LIVE STOCK MARKET

In the early part of the day trading at the Union Stock Yards yesterday was pretty slow and with a heavy run, 3296 head all told, the outlook for an early clean up was not very promising, and as a matter of fact there were between 400 and 500 cattle left over, but the prices did not react so severely as some people were inclined to suppose.

We would say briefly that there was a fairly liberal supply of cattle, with the quality generally common to fair, with a good enquiry for the well-finished class, and with the market for most butcher cattle 25c per cwt. lower. The cow trade was good and bulls were steady with a fair enquiry for stockers and feeders, and with prospects about steady for the balance of the week.

There was no particular decline in the price of choice cattle, as the prices paid and printed in The World will plainly indicate, but there are too many of the big rough, unfinished cattle coming on the market, and the cut which we have said was 25c per cwt. was directed chiefly against this class of cattle. The farmers are finishing their cattle as in other years in view of the high existing and prospective price of grain, and while ensilage and roots are excellent aids there is no doubt about it the cattle are not getting as much grain as formerly.

Whether this is the part of wisdom or not is a matter of opinion, but the effects are shown in the percentages as indicated in the returns from the packing houses.

There were individual cases where the decline was more marked and where 25c per cwt. would not be a fair estimate, but taken all round we would say that the market yesterday all round would average up about 25c of a loss from last week, and that's saying quite a bit.

Sheep, Lambs and Calves.

There was a fair run of sheep, lambs and calves, not a big run, 223 calves and 215 sheep and lambs, and the market held steady all round. There were some who thought the calf trade was off from 25c to 40c, but the general opinion and as shown in the sales indicate pretty satisfactory prices all round.

Hogs.

The run of hogs was 1335 head all told, and the price held steady at 19¾c fed and watered, and 20c weighed off. There were higher prices paid, one lot of 25 at $19.90 fed and watered, but that was not a representative sale, and for an extra choice lot, The outlook is for easier prices and the reaction will, it is said, amount to a cut of 50c, but time will tell.

Special Market Notes.

W. J. Neely, buyer for the Matthews-Blackwell, and one of the best known men on the cattle exchange, wants it clearly understood that he is not the Mr. Neely prominently identified with the British Cattle Supply Company. Mr. Neely is not now, nor has at any time been associated in any way with the British Cattle Supply Company.

The outlook for the Breeders' combination sale of Clydesdale and Percheron mares and stallions at the Union Stock Yards Horse Exchange today and tomorrow will be a big event. A great number of visitors inspected the lot yesterday and were highly pleased with the excellent quality of the horses. Walter Harland Smith will conduct the sale.
