ROCKEFELLER TOO SMOOTH FOR LAWYER

The witness then identified one of the Waters Pierce proxies which he had signed.

"Is there anything on the face of that proxy to indicate how you are voting?" he was asked.

"Here is one of many proxies—" began the witness.

"You are not answering the question," interrupted Mr. Untermyer.

"I signed this proxy because it came from some of the reorganizers of the Standard Oil Company," replied Mr. Rockefeller. "I assumed that these persons were the ones that were carrying out the mandates of the court."

The Waters Pierce attorney wanted to know what individuals he had in mind. As Mr. Rockefeller started to answer, Mr. Untermyer said sharply: "Name them."

Attorney Murray interposed an objection that Mr. Untermyer was not questioning the witness in a gentlemanly manner.

Could Protect Himself.

"Mr. Rockefeller is quite capable of protecting himself," retorted Mr. Undermyer.

The witness then named Mr. Moeffat, Mr. Bedford, Mr. Pratt, Mr. Archbold and Mr. Jennings as those who were engaged in reorganization of the Standard Oil Company. "I looked upon them as a group of men," he explained, "who were conducting the reorganization. I assumed that these gentlemen, familiar with the oil business, knew what was best and as I did not know what was best, I had to accept their judgment."

Previous testimony at the hearing had shown that Mr. Rockefeller's holdings of Waters Pierce stock amounted to about one-quarter of the total, were turned over to be voted in favor of Standard Oil men as officers of the Waters Pierce Company. His proxies and the name of other Standard Oil directors were turned down by the inspectors at the election of St. Louis last February, on the ground that to vote them would have been in violation of the decree of the United States supreme court dissolving the Standard Oil Company and of the decision of the supreme court of Missouri ousting the Standard Oil Company of Indiana from the former state. This brought on the present suit.

"Did you understand that the holdings of these gentlemen added to your own constituted a control of the Waters Pierce Company?" continued Mr. Untermyer.

"I know that the Pierce interest did not have a control and that my holdings liberated would give the gentlemen whose interests were outside of Mr. Pierce's, a control."

"You have not answered my question."

"I am unable to tell all the holdings of these gentlemen," said the witness firmly.

"Mr. Rockefeller," almost shouted Mr. Untermyer. "If we have got to stay here all night we will, because I am going to have my questions answered.

No Calculations.

"I didn't make any calculation. I made no study at all. I knew merely that the aggregate of these outside holdings was in the neighborhood of 70 per cent."

"That does not answer my question. Did you know that the holdings of these men in charge of the Standard Oil reorganization added to yours, made a majority of the Waters Pierce stock? repeated Mr. Untermyer.

"I never made a computation," said Mr. Rockefeller.

"You will answer this question before we get through," threatened Mr. Untermyer. "Did you ever read the dissolution decree of the United States court in the Standard Oil suit?"

"I don't think so," replied Mr. Rockefeller.

"Ever had it explained to you?"

"I think I have, in a general way," said the oil magnate quietly.

He added that he was a busy man.

"I submit," said Mr. Untermyer, "that I am not getting proper answers to these questions. I am unable to get a categorical answer to a single one. The witness is going far afield and making speeches. But, I am going to get an answer if I have to stay here all night," he reiterated.

"It is not intentional," replied the witness. "I am trying to answer the best I can." Mr. Rockefeller spoke in a soft and well modulated voice and was not perturbed, apparently by the grilling of the Waters Pierce attorney.

"If we asked Mr. Rockefeller if the sun was shining outside, Mr. Rockefeller wouldn't give a direct answer. "He would say moon was about to rise instead." Mr. Untermyer then continued to grill the witness as to his knowledge of the names on any of the various proxies he had signed. "My recollection would be that there would be some directors," answered the witness.

"How was it possible for the names on these proxies to indicate for whom they were going to vote."

Mr. Rockefeller admitted that he didn't know specifically.

Skin Disorders In the Spring

To old and young, rich and poor alike there come disfiguring, annoying, itching skin diseases. There are many theories as to the cause of skin diseases, but one thing is certain: you can cure them with Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Relief from the itching, burning sensations comes almost directly after the ointment is applied, and with a little patient treatment the sores are healed up and entirely disappear.

Mr. John A. Creech, postmaster, Randwick, Simcoe county, Ont., writes: "I was a great sufferer from eczema or salt rheum. My hands and face were covered with itching skin eruptions and though I used many different remedies I could get no relief. Finally I was recommended to try Dr. Chase's Ointment and am thankful to say that it has completely cured me. You may publish this for the benefit of others suffering as I did."

FOUR STRONG MEN CHOSEN FOR CITY

As a consideration, the C. P. R. agreed to bring out 50,000 tons of coal from Queens county for railway purposes alone. That was a development of some importance for which Mr. Flemming could claim credit.

Performance Rather Than Promise.

Running through the actions of the present government was a principle which never found expression in the old administration—the principle of performance first, last and all the time.

"Take the highways. I don't say that the roads all over the province are perfect. When the government came into power, they found the roads in a desperate condition, and it will take some time to put them all in first class shape."

Continuing Mr. Baxter pointed out that the government had redeemed its promise anent the protection of the finances of the province by the adoption of the audit act which made the auditor an independent official, only removable by a two-thirds vote of the legislature.

At this point the scrutineers came in with the result of the first ballot, and the Colonel concluded his speech.

The First Ballot.

The chairman then announced the results as follows:

Wilson, 133; Lockhart, 86; Grannan, 72; Tilley, 53; Potts, 51; Armstrong, 50; Mullin, 34; Harrison, 37; Elliott, 34; Chesley, 31; Inches, 7.

Mr. Wilson and Mr. Lockhart having a majority of the votes cast were declared elected as candidates and the delegates proceeded to ballot for two other candidates.

Warden Carson Heard.

Warden T. B. Carson then delivered a brief address. He said he was much pleased with the honor conferred upon him, and was much gratified to have Mr. Baxter for his colleague. He did not like the idea of speaking, and thought that with Mr. Baxter in the field he would be able to sit back and let Mr. Baxter do all the talking. Mr. Baxter was a good talker, and had all the points.

Continuing Mr. Carson said the party always expected a hard fight in the county, but this time things would be smoother for them by the fact that they represented a government which had made good, and had done much for the county.

Mr. Carson then dealt briefly with the road policy of the government. His remarks were well received.

Applause for John E. Wilson.

John E. Wilson was the next speaker. He expressed regret at the retirement of the colleagues with whom he had stood shoulder to shoulder in the fight for good government for the last four years. He felt grateful for the confidence shown him by the convention in selecting him as one of the standard bearers and promised to do his utmost to justify that confidence. He predicted that the government would be returned by a large majority and that its candidates in St. John would be elected by large majorities. The government had fulfilled all the pledges made in 1908 and had shown itself determined to promote the interests of the people It might be all right for some newspapers to publish wild statements, but in the legislature the opposition had not been able to put its finger upon a single act of wrong doing on the part of the government. Continuing Mr. Wilson referred to the Compensation Act adopted by the government, pointed out the great advantage it was to the working classes, and declared that the government which had adopted such legislation deserved and would no doubt receive the support of the workingmen of the province.

The Second Ballot.

The result of the second ballot was then announced as follows:

Grannan, 68; Potts, 45; Tilley, 43; Armstrong, 40; Elliott, 28; Mullin, 25; Harrison, 28; Chesley, 18.

According to the resolution this ballot made no choice. Mr. Chesley's name was dropped and that of Mr. Elliott was withdrawn at his own request and the delegates proceeded to vote again.

C. B. Lockhart.

C. B. Lockhart was then called upon for a speech. He said the nomination was not his seeking, but he appreciated the honor from the bottom of his heart. He thought any man would be proud to be the nominee of such a large and representative convention. He was proud to belong to a party which was represented by such a government as had administered the affairs of the province for the last few years. He did not think any honest man could get up and say the Hazen-Flemming government had not carried out its pledges and managed the public affairs in an able and honest manner. He felt satisfied that as candidates of such a government, he and his colleagues would be sure of election.

Continuing, Mr. Lockhart dealt with the road policy of the government, pointing out its good results and remarking that even city people were interested in having good country roads. In conclusion he referred to the government's work in instituting an honest method of collecting the public revenues.

The Third Ballot.

The result of the third ballot was announced as follows:

Grannan, 78; Potts, 65; Armstrong, 45; Tilley, 43; Harrison, 23; Mullin, 21.

The chairman declared Mr. Grannan elected, the name of Mr. Mullin was dropped and another vote was taken to elect the fourth candidate.

Other Speakers.

Dr. Walker, the next speaker, said it appeared to him that there was just one issue before the people, and that was whether they should support the government or go back to the men who had misgoverned the province for years. The present government had given the province good and honest administration, and had done nothing to forfeit the confidence given it by the people of St. John four years ago.

Major F. H. Hartt made a brief speech, urging the delegates to play the game, and go down into the wards and work whole-heartedly for the support of the ticket.

The Fourth Ballot.

The result of the fourth ballot was then announced as follows:

Potts, 68; Tilley, 44; Armstrong, 27; Harrison, 13.

As none had a majority, another ballot was taken, Mr. Harrison's name being dropped.

Mr. Tilley Chosen.

The result of the fifth ballot was as follows:

Potts, 74; Tilley, 70; Armstrong, 11.

As 78 was necessary to a choice, another vote was taken on the names of Potts and Tilley, and resulted as follows: Tilley, 76; Potts, 74.

The gathering then broke up.

BAXTER AND CARSON THE MEN IN COUNTY

ernment came into power and a significant thing in connection with that investigation was that it had disclosed that A. B. Copp, the present leader of the opposition, had received $1,425 for alleged services, but no one was able to tell what they were. Another significant feature was that there was an item in the books "W. P. $5,000," that no one could explain.

The speaker thought that before Mr. Pugsley presumes to criticize the management of the Central Railway at the present time he should go into some dark corner where he could blush unseen at the scandalous record left by Pugsley and Tweedie in connection with that road.

Better Roads and Bridges.

He then referred to the improvement made in the public bridges and the fact that the people could be sure that they were getting a bridge for every one they paid for. Under the old government the people were forced to pay two or three or even seven times the price of bridges for every one they got. Now, however, the public bridges are being constructed at the actual cost price.

Referring to the St. John Valley Railway he said that while he did not wish to indulge in a Pugsley-like promise, still he thought he could say with safety that he had the assurance of the premier that before the construction of the Valley Railway was completed a survey would be made in the vicinity of Loch Lomond and if found at all feasible an effort might be made to furnish railway facilities to the people in that locality. He did not wish to state this definitely but he was sure that an effort would be made to see what could be done.

In conclusion Col. Baxter exhorted the supporters of the government to work hard in the cause of good government and predicted the election of the two members for the county of St. John as well as the whole ticket in the city. At the conclusion of his address Col. Baxter was greeted with loud applause.

Warden Carson Speaks.

Warden T. B. Carson when called upon accepted the nomination in a brief speech. He said he was particularly interested in the roads of the county and that if elected he would do his utmost to continue the policy of improving the highways which had so effectively been put in force by the present government after the quarter century of neglect on the part of their predecessors.

A. H. Clarke also spoke briefly and promised to use his efforts in behalf of both candidates and predicted their election. He had been told that Col. Baxter would leave the county and run in the city in the general election being afraid to meet his opponents in the county but he assured the meeting that any fears there were in the county were held by the enemy who were already ready to crawl into their holes to avoid the judgment of the 20th.

John E. Wilson also spoke briefly, bearing testimony to the valuable work accomplished by Col. Baxter in the last session of the House. Efforts had been made to get Col. Baxter to run in the city on account of the great strength he would be to the ticket, but Col. Baxter had refused all such overtures. He congratulated the convention on their choice and predicted their election.

Brief addresses were also made by W. J. Patterson, who pronounced himself a life-long Liberal who had come to support the government party on account of their progressive policy and honest administration, John McDonald, Jr., and Coun. Shillington.

A resolution of confidence in Premier Flemming and his government was passed amid hearty cheers and the convention adjourned.

The convention throughout showed a fine spirit and there is no doubt that the government forces in the county are united as never before in the determination to elect the whole ticket.

OPPOSITION HAS NO CHANCE IN QUEENS

S. Sherwin Peters Says They Cannot Even Locate a Candidate - One Man Would Run for a Consideration.

T. Sherwin Peters, of Gagetown, was in the city yesterday. Speaking of the political situation in Queens county he said there was no doubt that the government candidates would be returned.

"It rather looks as if they would be returned by acclamation," he added. "The opposition is at a loss to find candidates. Only two men have been mentioned as possibilities, and one of these informed those who waited on him that he would not think of running, unless they were ready to put up $10,000. The people of Queens county are well satisfied with the government and do not want a change."

TEMPERANCE FORCES TO ENTER THE FRAY

Candidates for Provincial Legislature will be Asked to Pledge Themselves to Prohibition Cause.

With the entrance of the Temperance Federation into the political field, the coming contest promises to assume a lively aspect. The decision of the temperance people to take a hand in the proceedings was definitely reached at a meeting held last night in the Christadelphian Hall, Union St. The meeting was presided over by Rev. H. R. Boyer, and was attended by a large gathering of the members, about ten of the local clergy being present.

That the Temperance Federation intend to go into the fight determined to carry their point, is evidenced by the appointment of committees to effect a perfect organization of the temperance forces. The committees to assume direction of the different phases of the work of the campaign include a publicity committee with E. N. Stockford as chairman; a committee to arrange for public meetings, with C. F. McTavish at the head; an organization committee headed by Rev. H. E. Thomas, while the financing of the campaign will be in charge of a committee under the direction of J. Willard Smith.

The meeting last evening was a most enthusiastic one, and after discussing the pros and cons of the situation, a standing vote was taken on the part the Federation should take in the campaign, resulting in a unanimous decision to canvass the support of the candidates chosen by both parties to pledge themselves in the event of their election to secure legislation for a province-wide prohibition law. The Federation voted to endeavor to secure the support of all the candidates for election, irrespective of party politics, and to throw the balance of their power on the side of those candidates who will pledge themselves to use their influence, if elected, to secure the legislation which the temperance people desire. For those candidates, however, who refuse to make prohibition one of the planks of their platform, the Federation promises to make things lively and to oppose their election with all their efforts.

The meeting lasted for over two hours and a half, during which period plans for organization were discussed. After the session one of the leaders of the movement stated that the Federation will go into the fight determined to use every effort to win their point. A strenuous campaign will be waged; all the influence which the Federation commands will be brought to bear in favor of the candidates who are sufficiently in sympathy with the aims of the temperance people to promise their support in behalf of securing prohibitory legislation as regards the liquor traffic, while the election of those who will not pledge themselves to the measure will be strongly opposed. The organization work will begin immediately and the Federation will enter the fight with a will.

THE FORMER CANDIDATES WILL NOT RUN

Osman and Ryan Decline Opposition Nomination in Albert County.

Copp Comes to the Rescue and W. J. Carnworth Also Consents to Run — Emmerson There Too.

Special to The Standard.

Albert, N. B., May 28.—The opposition convention met in Riverside Hall at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Every parish in the county was represented. The chair was taken by Ex-Governor McClellan. C. J. Osman and S. S. Ryan, the late members, drove down together and Mayor Robinson brought Hon. H. R. Emmerson and A. B. Copp in his touring car.

The chairman having briefly explained the object of the meeting, a committee was named to nominate two candidates to contest the county of Albert in opposition to the Flemming government.

Before the committee retired Mr. Osman stated to the meeting that he wished it to be understood that he could not allow his name to go before the convention. As he had promised the officers of the Albert Manufacturing Company that if they would rebuild the plaster mills at Hillsboro, he would give their business his undivided attention, he wished to be considered out of politics.

Mr. Ryan followed Mr. Osman and stated that he also for good and sufficient reasons could not accept the nomination even though it were tendered to him.

The committee then retired and Mr. Emmerson entertained the electors present with an address. The committee returned and named as their candidates A. B. Copp, of Sackville, Westmorland county, and Wm. John Carnworth, ex-Postmaster and merchant of Riverside. The names were well received by the convention and were the only ones considered.

Mr. Robinson and the candidates chosen made short addresses. The visitors from outside the county have all retired to their homes.

FIERCE FOREST FIRE DESTROYS THREE DWELLINGS

Blaze Near Hillsboro Extends Towards Oil Wells But Will Likely Be Checked in Time to Prevent Damage.

Special to The Standard.

Moncton, May 28.—A terrific forest fire driven by a wind that blew a hurricane, devastated several miles of scrub woodland between Shenstone and Steevescote near Hillsboro, this afternoon and evening. At last reports the fire was still burning fiercely and running in the direction of the oil wells though no serious danger in that direction is anticipated. Little timber of value was destroyed but three farmers lost their dwellings and other buildings. Those burned out are Murdoch Steeves, Metzler Steeves and Talbot Steeves. Some other dwellings are reported dangerously near the fire.

Result Not In Doubt.

Hon. W. C. H. Grimmer was in the city yesterday. Speaking to a reporter he said the government party in Charlotte county was in good shape and confident of victory in the coming elections. "The opposition in Charlotte county has not shown much signs of activity as yet," he said. "But they will probably get a ticket in the field, and give us a fight. There will be no occasion, however, to worry about the result in Charlotte."

By the way, didn't we hear Lillian Russell was to be married?

WON'T TRY TO STARVE LONDON

Strike Leaders Realize Increase in Prices of Food Would Turn Public Opinion Against Them.

London, May 28.—Ben Tillett and Harry Gosling, representing the transport workers' strike committee, in the course of an interview with Reginald McKenna, Home Secretary, today offered to co-operate with the home officers in facilitating transport of necessary food supplies for London. Just how far the strike leaders are prepared to go has not been divulged, but it is evident they realize that the government is determined the metropolis shall not be forced to capitulate through hunger. The leaders also realize that public sympathy is bound to be antagonistic to them with the prices of foodstuffs leaping up. If provisions are placed outside the pale of the strike the conflict at the docks could continue indefinitely in London without the public being greatly inconvenienced.

The government has invited both parties to send representatives to a conference of the Board of Trade which will be held May 31, with the object of arranging a settlement of the strike. This is the result of Sir Edward Clarke's report on the strike inquiry, in which he states that the trouble is mainly due to failure to carry out the clause in the agreement between the masters and the men providing that differences be referred to the Board of Trade for decision.

Meanwhile the government is showing determination to deal firmly with the situation. The home office issued a statement tonight denying the allegations in the strikers' manifesto that the authorities were employing police and soldiers in the interests of the employers, and declaring that no military, but only police, had been called out to preserve order, which the government insists upon maintaining.

The statement concludes: "The government will if necessary use all resources at its disposal to insure a continued supply of food to the people of London."

The Stevedores' Union adopted a resolution tonight calling upon the executive of the Transport Workers' Federation to declare a national strike.

SENATE PROVIDES FOR MEDAL TO CAPT. OF THE CARPATHIA

Thanks Are Extended to Capt. Retram and Members of Crew For Part Taken in Saving Victims.

Washington, D. C., May 28.—The senate passed a joint resolution extending the thanks of congress and an appropriation of $1000 for a medal to Capt. Arthur Rostron, of the steamer Carpathia and also a vote of thanks to the Carpathia's crew. The resolution was introduced by Senator Smith at the conclusion of his speech. It was adopted immediately without reference to a committee.

Blame for the Titanic disaster is chargeable directly to the failure of the dead Capt. Smith to heed repeated warnings of icebergs ahead, but responsibility for unnecessary loss of life must be shared by Capt. Lord, of the steamship Californian, through his disregard of distress signals. This is the finding of the senate committee, which investigated the sinking of the Titanic, as prepared in a comprehensive speech delivered by William Alden Smith, of Michigan, chairman of the committee.
