KING ST. - 205 - KING ST.
Have to thank their many friends in Brockville and surrounding country for their very liberal patronage during all the past year and particularly during the month of December. Trade has been fully up to our expectations, although the weather has been very unfavorable. Our holiday sale has been a success, but we purpose continuing it until after stock taking. Heavy winter goods have not moved out as fast as they should and prices for the next four weeks will have to suffer.

MANTLE DEPARTMENT

The most noted mantle season since we commenced business. This department has been stocked with a large assortment and to-day if we have not the variety of cloths we had some two months ago, our patrons can rely upon getting the best goods from now until after stock taking at the cut price. Buyers prove this by calling.

ALL CLOTHS CUT AND FITTED FREE OR MADE TO ORDER UPON SHORT NOTICE.

Jersey Jackets, Peilses and Dolmans

Prices that have been so popular at the season are all reduced to sell at once. We have a few Children's Ready-made Jackets to sell at about half price—and no doubt about the qualifying "all".

HOUSE JERSEYS—Call in and see our assortment of these goods before buying elsewheac.

COUNTY NEWS.

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM OUR STAFF OF CORRESPONDENTS.

A Budget of News and Gossip.—Personal Intelligence.—A Little of Everything, well Mixed up.

ELGIN.

SATURDAY, Jan. 11.—A very interesting lecture was given in the town hall last night on Dairying and Cheese Making, Mr. J, R. Dargarvel, proprietor of the Model cheese factory, having engaged some very able speakers for the occasion. There was a very good turnout, considering the night.

La Grippe has reached our village and a great many have become its victims.

The funeral of the infant daughter of Wm. Charland, of Forfar, was held in the church yesterday at 10 a. m. Services conducted by the Rev. N. H. Howard.

Recently the town hall has been undergoing repairs and is now fitted up in a very nice shape. Since completion J. R. Dargarvel has bought a new organ which he has placed there for public use.

CHANTRY.

SATURDAY, Jan. 11.—D. B. Derbyshire, our blacksmith, is getting up some fine new bob-sleighs and cutters. People who want to buy had better come here before they purchase any place else.

Trotting races are going on in Harlem. It is a tie between the two smiths, but Joe and Albert think they can take the lead yet.

If anyone wants to find "loffers," just come to Chantry, for they are stuck on each comer young or old.

Mr. S. L. Knowlton has just got in a fine quality of tea—over two hundred dollar's worth.

Mr. Stephen Seaman and his wife have been very ill with the grip. After Stephen got well he came down around the corners with four or five overcoats on. Mrs. Sirrell is also very ill with the grip.

There is a great revival meeting going on in Philipsville conducted by Rev. J. Sirrell and Rev. Mr. White.

You will have to look out for the Lower Canada folks, for when you buy boots from them and pay them in full, you will have to pay them again in Delta if you don't get a receipt.

FRANKVILLE.

MONDAY, Jan. 13.—Miss Ettie Soper and Miss Lucinda Ireland, of this place, started to take their first term in Oshawa Ladies' College on Monday last.

Our school reopened on Monday with Miss Lou Mulvagh as teacher.

Mr. R. N. Parker sold a fine young team to Mr. Ross, of Athens, on Wednesday last for the handsome sum of $400.

There is a good opening here for a carriage maker.

The annual meeting of the Kitley Agricultural Society was held in Edger's hotel, Frankville, on Thursday, Jan. 9th. Mr. Vincent Judson was elected chairman, and after a very neat speech he called upon the Secretary to read the annual report. The report very agreeably surprised the meeting, as it showed that everything had been paid in full, leaving a balance in the treasurer's hands of about $25.

Next came the nominations for President, Vice-President and Directors, and the following were elected:—President, D. Dowsley; Vice-President, G. Percival; Directors, William Ennis, Hiram Cross, Peter Steward, William Lee, Samuel Hanton, William Mitchell, Vincent Judson, O. L. Monroe, A. R. Loucks; Secretary, S. S. Davis; Treasurer, William Eaton; Auditors, B. F. Steward, J. R. Loucks.

NEWBORO.

MONDAY, Jan. 13.—Our municipal election in this village for 1890 was the hottest we have had since the departure of our political fire-eaters. Every one appeared to work with their full energy to attain their object in view. Much credit is due the women for the interest they showed and their juegment in marking their ballots as they did. The council are as follows:—Reeve, John Paul; Counsillors, J. P. Tett, R. Bell, Wm. Spicer, Geo. Lyons.

The Baptist coffee social, held in Victoria Hall on Jan. 6th was a decided success. Dr. Preston, M. P. P., occupied the chair and Mrs. Whaley presided at the organ. The program consisted of the following:—Duett, In the starlight, by Mrs. J. L. Webster and Miss C. McDonald; address by Rev. Stuart; song, The balance of the scale, by Miss Maud Singleton; address by Rev. Geo. Bousfield; song, She can win and fool you all, by Miss Lizzie Wallace; political harangue, by Robt. Bell, councillor elect; refreshments; song and chorus, Goodbye Mavourneen, Mrs. Webster and Miss McDonald; song, My laddie far away, Miss Lizzie Wallace.

Mr. Emerson, the pastor, gave a short and eloquent address touching on the increasing friendly relations which are existing between different denominations of this section. It is hoped the harmony may still increase. Much credit is due Mrs. Wm. Bresee for the zeal she has manifested in the Baptist cause in Newboro. The proceeds amounted to about $40.

Mr. W. H. Sturgeon has bought the Hazelton store situated on the corner of Carleton and Drummond sts. and will move his stock of goods and telegraph office in a few days.

Gordon Brown paid us a flying visit last week. He talks of going to Kansas city shortly. May prosperity attend you in the land of the grasshoppers.

Mr. John Hart's span of horses made a very lively trip from the station on Saturday night, being scared by the escaping of steam from the engine. He may congratulate himself as nothing was broken about the rig when the trip was over.

THE APIARY.

The Tide is Rising—A hopeful future for this industry in Leeds County.

It is with pleasure many recognize a hopeful feeling among the patrons of this youthful industry—youthful, because it is only in this part of the country, two or three years since beginners began to bring science to their aid in operating the apiary. Before this departure, beginners were moving at random and all was doubt and uncertainty with no profit to inspire enlarged effort. Now he has a pretty clear idea that it will pay to observe the little nectar fountain in each variety of flowers, when and how long the flow may continue. He has also observed that he must be not only vigilant, but have his honey extractor and other appliances on hand and in order, and at the right time step into the work heart and hand and help the bees in their labor to harvest and store away the flow.

I hope every young beekeeper from this day on will devote an idle hour he may have to planning or doing something for his apiary, and continue until his hives are ready—painted foundations in, sections prepared and all complete, ready to lay your hand on at a moment's notice. If you do this, beekeeping will be pleasant, profitable and inspiring. If you omit this preparation, you will regret it. Your name will be registered under the head of "Folorn Hopes," and you will have bees to sell cheaply next fall.

Mr. Benj. Derbyshire from 30 stocks, spring count, had nearly 1,500 lbs. of honey. He took it from half stories and classified it in three grades. The first class was pure and beautiful. He had 250 lbs. of comb honey. The honey netted him $140; and he had also an increase of 30 colonies worth $90.

Mr. William McLaughlin, from two stocks I transferred in spring, extracted 200 lbs. good honey with an increase of six swarms, united in four colonies.

Mr. Milton Mansell, of Temperance Lake, from one stock, very full and heavy, obtained a fine lot of honey and three good colonies. Mr. William Earl, of the same place, from ½ of a standard stock received such a result as to give him confidence to invest in bees.

Mr. Geo. Hall, from a small beginning three years ago now has a fine apiary from which he obtained last summer about 800 lbs. of honey, the most of which was very white and of a flavor much superior to that of most white honey. This apiary has had a remarkably uniform and healthy growth and will no doubt soon be highly remunerative to its owner.

I give the above variety of samples to encourage those who are undecided about beginning. The world is before you; the field is open. Twenty pounds of honey to the acre will give you half a ton from fifty acres. Why not furnish your table yearly with 500 lbs. of honey.

I will place a number of cheap and simple devices for the easy management of bees at Mr. Middleton's sash and door factory, Athens. A pattern also of the cheapest and simplest compound hive in the world. These are all my own inventions. Those who wish to can make for themselves. Those who prefer it, can employ Mr. Middleton to make for them. At his very low prices, this is by far the cheaper plan.

My earnest desire is that every family in the country may have an abundance of delicious honey. God creates the bees every year without charge and He also causes great flows of honey. If you don't prepare and gather it I must think it is very much your own fault if you go without.

W. S. HOGG.

Bee-Stings for Rheumatism.

Dr. Terc, of Vienna, Austria, has again tried bee-stings on rheumatic patients. Upon saturating the patient's system with the bee-poison, the rheumatism disappeared, not to return again for a long time. Dr. Terc has applied his remedy in 175 cases, and has inflicted 39,000 stingings and keeps a colony of bees on his premises to be employed in this work.—American Bee Journal.

In reading the above, it has strengthened my belief in the medicinal virtue of the poison from the bee-sting in other things as well as rheumatism. I had a swelling come on my hand which was very painful. I thought it would result in a felon. One day a bee stung my hand about one half an inch from the center of the swelling and left his stinger. Immediately after my hand began to get better and in a short time the pain and swelling had disappeared without any supperation or medicine. I firmly believe the bee poison cured my hand. I have been in the bee business about nine years. Some days I have been stung seven or eight times. During the period of my labor with the bee's I have not been troubled with rheumatism. There is a poisonous gas or vapor which escapes from the bees, or rather the bees throw it off in defence when we are handling or disturbing them to get the honey or otherwise, and this we inhale. I think and believe it is exceedingly healthy for the lungs, and would recommend any person who has weak lungs inclining to consumption, and even weak females, to take exercise in the bee yard and inhale as much of such poisonous gas or vapor as possible, I believe it would strengthen and tone up the system, and it will enlighten the mind when the eye sees thousands of bees on the wing and the ear hears them singing a melodious song of praise and thanksgiving on their way home laden with honey and pollen for their young. Yea, the heart would rejoice exceedingly, forgetting all its troubles and vaunted knowledge, when it could see the hand of God through these little insects so diligently and earnestly gathering and storing up saccharine edibles to be placed upon our tables. Well we might exclaim, What is man that God is so mindful of him!

F. L. MOORE

Addison, Dec. 24, 1889.

A GREAT WINDSTORM.

Its effects in this section—Barns, Stables, etc. fall before the blast.

One of the greatest windstorms ever known in this section swept over here on Monday last. In the morning the wind was in the south, but as the day advanced it changed to the west and then to the north-west from which quarter it blew a terrific gale. The following is a partial list of the wild wind's work:—The grand stand at the race-course was blown down. A chimney on the house of W. M. Stevens was swept from the roof. The facing on N. Williams' wagon shop, from the eaves up, was blown into the street. The weather-vane on the high school bowed its stately head. The public school was dismissed at 1.30 p.m., as it was thought that the roof of the school was in danger—a wise precaution. Arza Wiltse's new machine barn succumbed to the blast and fell burying beneath it his implements and a buggy belonging to Sala Blancher. The Birdsell house on the Giles farm was completely wrecked. James Moore, residing west of the village, lost the end of his wagon house. The tin-roofing on Steven Boyce's house was considerably damaged. Irwin Wiltse's house lost a chimney. The Armstrong House suffered damage to roof and cornice. The kitchen attached to the residence of Rev. Wright was blown down. Several chimneys took fire and gave the citizens quite a scare. Altogether, it is safe to say that Monday's storm was the worst ever known here.

SUDBURY'S MINERAL WEALTH.

The Sudbury mines of the Canada Copper Company are believed to be not only among the richest in the world in copper, but unrivalled in wealth of nickel. They have become of unexpected value, says the Globe, by the remarkable invention of nickle steel. This alloy, by virtue of its strength, flexibility and resistance to corrosion, promises to supplant for many uses not only steel, but copper, brass and several other metals very extensively used. Hitherto the demand for nickle has not warranted its production in great quantities, nor was it known to exist anywhere in such amounts as would enable it to be produced so cheaply as it may be from the Sudbury mines. But for the invention of nickle steel these mines could not be worked to their full capacity, and but for these mines the alloy probably could not be produced so cheaply as to permit its use for anything like so great a variety of purposes as it seems likely to be put to. Obviously, if this be so—if the mines are necessary to the commercial manufacture of the alloy—Ontario is sure to have almost a monopoly of what promises to be one of the greatest of metal industries. Mr. Edison, who is not only a famous inventor, but a particularly shrewd capitalist, is reported to be so satisfied of the future of the nickel-steel industry and the facilities for its pursuits in Ontario, that he proposes to invest $3,000,000 in the smelting works, as projected for erection in Haliburton or East Hastings.

We have received a copy of Vick's Floral Guide for 1890. As usual, it is ahead of all others in point of artistic excellence. A copy can be obtained by addressing James Vick, Rochester, N. Y.
