Racket in the German Cabinet—Wretched Condition of Italian Troops in Abyssinia.

MORE TROUBLE FOR WILLIAM.

London, Feb. 1.—All the special dispatches from Berlin this morning discuss the rumored resignations of the Ministers as the outcome of the discussion over the naval needs of the empire. The Vossiche Zeitung says the retirement of Dr. von Boetticher, Secretary for State for the Interior, is a certainty that he will be succeeded by Herr von Puttkamer. It is also reported that Vice-Admiral Hollman, Secretary of State for the Navy, has resigned.

RHODES BACKS UP JAMESON.

London, Feb. 1.—Cecil Rhodes, ex-Premier of Cape Colony, has arrived at the Island of Madeira. It transpires that the reports that he will plead ignorance of the operations of Dr. Jameson in the Transvaal are unfounded. Mr. Rhodes, on the contrary, has telegraphed a statement of the events leading to Dr. Jameson's raid to his London solicitors, to be used as evidence in Jameson's defense when the latter's trial comes off.

WHAT EVERYBODY WISHES.

London, Feb. 1.—At a meeting of the Monetary Reform Association at Glasgow yesterday a letter was read from Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, the First Lord of the Treasury and Conservative leader, stating the writer's earnest desire was undiminished that the nations of the world should adopt some means to end the monetary difficulties, now checking industry and embarrassing international commerce.

DIRTY BUT DEFIANT.

Rome, Feb. 1.—Dispatches received here from Gen. Baratieri, commander-in-chief of the Italian forces in Abyssinia, say that when Col. Galliano's column arrived at Baratieri's camp, the men were clad in rags and completely encased in dust and dirt. For 25 days they had not been able to wash, owing to the scarcity of water at Makalle, but their ardor was not a whit abated, and they were unanimous in their expressions of anxiety to take part in the engagement with the enemy. Col. Galliano explained that King Menelek did not wish to release him and his command, but that Ras Makonnen, commanding the Abyssinian army which besieged the Italian fortress at Makelle, insisted that they should be allowed to proceed to Gen. Baratieri's camp.

King Humbert has sent a telegram to Gen. Baratieri instructing him to express to Col. Galliano his Majesty's congratulations and admiration of his gallantry.

DEATH-DEALING TORNADO.

Brisbane, Queensland, Feb. 1.—Great loss of life and very large destruction of property have been caused in the northern part of the colony by a tornado and floods. It is impossible as yet to tell how many persons lost their lives, but it is known that great numbers were drowned. The damage to property is estimated at $2,500,000. Several coasting vessels are missing, and it is believed that they have either foundered or been driven ashore, and that all aboard of them were lost. Townsville, a seaport on Cleveland Bay, suffered more than any other place in the district affected. There is scarcely a building in the town that escaped damage. Advices from the Tonga Islands show that a hurricane lately passed over them. Two ships at Tonga Taboo Island were wrecked, and the thousands of cocoanut trees on the plantations were torn up by the roots, causing heavy loss to their owners.

MORE MAPS.

A dispatch to the New York Herald from Caracas, Venezuela, says: Antonio Fernandez, President of the State of Falcon, has telegraphed that in the archives of Coro, capital of the State and the oldest city in Venezuela, has been found a map, published in London in 1794, in which the limits of British Guiana are given about as Venezuela asserts are right.

Frank E. Rice, of Port Huron, Mich., has discovered an old atlas bearing a Glasgow (Scotland) imprint of 1799, which contains to be what purports to be a correct map of South America. In this the boundary between Dutch Guiana and Venezuela is the River Essequibo. This line goes far to the east beyond what Venezuela claims, and leaves England only a narrow strip of Guiana.

Up to this time the United States Venezuelan Boundary Commission has not received notice from either the British or the Venezuelan Government of an intention to avail itself of the invitation extended to appear before the commission through representatives.

COMMENTS ON THE DUNRAVEN DECISION.

London, Feb. 1.—Only the Pall Mall Gazette, Globe and St. James Gazette comment upon the finding of the New York Yacht Club committee against Lord Dunraven in the charges which the latter brought against Defender's handlers. The Globe heads a somewhat sarcastic article "Lord Dunraven Justified, and says: "The committee would have done much better to flatly refuse to prosecute an inquiry which their action made of no value. In regard to the evidence, the Globe remarks: "It is a little unfortunate that so much cutting up and transferring of lead on the Defender and Hattie Palmer should be going on at the time Lord Dunraven thought he noticed a difference in the load water line and the necessity which compelled Hereshoff to withdraw his valuable assistance from the committee of inquiry after being informed that he would be cross-examined on the following Monday, is deeply to be regretted and must be very painful to himself. The real blame for the whole business falls upon the shoulders of the original cup committee, which appears about as unbusiness-like a body as one could meet. Unless they show themesives capable of bringing some small modicum of common sense to bear upon the arrangements of an international contest we earnestly trust no English yachtsman will challenge again. We are unable to see Lord Dunraven's position as a sportsman is injured."

SALISBURY SPEAKS.

London, Feb. 1.—Prime Minister Salisbury delivered a speech here last night, in the course of which he contradicted the statements made on Thursday night by John Morley to the electors of Arbroath concerning the Monroe doctrine. Mr. Morley said that Lord Salisbury had blundered in seeming to question the Monroe doctrine, and that if there ever was a question that should be arbitrated it was the Venezuelan boundary question. Lord Salisbury said that although the doctrine formed no part of the international law, his despatch to Secretary of State Olney supported it as a rule of policy as strongly and distinctly as possible, but in the form in which President Monroe himself understood it. The Prime Minister expressed sympathy with the Armenians, but denied that Great Britain was under an obligation to declare war against the Sultan of Turkey in order to compel him to govern justly, and cited the treaties in proof of his contention. He ascribed the atrocities to the passions of the race and creed. He believed that the Sultan's government was wretched and impotent, but there was no ground for imagining that the Sultan had instigated the massacre. It might be asked why Europe did not interfere. He could only answer for England. She had lacked the power to do the only thing necessary to end the troubles, namely, to militarily occupy Turkish provinces. None of the powers wished to occupy them. Lord Salisbury said he concurred in the belief that the only authority—albeit it was an evil one—in that country, was the prestige of the Sultan's name. Patience must be exercised, and his Majesty must be given time to enforce the reforms he had promised. He remarked upon the gradual return of order in Anatolia during the last few weeks, although he admitted that these signs should not be trusted too much. He concluded by declaring that if Great Britain did not co-operate with the other powers she must act against them, which would lead to calamities far more awful than the Armenian massacres.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS—CREDITORS and all other persons having claims upon the estate of Seth Luce, late of the township of Caradoc, yeoman (who died on or about the 14th day of December, 1895), are required on or before the 1st day of March, 1896, to send in their claims to Macbeth & Macpherson, of 74½ Dundas street, London, solicitors for the executors of the last will and testament of the said Seth Luce. After the 1st day of March, 1896, the said executors will proceed to distribute the estate of the said Seth Luce among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which they shall then have notice. LOOK OUT FOR A ROW.

Brazil and France May Have It—What About the Monroe Doctrine Here?

Paris, Feb. 1.—The Politique Colonial today announces that the Brazilians have occupied the contested territory on the border of French Guiana. France and Brazil for a long time have been engaged in a dispute as to the ownership of a large tract of territory generally known as Amapa, France claims that the southern boundary of French Guiana is the Amazon River. Brazil holds that the River Oyapock is the southern boundary of French Guiana.

HUNDREDS MOVED TO TEARS.

Pathetic Scene at the Funeral of Evangelist Moody's Mother.

East Northfield, Mass., Feb. 1.—There was a pathetic incident at the funeral of Mrs. Betsey Moody yesterday.. As Evangelist Dwight Moody, standing over the open coffin which held the dead body of his mother, paid a touching tribute to her life of self-sacrifice and devotion, the hundreds of people who filled the church were moved to tears. The world-famous evangelist read from the old leather-bound family Bible, which his mother had treasured for years, and expounded the passages in homely phrases; then, turning to the deceased face and with the gentle voice which has turned thousands from a life of sin, said: "God bless you, mother; we love you still." It was sufficient to move the strongest heart. The people in the audience were unable to control their grief, and the sobs of the weeping women nearly drowned the voice of the evangelist.

Progress of Bridge-Building on the London and Port Stanley Road.

The Grand Trunk Railway earned $305,66 during the week ending Jan. 25, 189—or an increase of $21,342 over the corresponding week in 1895.

St. Thomas Journal: Fourteen carloads of steel work for the bridge on the L. and P. S. R. over Kettle Creek are now here, and a large gang of men will be put on at once to unload it. Only three weeks were occupied in the construction of the Mill Creek bridge, but it will take somewhat longer to put up the steel work for the structure across the Kettle Creek ravine, for the reason that twice as many trains pass between London and St. Thomas as between St. Thomas and the lake, and also becouse there is an 85-foot span in this bridge. Mr. C. F. Hanson will receive $63 for his services in inspecting the construction of the Mill Creek bridge.

FIVE FEET CUT OFF.

Hard Luck of a Party of Four Runaway Lads Who Were Frozen.

Jamesburg, N. Y., Feb. 1.—The four boys who escaped from the reform school several weeks ago and tramped for two of the coldest nights of this winter are crippled for life. Their hands and feet were badly frozen. Tuesday it became necessary to amputate five of the boys lost a foot each and one boy lost two.

A VICTIM OF SCIENCE.

Philadelphia, Feb. 1.—Dr. Alfred L. Kennedy, at one time one of the most distinguished chemists in this country, and an authority on medicine and botonical and physiological matters, was burned to death last night in his offices at No. 132 South Third street. It is believed he was experimenting with chemicals, when an explosion occurred. When the firemen arrived the offices were completely gutted and Dr. Kennedy's body was found burned almost to a crisp.

MIDGETS TO MARRY.

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 1.—The City of Mason is all excitement over a marriage which will be solemnized there on Monday evening. The contracting parties will be Mary J. Gongaware, who lives a few miles from Mason, and N. G. W. Winner, of Menticello, Ill. The bride-elect is 18 years old, 40 inches tall, and weighs 65 pounds, while the prospective groom is 26 years old, 40 inches tall, and weighs 80 pounds.

The wedding wil take place at the Opera House, and an admission fee will be charged, the proceeds to go to the Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

An impecunious German, a resident of Munich, finding himself short of funds, had recourse to the following novel scheme for raising the wind. He ordered a confectioner to make a cake for his wife's birthday, containing as a surprise, a lining of new 20 pfennig pieces. The German's financial stringency was relieved.

DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION.

C. W. Snow & Co., Syracuse, N. Y., write: "Please send us ten gross of Pills We are selling more of Parmelee's Pills than any other pill we keep. They have a great reputation for the cure of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint." Mr. Charles A. Smith, Lindsay, writes: "Parmelee's Pills are an excellent medicine. My sister has been troubled with severe headache, but these Pills have cured her.
