TORONTO'S BALL PLAYERS.

THE PERSONNEL OF NEXT SEASON'S TEAM.

Broken Down Race Horses—Pointers About American Jockeys and Trainers—Sporting News in Short Space.

Up to date the Toronto Baseball Association has signed Decker and Traffley as catchers; McKinley pitcher; Faatz first base; Kearns second base; McCormick third base; Albert short stop; Slattery left field; Gilman centre field; Connors, right field. Manager Cushman is looking after two certain pitchers, and it is expected he will have them engaged today. Slattery played with the Haverhills of the New England League last season and made a splendid record. He is a fast sprinter and a great base runner. Denny Connors is another good man. He finished the season with the Buffalos, and was wanted by several managers.

The directors visited the grounds yesterday. They instructed the caretaker that the sod in the diamond should be raised and relaid, and decided to paint the grand stand. Other improvements are to follow.

Broken Down Horses.

The turf career of a racehorse does not differ materially from the life of an individual. To many this may seem to be a most peculiar comparison, but it is nevertheless a true one in so far as the ups and downs of each are concerned. Like a man, a horse may be unknown to-day and famous to-morrow, or on the other hand he may be the idol of the public for a time, and then in a few brief seasons his place be usurped by one seemingly more favored with marvelous speed or individual greatness.

Parole, one of the most popular performers that ever faced the starter's flag in America, whocreated a wonderful sensation when he appeared on the English turf, can be seen any pleasant day in Central Park, New York, doing the service of his master as a common saddle-horse. Bootjack, one of the best of Bonnie Scotland's sons and at one time the crack of the Dwyer stable, can be daily seen on the streets of Lexington, Ky., drawing a wagon. Checkmate, the conqueror of the great Hindoo, and fill in all one of the best performers that has figured on the turf during the past ten years, is now doing service on an omnibus company in a little country town. Boardman, who electrified the racing public at Sheepshead Bay in 1880 by running a mile in 1.40¼, can be seen any day at Washington Market, New York. Tolinda, who carried Mr. Reed's colors to the front on many an occasion and one of the best steeplechasers ever in America, is now drawing a wagon at Saratoga. Ike Bonham, another famous steeplechaser of recent date, is now the lignoble servant of a garbage hauler. No more applause from the turf visitors is his.

The combined value of the six horses above mentioned when on the turf amounted to a large sum; to-day they could be bought for a mere song. Contest these once turf wonders with Ten Broeck and Longfellow. They not only earned laurels on the turf but new coupons contribute a large sum to the bank account of their owner. Like men horses are born and live under a lucky or unlucky star. Some after having made a brilliant turf record and proved a fair success in the stud have, even then, passed their closing days under a cloud.

Jockeys and Trainers.

Among the principal American jockeys who have made engagements for next season are: McLaughlin with Dwyer Bros.; Spellman and F. Littlefield with J. B. Haggin; Hayward with Appleby & Johnston; Garrison and Church with S. S. Brown; Fitzpatrick with the Fairfax Stable; Murphy and West with E. J. Baldwin; Caldwell with Green Morris; Barbee with F. Gebhard; Blaylock with E. Corrigan; Hughes with the Locust Stable; Feakes with the Preakness Stable.

There will be less changes among the trainers than has been the case for a long time. Mr. Huggins will remain with the Hard and Chesterbrook stable. Mr. Littlefield will continue with the Preakness and Pincus with Mr. Belmont, McCabe with Dwyer Bros., Stewart with Appleby & Johnston, Rowe with the Fairfax, Rogers with Captain Brown, McClelland with Baldwin, Walter Rollins with Mr. P. Lorillard Jr., while Matt Byrnes will handle Haggins. The stable of any importance is in Mr. D. D. Withers' stable. Mr. Riley will sever his connection with it after ten years' service. Who will succeed him as trainer to "the gentleman in black" is not settled. Barbee will train as well as ride Mr. Gebhard's horses.

About Hamilton Baseballers.

Spectator: Joe Knight and Mickey Jones have signed with the Hamiltons. Contracts have been sent on to Rainey and M. Morrison. Collins will be home from Muskoka in a day or two and will at once start for the States to get players. It is possible that Jerry Moore will catch for the team next year.

Times: Andy Somers will play in New York next year, getting $1800 for the season. Jerry Moore, Wright, Knight, Collins, M. Morrison, Jones and Rainey will play in the Hamilton team next season.

Archer Died a Millionaire.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—At the inquest in the case of Fred. Archer to-day it was proved that Archer had sustained no losses in betting, and that the cause of his derangement was typhoid fever, aggravated by weakness due to the restricted regimen which he had adopted in order to reduce his weight. A verdict of suicide while insane was rendered. It is reported that Archer leaves $1,250,000.

Racing at Liverpool.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The Liverpool autumn meeting began to-day. The race for the Knowsley Nursery Stakes for 2-year-olds was won by A. B. Carr's bay colt Quicksand, Mr. Hungerford's Pierrepont second, Mr. Melville's Horton third. There were nine starters. Time 1.05.

General Notes.

Hanlan will not row in any more races in England during the present season.

The International Baseball League will meet at Utica Wednesday, November 17.

The Oswegos have engaged Fowler, Derby, Burdick and West for next year's team.

Frank Hart, the colored pedestrian, and one of the managers of last week's walking match, was arrested in Boston last night charged with misappropriating $700 of the receipts.

The second team of the Torontos was badly worsted at Rugby football yesterday afternoon by the Upper Canadas, on the latter's ground. The score was something like 3 to 0.

Fred Archer was about to marry a daughter of Bloss, the Newmarket trainer, and to retire from the saddle at the expiration of this year, provided he held his present lead of winning mounts.

Mr. Chas. Boyle is in the city, and reports his horses as all doing well. He brought Springfield, Rock and Rye, Bandala and Wildwood home with him to winter at Woodstock. The balance of his string will remain at Monmouth Park.

A few Oswego gentlemen have raised $1000 as the nucleus of a fund to run a baseball team in the Starch City next year. They propose raising $2500 and say when the season opens Oswego will be represented by a nine as strong as any in the league.

There will be a general practice of the Toronto Football Club at Trinity College Thursday afternoon at 3.30 sharp. It is especially requested that every member will make a point of turning out, so as to get the team into shape for Saturday's match. There will also be a committee meeting of the Toronto club to consider various matters.

The judges in the thoroughbred class at the New York Horse Show were Col. Bruce, of the Turf, Field and Farm, Wm. Lawrence, secretary, and Mr. Bradford, Judge of the Coney Island Jockey Club. These gentlemen decided all the awards, and of course having placed the Montreal horse Quito above Woodstock, once could not stultify themselves by reversing their own verdict. At Toronto the judges were Dr. Crak, Major Peters and Mr. T. C. Patteson, who preferred the English cast-off Woodstock to the broken-down American horse Quito. The fact is that the best thoroughbred stallions are not taken to the New York Horse Show, though trotters quite as valuable find their way there. The N. Y. Sportsman says of Duke of Magenta; "He got first prize and no doubt deserved it, but there was much disappointment among Woodstock's admirers. To our mind Woodstock in spite of having served eighty-six mares this season, is a much better horse in appearance than he was a year ago. However, opinions in horse show awards are always sure to clash." That's where the fun comes in!

The "Intelligent" English Editor.

From the Christian Guardian, Nov. 10.

No Canadian has travelled through England without meeting tokens of ignorance about Canada, which gave him a genuine surprise. Even the newspapers, the guides of public opinion, make some strange blunders, and persons of average intelligence get strangely mixed about American geography. The editor of this paper met an intelligent English lady in Switzerland in 1881; after our return home we received a letter from her expressing her sympathy with us in the loss of our President, Gen. Garfield. But here is a paragraph, quoted from the St. James Gazette, which exceeds anything we have ever read, as a professed record of current history. It will be thought truly "horrible to read" by all Canadian readers:

"The Indian outbreak which is reported from Canada will of course be put down easily and quickly. But the havoc already wrought by the Crowfeet is horrible to read. The tribe started on the warpath on Monday, for some reason which does not seem to be clearly known. They have carried on operations in genuine Indian fashion, ruthlessly murdering every living creature they came up with, firing their homes and scalping the dead. They annihilated the tiny settlement of Hudson, killing the entire population of six men and ten women and children. They are said to have murdered a hundred white settlers scattered in lonely farm houses, and two Roman Catholic missionaries. As they neared the American border they fell in with the hostile Gros Ventres. A desperate fight followed, the Crowfeet losing about forty and the Gros Ventres about fifty of their number. The Mounted Police are already in pursuit, and will be supported by militia if required. Following so soon on the deplorable Indian outbreak under Riel, this disturbance seems to show that some more regular system of supervision is needed over the tribes of the Northwest."

FESTIVE STUDENTS.

Fourth Year University Men Give a Reception to the Freshmen.

Last night was a good opportunity for seeing the bright side of student life, when the University fourth year men entertained their confreres of the first year in Moss Hall. Hitherto there has been a want of confidence between the seniors and juniors; the former looked upon the young freshmen with something like contempt, while the latter regarded their seniors with fear and a wholesome dread of "hazing." A short time ago the fourth year men generously decided to give a reception to beginners and encourage them in their pursuit of learning. Nearly one hundred responded to the invitation issued by a committee composed of A. H. Young, Chairman; W. B. Nesbitt, Secretary; J. A. Ferguson, R. L. Johnston, John Crawford, C. J. Hardie, W. F. Robinson, J. A. Duff, T. H. Rogers and J. G. Hume. These gentlemen and others received the young fellows as they came in, and throughout the evening treated them as returned prodigals. W. H. Harvie, on behalf of the first year men, made a short speech, in which he thanked the seniors for their kind treatment. He said they had expected to be brought before the throne of the Grand Mufti. The chief contributors to the program were: J. C. Burroughs, who sang A Rosebud on the River; Wait Till the Clouds Roll By, and Annie Laurie, with tearful effect; J. Hughes sang Bridget Donoghue; J. G. Hume, a Medley; J. J. Ferguson, McIlroy; A. T. Thompson, Clementine; W. V. Wright gave as a reading The Three Lovers. The piano was manipulated by H. F. Gadsby, H. B. Bruce and F. W. McKeown. The prevailing college songs were Gambolier, Kemo-Kimo, A Bulldog on the Bank, Vive la Compagnie, Over There, and Who Will Smoke My Meerschaum Pipe. Good coffee and choice cake were in abundance, and the enjoyment continued until midnight.

Woltz Bros.' New Jewelry Store.

A representative of The World in passing down Leader-lane yesterday observed the handsome jewelry establishment of this well known firm. The store just opened up by them is immediately opposite Messrs. Simpsons', and being on a thoroughfare where an immense pedestrian traffic is going on from sunrise to sunset, it cannot fail to be a venture attended with success. The premises have (besides the re-building) been decorated and refitted with the most costly furnishings suitable to the jewelry business, and nothing but the genuine article in diamonds, watches and jewelry will be offered to customers of to-day and prospective. The season just at hand will suggest to the many that Woltz Bros' is the place to purchase reliable Christmas presents. They are thoroughly experienced men of business and will offer only the pure article, and that of the very best, to their friends at the lowest figures consistent with a living profit. Watch repairing and ordered jewelry of the finest designs will be done on the premises and to the strictest letter, and estimates will be cheerfully given for any branch of jewelry work suitable to the festive season of Christmas.

A Revival Among the Baptists.

Those good people who like revivals without the sensational element will find pleasure in the meetings being conducted by Rev. Dr. Judson of New York in the Bloor-street Baptist Church. Yesterday afternoon Dr. Judson gave a calm exposition of the necessity for revivals in the Christian Church. In the evening he took for his text the "Parable of the Five Foolish Virgins," who were not ready for the coming of the bridegroom. He pointed out the moral beauty of being in the vanguard of every good movement, and urged his hearers to be ready, not only for the next world, but ready to seize good opportunities, and ready to take part in the work of life. Dr. Judson ought to have a crowded church every service. He will preach afternoon and evening for the remainder of the week.

The Two Sams' Charities.

The Executive Committee of the Sam Jones revival meetings on balancing up their accounts found the sum of $800 on the right side. They awarded the amounts as follows:

Haven	$100
Sick Children's Hospital	100
House of Industry	75
Home for Incurables	75
Boys' Home	75
Girls' Home	75
Newsboys' Home	50
Industrial Rooms	50
Poor of St. John's Ward	100
King-street Mission	100
Total	$800

The Civil Assizes.

In the Civil Assizes yesterday Chief Justice Cameron disposed of three non-jury cases. Harris v. Johns, commenced on Monday, was decided in favor of the plaintiff. Radford v. Brown, an action to have enforced an agreement to exchange property in Manitoba and Toronto, was referred for the purpose of taking an account. Jamieson v. Waniess, an action to recover $427.20 on a promissory note, given as collateral security with a mortgage, was dismissed with costs, the mortgage being due. Peremptory list for to-day: Holmsted v. Morphy, Clarkson v. Stirling, Jones v. Beard, Cork v. Baxter, Jones v. Baxter, Mitchell v. Paterson, Reggin v. Vansickler.

Wicked Weighs.

The weigh of the wicked—1800 pounds to the ton.

Selling two-thirds of a ton of coal for a ton is worse than highway robbery.

The worst chestnut we know of is the coal dealers' joke of calling 2000 pounds of coal and driver a ton of chestnut.

The honest coal dealer when he is engaging a driver doesn't care whether he is a Democrat or a Republican. He only insists that he shall be a solid man of considerable weight in the community.

"I want you to send a ton of coal to my house," said the paragrapher to the coal man.

"All right," answered the coal dealer. "James, take this gentleman's address and send him a ton of chestnut coal."

Minks—Boggs, the coal dealer does tell some fearfully old stories. He kept me waiting about half an hour this morning with one of them.

Winks—Well, when he asked what kind of coal you wanted you should have shouted "Chestnut."

Minks—Well, I didn't. A man don't feel much like joking when he buys coal.

Telephone Talk.

On Sunday conversation was carried on over the Bell Telephone wires between Toronto and Montreal, a distance of 350 miles. The result was fairly successful. If copper wires of a larger size were used it would be quite satisfactory. On such wires conversations between Boston and New York (250 miles) are successful every day.

Mr. Neilson, the Toronto manager, left for Montreal last night on business of the company.

The Bell Company hope to be in the Mail building and to have all the new switches working by New Year's Day.

Is This True?

"I can tell you," said a business man to The World yesterday, that there is a good deal of scheming in those real estate transactions which some of the papers publish with prices as found at the Registry Office. To keep real estate booming the parties register a price considerably above what is really paid. Speaking of a deal the other day one of the parties told me that this was done to increase the value of adjoining property. The same trick was played in Winnipeg at the time of the boom."

Mr. Fraser's Pictures at the Queen's.

Canadian art seems to be making tremendous strides if Mr. Fraser's pictures may be taken as examples. His pictures now at the Queen's are most remarkable. Their artistic excellence, their freedom from conventionality and thorough workmanship show that Canada has an artist who can hold his head up with the best of them. The Rocky Mountains on the Canadian Pacific Railway are given with a fidelity of strength which is astonishing.

Inquire about them. They are the tailors of Yonge-street who give their customers a perfect fit. Gibson is the tailor who keeps his patrons with him every time by his courteous and obliging manner. Coulter—why every one knows Jack. If you don't know him try and know him. I am sure he wants to see you. You will find him smiling at the store, where he will treat you decent.

Invaluable to Business Men.

—Mr. W. Morton has invented a machine which will print, perforate, number and cast off "counter check book" at the rate of 7000 per hour, the size running from ½ inch upwards. This novel piece of mechanism will be valued by business men generally, and no doubt will be appreciated more highly, as it is more thoroughly used. Mr. W. Morton (the inventor) may be congratulated on his success in bringing the machine to perfection, as he has spared no expense, trouble and brain work in its completion. 36

The Oldest Military Body in the World.

From the Court Journal.

At a court of assistants of the Honorable Artillery Company held at Armory House, Finsbury, on Monday last, it was resolved, on motion of Capt. Woolmer-Williams, "That the court at its next meeting do take into consideration the best means of celebrating the 350th anniversary of the incorporation of the regiment, occurring on Aug. 25, 1887." It is understood that the event will be made the occasion for great festivities, which will be attended by a representative number of the members of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Boston, United States, an "offshoot" of the regiment which was founded by a member of the Honorable Artillery Company of London, who emigrated to Boston in 1638—101 years after the incorporation of the parent stem by royal charter of Henry VIII.

An English Earl's Romance.

From New York Town Topics.

The arrival in this country of Lord Dudley, eldest son of the Earl of Berkeley, recalls one of the most romantic stories of the English peerage. Over a hundred years ago Frederick Augustus, the fifth Earl of Berkeley, fell in love and married a beautiful Miss Mary Cole. The marriage was a mesalliance and the Earl, knowing how distasteful it would be to his proud mother, carefully concealed it for many years. Indeed, so much did he dread its being discovered that the marriage lines were either hidden so that they could never be found again or else they were destroyed. Lord Berkeley even concealed his marriage from his most intimate friends. One of these was the Prince Regent (afterwards George IV.) who frequently visited Berkeley Castle, where Lord Berkeley allowed his wife to hold a most invidious position for many years. Four children had been born of the alliance when, at the suggestion of the Prince Regent, and after having been assured by the best legal authorities that a second marriage would not invalidate the first, if the marriage lines could be recovered, Lord and Lady Berkeley went through a second ceremony of marriage five years after the first.

Too Bad.

From the Wall-street Daily News.

The president of a Wisconsin Agricultural Works sat up all night to look over the books of his cashier, and next morning said to him.

"James, I find a deficit of $1,885 in your accounts, as closed on the 31st of last December."

"I throw myself on your mercy," responded the cashier, "but the amount is only $900. I used the money in speculating, and I'll turn over all my personal property to make good the loss."

When the president came to go over his figures again he found the supposed deficit to lie in the fact that he had added the year 1885 to the column, but it was too late for the cashier to retract. He had given himself dead away.

The Wonderful Old Emperor.

Berlin Despatch to the London Times.

Never was there an indomitable old Emperor like this. His Majesty had made a railway journey of about fifteen hours, most of it by night, and had, therefore, some right to look tired and worn but considering everything, his appearance was surprisingly fresh. It is known that the fatigues connected with the recent manœuvres at Strasburg told somewhat severely on the Emperor's strength, and that his medical attendants are growing not only more and more careful, but also apprehensive. Yet, for a man at 90, His Majesty's physical condition may well be called wonderful. Not content with having the air of a raw October morning in a good mile's open drive from the station to his palace, the Emperor was no sooner home than, instead of lying down to repose himself after a night journey by rail, he at once began to transact important state business with a succession of various high functionaries, including Count Herbert Bismarck, from the Foreign Office. On Monday last it was exactly twenty-five years ago since he crowned himself King of Prussia at Konigsberg. He was then 65 years old. Now he returns from Strasburg to his jubilant capital, soon after the twenty-fifth anniversary of that event, accompanied by the fervent good wishes of all his subjects, not unmixed, however, with their natural fears.

Why Did the Bride Try to Kill Herself?

From the London Telegraph.

An extraordinary affair has just occurred in the St. Sulpice quarter in Paris. A young woman, whose mother keeps a millinery establishment in the locality, was married the other day to a man not much older than herself, and who is a native of Tours. After the ceremony the young couple went to a hotel, where they took rooms for a day or two previous to their departure for Tours. The next morning the bride was seen to open the shutters of one of the windows of her room, climb over the balcony, and throw herself headforemost into space.

She was picked up insensible by a priest and another person passing by at the time. It was found that she had received no external injuries, but the blood flowed profusely from her nostrils. The girl has recovered consciousness and is apparently well, but she refused to disclose to her mother the motives which impelled her to attempt suicide in so determined a manner. She is only 18 years old, and had left a convent school just before her marriage. Her husband was so overcome when he saw her brought back to the bridal chamber covered with blood that he could not speak.

Feminine Knights.

From the London Truth.

Rosa Bonheur and half a dozen other ladies are Knights—for the masculine form Chevalier is retained in their case—of the Legion of Honor. An addition has just been made to their number. Mme. Dieulafoy, wife of the head of the Archæological Mission at Susiana, was yesterday formally decorated at the Louvre. She has in the last five years made several archæological journeys into Persia and has enriched the Louvre with some ancient and admirable friezes. M. Goblet desired the ceremony to take place in the room where these treasures are deposited. Mme. Dieulafoy is a young and delicate-looking woman.
