LADIES GAVE A FINE CONCERT

Large and Appreciative Gathering in Brant Ave. Church.

The evening of Fun, which was held at the Brant Ave. Methodist school room, was perhaps one of the most successful events ever held in the annals of that building. The audience packed the large schoolroom to the doors and extra seats were required and the gallery opened, and still the crowds came.

The evening of Fun, took the shape of a little sketch which introduced all the notabilities of the church and many prominent citizens found themselves the subjects of severe puns and received advice as to their future conduct. The scene was supposed to represent the reception hall of Mr. T. Harry Jones's home and his good lady was entertaining in honour of two guests, Mrs. Fitzhammond of Boston and Mrs. Miller of Toronto and the house party veers round until it is conducting a business meeting of the Ladies Aid of the church, business is dealt with in a strictly business sense, according to a woman's idea, and after a great deal of talk concerning various unfortunate members who were unable to be present and considerable criticism had been hurled at the apparel of different ladies of the meeting, a little baby was brought upon the scene of activities and as the little one had a cold every member of the Aid grew interested and offered recipes, adding to the quandary of the mother. There followed a discussion upon the way to bring up children in spite of the very pressing business of the Aid. The treasurers report showed that commencing the season with a balance of $35, she ended up with a credit $3 after an entertainment had been given. In the sketch, great demands are made upon the leading characters and they, without exception, carried through the theme of the sketch without a hitch and the ladies are to be complimented upon the net result. Miss Stephanie Jones as the ambiguous Mrs. Fitzhammond of Boston, who is continually airing her views of how this and that is done in Boston, had a difficult role to sustain and she came through with flying colors. Mrs Miller, Toronto, was excellently portrayed by Mrs. Lyons, whilst the host of the evening, Mrs. Jones received an excellent characterization at the hands of Mrs. Lavell. All roles were well rendered in the care of very capabe amateurs.

A short and select program interspersed the comedy. Miss Dorothy Hagen gave a fine recitation upon the deeds of the Ladies Aid and Miss A. Shultis sang sweetly, with perfect expression "The Garden of my Heart", both received hearty applause.

Miss Hammond gave a vocal selection very harmoniously in good voice and received a full meed of approval, whilst Miss A. Ryerson recited with such effect that an encore was demanded. "How to drive a pig" was her first selection and her interpretation of the verse, around the old, old story was magnificent. The appreciation of her effort was evident by her cordial reception.

The pastor, the Rev. A. E. Lavell, said there were very few circles in life which would turn and criticise themselves, which was exactly what these ladies had done that evening. It indicated a good deal of courageousness and showed an excellent feeling pervaded in the church and his remarks were exemplified by the evenings proceedings. The fund for the church extension will be substantially added to as the result of this very successful evening of fun, which was arranged and held by the indefatigable members of Brant Avenue Ladies' Aid.

The following is a complete list of the characters and their interpretors: Mrs. Lavell, Mrs. S. N. Jones; Mrs Lyons, Mrs Miller of Toronto; Stephanie Jones, Mrs. Fitzhammond of Boston; Mrs. Schultz, Mrs. Preston; Mrs. Williamson, Mrs Strong; Miss A. Ryerson Miss Harpe; Miss Lampkin, Mrs. H. Harley; Miss Gillespie, Mrs. Coates; Miss May Jones, Mrs. Shultis; Miss Grace Reynolds, Miss Noble; Miss S. Lee, Mrs. Kerr, Jr.; Miss Thompson, Mrs. Sweet; Mrs. Hagey, Mrs. Wickens; Mrs. Oxtaby, Mrs. Brewster; Mrs. McKenzie, Mrs. Slemin; Mrs. Patterson, Mrs. Brereton; Mrs. Ranson, Miss Thompson; Miss Noble, Mrs. Roberts; Miss Dorothy Hagey, Miss S. Jones; Miss McGregor, Miss E Hughes; Miss Matthews, Miss Rose; Miss Wilma Jones, Miss Livingstone; Miss Pearce, Miss Agnew; Miss Britton, Miss Burns.

THE TELEGRAM FAVORS REDUCTION

West Should be Considered Relative to Farm Implement Reduction.

[By Special Wire to The Courier]

WINNIPEG, March 13.—The Telegram (Conservative) this morning advocates a reduction of the duty on agricultural implements.

"There is undoubted sentiment in favor of some measure of relief, and if the Government is heedful of Western opinion, it will give careful consideration to the subject before deciding that no reduction is to be granted," says the Telegram.

"The demand is not for abrogation of all duties, which would needlessly embarrass the Canadian manufacturer and injure the home market, but there is a strong feeling that the time has come when the farmer should receive some tangible consideration. The Telegram believes the Government would do well, before taking final action in the matter, to take into consideration the feelings of the West. If it does, and allows itself to be influenced by Western sentiment, the budget will announce a substantial reduction in duties on farm implements."

ANNUAL SMOKER HELD LAST NIGHT

Canadian Order of Oddfellows Hold Forth in Grand Style at Their Lodge Room.

A very successful concert was held Thursday evening by the C. O. O. F. in their lodge rooms, where a goodly number of members and friends met together and enjoyed a splendid programme. The chair was occupied by Noble Grand Bro. Sweatman, who in introducing the program gave a short address, outlining the splendid condition of the order, both financially and fraternally. Mr Jack Howarth was then called upon for a song, rendering in splendid voice His Majesty the King, and had to respond to a well deserved encore. Mr Ted Foster was next called upon and gave a splendid piano selection, and he also had to respond to an encore. D.D.G.M. Bro. Mellor was then called upon for a speech, which was given in fine style, pointing out the benefits of the order in general and the local lodge in particular, showing the order to be financially second to none in Canada. Mr W. J. Sweatman then gave a violin solo in good style, entitled "Tanhauser's Overture." Mr. Fred Jones was then called upon for a recitation and gave several splendid readings, having to respond to repeated encores. L. M. Bro. Beal was next called upon for a speech and in response stated as lecture master, he could say without fear of contradiction that the C.O.O.F. had one of the best rituals of any order in Canada. Bro. Tirrell now gave a very amusing reading and had to respond to a well deserved encore.

At this juncture, the chairman announced he had a very pleasant duty to perform, and requested D. D. G. M. Mellor to present P.N.G. Fisk to him. N.G. Sweatman, in a few but well chosen words, expressed to Bro. Fisk the high esteem in which he was held in Grand River Lodge, and that the Past Noble Grand's apron now presented, was a small token of their appreciation of his successful year as Noble Grand, hoping he would wear it with credit to himself and honor to the order. P. N.G. Fisk expressed his great surprise, and thanked the brethren most cordially. The chairman then announced the last item on the program, which number he felt sure would by this time be most apreciated, and that was the good things provided by mine host Mr Crumback of the Tea Pot Inn. All responded in good style to the splendid repast and when all were satisfied, stood and sang God Save the King. This brought the evening to a close and great credit is due the committee composed of Bros. Fisk, Taylor, and Jones, for the splendid program and general arrangements.

SCOTLAND YARD IS NOW LOOKING FOR SPIES

Who it is Believed Stole the Code Book From the Warship at Shearness.

LONDON, March 13.—Foreign spies yesterday were the quarry of scores of Scotland Yard detectives, and secret agents of the British Admiralty, as the result of the clever theft from a warship at Shearness of a secret naval code book.

With the aid of the stolen volume the veriest amateur could make out the confidental signals between warships in the time of war. For that reason the admiralty officials are convinced that the book has fallen into the hands of a foreign Government

According to the story, reluctantly made public by the officials, after days of fruitless search, the code book was obtained by a carefully planned ruse. It was kept on file with other books and documents in the cabin of the ship's commander. A dummy volume, bound exactly like the signal code book, was subsituted for it, and for days the false book fooled official inspection.

The Queen Victoria Niagara Falls Park Commission decided to erect a quarter million dollar conservatory at Niagara Falls, Ontario.
