernon do a double bar comedy act, one made up as a clown, the other as a "real English gentleman."

The Wilson family are heralded as real coons, red-hot dancers, singers and cake walkers.

A. O. Duncan, ventriloquist, can hold his own with the best of them.

The ladies' quartette are artists of a high order and will be heard in classic selections and popular songs.

Last, but not least, Leonidas' cats and dogs' circus are billed for another week; always wait till you see them.

Every act is clean, bright and well-staged.

At the Princess.

The Cummings Stock Company will present Nat Goodwin's well-known comedy-drama, "A Gold Mine," next week (a very appropriate attraction for this theatre, by the way), with Mr. Ralph E. Cummings as Silas K. Woolcott, the role which Nat Goodwin appeared here in, in this play at the Grand Opera House several years ago. "A Gold Mine" is still remembered by those who saw it, for it is a play of that natural humanity, wit and humor that cannot be forgotten. It is regarded as one of the very best comedy-dramas of the stage; if it were not, Nat Goodwin never would have played it, and it is of that refined, clean and wholesome class which has established the Cummings organization in Toronto. Mr. Ralph Cummings will have, as Woolcott of Grass Valley, California, a role that he has already mastered with considerable success, according to the Detroit critics, who all seem to join in praising Mr. Cummings' portrayal of this character. The play is to be staged precisely as Mr. Goodwin staged it here before, from the original plates, and Mr. Louis Fetz, the scenic artist, will, it is said, exhibit some very pretty scenes. Miss Florence Stone appears as Lady Meredith, Miss Marshall as Una Foxwood, Mr. Frazier as an English M. P., with the balance of the company, who are said to be splendidly suited to the play, well cast. The advance sale of seats for this play is reported large, and it is expected that "A Gold Mine" will prove as attractive as ever before.

Bert Coote's Laugh Makers.

It is so seldom that Toronto is chosen for the premiere of a new play that the announcement that the distinguished comedian, Mr. Bert Coote, will present at the Grand Opera House during his coming engagement, for the first time on any stage, an entirely new and original farcical comedy comes with considerable interest to local theatregoers. The new piece, which is from the pen of Willis Maxwell Goodhue, is said to be the best vehicle for Mr. Coote's peculiar talents in which that gentleman has yet been seen. It is said to be fresh and unhackneyed in theme, and its complications entirely different from anything which has yet been presented in the farce-comedy line. As Mr. Coote will shortly commence a long New York run with "A Battle-Scarred Hero," his company has been selected with great care and contains in its ranks such notable names as Miss Julie Kingsley, Miss Elizabeth Woodson, Miss Minnie Monk, Miss Marion Watts, Mr. George Macomber, Mr. Nelson Lewis, Mr. D. F. Brine, Mr. Frank D. Glenn, Mr. Charles W. Macdonald, Mr. M. Wilber Dyer and others of equal reputation. Mr. Coote's engagement at the Grand Opera House will open Thursday evening, with the perennial success, "The New Boy," which will be repeated on Friday night and at the Saturday matinee, at which performance 25c and 50c will admit to the best seats, while on Saturday evening the new piece will be the bill. Sale of seats will open at the box office Tuesday morning, and it will behoove those desiring choice sittings to make an early application.

"Shore Acres" will have two presentations to-day at the Grand, at 2.15 and 8.15.

At the Bijou.

The Bijou Theatre will present "The Merry Widows," a burlesque, as the bill for next week. In the cast is Miss Alice Thompson, who is said to weigh 480 pounds. The specialty part of the program is said to be exceptionally strong, with many mirth-provoking skits. There will be two performances daily, at 2.15 and 8 p.m.

At the Empire.

Next week those who attend the little Empire Theatre are sure to be delighted. Many are the attractions: Seaman and Monti, comedy and vocalism; Fern Hefron, the world's greatest one-legged singer, dancer and high-kicker; little Floe Gilbert; Gertrude Clemens and Genevieve McLeod, in "A Modern Elopement"; Williams and Melbourne, entertainers. The show will open with a female minstrel first part, concluding with a burlesque surpassing anything ever seen here before.

The act of the little girl on the trapeze at this theatre this week is one of the cleverest ever seen in Toronto. There will be two performances to-day, at 2 and 8 p.m.
