IF YOU KNOW CANADA YOU'LL WONDER AT THIS

¶ Not a few motorists thought it would be impossible to cross Canada on tires. One can hardly blame them. These motorists had travelled over our Western country and knew the lamentable condition of the trails. They felt that no tires could be made which would stand up under such strains as the driver unwillingly would be forced to put on them.

¶ The success of Dunlop Traction Treads proves that the trip was not impossible and that these tires are capable of doing anything which a rubber-made article could scientifically be expected to do. The driver of the car, F. V. Haney, says: "Dunlop Traction Treads never skidded once on that terribly exacting journey of 4,160 miles." Could a tire receive more enduring or more convincing praise than that?

¶ Thomas W. Wilby, newspaper writer, who also made the trip, confirms Haney in his praise of Dunlop Traction Treads. These men ought to know. While they completed a trip which the average autoist will probably never undertake, at the same time, if Dunlop Traction Tread tires are not found wanting in the biggest test possible to give tires, it is pretty safe to say that they will more than make good in any test that every day use can give them.

YORK COUNTY ...AND... SUBURBS

FIRST MEETING OF LEASIDE COUNCIL

Members Get Down to Business and Pass Many By-laws.

TOWN CLERK APPOINTED

Also Chief of Police—Town Engineer at Next Session.

The Leaside Council got down to business in earnest at their first regular meeting yesterday. Mayor R. J. McRae presided and Councillors Harvey Fitzsimmons, L. C. Boulton, Geo. W. W. Saunders and A. G. McRae were present.

All new officials were duly sworn in. E. T. Lawson was appointed town clerk and treasurer, and J. Lindburg, chief constable.

The first bylaw passed was one to establish rules and regulations for the administration of the local affairs of the municipality of the Town of Leaside.

The next was a bylaw to prohibit the carrying or discharging of firearms within the boundaries of the town. Mayor McRae was emphatic as to the necessity for the measure, declaring that a great deal of shooting has been going on in the neighborhood, and the sooner it was checked the better.

Notification was given of a number of bylaws which will be presented at the next regular meeting. Some of these are: Grading of streets; paving of streets; to provide money by issue of debentures to cover the cost of installing waterworks and sewerage; also a bylaw to appoint a town engineer.

The following regular committees were appointed: Board of works, property committee, water, fire and light committee, and finance and legislation committees.

Notice was also given of a bylaw to provide funds for this year's general expenses.

"We are fairly under way now," said Mayor McRae to The World yesterday, "and the council has a number of busy meetings ahead. Fifteen miles of street will be graded this year, and another mile of concrete roadway added to that now laid. The main trunk sewer and the principal water mains will also be put in. We will instal the branch connections as they are needed, of course, so that any new buildings will be provided for."

Meets Every Month.

The council meets on the first Monday of every month except January, when it meets on the second Monday.

At present grading operations are going busily forward, seventy-five men and fifteen teams being at work this week.

Mayor McRae is reticent as to the actual locations of trunk sewers and the council's plans regarding water supply and sewage disposal, but he admitted that plans were already prepared, so that the town engineer will have his hands full from the first day.

HISTORIC BUILDING TO BE TORN DOWN

Bracondale Postoffice Site Needed For Christie Street Widening.

This building was erecttd by the late Frank Turner, C.E., between thirty and forty years ago, and was first occupied by Mr. Entwiske, who was followed by a Mr. Reeves, and afterwards by the late Mr. J. E. Edwards and family. Between the years 1884 and 1901, Mr. E. Boggis and family resided there. Mr. Boggis being deputy postmaster and mail carrier. During this period many interesting meetings were held in the old building. Yarmouth Lodge, Sons of England, the West York Gardeners' Association and the Bracondale public library were all organized there.

The first meeting of the Davenport street railway was also held there, and many political meetings in connection with the late Clarke Wallace elections, as well as meetings in connection with municipal affairs of West York.

Two sessions were held in the Baptist Church, the first at 1 p.m. and the second at 2.30 p.m. The program for the first session included reading the reports from the different secretary-treasurers thuout the county, which showed remarkable progress that has been made during the past year. The election of officers then took place and resulted as follows: President, Mrs. E. G. The delegates were entertained by the local institute at the Victoria Hotel.

BODY OF OLD MAN TAKEN FROM BAY

It seems unlikely that the body found in the bay at the John street slip yesterday morning and removed to the morgue will be identified. The remains are those of a man about 60 years old and appears to have been in the water for more than a month. There is nothing in the pockets to give any clue as to to the identity.

Unless the body is identified today it will be buried without an inquest.

NEVER HAD OFFER FROM SIR WILLIAM

Sir Donald Mann Testifies in Half-Million-Dollar Suit.

FORFEITED HIS OPTION

Plaintiff Declares Mackenzie and Mann Always Worked Together.

Sir Donald Mann, vice-president of the Canadian Northern Railway, testified for an hour and a half in the high court at the city hall yesterday afternoon, in connection with the $500,000 commission suit which M. I. Stewart has brought against R. J. Henderson for the sale to Sir William Mackenzie for $5,000,000 of a new process for manufacturing steel. Sir Donald's testimony was interesting thruout, but the most startling part of it was his statement that Sir William Mackenzie has never offered him an interest in the secret smelting process.

Sir Donald was examined by George Watson, K.C., counsel for Mr. Stewart, and cross-examined by N. W. Rowell, K.C., counsel for Mr. Henderson. In his questioning Mr. Watson tried to show that Sir William Mackenzie would never have bought the process if Mr. Stewart had not introduced Sir Donald, his partner, to Mr. Henderson. Sir Donald stated that prior to the time Mr. Stewart introduced him to Mr. Henderson he had heard nothing about the process. Sir William Mackezie afterwards saw some papers in connection with it in his office, and a discussion of the process followed. This discussion occurred after Sir Donald Mann had been offered an option on and had drawn up an agreement for the purchase of the process. After reports on the process had been made hes gave up his option, and on becoming ill a little later, he left for Europe.

"Was the draft agreement dropped or deferred?" asked Mr. Watson.

"I should say both," said Sir Donald.

Sir Donald afterwards stated that the prices in the agreement made with Sir William Mackenzie were much the same as quoted in his agreement, but he could not say whether the payments demanded in his own case were more onerous than those asked from Sir William.

"Since your return from Europe have you been offered an interest in the agreement fith Sir William Mackenzie?"

"No," replied Sir Donald.

Col. Davidson, land commissioner for the C. N. R., who was the next witness, stated that so far as he knew no tests of the process were made after Sir Donald Mann left for the old country.

Cross-examined by Mr. Rowell, Col. Davidson stated that Sir William and Sir Donald often had personal investments apart from each other.

M. I. Stewart Testifies.

At the morning session Mr. Stewart was the chief witness. When questioned about his residence in Toronto, he stated that he spent nearly all of the year 1912 here. Prior to the Henderson deal he had had many deals with Sir Donald Mann. Some were mines and some were smelting propositions.

"But, can you tell me of any deal in which Sir Willam was connected?" asked Mr. Rowell.

"Well, in Vancouver Sir Donald told me of the way he and Sir William worked it. He said the way they worked is that if a man came into their office, and if they took the deal, they put up their money, and if it was any good the other partner could then come in on the ground floor."

"In any of these deals you speak of, the only man you dealt with was Sir Donald Mann?"

"Yes."

"Do you know of Sir Donald having any interests outside those of Sir William Mackenzie?"

"Of course, I know he has an auto, but I don't know of any large deals. I don't know the difference between Mackenzie and Mann and the Canadian Northern."

Mr. Stewart stated that Gordon and White could have had the process for the world for $3,000,000, but that later on Mr. Henderson asked $10,000,000 for it, claiming that he had made many improvements in it. He denied that he had told Sir Donald Mann that if his own commission was too large he would accept one from him. "But," he continued, "I told him I would take less rather than have the deal fall thru."

It was expected that Sir William Mackenzie would have testified yesterday, but as he was called away to Ottawa on Monday, Justice Latchford decided to resume the case at 9.30 o' clock today, when it is expected that Sir William will be on hand.
