INVESTORS BUYING IN LONDON MARKET

LONDON, April 29. — Money and discount rates were steady today.

The stock market was fairly active in the investment section, and the war loan and Japanese and Russian bonds were frequently marked; but speculative issues were mostly dull, as leaders are awaiting events in the theatre of war. The leading oil, shipping and mining shares were firm, but diamonds closed weak.

Only a moderate amount of business was transacted in the American section where the closing was undecided and irregular.

STOCK OPINIONS

H. Nightingale received the following opinions from New York:

S. B. Chapin—The continuance of an irregular two-sided trading market is expected thruout the balance of the week.

Ware and Leland—The market has now reached a level where frequent reactions are to be expected.

Post & Flagg—Strength of the market must still be attributed to activity and prosperity in so many different directions, due to war orders. It seems inevitable that this must spread to general revival of industry. This has created and is maintaining steady and strong public interest in securities.
