IES IN POLITICAL SCIENCE.

The fourth number of this series is "The Tariff History of Canada," by S. J. McLean, B.A., Mackenzie Fellow in Political Science. In 1889 the Ontario Minister of Education decided to provide funds for the publication of essays on subjects pertaining to the economic conditions of Canada as often as the professor in the department of political science should induce one of his students to make the necessary research in any given field and to crystallize the results of his study in an essay under the guidance of the professor.

The fourth of these essays has appeared, and is from the pen of Mr. S. J. McLean. Mr. McLean was graduated in the honor department of political science in the class of '93. Shortly after his graduation the trustees, who had in hand the funds subscribed for the creation of a memorial to the late Alexander Mackenzie, decided to endow two fellowships in the university in the department of political science-a most fitting memorial. Mr. McLean and Mr. Duncan C. Ross, the eldest son of the Minister of Education, were offered the post, both having recently distinguished themselves as students in the department. In connection with the work of the fellowship, Mr. McLean has investigated the history of the Canadian tariff and has given the results of his work in this essay. Mr. McLean has collected, and presents within the space of some 50 octavo pages, all the salient features of the Canadian tariff. Indeed, he has gone back of the Dominion and gives some account of the tariffs which existed in the various Provinces before Confederation. An account is given of the forces which the author finds to have been at work in 1867 and which led to the fixing of the first tariff at 15 per cent. The various circumstances that conspired to induce the Administration to raise this tariff to a rate of 19.50 per cent before 1873 are also de-

The 17 1-2 per cent tariff of the Mackenzie Administration is considered, as well as the forces which raised it to an average of 20.45 per cent during the years 1874-1878 inclusive.

Then the author outlines the great forces which he deems to have moved the people to adopt the National Policy and tax of 20 per cent., which soon grew to over 30 per cent. This tariff is followed through all its sinuosities of enacting, repealing, and re-enacting down to 1890, at which point Mr. Mc-Lean thinks there is a change of front and the beginnings of tariff reform on a principle not altogether consistent right reverend antagonist into a cocked with "protection" are visible. The growth of this feeling is followed to the

A right genial, learned and is one now in the very melting-pot of party politics, yet the author has kept so carefully to the solid ground of facts and has so punctiliously avoided all deduction and argument that it cannot possibly excite the most irascible partizan. Neither praise nor blame is given indecent that he should be holding for any piece of tariff legislation. We his seat in Parliament with an office in are simply told what it was and why its promoters deemed it expedient. Prof. Mayor, in a short introduction, very "Don," in Saturday Night, still calls properly says that "Mr. McLean has competently summarized the history of the Canadian tariff on its legislative side." He certainly has done a very useful piece of work. He has brought together a mass of information upon the subject which heretofore could only be had by ransacking a large number of books. Copies of the monograph may be had upon application to the Minister of Education.

"UNAPPRECIATED FACTORS IN EDUCATION."

The most readable article in the last number of "Education," of Boston, is from the pen of Principal Austin, of Alma Ladies' College, St. Thomas. It deals with "Unappreciated Factors in Education." Principal Austin points Kissing the Book in court is now out of out that mere knowledge is not fashion and the practice is specially any longer considered education; it is abolished by statute, but all other forms indeed but one of many important instruments of true culture. BETWEEN LIFE AND DEATH.

How a Grenville County Lady Was Restored to Health.

A Severe Cold Brought on Illness Which Confined Her to Bed for Three Months and Brought Her Almost to the Verge of the Grave.

Pink Pills. This condition of things is hardly to be wondered at when it is known that there are here scores of people who owe the excellent health they enjoy to this great life-saving medicine. Mrs. R. M. Easton, a well-known and estimable resident of the village, is Pink Pills. This condition of things is and estimable resident of the village, is among those who speak in the highest terms of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Recently this lady related her experience to your correspondent as follows: "In the fall of 1893 I contracted a severe cold, which resulted in congestion of the lungs. This threw me into bed, where I lay for over three months, all the while suffering a great deal, and apparently growing weaker. I expectorated a great deal of blood, and at one time I thought that nothing could save my life. But again I rallied, and lay for a long time between life and death. I had suffered for some time before being taken down with a severe pain in my head and left side, and York wife murderer, for a writ of sharp, twinging pains between my shoulders. The pain in my side and head continued to trouble me all through my illness. The doctors gave up all hopes, and my friends made up their minds that I could not live. It was at this juncture that a friend strongly urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I sent and procured a couple of boxes. I began their use, and soon felt and improvement in my condition, and by the time the two boxes were gone I could sit up in bed and take considerable nourishment. I gladly continued the use of Pink Pills, and soon found the pain in my left side and head | tenced to death; that his trial was not had gone, and I began to feel like a new person. By the time I had taken six boxes I was able to be up and around the house and could do some light work. I still continued using Pink Pills, and constantly gained in strength until I was soon as strong as ever I had been in my life. Last fall I caught cold and the pains to which I have referred returned in a light degree, but I had now found a cure for them, and taking a couple more boxes of pills I was as well as ever. I never had better health than at present, and feel such confidence in the merits of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I confidently believe that but for them I would have been in the grave today and my little ones motherless. I cannot say too much in their praise, and hope my experience may be the means of inducing some other sufferer

BUCHANAN MUST DIE.

The Supreme Court Refuses to Interfere in His Case.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Chief Justice Fuller, in the United States Supreme Court, today denied the application of Dr. Robert Buchanan, the New error. The court departed from its usual customs, which is to announce decisions only on Monday, for the reason that Buchanan is now under sentence of death by electrocution during the week beginning Monday next. After the court announced the decision, Messrs. Noah and Gibbons, attorneys for Buchanan, began the preparation of a statement for presentation to Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British Ambassador, setting forth the fact that Buchanan is a British subject; that he has been tried, convicted and senconducted according to the constitution of New York and of the United States; that the courts have failed to give re-
