SENSATIONAL STORIES.

A Queer Card in the Role of a Nobleman's Son—A Life of Adventure.

The Kingston papers have written up Joseph Taylor Passmore who says he is a son of Lord Rathbourne, whoever that may be, in a very interesting manner. Passmore it will be remembered, reported to the police that he had been robbed of $500 by one Cotterill, a shipmate. Subsequently it was ascertained that the accused had only taken a small proportion of this amount and Passmore is doing all he can to secure his release.

One of the young men who came to Kingston with the "nobleman's son," states that they went out the K. & P. to work on the railway. Passmore took hold of the pick and shovel and worked with them as well as the rest. They started to come back to Kingston, but on reaching Oso, Passmore and Cotterill began to drink. They worked as chums on the road and were continually together. On Tuesday morning, the day before the robbery, Cotterill decided to give up drinking, and in order to prove his sincerity he went to the house of Rev. Mr. Crook and took the pledge but he did not keep it long. By four p. m. he was drunk again. The friend thinks that the "Lord Rathbourne" business is all talk. He was known as only Joe Passmore by his companions. Whittaker's almanac was consulted and it was found that no such person as Lord Rathbourne existed, and that there is no such name in the peerage as Passmore.

Passmore appears to be a queer card, and has seen a great deal of travel, that is according to his story. He says that at the Cape of Good Hope he joined the Second dragoon guards, and occupied the position of first lieutenant. With this regiment he engaged in the Zulu war, and was present at the battle of Isandula. He is one of the 53 that escaped being killed. In this engagement he received a sabre wound in the left thigh, which was inflicted accidentally by a comrade while in action. The knuckle of the little finger on his left hand has been shot away, and a bullet entered his right shoulder. Another startling statement that he makes, is, that he was one of the half dozen who went in search of the late Prince Imperial, and they came upon the body before it was cold. They took it in charge and brought it to the camp. On being asked why he worked with the pick and shovel he said that he did so just for a lark to see how it went, but soon tired of it. He came to this country for the purpose of going to Manitoba, buying land and settling down. While out on the K. & P. he says that he gave Mr. Moore of Sharbot lake, £500 to keep for him. He has now two drafts upon the National provincial bank for £500 each. At the mines he met a young man named George Briggs, who was in the battle of Isandula also, and who Passmore knows well, they having been for some time in the same regiment—the 24th. Passmore left England with the 24th, and was transferred to the 2d dragoon guards at the Cape. The way he received the wound on the hand was: His horse was shot down under him by a Zulu when they had a fight at close quarters. The Zulu's gun went off, taking away Passmore's knuckle. At the conclusion of the war he went home with his regiment, and afterwards came to Canada.

A Lawyer in England and a Tramp in Canada Wants a Pass to Toronto.

From the Hamilton Spectator of Thursday.

A coatless, stockingless man, rather advancest in years and with the air of the uttered shabby gentility, walked into the city clerk's office yesterday morning, looking for the mayor and a free pass to Toronto.

He wanted the clerk to distinctly understand that he was a gentleman. He said his name was J. H. Mahon, once a barrister in England and a Chancery lane man. He would walk to Toronto only he was all used up from inflammatory rheumatism caused by sleeping out. Of course he had rich relations in England and some parts of Canada. He had some friends, barristers in Toronto, who would see that he was properly cared for until remittances arrived from home. He slept all night on the shore of the Dundas marsh.

How a Bear Came to Grief.

John Lynch, a farmer and milkman at Mamaroneck, N. Y., took a bear to board about a week ago. At first he put the bear in the cellar and tied him to a post. In the course of a day or two he thought the beast would like a little fresh air, and took him out of the cellar and tied him to a tree on the premises. To another tree near by Mr. Lynch tied his horse and wagon while he went into the woods. During his absence the bear broke a link of the chain that held him, and frightened the horse, which broke loose and ran away. The bear then approached Lynch's house and thrust his head inside a window. Mrs. Lynch, surrounded by her children, seven in number, comprehended the situation, and seized a large iron poker with which she struck the bear a heavy blow which made him withdraw his head. Then she closed the window and took her children upstairs, where she remained until her husband's return. Mr. Lynch on learning what had happened raised an alarm, and in company with a number of neighbours started in pursuit of bruin and shot him.—N. Y. World.

Another "Bar" Story.

From the Barrie Advance.

Mr. James Green, who lives about seven miles up Muskoka lake, had quite an adventure with a bear a few days ago. While standing in his doorway he saw a bear swimming from the mainland to an island. He and his son jumped into a boat and gave chase. Mr. G had armed himself with a single barrel shot gun, which was charged with buckshot. As soon as he approached bruin he gave him the contents of the gun which lodged in the bear's neck. The brute, rendered savage by the pain, attempted to climb into the boat but was beaten off with a club. Quite an exciting contest took place, which lasted 15 minutes or more. The bear was finally killed and towed ashore, when Mr. G. skinned and dressed him.

A Man of all Work.

PRINTER.—Thorough news and job, good reporter, temperate; constant employment; state wages, age, experience and reference. Address Gazette, Barrie, Ont. The above is an advertisement which appeared in Tuesday's Globe. The demands of the county town sheet are moderate in the extreme, "a news and job printer," and a "good reporter," and above all he must be temperate, and prepared at any time to lend a helping hand as "end man" in local shows. If he can play an instrument in the band he will be preferred, and he must be able to occasionally relieve the local preachers. He will also be required to deliver paper and attend auction sales. Being temperate he must take cigars when he is asked to drink and save them for the boss who will take a fatherly interest in him, and when he refuses to longer toil body and soul for the pittance that will be offered him, he may depart to pastures new.

An Italian organ grinder, enraged by bad business, smashed his organ with an axe at Springfield, Ohio, and made a bonfire of the pieces.

Consumption is a disease contracted by a neglected cold—how necessary then that we should at once get the best cure for coughs, colds, laryngitis, and all diseases of the throat and lungs—one of the most popular medicines for these complaints is Northrop & Lyman's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. Mr. J F Smith, Druggist, Dunnville, writes: "It gives general satisfaction and sells splendidly."

The National dress society of Great Britain offers a prize of £30 for "the design of a female garment combining ease, elegance, comfort and health." The "divided skirt" has been condemned.

Intermarriage between whites and blacks is a penitentiary offence in Texas, and those who break the law usually take care that there shall be no evidence of any ceremony. But Eldred, a Dallas lawyer, made a public wedding on taking a mulatto for a wife and in consequence is now in jail awaiting trial.

Orpha M. Hodge, Battle Creek, Mich, writes: I upset a teakettle of boiling water on my hand. I at once applied Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and the effect was to immediately allay the pain. I was cured in three days.

Victor de Lesseps, son of his father, tells of this performance of his father: "But my august father was not wanting to the occasion. He had round his neck a false collar of English make. He did not hesitate for a moment. He tore it off, and danced on it. This was his response to the insolence of the invader."

An envelope marked as containing $5,000 was found to hold nothing but blank paper, on being delivered by an express messenger at a Fort Wayne bank. The puzzling question for a jury to decide is whether the money was in the package when the company received it or a fraud was perpetrated by the bankers who sent it. Positive proof of either theory is not obtainable.

Miss Mary Campbell, Elm, writes: "After taking four bottles of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic cure, I feel as if I were a new person. I had been troubled with dyspepsia for a number of years, and tried many remedies, but of no avail, until I used the celebrated Dyspeptic cure." For all impurities of the blood, sick headache, liver and kidney complaints, costiveness, etc., it is the best medicine known.

The London Figaro says that Adeline Patti is reported to have accepted an engagement for South America during the season of 1884 at so high a rate that, should she economize her salary during her 1882-3 season in the United States, and her South American fees, her fortune will be large enough to enable her to "reject with scorn the paltry few hundred guineas a night she is likely to be promised elsewhere."

After a thorough discussion the congress of Jurists at Cassell has unanimously answered the important and much debated question, "Is the state bound to indemnify condemned persons when acquitted on a second trial?" in the affirmative. Only such cases it is held should be excepted in which the accused has brought about his own condemnation by pretended confession, or by concealment of facts the stating of which would have led to his acquittal.

Indiscretions in diet bring on dyspepsia and irregularity of the bowels. Eat only wholesome food, and if the trouble has become permanent—as it is very prone to do—try a course of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic cure. The combined effects astonish and delight the sufferer, who soon begins to digest well, regain functional regularity and improve in appetite the blood becomes pure, and good health is restored.

If a woman were to change her sex what would she become? A he-then.

The broader the rep of silk or woolen goods the more fashionable is the fabric.

Orin Catlin, 49 Pearl street, Buffalo, N. Y., says: I tried various remedies for the piles but found no relief until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which entirely cured me after a few applications.

"Do you wear night-caps, dearest?" asked his sweetheart. "Yes love with a little sugar," he replied, and she couldn't think what he meant.

"I met a lovely woman from Rome, Ga, yesterday, and she said, 'I've been at summer resorts for a month, and all I want now is to be on my back porch at home in a loose wrapper, and my face burried in a Georgia watermelon.'"

Lynn, Mass., always was a good place for health, but it has become a modern Bethsda since Mrs. Lydia E Pinkham, of 233 Western avenue, made her great discovery of the Vegetable Compound, or panacea for the principal ills that afflict the fair creation. This, differs, however, from the ancient scene of marvelous cures in this important particular: The healing agent, with all its virtues, can be sent to order by express or mail all over the world.

French enterprise is steadily persevering in the work of redeeming the dessert of Sahara by means of artesan wells. A large number of wells have been sunk along the the northern border, more than 150 in the province of Constantine alone, and the work is advancing into the interior. One of the curious phenomenas which the digging of these wells has brought to notice is the existence of fish and crabs at great depths. The learned engineer, M. Jus, who for twenty years has directed the work, avers that he once boiled and ate a crab which had been drawn from a depth of 250 feet, and that, moreover, it was of an excellent flavor.

"It will most surely quicken the Blood and Heal, as its acting power is wonderful." Bradstreet's Weekly Reports.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6, 1882—Bradstreet's special telegrams report considerable improvement in corn crop. The September cotton report, published tomorrow, will show that the general condition of the crop is fair, except in Texas, where it is distinctly good. No damage is reported by worms. Except to a certain extent in Mississippi, Louisiana and Alabama there is small chance for a top crop. Finished iron is weaker; pig is firm, coal is active, and petroleum reacting on account of reports of increased production. Again there were reported one hundred and twenty-one failures in the United States reported by Bradstreets during the week, fifty-two less than last week and fifty-five more than in the corresponding week last year. INSURANCE.

The above is the amount of the ÆTNA LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY'S deposit with the Government of Canada, in connection with its large business in this Dominion. The amount is all in Government Bonds, and is nearly six times as much as most of the other life insurance companies have deposited—they only needing to deposit from $30,000 and upwards to $100,000 with a few exceptions.

And it is the purpose of the Company to continually increase its Government Deposit, as required from year to year by the Insurance Act of 1875, thus adding, probably, not less than $100,000 A YEAR.

From the new Quarterly Official List, just published by Prof. Cherriman, Superintendent of Insurance at Ottawa, the following figures are taken, showing a corrected list of the Deposits with the Government by all the regular Life Insurance Companies, omitting those engaged in Fire business, none of which latter, however, do much life insurance business in Canada.

CANADIAN.		OTHER COMPANIES.
Canada, of Hamilton	$54,000	Equitable, of N. Y.	$165,000
Citizens, Montreal	50,400	Lion, London, England	50,000
Confederation, Toronto	75,333	London & Lancashire	106,800
Federal, Hamilton	50,000	Standard, Edinburgh	153,900
Life Association, Hamilton	90,815	Star, of London	100,948
North American, Toronto	50,000	Travelers, Hartford	125,000
Ontario Mutual, Waterloo	50,586	Union Mutual, Portland	130,000
Sun Life, Montreal	50,400	Average of the foregoing for each of the 15 companies	89,860
Toronto Life, Toronto	52,915

During the past year the ÆTNA LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY has paid for death claims in Canada the large sum of $70,645.85, and to the living holders of Matured Endowment Bonds the further sum of $30,104.00.

Also, in Cash Dividends, or profits to the Canadian members of its Mutual Department, the handsome amounts of $40,749 in 1877; of $41,978 in 1878; of $45,713 in 1879; of $51,247 in 1880; and of $54,593 in 1881. Total profits to living Canadian mutual members in five years $234,282. This is in cash, not bonuses, in which shape it would amount to nearly a million dollars of bonus additions to policies.

Capital and Accumulated Assets, $27,055,884.76.
Surplus, as regards Policy-holders, $5,600,000.00.
Policies in force $7,564, insuring, $79,772,425.44.

Endowment Deposits received in sums of $10 and upwards, carrying insurance of from $500 to $15,000 on a single life, from the age of 16 and upwards. Reader, if you are in good health (for none others are admitted) make application at once through the undersigned.
