Local News

Rev. G. A. Woodside is in Toronto to-day.

M. G. S. Croley, Saltcoats, Sask., formerly of this city is enjoying a two months' trip in various parts of Ontario, and is at present the guest of his brother, Ernest, at 28 Foster street.

Want Pay By Hour

Grand Trunk sectionmen are considering sending a petition to the Dominion Railway Board to get paid for the work on an hourly basis. Quite a number locally are interested.

Cut Every Day

"Any $ day bargains here?" asked a customer of Barber McKay this morning. "We do considerable cutting every day; it's nothing for us to cut," replied the wag.

Died Yesterday.

An aged and well-known resident of this city died yesterday, when Jessie Bygroves passed away at her late residence, Sheridan street. She was a respected widow and was in her 78th year. The funeral, to Greenwood cemetery, takes place to-morrow.

Court on Monday.

Patterson vs. the City of Brantford, a case laid over from the assizes will be heard by Judge Hardy on Monday. Court opens at 10 o'clock. The plaintiff formerly of this city, but now of Hamilton asks for damages against the municipality, because of injuries received to a horse.

Meeting Next Week.

Ald. George A. Ward said this morning that preparations were being made to hold a meeting some night next week at which the holding of an Old Boys' Reunion next summer will be discussed. The Captain would not state on what night the meeting would be held. Information is being secured.

Sold Business

Mr. George L. Walker has sold his livery business on Dalhousie Streeet to Mr. Benjamin Worthey of Woodstock. The deal was put through yesterday, and the new proprietor will take possession the first of next month. Mr. Worthy had been engaged in the bus and livery business in Woodstock. Mr Walker will take a much needed rest.

Some Complaining.

Gas consumers on Terrace Hill are wondering how long it takes to get the sulphur out of the mains by the new purifying process. It is claimed that the supply on the hill is far from right yet. It is thought, however that the consumers in that section may be the last to get pure gas, although in the centre of the city this morning there were complaints about low pressure.

Masquerade Party

Last evening the Tutela Tennis Club held an enjoyable masquerade party at the home of Mr. Winnett Clark, Mt. Pleasant Road. Dancing and euchre were indulged in. Prizes were awarded for the best costumes. The prizes for the gentlemen were won by Mr Henry Fitzgerald and Mr Duncan McLennan, and the prizes for the ladies were won by Mrs. Charles and Mrs William Brooks.

Chubby Gets It.

The solid gold watch offered by the firm of P. H. Secord and Sons, for the most valuable player on the Red Sox team of last year, has been awarded, after consultation between the firm and President T. J. Nelson of the local club, to "Chubby" Coose, who played in every position in the field, and at all times was one of the best players on the team. The watch may be presented to Coose at the ball park next summer.

Against Mausoleums.

At the Granite and Marble Dealers Convention to be held in the Russell House, Ottawa, February 3rd, 4th and 5th, a protest will be made against the establishing of mausoleums in the cities. The tomb stone men do not look with favor upon this manner of laying away the dead, because it dispenses with the use of tombstones. Mr. John Hill of this city will attend the convention and will reply to the address of welcome, delivered by the Mayor.

Evangelistic Services.

The largest attendance so far at the speical services in the Calvary Baptist Church was last night. An inspiring song service was followed by an able address by Rev. Llewellyn Brown, on the subject 'Safety First.' Mr. Brown based his sermon on Matt 7, 24-29, being the parable of the men who built their houses, one upon the shifting sand, the other upon the solid rock. The application that Mr. Brown gave of his subject was made more effective by a number of telling illustrations.

Laid at Rest

The Late Mrs. Reid.

The remains of the late Margaret Reid were taken to their last rest yesterday. Interment took place at Mt. Hope cemetery, whence the cortege went from the residence of the daughter of the deceased, Mrs. Schertzberg, West street. Many sorrowing relatives were in attendance, and a large number of wreaths, sprays and flowers were sent.

Excitement in Legislature At Quebec

Enquiry Will be Commenced at Once--Witnesses May be Arrested.

[By Special Wire to The Courier]

QUEBEC, Jan. 28—The committee appointed by the Legislative Assembly to conduct the inquiry into bribery charges against J. O. Mousseau, chairman of the private bills committee, made by The Montreal Daily Mail, met this morning in the Railway Comittee's room which was simply packed with members, lawyers and spectators.

J. M. Tellier, leader of the Opposition and C. E. Gault, who at first refused to sit on the committee, reconsidered their decisions. The Hon. L. A. Taschereau was elected chairman. M. E. Nichols and B. A. MacNab of the Mail Publishing Co., were present with their counsel, L. T. Marechal, K. C., and Hector Bisaillor, K. C.

Mr. J. O. Mousseau was absent, but was represented by Aime Geoffrion, K.C., of Montreal.

Mr. Marechal requested that the inquiry be enlarged until Friday next to allow of time to prepare the Mail's case. The chairman, however, thought that a beginning should be made at once.

The counsel for Messrs. Nichols and MacNab then asked that the witnesses who resided in the United States be protected from arrest when they came to give evidence.

A discussion as to this request had started when an adjournment was taken.

Lawyers from the house present said that neither the investigation committee or the legislature had the power to grant the immunity requested without the consent of the Canadian Minister of Justice. Both Messrs. Gilman and Devarennes, members of the Legislative Council mentioned by Nichols and Mr. MacNab yesterday in the Legislative Assembly as having accepted money from the Burns Detective Agency, deny the charge emphatically. They say they are in no way mixed up with the Daily Mail's corruption charges and in proper time will establish their innocence.

More names are expected to be given by Messrs. MacNab and Nichols when they give evidence before the committee in support of their bribery allegations.

With the City Police

Ivan Holban was convicted at the police court this morning on the charge of assault. He has to pay $15 or go to prison for two months.

A little mole upon the back of his neck was an important factor in the identification which settled the conviction.

Mr. Hawkins of the Keeton Motor Company was passing along Grey street on Tuesday night and overtook two men, one following the other. A little further on he encountered two foreigners, who blocked his path. Glancing back, he saw a foreigner strike a man from the back, and belabor him when he was on the ground. He at once brought a policeman to the scene, and as the three foreigners ran away witness got a back view of prisoner, and the wart was noticed. The man was secured by the constable, and proved to be Holban.

Defendant admitted he had been drinking at the same hotel as Hawk and saw him under the influence of intoxicants. He said he knew nothing of the assault, and had just come in this city from British Columbia the same day.

Asking defendant to turn round and show his back, the magistrate asked witness Hawkins if he identified the man by such view, and witness did.

Magistrate Livingston then said he had no doubt that Holban was the man who committed the assault, and fined him $15, five of which will go to Hawk for loss of employment. Witnesses' fees and interpreter's fees amounted to six dollars.

Elwood Oles was advised by the magistrate to change his venue at the court. "Brantford is not too healthy for you," he stated. "You have got to walk circumspectly while you remain in Brantford." He had been brought up by P.C. Blanchard, who found him on the streets at 1.15 a.m., and he could not give a satisfactory explanation. After a severe admonition Oles was allowed to go. He expects soon to be employed in the States.

Address on Advertising.

Some Brantford advertising men attended the banquet of the Hamilton Ad Club last night, and were delighted with the address given by H. N. Casson, the noted efficiency and advertising expert. "The trouble with Hamilton," he said, "is that it has no more plan than a lightning bug. You know a lightning bug is brilliant, but it just buzzes around in an aimless sort of way. This may be because its headlight is behind. What you want to do is to say, 'We will do this in 1914, and do that in 1915.'"
