NO BETTER CHOICE.

It should afford general satisfaction to know that Col. Pellatt's generous offer to defray the expense of having the Queen's Own Bugle Band accompany the coronation contingent has been accepted by the War Office. That a band of some kind should accompany the contingent goes without saying, but the best brass band that Canada could send would attract but little notice when brought into comparison with the splendid musical organizations of the British army. Not so with the buglers, however, for they will prove at least a decided novelty. It is pretty safe to say that Bugle Major Swift's band stands absolutely alone. As a general rule, a bugle band is not remarkable for its charms to soothe the savage breast, but the marches of the Queen's Own Buglers have got a real musical—not to say martial—ring about them. No Canadian who has heard the band, either on the streets of Toronto or elsewhere, and who is fortunate enough to be present at the coronation ceremonies, but whose heart will beat the faster and his very soul be stirred when he hears the distant but unmistakable rolling of drums and the clear silvery tones of the bugles betokening the coming of Canada's coronation contingent, as men or as soldiers second to none in the British empire. No better choice of a band to accompany the contingent could have been made than the bugle band of the Queen's Own Rifles, and it seems too bad that the matter of their going had to be left altogether to the personal generosity of one man.

SUPPRESS SMOKE NUISANCE.

Numerous complaints have found their way to the City Hall concerning the smoke nuisance. If Toronto aims at one thing it is at being a summer city, and efforts are made to attract visitors. The use of soft coal has not become as yet an intolerable nuisance, but it is getting bad enough, and something might as well be done to stop the trouble now. At the present time, Chicago is engaged in making strenuous endeavors in this direction, and a system of fining offenders has been introduced. The Health Commissioner has interested himself in the fight for cleaner and purer air, and has adopted as a program for the guidance of his department the vigorous prosecution of owners of smoking tug boats; an immediate cleaning up of engine rooms in buildings controlled by the city; constant prosecution of habitual offenders and a demand that the remission of fines, which is done in some cases, be abandoned, and that old offenders be rigorously punished. Something ought to be done to get after a few of the big down-town concerns whose monster chimneys belch forth such dense volumes of dirty smoke. "Smoke-consumers" have passed the experimental stage, and in the interests of health and general appearance Toronto ought to make a move in the direction of suppressing the smoke nuisance.

ONTARIO LAW SCHOOL.

The May examinations at the Law School have just concluded. In all, between 130 and 140 wrote, of whom 50 were in their last year. The results will be announced in about two weeks.

This calls for some timely remarks as to the progress being made in legal education in Ontario. From time immemorial, the profession, if not the members thereof, as individuals, has been the target of the keen shafts of wits in all countries. That the profession is a necessary factor in the ordinary as well as the extraordinary affairs of life goes without saying; succeeding centuries have but accentuated its usefulness. We are not concerned about a comparison as to the relative merits of the various legal systems. Our system, based as it is upon the law of England, is a sufficient guarantee of its superiority.

The Law School, established by the Law Society of Upper Canada, at Osgoode Hall, has been in operation for about fourteen years. Since its opening, reckoning on an average annual graduating class of 50, the number of lawyers it has turned out figures up to over 700. Where are these gentlemen practising? Doubtless the large majority are in Ontario, while others have contributed to the advancement of the profession in the Western provinces. When the Law School was initiated, there was a strong sentiment against the project, coming largely from members of the profession outside of Toronto. The reason for this opposition is patent. The country offices were denuded of students during the largest and busiest part of the year. But all objections proved futile, and the Law School has remained and justified its creation and existence.

With a body of laws such as we possess, and the need of resorting to English textbooks to acquire a knowledge of the law, it was always a most difficult matter for the old-time student to discriminate between what was of real use to him in the prosecution of his work and what was so much surplusage, either obsolete or inapplicable to our conditions. This was one of the disadvantages which the Law School was designed to mitigate. But there were other reasons in favor of the school, chief amongst which were the undoubted superiority of a legal education, conducted under the supervision of a faithful and efficient board of lecturers and a principal standing at the head of the profession; the advantages resulting from access to the library at Osgoode Hall, and last, and not least, the social character developed in students in common intercourse during the better part of three years.

The standard of the legal profession in Ontario has been raised as a result of the establishment of such a school. This is apparent to the casual visitor to the law courts, as well as to the litigants themselves. In the old days, he was indeed the presumptuous young lawyer who undertook to steer his client's cause thru all the courts unaided; in fact, it was such a rare occurrence as to call forth surprise from both bench and bar. Now it is a common thing to see youths not yet turned the age of 30 arguing with full confidence and mature knowledge an intricate case before appellate courts. A much greater store of legal lore is now exacted from the student than was the case formerly. Examinations are yearly calling for wider knowledge of the law's principles and applications. This is almost wholly due to the Law School. Judges have remarked that they can always mark the graduate of the school.

The names of the staff are a proof of what we have advanced. It would be hard to find a man better fitted for the post of principal than N. W. Hoyles, K. C.; of men better qualified to lecture upon their respective topics than A. H. Marsh K. C.; John King, K. C.; E. Douglas Armour, K. C., and J. McGregor Young.

There is one point, however, which we would like to call to the attention of the legal profession, and that is the necessity for a better set of textbooks. We mean by this that it would be an improvement were the English textbooks brought down to a sufficiently late date and adapted to our conditions, and to our statutory laws. During the last two or three years, a movement has set in in this direction, and some excellent works have been compiled by local men, but there remains much room for further improvement.

FROM THE FRENCH PRESS.

Le Temps, Ottawa (Liberal), replying to an article from The Ottawa Citizen, to the effect that there exists among the French-Canadian Liberals of the Capital a spirit of discontentment which will result in their putting forward one of their own nationality to run as an independent, denies the premises. In the course of an article commenting thereon, it points out that out of a population of 60,000, of which Ottawa is made up, there are 28,000 Protestants and 32,000 Catholics, the latter being sub-divided into 20,000 French and 12,000 English-speaking Canadians. There exists an understanding whereby one Protestant and one Catholic each are elected for Ottawa and Toronto respectively. Mr. Belcourt sits in the House of Commons for Ottawa, and The Temps concludes that it is but fair that the English-speaking Catholics should be represented at Toronto. The Temps is also of the opinion that it would be impossible to elect a French-Canadian from Ottawa without the support of either one of the parties.

La Patrie, Montreal (Liberal), devotes a leader to Dr. Parkin and his advocacy of Imperial Federation. "Mr. Laurier was justified over and over again in replying to the Secretary of State for the Colonies that Canada was satisfied with its present political relations with Great Britain, that he did not believe in the possibility of the creation of a system of defence taking in the whole empire, and that the sole question which he consented to discuss was that relating to commercial relations.

"The Province of Quebec is unanimous in seeking shelter behind the courageous rampart set up by Mr. Laurier and his colleagues in his answer to Mr. Chamberlain.

"Whatever Dr. Parkin may say, we are certain that the majority of public sentiment in Ontario will never consent to trade their rights away for deceiving mirages and illusions of grandeur."

WAS MISUNDERSTOOD.

Editor World: In speaking to a representative of your paper about the condition of the lunatics at the jail, it was not my intention to cast any blame on the officials who take care of them. On the contrary, I have always considered the conduct of the matrons towards these poor people as worthy of all praise. I regret that my former statements were partly misunderstood, and I thank you for this opportunity of correcting the impression they must have made.

ACCIDENT TRUSTEES POPULAR.

Great Growth in Business of Casualty Companies in Late Years.

"It's risking your life to cross the street now," was the remark made by a gentleman the other day, as he stood at the corner of King and Yonge-streets and watched the throng of traffic. He was just giving utterance to a thought that is becoming more apparent every day, that in this bustling twentieth century human life is in daily peril from accident, railroads and electric roads and steamboats, cabs and bicycles; all these are pointed to as signs of progress. They all add to the uncertainty of safety to life and limb, and these dangers will in the future increase rather than decrease. It is this knowledge, doubtless, that has led to the development of that form of insurance known as accident insurance, by means of which compensation may be obtained for injury received. Nowadays no experienced traveler journeys without an accident policy in his pocket, and those companies who have entered this new field of insurance are reaping a rich reward for their enterprise. The latest company which it is proposed to establish, and which has behind it a group of prominent financiers, is the Canadian Casualty Company of Toronto.

Hamilton Herald: Mr. Dryden's fault is this; that, being Minister of Agriculture, he has seen fit to publicly identify himself with an agricultural enterprise in a foreign state which is an agricultural rival of Canada.

Hon. G. W. Ross arrived at St. Catharines at noon yesterday, and is a guest at the Welland Hotel. A meeting in the interests of D. J. McKinnon, Liberal candidate for Lincoln County, was held in the Opera House at night. A number of prominent citizens from all over the county were on the platform. President E. T. Reed acted as chairman. Addresses were delivered by Mr. Gross of Welland, Mr. McKinnon and Mr. Ross. Mr. Ross was given an enthusiastic reception, and was presented with a large bouquet of roses. There is to be a three-cornered fight in that county. William Wilson of Merritton, the temperance candidate, is still in the field.

The annual meeting of the Conservative Association of North Middlesex was held at Ailsa Craig on Tuesday, at which all the old officers were re-elected. In spite of the heavy showers and busy season, a large gathering assembled. Major Beatile R. Shaw Wood and P. H. Bartlett of London were present, and, with several local men and the candidate, D. F. Stewart, addressed the electors. The candidate's nomination by the party was affirmed, and organization perfected. Mr. Shaw Wood gave some excellent points on organization, and G. A. Stanley of Lucan, a life-long prohibitionist, spoke strongly against the referendum.

At Meaford yesterday, a meeting in the interest of George M. Boyd, the Conservative candidate for North Grey, was held. The meeting opened sharp at 8 o'clock, the chairman, William Ward, introducing T. I. Thompson of Owen Sound, who, in a short speech, arraigned the government for their mismanagement of the affairs of the province. W. J. Hatton of Owen Sound, representing A. G. MacKay, the Liberal candidate, then followed, and demonstrated why the electors should support the Liberal nominee. Mr. Boyd followed with an address lasting nearly two hours, in which he vigorously scored the government. The meeting, from a Conservative standpoint, was most successful.

Frank A. Anglin, barrister, Toronto, spoke in the interests of Valentine Stock at St. Mary's last night. Hon. J. R. Stratton was given a cordial reception.

W. J. Hill, M.L.A., and Hon. John Dryden will open the West York election campaign this evening in Eagle Hall, Weston.

NO CHANGES TO BE MADE.

Mr. Blair Denies That Tiffin Will Succeed Russell.

Ottawa, May 6.—While the railway estimates were under discussion in the House, Mr. Blair came in for serious criticism on account of the method adopted in the construction of the Murray Harbor branch of the P. E. I. Railway, Wilbur Kitchen being allowed to proceed with the work on schedule prices without asking for tenders.

In reply to Mr. Haggart, who asked about the rumor that Manager Russell of the Intercolonial was to be succeeded by Mr. Tiffin, the traffic manager, Mr. Blair declared the rumor to be without foundation, no changes of the kind being contemplated.

CITY NEWS.

Where is Sidney Samuels?

George Samuels of New York City is in the city seeking information concerning the whereabouts of his son Sidney, who ran away from home six years ago and is said to have come to Toronto. A few weeks after his disappearance the companion with whom he went away returned home and said that Sidney had secured a situation as coachman with a family living in the suburbs of Toronto, but since then nothing has been heard of him. He was 16 years of age when he left home and was big for his age, with dark complexion. His mother died when he was small. His father's duties as a keeper in a penitentiary kept him away from home the greater part of the time, and the boy took advantage of the fact. Mr. Samuels is very anxious to learn something about his son, and will thankfully receive any information at 32 West 116th-street, New York City. He is in town for a few days, and yesterday had a talk with Inspector Stark, to whom any information may also be given.

At Osgoode Hall.

The Court of Appeal is hearing argument on the appeal by the Canada Atlantic Railway from the judgment of Mr. Justice Lount in an action between the railway company and the Township of Gloucester, in Carleton County. The action was taken by the township to compel the railway company to remove a fence which blocked the opening of a new road across the company's right of way. The defence was that the necessary permission to have the fence removed would have to be obtained from the Railway Committee of the Privy Council. Mr. Justice Lount decided against this contention, hence to-day's appeal. The argument was not concluded when the court adjourned.

Martin; president, George Coatsworth; first vice-president, Miss Carlton; second vice-president, Miss Thompson; secretary, Miss Sherlock; captain, W. Leader; lieutenants, Messrs. Yeomans, Smith and Dunham; reporter, A. Gaffey; buglers, H. J. Ross, M. Banister.

Norman Armstrong, for drawing a knife on a policeman, was fined $10 and costs or 30 days. Ephraim Loughead, an alleged wife-beater, was sent down for mental examination. Lizzie Lessard was taken into custody and remanded till to-day, when evidence will be put in to show that a black eye which she said Policeman Whitesides had inflicted was received in a fight with her sisters.

The Jennings Estate.

RICH FIND IN CARIBOO.

Further Details of the Strike of $2000 By 24 Hours' Work.

Vancouver, May 6.—Further details of rich find in Cariboo show that the old location is coming to the front again as a gold producer. The other day one man on Stanley Creek took out 50 ounces of gold in 24 hours. To-day comes news telegraphed from two places in Lillooet district that Sam Montgomery, 85 years of age, who struck Cariboo as a man in prime of life and stuck to the country ever since, had struck it rich on Lightning Creek, washing out 100 ounces of gold in 24 hours. The fact that the gold was taken from the ancient bed of the creek from one small hole indictates that there are extensive diggings in the vicinity, and old Cariboo will enjoy a stampede this summer only equalled by the famous stampede in the sixties.

Montgomery had a theory that where he was working if he went deep enough he would find rich pay dirt, as he was on an ancient creek bed. He was laughed at, but sank a shaft one hundred feet deep and was rewarded by striking extremely rich pay dirt. The old man was so pressed for money that he was obliged to take odd government jobs to enable him to get a grub stake. He worked alone two seasons. He has now, by striking discovery in Lightning Creek, enough rich ground to win him a fortune in a very short time.

From different sections of Cariboo and Lillooet come stories of good pay dirt being discovered, and miners are already stampeding along the historical old Cariboo road as they did 38 years ago.

FREE SCHOLARSHIPS.

Collegiate Board Will Gather Information On the Subject.

The question of Public and Separate School pupils receiving free scholarships was brought before the Collegiate Institute Board last evening in the shape of a report from the special committee to deal with the subject, but no action was decided upon. On the suggestion of the committee the matter was referred back to them for further consideration, as their report stated that they wished to inquire further into certain details before making any definite recommendation.

The board decided to enlarge the Harbord-street School grounds, for which a strong appeal had been made.

Chairman Fraser presided, and the others in attendance were: Trustees Caiger, Smallpeice, McCallum, Elliott, Leslie, Church, Roche, Slattery, G. L. Wilson, Thomas Wilson, McGuire, Lytle, Dower and Clarke.

SCHOOL BOARD NEEDS FUNDS.

Erection of New Separate School in Parkdale at Standstill.

The Separate School Board is experiencing considerable difficulty in providing funds for the erection of the new school in Parkdale. The report of the committee recommending the acceptance of the tenders was before the board again last night, and once more laid over pending the reporting of funds. It was decided to repair a portion of the fence to the north of St. Cecilia's School, blown down during the recent storm, and purchased 50 feet of rubber hose for St. Michael's School. Accounts totalling $1561.27 were passed. A communication from Thomas World, secretary of the Northwest Field Force, asking that the pupils of the Separate schools assist in the decoration of the monument erected to the memory of those who fell in the Northwest rebellion, was laid on the table. Property adjoining St. John's School, required by the city, will be decided over on the payment of $75 and all expenses. The registered attendance in the schools for the month of April was 4240, the highest 4004 and the lowest 3738. Vicar-General McCann presided.

A LINIMENT FOR THE LOGGER.—Loggers lead a life which exposes them to many perils. Wounds, cuts and bruises cannot be altogether avoided in preparing timber for the drive and in river work; where wet and cold combined are of daily experience, coughs and colds and muscular pains cannot but ensue. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil when applied to the injured or administered to the ailing works wonders.
