ITALY LARGE BUYER OF WHEAT IN U.S.A.

Chicago Market Experienced Another Flurry From Rumors of War Spreading.

Canadian Press Despatch.

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—Wheat advanced excitedly in the last hour today, European buying that had again become rampant was the force under the market. There was a strong close at 1¾c to 2⅜c above last night. Corn rose ⅜c to ½c net, and oats ¾c to 1¼c. In provisions the finish varied from 5c decline to an upturn of 2½c.

Unconfirmed rumors of an expected spread of the war zone accompanied the swift ascent of the price of wheat. Attention, however, chiefly centred on the fact that export sales had suddenly expanded, reaching a total of nearly 2,000,000 bushels since yesterday. This circumstance alone was said to justify the flurry which, before being checked, caused quotations to $1.38⅝ for May, figures surpassing by a full cent a bushel the crest attained on the astonishing upward whirl two days previous. Even conservative traders were willing to admit that the exports at the rate of 2,000,000 bushels a day, if long continued, would seriously threaten the domestic supply.

Italy and Roumania were the countries mentioned as likely soon to be included in the war, and it could not be denied that much of the wheat bought today was scheduled for shipment to Italy. Duluth reported a sale of durum wheat to Italy at $1.99½ delivered across the sea. Domestic millers were said to be eagerly after cash wheat in all directions and as having been partly responsible for compelling Belgian relief buyers to be content with May delivery rather than immediate stores. Bearish cables had most to do with the relative weakness that prevailed here until the discovery that exports had been successfully stealing a march.

Export demand lifted corn and oats as well as wheat. Foreign sales here included 500,000 bushels of corn and 1,500,000 bushels of oats.

Provisions averaged lower under pressure of selling led by a Milwaukee packer. His efforts were interfered with by the grain bulge.

KINGSDALE PROPERTY BEING DEVELOPED

Wrights, Limited, who are owners of Kingsdale, the model suburban centre of north Yonge street, have mailed a letter pointing out to their clients and friends the success of their policy of developing their properties. Notwithstanding the stagnation of business since the commencement of the war, Wrights, Limited, have continued to spend large sums of money to instal the necessary public utilities to make Kingsdale an ideal suburban homesite locality.

Last summer contracts were entered into for the following large expenditures:

1. Installed seven miles of water mains.
2. Installed two miles of cement sidewalks.
3. Graded and prepared for sidewalks four miles.
4. Planted 2500 shade trees.
5. Installing three miles of sewer mains.
6. Supplying twenty families with water from our mains under pressure.
7. Manufactured one million brick.
8. Employed upwards of twenty hands in the planing mill.
9. Besides supplying the residents of Kingsdale with coal and all the necessary builders' supplies through our hardware and supply company.

Wrights, Limited purpose to complete all the improvements in Empress, Kingsdale and Princess subdivisions early this year.

While sales have undoubtedly fallen off, prices have not decreased. This seems to be the case with all values, both central and suburban. Another healthy feature is the fact that payments are being maintained, which is mutually beneficial to all parties interested. The policy of development is a good one and is being satisfactorily worked out by Wrights, Limited, the pioneer company in this particular phase of real estate promotion.
