BUYING ORDERS SPREAD OVER EXTENSIVE LIST

Dupont and Yellow Truck Reach New High for All Time

MONTREAL DULL, BUT QUOTATIONS STEADY

Brazilian, With Turnover of About 500 Shares, Is Most Active

NEW YORK, Aug. 3—Stock prices displayed a strong tone at the opening of today's market. Buying orders were spread over a broad list, but manifestation of group strength first became apparent in the motors, oils and steels. Dupont opened 3¾ higher, at 292½, a new high record for all time; Yellow Truck jumped over 3 points to a new peak at 33½, and United Drug opened a point higher.

DULL IN MONTREAL

MONTREAL, Aug. 3—Trading on the local stock exchange during the first half hour this morning was a dull affair, with prices, however, displaying a firm to slightly upward trend. Brazilian was again the active leader in the early trading, with a turnover of less than 500 shares. This issue opened at 101½ for an overnight gain of three-eighths point, and later touched 101⅝, for a net advance of a half. Smelters in moderate demand opened at 219¼, up half a point, and in subsequent trading moved forward to 220½, a gain of 1½ points. Alcohol and Asbestos preferred were unchanged at 19 and 66 respectively. The paper issues were inactive, Spanish River being the only stock of this group to make its appearance on the board. This issue was unchanged at 114. Lyall was the weak spot of the period, being off one point at 40. Penmans was off a half at 186.

Morning Stock Letter

NEW YORK, Aug. 3—The market continues extremely strong and active and we see no change in the near future. Despite the fireworks of last week the decline in brokers' loans reported after the close yesterday shows that there is no tendency yet toward over-speculation on the part of the public. In fact, public buying is only beginning to come into the market and it has a long way to go before it results in such extension of brokers debits as was the case early this year. We expect higher prices throughout the list with the market showing a broadening tendency. It is dangerous to predict a certain price for a stock, to have the stock reach that price and then to raise the level again. However, it seemingly is necessary to do so in the case of General Motors. Some months ago we predicted 200 for this stock, and while it reached that price yesterday and advanced almost 80 points from the low of the year, we do not think this price is anywhere near its limit, its earning power is so great and its prospects so excellent that we look for much higher prices in this stock, and we believe it can still be bought on all reactions.

Campaign Started Over Disputed Land

United Press

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 3—The afternoon newspaper "El Imparcial" has begun a scare-head campaign over the disputed border territory of St. Laurents, a 70-acre section of river land claimed by the city council of Juarez, but long under American control.

"The United States has planted her flag on a plot of Mexican territory," the paper told its readers.

The area is inhabited chiefly by Mexicans, but according to American lawyers, rightfully belongs to the United States.

SUZANNE'S TURNING PRO. CAUSES STIR

Many Doubt Story; Paris Papers Gossip Over Reputed Salary

Canadian Press

PARIS, Aug. 3—Departure of Suzanne Lenglen, world champion woman tennis player, from the ranks of amateurism, has made a considerable stir. Many persons doubt that she has signed up with Charles Pyle, United States sports promoter, for a four months tour of Canada, the United States, Mexico and Cuba, during the coming fall—as a professional.

The feature of the French girl's North American trip, which most appeals to the imagination, is her compensation translated into francs. "A million a month," reads one newspaper caption today. Although Mr. Pyle has declined to give out figures, newspapers aver or estimate that the racquet queen's earnings on the tour will be from $100,000 to $200,000.

In a brief message to The Associated Press from Pourville, Mlle. Lenglen said:

"Confirm the news that I will leave for America September 22, for four months. I am very content."

ACCUSED OF THEFT OF PAYROLL CHECK

Superintendent of New York Building Firm is Arrested in Ottawa

Canadian Press

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 3—Harold A. Williams, 33, Boston, Mass., man who is superintending building construction in this city for a firm of New York City contractors, is being held by the Ottawa police on a charge of stealing a payroll check for $750.

Williams was returned to this city last night. He was arrested in Montreal at the request of the local police. The check for $750, received Saturday from New York, was salary for laborers, who had been working under the accused.

GIRLS IN ENDLESS SEARCH FOR WORK

Hundred and Twenty Thousand in New York Create Serious Problem

NEW YORK, Aug. 3—The endless pilgrimage of 220,000 girls of high school age, back and forth across New York, seeking employment, is held a source of danger by officials of the Girls' Service League of America, of 138 East Nineteenth street. The league, which interests itself in finding positions for the young girls of New York, has found that the inability of a large number of the girls to find employment during the summer months makes almost necessary the curtailment of their educations, with a corresponding loss to the community.

In a statement issued the league declared that for the sixteen-year-old girl of today, the "eternal trinagle" is one of job, home, and employer.

In thousands of cases, the league has found, the earnings of the head of the house are insufficient to care for the family. The girls are forced to work through the summer if they wish to continue their studies in the fall.

PROBLEM SERIOUS.

Seeking positions in factories, offices and stores, the thousands of girls are continually on the move. They are not skilled workers and must find tasks suiting their capacity. There are many openings in factories running machines, but here, the league finds, employers are unwilling to train the girls to operate machines, knowing that the workers will leave with the opening of school. Accordingly the employment agency cannot place the girls in temporary positions and advises them to "go home and help their mothers." The father, with inadequate income, insists that the children must work through the summer, and the triangle is complete with the children wandering from factory to factory, store to store and finally home, discouraged, and with scant chance of continuing school.

Washington Firemen Claim Speed Record

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3—What is believed to be a world speed record in answering a fire alarm has been established by Engine Company 21 of the District of Columbia Fire Department. The time, six seconds, was established in competition for a cup awarded annually by "The Washington Evening Star.

With the first bang of the gong the crew of No. 21 jumped to their places, started the motor and the instant the call number—13— was completed dashed away. The time was computed from the moment the call number was completed until the engine cleared the fire station doorway.

Company 23, last year's winner, was second, with seven seconds.

Letters to the Editor

THE VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

To the Editor of The Times-Star:

Sir,—Will you permit me to offer some observations on the subject of the Saint John Vocational School?

First, let me express the hope that Mayor White and the City Commissioners will be sure that they are very fully informed concerning this school and what it stands for before they make any effort to prevent its full equipment. This school was erected to meet the need of the ninety per cent. or thereabouts of the children who do not complete the classical high school course because it does not serve their need; and also to provide evening classes for the benefit of those who have left school but desire further training.

To put the case in the clearest way: By what right are thousands upon thousands of parents to be denied an opportunity to give their children the kind of high school education they desire to give them, while a classical high school is maintained at great cost for the very small percentage of the total school enrollment who complete that course? Why provide only a classical course when a course, part classical and part vocational beyond the eighth grade is what the great majority of the children require? Why go on discriminating against those boys and girls who must go out into industry instead of going on to the university? Surely we have passed that stage in Saint John.

Let us not ignore some other vital considerations. If the Vocational School had not been provided, the city would have been compelled to erect another classical high school. The Government relieves the city of twenty-five per cent. of the cost of the Vocational School, fifty per cent. of the cost of equipment, and sixty per cent. of the salaries. It would not do that in the case of a new classical high school. Since the city must have more high school accommodation, it did the wise thing to accept Government aid, and at the same time provide the kind of education beyond the eighth grade that nine-tenths of the children require. There need be no misgivings in relation to the complete equipment of this school. When so equipped and in full running order, and when parents realize what it will do for their children, it will be filled to capacity; and before three years have passed, the people will wonder why anyone could have objected to such a school.

Does any citizen argue that because many of our children may have to go abroad to earn a living, they should be denied the education which will best fit them for gainful employment—that they should be sent forth ignorant and ill-qualified to earn a living? Let those who entertain this view stand up and be counted.

I wonder how many of those who are saying things against the Vocational School have visited it, conferred with the principal or members of the vocational board, learned how much of the course is a continuation of the classical and how much vocational; and fully informed themselves concerning the relative importance of this school and the classical high schools to the majority of our boys and girls.

The Board of Trade, manufacturers, merchants, Trades and Labor Council and other organizations are on record in support of vocational training. Why turn the clock back? More children need what they can get after the eighth grade in the Douglas Avenue Institution than in that on Union Street. The remark that the former is large enough for a city like Montreal will be disproved as soon as parents understand what this school offers their children.

I am informed the cost of this school will be much less than that of several institutions in cities of the size of Saint John. No doubt taxes should be reduced, but why pick on the Vocational School? I trust the citizens are wide-awake to the great issue that is at stake—the real education of their children.

Faithfully yours,
L. W. SIMMS.
Saint John, July 29, 1926.
