...Next meeting in Temperance Hall Thursday, Sept. 13th, at 3.30 P. M. The meetings are always open to any who wish to become members.

...Gospel Temperance meetings, conducted by members of the W. C. T. U., are held every Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, in the vestry of the Methodist church. All are welcome.

The Press as an Evangelist.

Press work is the temperance reform is nothing more nor less than temperance evangelization by means of the printed page. Thus the press becomes an evangelist, and no better definition of "the work of an evangelist" can be found out side of Paul's letter to Timothy, wherein he bids the young man, "Preach the word; be instant, in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with long suffering and doctrine."

For twenty years the W. C. T. U. has been winning to itself "the power of the press," add leading it to do the work of an evangelist—to preach the temperance word in season and out of season, reproving, rebuking and exhorting with patient, long suffering, and presenting day after day, month by month, year in and year out, the unswerving doctrine of temperance and purity.

As a result of this work it is the testimony of great numbers of temperance adherents that they become such through the potent influence of some periodical, story, incident, argument or short sentence, even, pointed with a temperance truth.

Since facts are ever more satisfactory than generalities, it may be well to glance briefly at the actual temperance work being done through the press.

Take up one of the issues of the local paper to which a W. C. T. U. press superintendent has contributed, and inquire into the varying mission of this column, which has been the result of such painstaking. The periodical, according to its circulation, is speeding to its readers—hundreds, tens of hundreds, thousands. Some of these, on turning its pages over, sight such keynote words as "temperance," "reform," "equal suffrage," and forthwith pass, on, not caring "to waste their precious time over such matter." Others read, but carelessly, and forget it all in an hour. One reads with a passing sneer, another to take the truth and distort it into a weapon of sarcasm, to be flung at a temperance acquaintance, privately called a crank."

This one buils anathemas at the editor for admitting such heresy to his columns, that one, perchance, resorts to the severer course of a request to have his paper "stopped at once." But others—and blessed it is to know they are legion—read, mark, learn and inwardly digest and temperance brawn and nerve are fed thereby.

Here is a quiet-faced mother, who marks the paragraph and sends the paper to her absent boy or girl, who is only too glad to read every word from home, and swallows the "little preach" with a good grace, since mother sent it.

A wife folds her paper so that particular article is uppermost and lays it carelessly where her husband must see it.

A worried young editor in a country office spies out the bright bit of temperance sentiment or news, runs his shears about it, and the next week it goes out through his paper to a goodly circle of readers.

A minister of the gospel sees that this interesting incident or those startling statistics will enrich his coming sermon and on Sunday he sows the good seed in many earnest hearts.

Another W. C. T. U. press superintendent, whose "copy" is due in the little office away out on some frontier of the reform, blesses her sister worker a thousand times as she seizes the fresh items and sets it in her colums.

Some John G. Wooley reads it, remembers it, and from his lips it issues some day as a very thunderbolt of truth to awaken dead consciences and affright evil doers.

But the press superintendent is blissfully unconscious of all this as she makes ready for the demands of the next week. God bless her in her work—as responsible as any in the whole field!

But the work of the W. C. T. U. press superintendent in filling certain corners of the secular and religious periodicals is but a small part of the press work done in the temperance reform. There is a duty to be fulfilled in getting into print and there is a duty equally imperative in getting that print read. In other words, it is one thing to prepare and bake a loaf of bread, it is another thing to see that the right people eat it.

There is not, we venture to say, one temperance woman throughout our ranks who cannot find few or many opportunities of placing the bread of the press where it will feed some one. Has that poor woman who does your washing ever had a bundle of good papers from your hands? Does the little woman who sits near you every Sunday in church and every Wednesday night at prayer-meeting ever have anything better to read than the Sunday papers her husband buys? You do not know? Why?

A TRAVELLER'S EXPERIENCE.

The life of a Commercial Man Not All Sunshine.

Constant Travel Roughing it on Trains Weakens the Most Robust—The Experience of a Halifax Merchant While on the Road.

Acadian Recorder, Halifax, N.S.

Mr Percy J. A. Lear, junior partner of the firm of Blackadar & Lear, general brokers, 60 Bedford Row, Halifax, N. S., comes from a family of commercial travellers. His father, James Lear, was on the road in Lower Canada with dry goods for twenty-three years, and few men were more widely known and esteemed, and the genial Percy himself has just retired from the ranks of the drummer, after a varied experience as knight of the grip, which extended over seventeen years and embraced almost every town and village in Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific. He is an extremely popular young man, a leading member of the Oddfellows' fraternity, an officer in the 63rd regiment of militia, and a rising merchant.

"How comes it that you are so fat and ruddy after such a term of hustling railroad life and varied diet, Mr Lear?" questioned the reporter.

"Well," was the answer, "it's a long story, but one worth telling. I weigh 190 pounds to-day, and am in better health than I ever before enjoyed in my life. Two years ago I got down to 155 pounds. Constant travelling, roughing it on trains and in country hotels broke me all up and left me a nasty case of kidney complaint and indigestion. My head was all wrong, my stomach bad; I was suffering continual pains and dizziness, and my urine was extremely thick and gravelly. I began to get scared. I consulted several physicians in Montreal, Winnipeg and other cities, but their treatment did not give me a particle of relief. One day I bought a box of Dr Williams' Pink Pills, and I made up my mind to give them a good trial. They seemed to help me, and I bought a second, third and fourth box, and they cured me. My stomach was all right, the dizziness left my head; no more lassitude, and all traces of my kidney disease disappeared. I was a new man, and gained flesh immediately, and have never been troubled since. I consider my case astonishing, because kidney complaint, especially gall stones, is hereditary in our family. It helped to hurry my father to an early grave, and an uncle on my mother's side, Dr Whittle of Sydney, Australia, has been a chronic sufferer from gall stones, from boyhood. I was so impressed with the virtues of Dr Williams' Pink Pills, that I took the trouble to send Dr Whittle two boxes all the way to Australia. Since my discovery of the benefits of these wonderful little pink coated exterminators of disease, I have recommended the remedy far and wide, and I could enumerate dozens of cases where they have been efficacious."

An analysis shows that Dr Williams' Pink Pills contain in a condensed form all the elements necessary to give new life to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for all diseases arising from an impoverished condition of the blood, or from an impairment of the nervous system, such as loss of appetite, depression of spirits, anæmia, chlorosis or green sickness, general muscular weakness, dizziness, loss of memory, locomotor ataxia, paralysis, sciatica, rheumatism, St. Vitus' dance, kidney and liver troubles, the after effects of la grippe, and all diseases depending upon a vitiated condition of the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for the troubles peculiar to the female system, building anew the blood and restoring the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In the case of men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses. Sold by all dealers or sent by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont. or Schenectady, N.Y. Beware of imitations and substitutes alleged to be "just as good."

Cured to Stay.

Dr E. A. Rose disappoints the Doubters—He once had Diabetes but has it no more—Attending to His Big Practice.

Portland, Ont. Aug. 20—The account which appeared in many Canadian papers a few months ago of Dr E. A. Rose having been cured of diabetes by Dodd's Kidney Pills, attracted widespread attention at the time. Many doubters, though, protested that the cure was not a permanent one. The best proof that these doubters were wrong is the fact that for a year back, Dr Rose has been attending to his practice, which was always a large one, in this village and the surrounding country, and has never had any return of the disease. His health is first-class and the doctor is not compelled to take any of the precautions as to diet or otherwise, that are always ordered for people threatened or troubled with diabetes.

The Universal Answer.

What Dyes are always guaranteed,
And in our country take the lead?
The Diamond Dyes!

What Dyes are strong, and bright, and fast,
And always dye to live and last?
The Diamond Dyes!

What Dyes give grand results each time
Whenever used in any clime?
The Diamond Dyes!

What Dyes bring profit, pleasure, peace
And by their work a great increase?
The Diamond Dyes!

What Dyes should all Canadians try?

It is hard to have a revival in a church where everybody wants to be a brigadier general.

Keep Minard's Liniment in the House.

"Oh, that my father could be seized with a remittent fever," sighed a spendthrift student at a medical college.

Minard's Liniment Lumberman's Friend.

"That's what I call hush money," remarked a man, as he paid the druggist for a bottle of paregoric to take home to the baby.

For bilious and miasmatic diseases, Ayer's Ague Cure is a safe and radical cure.

Toodles—Could you let me have five dollars for a few days?

No; I have more days than I know what to do with now.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla contains Iodide of Potassium and Iron, and vegetable blood purifiers.

Father (visiting at college)—My son, these are better cigars that I can afford.

Son—That's all right, father; take all you want, this is on me.

A person is prematurely old when baldness occurs before the forty-fifth year. Use Hall's Hair Renewer to keep the scalp healthy and prevent baldness.

Your son is 21, and your daughter is older, is she not?

Mother—Oh, no; I guess you've got it confused with the fact that she used to be.

If you do not know how good a remedy Garfield Tea really is for constipaiton and sick headache, send a postal card to D. Densmore & Co., 271 Queen Street, East, Toronto, for a free, trial package.

Parents Must Have Rest.

A President of one of our Colleges says: "We spent many sleepless nights in consequence of our children suffering from colds, but this never occurs now. We use Scott's Emulsion and it quickly relieves pulmonary troubles."

Great Actor—You'll have to get some one else to take my part in this new play. Why, sir, in the first act I have to kiss the leading lady three times.

Manager—What of that?

Great Actor—You forget that she is my wife.

Aunt Maria—I think you and Mr Mann ought to get along nicely together You know you both like the same people.

Matilda—Yes, and, what is better, we hate the same people. Just think what nice long talks we shall have together.

Summer Heat.—This is the season for Bowel Complaints. Green apples and cucumbers produce them, and PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER cures them. To the troubled Stomach it comes like a balm, the wind is assuaged, and the trouble ceases. Every druggist in the land keeps the Pain-Killer, and no father should be without it in his family.

And what's your reason for increasing the servant's wages, pray? her friend asked.

Because my husband complained that my dress and millinery bills equalled the household expenses, and I want to show him they do not.

Mrs Jones—Wasn't that a powerful address of Brother Smith's at the experience meeting?

Deacon Jones—Oh, Smith is a good man, but he's a little conceited. To hear him talk, you would think there never was a hardened sinner in the world except him!

Did that fellow who was hanged die in the hope of a better life, like most of them?

I am not right sure about that, returned the minister. He made his breakfast entirely off ice cream. He seemed to have some doubt that there would be any of it where he was going.

He looked despairingly into vacancy. "I had my misgivings," he said, in a dull, passionless voice, "but now I am sure. Your laugh shows me you are utterly heartless."

She turned pale.

"Heavens," she cried in terror, "did I open my mouth as wide as that?"

Pressing her hand to her brow she paced the floor in great agitation.

SHE WOULD NOT BE PATIENT.

SHE SIGHED FOR HEALTH.

Found It in Paine's Celery Compound.

There is no virtue in patience when pain and disease torment the body. It is a crime against Heaven and our fellow mortals to allow disease to gain the mastery when help and cure is at our very doors.

A Kingston, Ont. lady, the mother of a large family, suffered for many years from kidney trouble and neuralgia. Medical aid and numberless medicines failed to remove her troubles. She became very impatient with medical efforts she chafed and fretted because her little ones could not receive the attention from her they needed.

The suffering wife and mother providentially had placed in her hands a record of cures and wonderful restorations to health effected by Paine's Celery Compound. That very day she procured two bottles of the marvellous medicine, and in three weeks' time she felt that she had at last found the way to health. After using seven bottles she was made hale and strong; every trace of disease had been banished, and to use her own words "she felt as if a new life had been given to her." Paine's Celery Compound can and will do the same good work for all who suffer. It is a conqueror of disease wherever used.
