LINES WRITTEN ON A MISSIONARY BOX.

Of wood thou sees't I'm made,
To ask an humble alms of thee,
That men may send that precious pearl
A thief once found on cavalry,
To lands far off, where never shone
The sun of glory in full blaze,
That Christ may Satan's power dethrone,
And all the world his mercy praise.

SAILOR'S MAGAZINE.

WHERE SHALL WISDOM BE FOUND?" Job. xxviii.

Where shall wisdom's pearl be found?
Seek we knowledge under ground?
The earth cries out—"'tis not in me"—
"Nor is it here"—replies the sea.
For diamonds, pearls, or purest gold,
The price of price was never sold.
Where is wisdom then concealed?
And to whom the price revealed?

Prospectus of a New Work from the pen of William M. Leggett, Wesleyan Missionary, to be entitled
THE MEMENTO. This Publication, which is to form a Duodecimo volume of about 200 pages, will include a selection of original sermons, strictures, poems, and sacred melodies; and as the author has used every effort to render it acceptable even to the eye of criticism, his patrons may anticipate an adequate return for the small sum of three shillings and nine pence per copy.
☞ The Memento will be neatly executed, as to the mechanical part, done up in cloth, and delivered to Subscribers through the politeness of Agents appointed for that purpose.
Bathurst, 21st. Dec. 1837.

Also, to be published,
THE ENGLISH GRAMMAR, Condensed and simplified by the same author. This brief analysis is designed to facilitate the progress of the Student in the science of our native language, and will, doubtless, prove a valuable acquisition to Provincial Schools and the public generally. Several gentlemen of critical acumen have seen the work in MS., and honoured the same with the most unqualified approbation.
Price 2s per copy. 25 per cent discount allowed, where one dozen or upwards are ordered by any one person.
P. S. Subscriptions for either of the above works received at the Wesleyan Office, Halifax, or at the book-store of Messrs. A. & W. McKinlay. April 9th.

Recently Published, and for sale at the Stationary Store of Messrs A. & W. McKinlay, Mr. C. E. Belcher, Mr. J. Munro, and by the author in Windsor, a Treatise against UNIVERSALISM: in which Universalism in its Ancient Form, as embodied in the Restoration-scheme,—and in its Modern Form, as employing no future punishment, is shown to be Anti-scriptural. By Rev. Alexander W. McLeod. April 23.
"To convince of his error a thorough Universalist, so as to cause him to renounce it, is almost a hopeless task. In not a few instances, it is to be feared, persons of this faith, are given over to 'strong delusion that they should believe a lie.' By such, Truth, tho' supported by the whole weight of scripture-testimony, is despised: on their worldly perverted understandings and obdurated hearts it makes no impression, no permanent impression—the consequences of such perversity and infatuation, fearful and destructive as they are, must be borne by themselves and others, as a case of hopeless remedy. Sufficient, however, it is thought, is contained in the following pages, to satisfy the candid mind of every sincere seeker after truth, and to assure him of the fallacy of Universalism. To all such, and the community generally, the present publication is now committed, with an earnest desire, that it may be rendered instrumental, under the Divine blessing, of rescuing, if possible, such as have wandered in the labyrinths of this dreadful delusion, and of warning those who are about to leave the Rock of Ages—and [illegible] in the all important verities of the Gospel which they have already embraced."
—Extract from the Preface.
