Jones, who has taught in the Upper school for the past twenty years and who has recently resigned her position. Upwards of one hundred friends and pupils of hers in various ages were present. The younger set enjoyed old fashioned games and swinging on the lawn. Mr. H. R. Fawcett, secretary to the trustees, gave a short address, expressing the genuine sorrow of the community in general at the departure of Miss Jones from Sackville, where she has made many warm friends and taught with such acceptance for the longest period of any teacher here. On behalf of those present he presented her with a handsome walrus leather club bag fitted with pockets and ladies toilet articles. Although taken by surprise Miss Jones expressed her pleasure in receiving the gift and reminding the children that she would always remember them and watch their future progress in school. The opportunity was taken to present Miss Emma Read of the same school staff, who is also leaving this year, with a handsome box of stationary. Ice cream and cake were then served and the company dispersed after singing God Save the King and giving three cheers for the honored guests of the occasion.
