KAULBARS COMES DOWN.

RUSSIA MODERATES HER DEMANDS ON BULGARIA.

The Principality Encouraged by Austria's Attitude to Resist Muscovite Tyranny—The Sobranje Pledged not to Re-Elect Prince Alexander.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Lights were burning in the Foreign Office long after midnight, and the papers all have leaders this morning declaring that the situation is more serious than it has been at any time since the abdication of Prince Alexander. Premier Tisza's answer to the Diet is said to have been wildly applauded by the Hungarians, as well it might have been, for bolder words from an Austrian dignitary have not been spoken since Sadowa. The declaration seems to render it impossible for Austria to back down an inch, or refuse to make Herr Tisza's words good. Unless Russia backs down and recalls Gen. Kaulbars it is difficult to see how a collision is avoidable. Nobody believes that Russia will back down. It is significant that Turkey is massing troops at Adrianople as earnestly as if war had begun. She is also said to be hard at work fortifying Armenia.

Late dispatches from Vienna report an extremely excited feeling there. At Pesth the general expectation is that Russia will force matters to an issue at once. There seems to be no doubt that the Bulgarians will stand firm in defiance of Russia, now that Austria is at her back, and events are likely to march now at a stirring pace.

Extensive telegraphing is going on from the English foreign office. A project is on foot in London to start a popular subscription for a sword of honor to be presented to Prince Alexander.

Gen. Kaulbar's moderation is due to a telegram from M. DeGiers to the effect that Russia did not wish to interfere with the Bulgarian constitution or with the domestic affairs of Bulgaria. M. Stambuloff has informed Gen. Kaulbars that he himself and all the ministers and regents are willing to give a pledge that Alexander will not be re-elected.

The inquiry into the revolution has been concluded. The Sobranje will be asked to support a court martial to try the offenders. It is reported that three ex-ministers are implicated. The accused with the exception of the leaders will be dealt with leniently.

In a State of Rebellion.

SOFIA, Oct. 1.—Gen. Kaulbars has addressed a note to the Bulgarian Government complaining of the treatment received by distributors of his circular. The Government in reply stated that the law would punish all persons guilty of violence; that the Government could not be held responsible for so inflammatory a document. The circular has been nicknamed the "Czar's Ten Commandments." The authorities of Phillipopolis have refused to placard the Russian demands.

Alexander Was Too Hasty.

BERLIN, Oct. 1.—The North German Gazette reiterates that Alexander's abdication was voluntary on his part. It says Russia has an old sore against Alexander, but there is no evidence that threats were used against him. The action of Germany and Austria-Hungary was confined to persuading Alexander in a confidential and courteous manner to refrain from immediate extensions. Alexander ought to have been prepared to experience plots in a country like Bulgaria. Other countries experience similar plots without their sovereign forthwith resigning.

Austria Backing Bulgaria.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The Austrian military attache at Sofia has been instructed to encourage the Bulgarian regents to resist the Russian demands with a hint of eventual support. The St. Petersburg papers have been forbidden to publish certain portions of the speech made by the Hungarian Premier yesterday.

No Fight After All.

VIENNA, Oct. 1.—It is stated postively that Gen. Kaulbars in consequence of hints from St. Petersburg has moderated his attitude equally with the Regency and has become more conciliatory. An immediate relaxation of the tension between Russia and Bulgaria is therefore considered probable.

Austria a Unit.

VIENNA, Oct. 1.—The entire press of Vienna approve of Herr Tisza's speech to the Hungarian Parliament.

Ready for Anything.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 1.—The Novoe Vremya publishes a telegram from Moscow which says the Bulgarian crisis paralyzed trade and checked the revival of business which the good harvests had incited. Moscow is prepared for any eventuality. The present condition is as bad as war, if not worse.

A PRESENT TO FRANCE.

The Duc d'Aumale Gives Chantilly to the Institute of France.

PARIS, Oct. 1.—The Duc d'Aumale has presented to the Institute of France the entire domain of Chantilly, with its magnificent castle and all its dependencies, the value of which, at the lowest estimate, is over sixty million francs. An extract from the deed of gift is as follows: "Wishing to preserve for France the domain of Chantilly, with its forests, its lawns, its waters, its buildings and all they contain, including trophies, pictures, books, archives and objects of art, I have resolved to intrust its deposit to the illustrious body which did me the honor to call me within its ranks. Consequently, I give and bequeath to the French Institute, to be held according to the conditions herein specified, the domain of Chantilly just as it shall be at the day of my death, the legatee to maintain the domain in its then state. After having defrayed the expenses of keeping it up the Institute will employ the excess of revenue from the estate, first, in acquiring objects of art; second, in pensions and pecuniary aid to literary men and artists; third, in establishing a fund to aid and encourage those who devote themselves to the career of letters, science or art."

The galleries and collections at Chantilly will be called the Musee Conde, and will be open to the public.

THE STATE OF TRADE.

Bradstreet Reports on the Whole a Satisfactory Week's Business.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Special telegrams to Bradstreet's point to a volume of general trade quite equal to that reported in last week's with satisfactory enquiry and demand. The movement of staple goods is increasing in the southwest and west. Prices of dry goods have been sustained. Some lines of cottons advanced, and the demand is good. The wool market continues very strong, as manufacturers are buying with more freedom. American wool prices are said to be lower than foreign.

Quarterly reports of the visible grain and flour stocks show a heavy increase since July and indicate that both wheat and corn have been rapidly marketed. The domestic iron trade continues active and prices very firm. An advance for next year is probable. The finished iron is about one-tenth cent higher per pound. Anthracite coal is fairly active at the ordered advance, but petroleum, hog products, wheat, Indian corn and sugar are lower. The heavy receipts of grain, large visible supplies and conservative attitude of foreign buyers are favorable for lower prices. New Orleans advices point to a 25 per cent. reduction in the Louisiana sugar crop. Easier London markets with slow demand for refined sugar have resulted in the lowest quotations on record.

MR. WIMAN SUED FOR LIBEL.

An Alleged Ill-Used Woman Claims Ten Thousand Dollars Damages.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Erastus Wiman of Staten Island is being sued for $10,000 damages by a woman named Henrietta Woods, for libel. The charge is that Mr. Wiman, who was interested in getting a bill passed by the Legislature for the release of debtors from Ludlow-street jail, made false charges against the plaintiff with regard to a man named Terrici Monett, who had been confined in the jail eighteen months on a judgment procured against him by her for breach of promise of marriage and betrayal. These charges the plaintiff alleges, were maliciously printed in pamphlet form and circulated in Albany. Mr. Wiman, in his answer, denies all knowledge of the plaintiff. He says that an act was passed by the Legislature of that State affecting imprisonment for debt. He was deeply interested in the passage of the law. Lawyer Gilbert P. Hawes collected facts on the subject, and, at his request, the defendant had the pamphlet printed. The suit was removed from the Brooklyn Supreme Court to the United States Court, Mr. Wiman claiming to be a British subject.

She described herself as destitute with five children and she had not heard from her husband for three months. Until then he had sent her a regular remittance. McNamee denied that he was the person referred to, but Mr. Adam had a letter from McNamee to his wife which the latter had enclosed as proof of her indentity. McNamee has fled to Canada.

The War Against Bucketshops.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Judge Bagley this morning dismissed the motion for an injunction preferred by the New York and Chicago Grain and Stock Exchange against the Board of Trade and the Western Union Telegraph Company to restrain them from withholding telegraphic reports of the market quotations. The court held that the Board of Trade has certain powers granted it, among which are the right to control and govern its members in their use of the privileges which they enjoy as such. It also has the right to use discretion as controlling the manner in which the quotations on its floor are distributed to the public and the ruling prices on the board cannot be demanded by outsiders. This is the latest development of the proceedings instituted when the board ordereh the removal a year or more ago of the "tickers" from the bucketshops.

THE LOYALISTS IN TOWN.

RETURN OF REV. DR. KANE AND MR. GEO. HILL SMITH.

An Address to the Former from the Orange County Lodge of Toronto—The Delegates' Engagements for To-Day and To-Morrow.

The Irish Loyalist delegates, Rev. Dr. Kane and Mr. Geo. Hill Smith, returned to the city yesterday forenoon. They were met at Union Depot by Rev. Canon Dumoulin, Revs. Messrs. Sweeny and Jones, E. F. Clarke, J. L. Hughes, Thomas and Robert Bickerstaff, Frank Somers and others, and escorted to the Queen's Hotel. In conversation with The World the delegates expressed themselves as delighted with the result of their mission. "We would be hard to please, indeed," said Mr. Smith, "if we were not more than satisfied with our reception throughout Ontario. The Province is sound for the Union, whatever may be thought of a modified scheme of local government." In the afternoon the delegates lunched with Rev. Canon Dumoulin, and in the evening Rev. Dr. Kane was made the recipient of an engrossed address of welcome by the Toronto County Orange Lodge, in the Orange Hall.

The chair was occupied by County Master Somers and on the platform with the delegates were W. Bros. Rev. Mr. Hobson, E. F. Clarke, Wm. Adamson, P.C.M's.; W. I. Wilson, F. E. Lloyd, D. M's.; John Graham, James Greer, Robt. Kerr, W. Bell, P.D.M's.; J. L. Hughes, D. of C.; W. Lee, Co. Sec.; Capt. Joseph Rorke, C. M. North Grey, and others. The chairman stated that the object of the meeting was to extend a cordial welcome on behalf of the Orangemen of the County of Toronto to Rev. Dr. Kane, Grand Master of Belfast, and to recognize the valuable services rendered to the cause of a united Empire by him and his colleague, Mr. George Hill Smith. He then called on Mr. J. L. Hughes to read the address:

To Rev. Richard Rutledge Kane, LL.D., Grand Master of the Loyal Orange Association of Belfast:

DEAR SIR AND BRETHREN—We Orangemen of the County Orange Lodge of Toronto give you a hearty welcome to our city. We welcome you as a devoted clergyman, distinguished alike for your eloquence and your earnestness in disseminating the eternal truths of Christianity. We welcome you as a brother Orangeman, true, able and fearless in your advocacy of the broad principles of civil and religious liberty, united by our forefathers in form the immovable foundation on which our Order rests. But we welcome you especially at this time as a sincere patriot, filled with an ardent love for his country and a deep abhorrence of the unity of the British Empire.

We are proud to meet you as a fellow-subject of our beloved Queen, and we assure you of our fullest sympathy with you in your miserable determination that Ireland shall ever remain an honored part of the greatest nation in the world. We sincerely hope that the noble efforts of our loyal men of Ireland may be crowned with complete success, and that the British Empire may still continue to be the leader in power, in freedom and in righteousness.

Signed on behalf of the Loyal Orange County Lodge of Toronto

W. LEE, County Secretary. F. SOMERS, County Master.

The chairman then introduced Dr. Kane to the meeting. On coming to the front the rev. gentleman was received with prolonged applause, the audience rising and cheering vociferously. He thanked the brethren and Loyalists for the many marks of favor he had been the recipient of in this city. He spoke at length on the position of the order in the Old Land, and of the services he had rendered in protecting life and property in the Green Isle during the trying period through which the country has been passing. In concluding his speech he said he would cherish while life lasted the beautiful address with which they had presented him, and would convey to the brethren of Belfast the cordial greetings of the Orangemen in Toronto. Mr. Smith was next introduced, and was also warmly welcomed. He said he was not an Orangeman, and took it as a special mark of favor that they should receive him at a lodge meeting. His remarks were replete with Irish wit, and kept the brethren in a constant state of ebullition. Rev. Bro. Hobson and Bros. Clarke and Hughes also spoke briefly, and the proceedings terminated with the National Anthem. Dr. Kane and Mr. Smith were then introduced to the brethren individually.

This morning Mayor Howland will call upon them at the Queen's, and to-night they will address a mass meeting of Loyalists in the Adelaide-street Rink, the gallery of which has been reserved for ladies. Mayor Howland will preside. Rev. Dr. Wild will also deliver an address. To-morrow Rev. Dr. Kane will preach in the morning at St. Phillip's Church, Spadina-avenue, and in the evening at St. James' Cathedral.

MURDERED AT FIFTEEN.

The Crime of Two Lads Aged Respectively 16 and 17.

PARIS, Oct. 1.—A sensational trial for murder has just been concluded at Pas de Calais, France. Last April the dead body of a girl of 15 years of age named Marie Ledont was found in a field. The victim had been gagged and stabbed to the heart. For a long time no clue was obtained to the perpetrators of the crime. Attention was eventually drawn to two cousins of the girl who lived in the same hamlet. They were youths of 16 and 17 years named Muchembled and the oldest of them was the girl's sweetheart. These boys were arrested and handed to the magistrate a manuscript narrative, giving an extraordinary and fanciful account of a murder of a young girl by a serpent and a fleet deer, ending with the death of the murderers. This, saving the last incident, tallied in the general description with the murder of Marie Ledout. To this the young culprits confessed, and added that their courage had failed them when it came to the question of suicide. Each was sentenced to imprisonment for fifteen years and to pay 4000 francs damages to the father of their victim.

A REPUBLICAN DUKE.

His Grace of Seville Declares a Republic the Only Stable Form of Government.

MADRID, Oct. 1.—A manifesto to the Spanish people signed "Enrique de Borbon, Duke de Seville," is being circulated in Spain. In it the Duke, who is under imprisonment for having attempted to force his way into the Queen's presence while he was on military duty at the palace, shortly after King Alfonso's death, complains that he is harshly treated in prison. He also declares that although he is a Republican by birth and at heart, he loyally served his cousin, King Alfonso, so long as he was alive because family duty made such service imperative. "Now," says the manifesto, "that King Alfonso is dead, all that is ended and I desire to assist in proclaiming a republic for Spain. A republic is the only form of government that can furnish guarantee for the security and integrity of the country."

JOHN FORBES' FUNERAL.

The Noted Turfman Buried in the Presence of Many People.

WOODSTOCK, Oct. 1.—The funeral of the dead turfman, John Forbes, took place this afternoon. All the members of the family, with only one exception, were present. The floral offerings were both numerous and beautiful, the room where the body lay being literally covered. A wreath of rare beauty was sent by the A. O.U.W., of which institution the deceased was a member. Forty or fifty friends came in from a distance, those from Toronto being: Jos. Duggan, Robt. Bond, John O'Grady, D. Booth, Jas. McCormack, W. E. Owen, M. Maloney, J. D. Matheson, A. Gates, C. Gates, H. Franklin, F. Pierson, H. S. Charlesworth, J. Cornack, jr., and M. Moloney.

The obsequies were entirely under the control of the Masonic body, the deceased having been a member of King Solomon and Woodstock lodges. The pall-bearers were: R. W. Bro. P. M., George Eden. W. Bro. F. M., Jas. Sutherland, M.P.; V.W. Bro. P. M., Jas. S. Scarff; D. Bro. P. M., H. J. Finkle; W. Bro. P. M., R. M. Revell; W. Bro. P. M., A. S. Ball; W. Bro. P. M., Alex. McIntosh; W. Bro. P. M., A W. Francis. Nearly all the shops in town were closed or had curtains down, as the cortege followed the slow dirge of the band along Dundas-street. The funeral procession extended almost the whole length of Vansittart-avenue from Dundas-street to the Presbyterian cemetery, the place of interment. There were over seventy single and double carriages, while many hundreds of people were on foot. It was the most imposing funeral ever seen in Woodstock.

A NEWSPAPER SENSATION.

An Office Boy's Pluck and an Editor's Idiocy.

OTTAWA, Oct. 1.—Another sensation in connection with the new Nationalist paper L'Alliance at Hull developed itself to-day at 12.20. Mr. Page, the publisher, at whose establishment the paper is being printed, went to dinner leaving a boy in charge. A few minutes afterwards Mr. Moffatt, editor of La Vallee d'Ottawa, came to the office door, knocked and was admitted by the boy. The latter says Moffatt first went to Mr. Page's desk and examined some papers. He then went to the table on which the galleys of type for the newspaper were lying and commenced upsetting them. The boy noticing what he was doing caught up a loaded revolver which was lying on the desk and pointing it at Mr. Moffatt, it is alleged, threatened to shoot him. Mr. Moffatt, seeing the act, hastily upset a third galley of type and rushed to the door shouting. The hue and cry was raised and a large number of Nationalists collected and gave chase. No trace of Mr. Moffatt could be found, but it was thought he had run into the bush at the back of the city. A warrant has been issued for Moffatt's arrest. He is part owner of the printing house, but his political views are opposed to those of Mr. Page.

Found Beside the Track.

MERRITTON Oct. 1.—The body of a man was discovered this morning lying beside the track on the Grand Trunk railway about a mile east of the depot. A deep gash was found in the back part of the head, which had evidently caused instant death. From papers found on his person, it appears that his name was James Fourstt and that he was proceeding from New Brunswick, N. J., to work in the Ontario Rubber Company's works at Port Dalhousie, Ont. A ticket found indicated that he had left Niagara Falls on the midnight express for St. Catharines, and no doubt either fell off or jumped from the train and was struck while doing so by the cars. His appearance suggested that he was a mechanic, of probably forty years of age.

MEDS RETURNING TO WORK

TORONTO'S THREE SCHOOLS OPEN FOR THE SESSION OF 1886-7.

The Lectures at the Woman's College, Toronto and Trinity by Dr. Gullen, Dr. Macfarlane and Dr. Teskey.

The annual fall revival of learning is upon us. Janitors of educational halls have brushed from walls, floors and forms the dust of the Long Vacation. Professors have furbished up their notes, and everything has been put in readiness for the next seven months' grind. The wheels of the educational machine have again been greased, so to speak. Every train that reaches the city these days lands on the depot platform its quota of students. The arts students of University College will not be in town till next week. The medical students are nearly all here now. Yesterday was a day of formal openings.

Woman's Medical College.

In the Theatre of the Education Department's Buildings the opening lecture of the fourth session of the Woman's Medical College was delivered by Dr. Augusta Stowe Gullen, College Demonstrator in Anatomy. The ground floor was well filled. Dr. James Beaty, M.P., Chairman of the College Board of Trustees, presided. Among others present were the President of the College, Dr. Barrett; Dr. Nevitt, Dr. McPhedran, Dr. Kraus, Dr. Carson, Dr. Ross, Dr. Coverntonand Dr. Peters of the College Faculty; Hon. G. W. Ross, Minister of Education; Principal Caven of Knox College; Dr. Davies and Mr. Marling. The lady students were there in force and so were their friends.

Before the lecture Dr. Barrett made a few remarks. He said that the College was now entering on its fourth session. It was in affiliation with Trinity Medical School. It had been a pronounced success both as regards the efficiency of the faculty and the application and ability of the students. The fees taken from the students had gone to meet current expenses, while the members of the faculty had neither received nor asked for remuneration. This could not reasonably be expected to last. The college needed money, deserved it and must have it. He then introduced the lecturer.

Dr. Gullen was plainly dressed in black silk. She wore a stiff white linen collar, and at her breast a large bunch of the scarlet geraniums. Her lecture elicited throughout rapt attention and frequent applause. It well deserved it. It was a most interesting, eloquent and instructive discourse. She first stated that throughout the ages the world had recognized the healing power of woman. She then traced, citing numerous examples, the struggles of woman to place herself on a level with man in the work of alleviating the physical sufferings of humanity. She refuted the idea that marriage was an obstacle to woman's progress. Nevertheless, although marriage was most desirable, it should not be looked on as the chief end of a woman's existence. It was merely an incidental pleasure. She concluded by urging woman's claims to recognition as equals with men.

Toronto School of Medicine.

The amphitheatre lecture hall of the Toronto School of Medicine was filled to the roof in the afternoon by jovial students and friends of themselves and their school. The opening lecture was given by Dr. Macfarlane, who took as his subject "The Gross Anatomy of the Human Frame." The conversazione is postponed till Thursday next.

Trinity School of Medicine.

The proceedings at Trinity were of the same nature as those at Toronto. The large lecture hall was crowded with students and well wishers of the institution. The faculty were present in a body. Dr. Teskey delivered the opening lecture which was general in its nature. The annual conversazione was held in the evening and was as usual a great success.

What's the mat-ter with the steel wire door mat? Oh, it's all right. Why, of course it is, it always was and always is, but if you have any doubts about it, just get one and be most thoroughly convinced of the fact. 136

AMUSEMENTS.

Attractions for Next Week—"Hoodman Blind" at the Grand.

The two concluding performances of "The Silver King" will be given at the Grand Opera House this afternoon and to-night.

All next week, with Wednesday and Saturday matinees, the successful melodrama "Hoodman Blind" will be presented, with Mr. Joseph Haworth in the leading role. This endorsation by the New York Times ought to be a sufficient guarantee that "Hoodman Blind" is well worth seeing:

"There are many reasons why 'Hoodman Blind' should be a popular play, the first reason being that it is a good one, though that is not always sufficient with the restless public. The melo-drama constructed by Mr. Wilson Barrett and Mr. Henry A. Jones tells an interesting story clearly; it abounds in effective situations; it introduces a number of well sketched characters, and two remarkably strong ones and much of its text is either vigorous and inspiriting or sprightly and amusing; while the opportunities offered by the drama for the display of handsome scenery and the employment of novel mechanism, opportunities which have been made the most of at Wallack's, form not the least of its merits from the point of view of the manager. No play has ever been set upon the stage in better shape than this; that is to say, the art of the scene painter and the skill of carpenters and machinists have been used to the utmost extent of the possibilities of the play."

At the Toronto Opera House the bill for next week will be Ida Van Cortland and the Trvernier Dramatic Company in "Nobody's Daughter," of which the New York Tribune says: "Its popular success may be recorded at the outset. The dramatists have treated the subject very well indeed. It is not easy to see how the several telling points could have been better made up than they are. There is a plenty of tableaux. That of the fourth act is perhaps the most effective. The scene represents a gambling hell in full operation. It is said to be an absolute picture from life."

At the Yonge-street Opera House Manager Connor will on Monday present to his patrons Marshall's Dramatic Organization, headed by Miss Zoe Gayton. Her reportoire includes "Madeline," "Marguerite," "Leah," "Midnight," "Thisbe," "The Woman in Red" and other startling plays. Very popular prices.

A Horse Thief Captured.

Mr. J. G. Gibson, the well-known grocery-man of Yonge and Maitland, was the means of capturing a horse thief yesterday morning. During Thursday night a horse, wagon and three quarters of beef were stolen out of the barn of Butcher David Rowantree at Weston. It was learned that the thief was in the neighborhood of the city early in the morning, and everyone in North Toronto was on the lookout. Mr. Gibson met the man in the Davenport-road, and told him if he went to Butcher Davis at Yonge and Bloor streets, that gentleman would buy the three quarters of beef. Mr. Gibson then made straight for the North Toronto Police Station, and Inspector Johnston got to Davis' in time to arrest the thief. He was recognized as William Perry, who was only discharged from custody the other day on a charge of larceny. Perry is wanted in Youngstown, N.Y., on four or five different charges. He was arraigned before Col. Denison and remanded till Wednesday next.

That Great Salvation Parade.

—The parade of the "Salvation Army" yesterday beat "Barnum's circus" into fits. The "Great General" looked immense, happiness was written on his countenance; it was quite a reminder of the happy look purchasers of Strathern's stoves have. They get such satisfaction that really one might think that the heart was made warmer as well as the home. Finest selection of stoves to choose from in Toronto at the great household furnishing depot, 97 Yonge-street. Strathern takes the lead. x

THE GENERAL IN A MERRY MOOD.

He Discovers a Short Cut to Paradise—"Pica" to be Converted at all Hazards.

The most profound and gravest of preachers strike a merry mood occasionally. It is no wonder then that "General" Booth should sound a humorous key. This he did last night. The services at the Temple were not as largely attended as on the other nights. They were short, and not nearly so interesting as those that preceded them. Rev. Dr. Potts occupied a seat beside the General. The latter did all the talking and praying of the evening, and he made a number of jokes. As the audience laughed heartily at many of them, The World might add there were no "chestnuts" among them.

While dilating on the 12th chapter of Ephesians, the General told his hearers that he had discovered a new road, a short cut, to Heaven. It was not via a cemetery either. People could get there without leaving a big doctor's bill behind them for their poor relatives to pay. If, however, his hearers employed doctors they should settle. "If I could not die without going into debt," argued the General, "I would die without a doctor—and I might die a great deal easier, too," he added. "I don't meen to cast any reflections on the skill of the medical men of Toronto. They are all right, I guess. I mean the doctors of other countries." [Smiles all round]. The General said his short cut to Paradise was through Jesus Christ. "This," he said, holding up the Bible, "will give you an introduction to Him." ["Amen."]

Half an hour was spent in silent prayer, and the services were over at 9.30.

Commissioner Coombs announced that Col. Dowdall had arrived in New York and would be present at this evening's services, which promise to be the most interesting of the series. The tri-colors of the "Armee du Salut," who are to begin work in the Province of Quebec, will be presented by the General. The contingent of young men and women who go to India will be "consecrated" by the same officer.

When the service was over the General and several of the female soldiers expressed a desire to convert the reporters. The General called Bro. Pica of the News to his side and said he would like to commence on him. "I have taken a great fancy to you," he said to Pica. "Do you belong to any church, my dear young man?" Bro. Pica informed him that he had serious intentions that way. "Well, we will have to look after you."

Thos. Cullen of the Dundas-street Methodist Church and Rev. Wm. Frizzell of the Leslieville Presbyterian Church went upon the platform and shook hands with General Booth.

From 2 until 5 o'clock this afternoon Mr. John Macdonald will give a reception at "Oaklands," on the summit of Avenue-road, in honor of General Booth.
