☞ An exchange truly states that "you may insert a thousand excellent things in a newspaper, and never hear a word of approbation from its readers; but just let a line or two not suited to their taste slip in, (though by accident,) and you will be sure to hear of it." There is more trouble in keeping a newspaper free from an objectionable thing than filling it twice over.

☞ The Louisville correspondent of the Chicago Journal writes as follows:—I notice that some of the old fogies of the Associated Press and of the Press of this city are still attempting to discredit my reports with reference to the progress of the Fenians. I have it this morning directly from the lips of two leading Fenian Centres that no less than one thousand five hundred Fenians passed northward from the South during the last three weeks, together with a considerable number of arms. This, I consider reliable authority. The greatest activity prevails among the Fenians throughout the entire South.
