THE CITY WILL ACCOMMODATE.

West Toronto Junction's Perplexing Sewage Problem.

The Provincial Board of Health resumed its session yesterday morning at 10.30. Dr. Cassidy presided and all were present except Dr. Rae. Dr. Bryce read the report on tuberculosis on behalf of the committee on epidemics. The report was adopted on discussion. In the afternoon Dr. Rae was present. Assistant City Solicitor Caswell and Assistant Engineer Rust were on hand in response to the invitation of the board. Mayor Clendenan, Capt. Perry, Solicitor Going and Engineer Biggs were present to look after the interests of the Junction in the discussion of the proposed system of sewage dispcsal for the latter town.

A number of questions were asked by the board of the city representatives. In reply to the question as to the prospects of obtaining the city water supply by gravitation, Mr. Rust said there were no such prospects so far as he knew. The committee of the council which was considering the matter had not yet reported. He would not answer for the aldermen.

Mr. Caswell said the city could not consent to the emptying of Junction sewage into Humber Bay so long as the St. Alban's pumping station was in operation.

Mr. Rust said both he and Mr. Jennings quite understood that the Junction would be allowed to drain through Dundas-street sewer.

Mayor Clendenan said the city had written the Junction last January promptly declining to allow any such thing. At any rate Mr. Jennings' views would have to be confirmed by the council and they were suspicious of the willingness of the council so to confirm.

Mr. Caswell said in reply to Dr. Bryce that the City Solicitor had instructions to proceed against the Junction the moment they attempted to pollute Humber Bay.

On motion of Dr. Macdonald the city and town were requested to consult with a view to reaching an agreement with regard to the use by the town of Dundas-street sewer, and to report to the board not later than June 15.

The report on the Junction matter was adopted.

Dr. Cassidy, Dr. Bryce and Dr. Covernton were appointed delegates to the seventh International Congress of Hygiene and Demography to be held in London, Eng., in August next.

Dr. Bryce was further instructed to proceed to the Continent and investigate the various systems of water supply and sewage disposal in operation there.

Prof. Carpmael and Mr. Clark of the Canadian Institute waited on the board to urge the necessity of investigation to determine the direction of upper and lower lake currents and their effect on the water supply.

A resolution was adopted appointing a committee to confer with committees of the institute and Board of Trade with a view to inducing the City Council to make the desired investigation.

The report on the dispute between Windsor and Walkerville was read and received. It will be discussed this morning at 10.30.

Get Your Mind Read.

The event next week at Robinson's Musee will be Prof. Seymour, the celebrated mind-reader, said to be a psychological marvel. He has been without a peer since the death of the famous Irving Bishop, who astounded everybody by his wonderful performances. Prof. Seymour is said to do all the great feats of Bishop and adds many others quite as marvelous. His London sensational driving test is the most severe to which he subjects himself, and this he will perform next Tuesday, and that there may be no question as to the honesty and genuineness of the feat the arrangements will be left entirely in the hands of the members of the press. This committee will hide an article agreed upon among themselves within a radius of three miles of the theatre and return. Prof. Seymour while blindfolded will take the party in a hack drive through the busiest streets of the city and find the article hidden. Incredible as this may seem he has always successfully accomplished his object. This is only one of the many wonders which he will show the multitude who will be attracted to the Musee next week by the great bill given by Manager Robinson. In the theatre the talent presents more attractions than for a long time, and the management are assured of the hearty approval of the public. Della Zolo, human gas jet, introduces her trip to old man Satan, eating blazing sealing wax, fire-balls, drinking cups of fire and masticating burning cigars on her bare tongue. She is a fire-eater and in the vernacular "will astonish the natives." Delanos' Cosmopolitan Combination are a host in themselves. Prince Juka and Princess Miena Japanese magicians, fantastic illusionists and top-spinners, present a variety of original feats scarcely ever before attempted. Miss Lily Beach is the charming serio-comic artist. Jeppe Delano interprets the refinement of light comedy in conjunction with the dashing soubret Fannie Delano. Al. H. Wilson is the great Dutch dialect comedian of the company. Burns and Burns, late of the Vaidis' Sisters Company, present the artistic musical feature of the program. The theatre performances will be changed to 3 p.m. and 8 and 9.30 in evening.

The schoolhouse of St. George's Church was well filled last night with an appreciative audience assembled to witness the initial performance of "Little Boy Blue," by the children of the Ministering League. A gavotte and March by the St. George's Orchestra opened the proceedings. The actors in miniature did credit to their teaching, enrapturing the audience. The performance was unique in character and thoroughly enjoyable. There is to be a matinee; doors open at 2.15.

TO HELP BEAT THE BAND.

Amateurs Entertain a Large Audience at the Grand.

Those who were at the Grand Opera House last night must have heartily agreed with that great master of the mimic art John L. Sullivan when he pronounced the famous dictum that acting was "dead easy." At least when they saw the ease with which the amateurs who presented Gilbert's comedy "On Guard," they were apt to endorse that delusion. The play was given under the auspices of Lieut.-Col. Hamilton and the officers of the Queen's Own Rifles in aid of the band fund of the regiment. The members of the Sheridan Club, a clever organization of amateurs filled the cast, which was as follows:

Jessie Blake.....Guy Warrington's Cousin
Miss Walker.
Mrs. Fitzosborne.....A Fascinating Widow
Miss Bunting.
Denis Grant.....An African Traveler
Mr. Douglas Armour.
Corny Kavanagh.....An Adventurer
Mr. Stuart Morrison.
Lieut. Guy Warrington.....In Love With Jessie
Mr. Vaux Chadwick.
Grouse.....An Attorney
Mr. A. McL. Macdonell.
Baby Bootle.....An Officer of Dragoons
Mr. H. M. Boddy.
Bruce.....Guy's Servant
Mr. McG. Young.
Jenkins.....A Sailor
Mr. Ramsay.

Miss Walker's impersonation of Jessie Blake was a most pleasing effort and worthy of high commendation. Miss Bunting as the fascinating widow realized perfectly the character, and her charming portraiture fully explained the infatuation of Corny Kavanagh and Baby Bootle for her. Of the gentlemen it may be said generally that there was not a stick in the whole company, and while words of praise might be given to all it is not unfair to single out for praise Mr. A. McL. Macdonell, Mr. H. M. Boddy and Mr. Douglas Armour. Mr. Macdonell's comedy was of excellent quality. The regimental band, under the leadership of Mr. Bayley, played during the evening and was an attractive part of the night's program. In every large assemblage there is sure to be an ass, and the one in last night's gathering betrayed his parentage by rolling a cabbage on the stage at an inopportune moment. Fortunately he had no relatives present, for nobody laughed at the clumsy joke. The house was crowded, the great majority being in evening dress. The delicate attire worn by the ladies, the gleam of fair shoulders and the gay uniforms of the officers made a captivating scene. "On Guard" was a thorough success, and this taste of the histrionic quality of the performers begot a desire for a similar treat ere long.

SOIREE IN THE CHURCH PARLORS.

How Ex-Ald. Boustead Was Honored Last Night—Praise Galore.

In the parlors of the Metropolitan Church there was an interesting function last night. Pastor, trustees, stewards and all officially connected with the Sunday school met to do honor to one to whom honor was due. For 12 years Mr. J. B. Boustead had been intimately connected with the oversight of the young on the Lord's day, and meet it was that his energetic and self-denying labors should receive public recognition. This took the form of a testimonial—not a mere illuminated address, but a handsome secretaire, surmounted with tasteful ornaments, the latter being a gift to Mrs. Boustead, who, like her husband, had been in labors manifold in the flourishing school.

Superintendent Mills, the ex-alderman's successor, was master of the ceremonies; Pastor Leroy Hooker was Mercurius, and in words felicitous made the presentation; pathetic and reminiscent was the speech of the chief recipient; tuneful as David's harp was the instrumental orchestra; highly creditable the rendering of sacred solos by the cream of Metropolitan's choir, and the ex-aldermau and his good lady fairly and pardonably blushed as their sterling qualities of head and heart were chanted by half-a-dozen successive speakers.

The pastor repudiated the idea that the present represented the wane of Boustead's 12 years' service as superintendent of the Sunday school: it was only significant of the appreciation of his co-workers in that church. "The true memorial of your work," said Mr Hooker, "will appear in the manhood and womanhood of the boys and girls upon whom you have exerted a beneficial influence. It is the prayer of all that you may live long to enjoy your new home and to carry on God's work in other spheres, blessed with the serene radiance of old age till you reach the life eternal." Mr. Hooker concluded by reading this engraved inscription over the desk: "To J. B. Boustead, Esq., a souvenir of his 12 years' superintendence of Metropolitan Church Sunday school."

Mr. Boustead and his wife were very much affected by the kindly references. The ex-alderman, almost in Scriptural language, said, "We have merely done that which it was our duty to do." Then he was succinctly autobiographic, touching on his long connection with Methodism, his appointment in 1865 as superintendent of Yorkville Sunday school, his labors in other spheres before taking charge of a Bible class at the Metropolitan, and his subsequent happy experiences as superintendent. He gave useful advice to all engaged in the work, and as the fire burned he waxed forceful if not eloquent. His class of Chinamen in front of him beamed with Oriental delight as he ran over their names and exhorted them in the way they should go.

Eulogistic speeches followed by Superintendent Mills, Dr. Wilmot, Dr. McLaren, Q.C., Mr. Torrington, Mr. W. H. Pearson and Mr. James.

THE KAISER'S ESCAPE.

The Man Who Rules Germany Narrowly Escapes Death.

BERLIN, May 15.—While Emperor William was out driving to-day in Potsdam his horses bolted and his carriage was hurled against a tree. An adjutant in attendance caught the falling Emperor in his arms. The Emperor was unhurt, but he had a very narrow escape from serious injury, or even death.

IT DEPENDS ON THE RATEPAYERS.

Negotiations Continue With the Railway Companies.

The Mayor, Ald. McDougall and the railway companies are continuing their negotiations in connection with the Esplanade. There was a meeting of the full Esplanade Committee yesterday morning, but it was held with closed doors. The course pursued by the negotiators for the city was approved of and they were instructed to continue on the same lines. Mr. Nicol Kingsmill's office was the scene of negotiations until a late hour last night, and in all probability business will have to be continued to-day.

Though all concerned are extremely reticent enough leaked out to warrant the belief that the alternative site west of Lorne-street to Simcoe will be chosen, the only difficulty being a doubt as to whether the ratepayers in their present temper will consent to the bylaw for $250,000 necessary for the purchase of the Grand Trunk's interest on the south side of the Esplanade between York and Simcoe-streets, and also the Canadian Pacific's charges for filling in the water lots in front of the Custom House and westerly to York-street, and also to reimburse that company for the filling in necessary on the alternative site. The draft agreement will be submitted at a meeting of the Esplanade Committee on Tuesday or Wednesday next.

At the Police Court.

Yesterday Michael McConnell, a young man with a bad record, was committed to the Central Prison for a year for theft of carpenters' and other tools. Frederick Cronk and Patrick Collins were committed for trial charged with assaulting Thomas Paddon, who has for several weeks been under treatment at the Hospital in consequence thereof. Herbert W. D. Smith was remanded for a week charged with abducting his younger brother from Newtonbrook to the Clyde Hotel. Two men, who gave the names of John Stewart and Joseph Smith, were arrested at an early hour yesterday morning in a vacant house in Peter-street. They were equipped with bull's-eye lantern and burglar's tools. The Magistrate remanded them for a week to enable enquiries to be made into their antecedents. A. W. Godson was again remanded for a week on the charges of fraud preferred against him by the city.
