SIX MEN SERIOUSLY HURT BY EXPLOSION OF BOILER

Accident at Sunnyside Rolling Mills Imperiled Lives of Many Workmen.

In the twinkling of an eye, stunned by shock and flying debris, enveloped in steam and threatened with flame, six employes of the rolling mills at Sunnyside were yesterday brought close to death by the explosion of a boiler. Three of the number are seriously hurt, altho the Western Hospital authorities express the hope that the injuries are not fatal. The unfortunates are:

William Dixon, 31 Garden-avenue, engineer, compound fracture of left arm between the shoulder and elbow, fracture of both bones of the right forearm and fracture of the second metacarpal, bad cut behind the ear, and body badly burned.

George Woods, 5 Sunnyside-avenue, mill hand, face badly cut, bruised and very badly burned.

Albert Durnford, 85 West Marion-street, mill hand, burned, bruised and scalded.

Alexander Watson, engineer, elbow dislocated and fractured; leg, face and arms scalded.

James Hill, mill hand, North Lisgar-street, arms burned.

Fred Jones, Indian Road, engineer, leg broken.

All the men except Woods are married. Dixon is over 60 years of age, and consequently is suffering severely from the shock.

Jones and Watson are at the Emergency Hospital.

The accident occurred just before 2 o'clock, and it is providential that more were not hurt. Superintendent Joliy and Manager Kyle both had narrow escapes, and there were over seventy men at work in the place. The explosion was due to the crown sheet of the back end of the thirty horsepower boiler giving way, allowing the water to fall upon the fire.

Smokestack Came Down.

The force of the explosion was terrific, but the boiler did not burst; it was simply thrown over to one side. The large 50 foot iron smokestack, however, came down, and, crashing thru the corrugated iron roof of the building, fell in upon the mass of brick and wood. The building beyond the damage to the roof was not wrecked.

The six men injured were standing near together to the west of the boiler and were hurled several feet. The noise was terrifying and the clouds of steam for a brief time concealed the real extent of the damage wrought, and temporarily deterred the rest of the employes from going to the aid of the victims.

William Kyle had just started from the office to go back to the boiler, and was within 15 feet of it when the crash came. Charles Jolly, the superintendent, was standing by the wall and was blown thru an opening, he doesn't know just how. Regaining his feet, he tried to get back into the building, but the steam drove him away and he went around to the other side.

Scalded by Steam.

When Woods was reached his clothing was on fire. The others were scattered over the floor, suffering greatly from the scalding steam.

The telephone summoned Drs. Hart, Lynd, Griffith, Orr and Hunter, and first aid was rendered the sufferers until the ambulances arrived.

Manager Kyle states that there was 75 pounds of steam on just before the explosion, according to Engineer Watson. The boiler was an auxiliary, used only during the rolling of steel. Yesterday the mills were working on small billets only and the boiler was not being used to its full extent; to-day much more steam would have been required. The mill is in connection with the Toronto Bolt and Forging Company at Swansea. He hopes to have the place in shape to resume work before Saturday.

Could Not Be Foreseen.

The boiler was new a year ago last January and was inspected less than two months ago. H. N. Roberts, secretary of the Boiler Insurance and Inspection Company, said that the accident was of a kind which could not be foreseen by inspection. He, with Inspector Boyce and Mr. McMurrich, one of the directors, was early on the scene. The boiler is insured along with four others.

The total loss is placed at about $1500.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 14.—(Special.)—W. Sans Regret, a notorious halfbreed horsethief, who was captured last week under romantic circumstances at St. Vital, and sentenced to seven years' imprisonment at Stony Mountain, was brought here to-day by mounted police from Moosomin, where he was tried. He broke away late to-night on Broadway, near the drill hall, where a big dance was in progress. He was pursued by the police, and many shots were fired on the highroad. He was caught after an hour's chase.

HAND OF CAP SULLIVAN IN NORTH GREY AS REVEALED BY ONE OF THE PLAYERS

Two Charges of Illegal Payment of Money Proved in Soo Trial, but Agency Not Established—Two Men Tell of Overhearing a Crooked Transaction.

James T. Nelson of Buffalo gave sensational testimony in the North Grey election trial. It was a story of the operations of a gang of election crooks, organized by Capt. John Sullivan at Jack McCarty's saloon in Buffalo, to work in the "three norths." Nelson was to furnish eight men, who were to be given plenty of money to assist the Liberal candidates. After the elections, Capt. Sullivan neglected to carry out the contract, and Nelson wrote to J. P. Whitney and G. M. Boyd, revealing the whole plot. Mr. Aylesworth failed to break down the evidence of Nelson. Another of the Buffalo gang, Leon J. Mulloy, will go in the box to-day. The Farrow swore that he was paid $5 Farron swore that he was paid $5 for his vote by Roy MacMurchy. MacMurchy denied the bribe, and as Farrow had been sworn when he voted, thus admitting that he received no consideration, the court ruled that his evidence was untrustworthy.

NORTH GREY PROTEST.

Owen Sound, Sept. 14.—(Staff Special.)—To-day's enquiry into the methods by which A. G. Mackay has been able to sit in the legislature during the present parliament developed some startling evidence. The star witness for the petitioner, James T. Nelson, went into the box and told a story of systematized corruption which, if substantiated, may result in the seat being again declared vacant. Nelson proved a good witness. He is an intelligent man whom one might expect to be fully competent to carry on the secret work he alleges was assigned to him.

His story was substantially the story of his affidavit, which disclosed a systematic plan to buy up the whole three ridings, North Perth, North Grey and North Norfolk. The telling of his story in the main occupied about half an hour, after which the witness was subjected to the most searching cross-examination by A. B. Aylesworth, K. C., who concentrated the full powers of a highly trained intellect in an effort to discredit the story. Nelson stood the ordeal for two hours and a half remarkably well, and in the main the story was unshaken. The attack on Nelson's character failed. Mr. Blackstock clinched Nelson's story in the examination of Dr. Hough of Wiarton, who, while repudiating any connection whatever with Mulloy, admitted that he had spoken to the man in Wiarton, a fact which corroborated Nelson's story to the point of tracing one of the Buffalo gang into North Grey.

Mulloy will take the stand at 9.30 to-morrow morning.

Mr. Blackstock expressed satisfaction at the manner in which Nelson told his story.

That the Buffalo affair will occupy the time of the court all day to-morrow is probable, as Mr. Aylesworth intimated to the court that witnesses were en route from that city to give evidence on behalf of the respondent.

Nelson's Story.

Interest ran high when the portly figure of Nelson entered the box. He is 50 years of age, but does not appear to be a day older than 35. The witness said that he lived in Buffalo. He knew Capt. John Sullivan, who at that time lived at the Walker House, Toronto. He saw Sullivan in December, 1902, about the 5th of the month, at Buffalo. He was brought down to his house by J. J. McCarty, a saloon-keeper and relative of Sullivan's. Sullivan said that he was representing the Liberal government of Ontario. They were going to have three by-elections and he said that he (witness) had been recommended to him for assistance. An hour later he met Sullivan at McCarty's saloon. He said that they depended on these constituencies to sustain the government. Nelson replied that he would assist if there was money enough in it. Later, on the 17th or 18th, he met Sullivan again. He told Nelson to get eight men besides himself, two for North Norfolk and the balance for North Perth and North Grey. He said that he preferred William Bain, Michael Crosby, John Freeman, a young man by the name of Gallagher, William Schley and John McCarty. He named those parties himself. At this meeting he arranged to give the witness $5 a day, $2 for hotel bill and expenses, and $1 for each of the men. He specified these men because he said he knew them. He went away and said he would meet the witness on the 26th or 27th.

Picked Men.

In the meantime he got his men, securing John Haskitt and Leon J. Mulloy as well as the others named. He received $25 at that time. Sullivan and Nelson made an arrangement and met on Sunday the 27th at the Daly House with Haskitt. The witness received $20. At 3 o'clock Sullivan introduced him to Messrs. Smith and Massey. He met Smith afterward and found out that his right name was Vance. Mr. Sullivan said: "This is the gentleman that will tell you what to do in North Perth." He told him to go to the Cabinet Hotel at Stratford. He was to engage board for a month. He claimed that they were suspicious of every stranger and that it would be difficult to get in unless he did this. He got in without the monthly engagement, however. He was to report to R. T. Hardy and Mr. Oberne of the Stratford Beacon as two persons who could be bought or influenced. He was also to watch the other fellows that they did not do any harm. Most of the reporting was done to Mr. Hardy. He was there until January 2, when he went to Buffalo, where he got his men. On Jan. 3 he met Sullivan with his men at the Windsor Hotel, Niagara Falls. He wanted him to send two men to North Norfolk. He preferred Bain and Crosby for that constituency. Sullivan gave him $225. He was to give $125 to Bain and $80 to McCarty, who was to go to North Grey. Sullivan said, "I mailed you $40 to Stratford," and he got it afterwards when he went up there. J. J. McCarty, John Freeman, Gallagher, Schley and Leon Mulloy came to North Grey. In Perth the witness was known by his own name. He was supposed to be a traveler, but did not take any orders away with him. To the North Grey men he gave Sullivan's instructions. McCarty and Mulloy were to register at the Pacific Hotel. McCarty was to register as Marshall. The other three were to go to the Grand Central. Schley was to be sent to Shallow Lake and Mulloy to Wiarton. He was to see a Dr. Huff or Hough at Wiarton. McCarty had charge of the North Grey men. The proprietor or someone at the Pacific was to give instructions to McCarty. Gallagher was to handle the money to buy votes, and Freeman was to associate with him. McCarty was to tend bar at the Grand Central. He was to get money at the hotel, but could not recall whom it was from then. Mulloy at Wiarton was to represent an Indian medicine company. It was at the Pacific Hotel, Wiarton, where he was to meet Dr. Hough. Sullivan told him that Hough had rooms there.

The men went forward to North Grey, while the witness went back to Stratford. He came to Owen Sound on Jan. 5 and met J. J. McCarty, but was only here from one train to the other. McCarty was at the Central Hotel, and he met him there.

Cap. Gave Him Money.

At Toronto, the day after the election, Sullivan gave him $50 at the Walker House, and told him to send in his Nelson of Buffalo Gives Sensational Evidence, but Admits That Capt. John Did Not Produce the Money—Farrow Charge Fails, and the Trial Still Goes On.

In the Soo protest trial yesterday, the illegal payment of money to voters on two different occasions was proved, but agency was not established. Arthur Filmore corroborated the story of the purser of the Minnie M., and the charges were laid over till some necessary witnesses were obtained. One Bonatham swore Napoleon Audette tried to get him to change his evidence since the trial began. His evidence was corroborated by George Settel and Frank Lucas, who eavesdropped. C. N. Smith, M.L.A., swore he did not think that the Minnie M. would go to Michipicoton after the letter of protest had been read. A rather significant statement was made by Attorney-General Gibson yesterday. He said that he had received a message from the Soo that it would not be necessary for him to go to the Soo to testify in the election trial, for which he had been subpoenaed. Why not?

THE SOO PROTEST.

Sault Ste. Marie, Sept. 14.—(Special.)—Illegal payment of money to voters on two different occasions was proved by evidence given to-day in the trial of the election protest against C. N. Smith. In neither case, however, was agency proven. The election trip of the steamer Minnie M. occupied the attention of the court at the commencement this morning.

Arthur Filmore, a young man from the Michigan Soo, was called as a witness, and said he was one of those who went up to Michipicoton on the famous trip. He had been told by P. J. Galvin that the boat was running a free excursion and as he thought he would like to see the country and probably get work he boarded her along with other men at Algonquin, a suburb of Michipicoton Soo, above the locks.

While going up on the boat, he said, men were taken into one of the staterooms, where they were given slips of paper with names and told that these were the names they were supposed to go under and vote at Helen Mine. He refused to do as the others did, but went up on the train to Helen Mine and saw the men going into the booth there.

After returning to Michipicoton Soo he went to Galvin's employment office, where he and others were paid, as he understood, for their trip and what they did. Other portions of his evidence corroborated the story told by the officers of the boat, the Minnie M. Charges were laid over pending the arrival of further witnesses.

Did Audette Pay?

The next charge taken up was that alleging Napoleon Audette to have paid one Bonatham $5 on the day before the election. An affidavit made by Bonatham and the U. S. silver certificate for $5 which was given him by Audette were produced in court. The evidence of Bonatham was that he and some other men were going away from Soo shortly before the election, but Audette told them their board would cost them nothing at his hotel in the west end if they would stay. They stayed, and Bonatham was given $5 on the day before the election by Audette.

After coming back to Soo on a subpena he was seen by Audette, who, he said, asked him to state in evidence at the trial that the money was a sum which had been borrowed previously and was being returned. Bonatham told Audette he would not state anything in the witness box but the truth, were it even for his own father.

The Men Behind.

The interview between Bonatham and Audette took place on Monday last in the office of an employment agent named Blair. It was best described in the evidence of George Settel and Frank Lucas, who hid behind a partition and took notes of the affair. The sugges-

UNTRUE TO HIS TRUST.

The Globe newspaper evidently thinks that the attorney-general of this province can also be the head of an electric corporation which is dealing with municipalities all the time, and which corporation, by the way, has been proved derelict in its contract. We disagree entirely with The Globe. We hold that the attorney-general of this province should not be in any way identified with these companies, especially with companies like the Hamilton Cataract Power Company, which is one day a power company, and which the next day is a traction company in the city, and the next day a traction company outside of the city, and which, as a parent company, can charge the subsidiary companies what it likes, and can juggle the accounts just as it pleases.

The World holds that Attorney-General Gibson should be free to watch such companies, which are at the legislature every session for law and confirmation of agreements, drawn up solely with regard to corporate interests. But Mr. Gibson is not free to watch these companies. He is the first promoter of one of them, and the friendly agent of all the rest.

J. M. Gibson, the attorney-general of this province, is to-day recognized by all the electric and traction companies as their friend and chief protector. The attorney-general, who has to pass on all the contracts for the leasing of power privileges in this province (Niagara included) should not be in the business himself. He happens to get his power privileges from Ottawa. The minister of justice at Ottawa handing out power privileges to the attorney-general of Ontario (who is in the power business himself), and handing out power leases to other power companies, is not a healthy spectacle.

The Globe newspaper was once the organ of the Liberal party, and professed to be the friend of the people and champion the cause of the people. Now it is owned and controlled absolutely by the electric and traction ring of this province, and THE WORLD CHALLENGES IT TO SHOW ITS LIST OF SHAREHOLDERS IF IT SEEKS TO DENY THIS STATEMENT. Things have come to a pretty pass in this country when the attorney-general is the chief agent and protector of the electric and traction companies, which are seeking each day to sew up the municipalities, and when the professed organ of the Liberal party is run absolutely in the interest of these traction and electric companies. Up to date not a single Liberal has protested against this iniquitous condition of affairs.

We still hold that the chief duty of the attorney-general of this province is to safeguard the municipal rights of the people, not promote the interests of monopolistic corporations that live on special franchises got from municipalities. He cannot serve two masters with absolutely conflicting interests.

BOTH ARMIES LOST 33500 IN BATTLE OF LIAOYANG

Russians Intend to Winter at Harbin, and Inactivity of Both Sides Gives Them a Chance to Do So.

Inactivity of the opposing armies of Russian and Japan continues, no fighting of a general character being reported.

Information coming from an authoritative source in St. Petersburg is that the Russians will winter in Harbin, but the fact that there probably will be two months of good weather for military operations before extreme cold weather sets in, leaves room for a revision of this purpose, in the light of events that may transpire.

The Japanese are reported to be collecting taxes and otherwise administering affairs in Manchuria, as tho that country were conquered territory.

The publication of Gen. Kuropatkin's report of the fighting from Aug. 26 until the retreat upon Mukden has created a better feeling in St. Petersburg. The report distinctly places upon Gen. Orloff the responsibility for the failure to hold the heights in the vicinity of Skywantun, and so check the Japanese advance.

Field Marshal Oyama reports to Tokio that a considerable Russian force remains south of the Hun River, while Gen. Kuropatkin telegraphed to St. Petersburg that the bulk of the Japanese force is still south of the Yental branch railroad. Oyama also says that the Russians are fortifying the heights on both sides of the Liao River at Tie Pass. No light is thrown on the all-absorbing question of where the next engagement in force will occur.

Gen. Kuropatkin's estimate of his losses in the fighting around Liaoyang are far under the first reports. He reports that, from Aug. 28 to Sept. 5, he lost 4000 killed and 12,000 wounded. Marshal Oyama placed the total of Japanese casualties at 17,500, making the total for both armies in round numbers 33,500. Accepting these figures as correct, the battle of Liaoyang, in killed and wounded, falls much lower in the scale of the world's great battles.

KUROPATKIN'S REPORT.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 14.—Gen. Kuropatkin's official report, which was given out to-night, comes as a considerable relief as setting at rest alarmist stories of the loss of guns, the cutting of divisions and the death or capture of prominent commanders, which have been freely circulating here. The report bears out the declaration of the Associated Press at the time that Gen. Orloff's failure to hold the vital position at the Yental mines was responsible for the breaking down of the whole of Gen. Kuropatkin's plan of battle and turned a potential victory into defeat. The report, as given out, does not state the casualties, but the Associated Press is authoritatively informed that they were under 17,000.

The war office is extremely reticent regarding the present situation and future plans at the front. It is stated in general terms that the army is concentrated around Mukden, leaving the inference that it is ready to make another stand. The report says in part:

"The night of Sept. 1 the commander of the corps on the right flank stated that the Japanese, having taken the offensive and occupied the district northward of our Sykwantun position, the Russians retired, and I changed my plans in order to retake the lost ground the following day. The evening of Sept. 2 Sykwantun was in our hands, thereby attaining the object of the operations of our right flank. As soon as the left flank, in the vicinity of the Yental mines, on Sept. 2 (Orloff's detachment), occupied the heights to the north of the mines, holding a strong position facing south, he engaged the army in an artillery duel. To aid our troops holding positions near Sykwantun, Orloff sent part of his force to attack the enemy toward Sakhumoon. Our men met with a frontal and a flank fire, and, losing their bearings in the cornfields, began to retire. The troops in the hills also retired. Orloff himself was wounded, as also was Gen. Fomin, who subsequently died."

JACK FROST IN MANITOBA BUT DAMAGE ONLY SMALL

Good Progress Made in Harvesting and Late Wheat and Oats Only Affected.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 14.—(Special.)—Frost was again general thruout Manitoba last night, some districts being hard hit. The southern part of the province was again the worst affected, the thermometer falling to 20 at Cypress River, and to 27 in the Persian and Pipestone districts. Brandon was also severely touched, five degrees of frost being recorded. Other readings were: Portage La Prairie, 31; Virden, Birtle and Broadview, 30. The Canadian Northern weather bulletin generally reports heavy frost.

Saskatchewan and Alberta were again touched, but not so severely as on Monday, the lowest temperature being 30, at Swift Current. Nowhere in the rich Assiniboia wheat belt did the temperature go below freezing point, and this district has apparently, as a rule, escaped serious damage. Warmer weather is promised to-night by the central bureau. No rain has been recorded during the last 24 hours, and the cold winds should dry out the grain sufficiently to permit of the resumption of harvesting operations to-morrow.

C. N. R. weekly crop report, issued to-day, is as usual more optimistic in tone than the circumstances would seem to warrant, but apparently good progress has been made in harvesting thruout the districts covered, and frost damage here will only affect a small percentage of the late wheat and oats.

Temperatures at 10 p.m.: Winnipeg, 48; south wind; clear. Portage la Prairie, 42; west wind; clear. Brandon, 39; west wind; clear.

JUST TRIFLING DAMAGE.

Montreal, Sept. 14.—(Special.)—The following favorable indications of the western wheat report has been received by E. S. Clouston, general manager of the Bank of Montreal, from Sir George A. Drummond, who with Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and other Canadian Pacific officials, is making a tour of the west: "Rain fell in Winnipeg yesterday afternoon and night, but to-day is clear, bright and dry. In our trip to-day we saw everywhere the wheat cut and a good deal in stacks, and, consequently, safe. So far as my judgment goes, the damage if any must be quite trifling."

WITH SIR THOMAS.

Swift Current, N.W.T., Sept. 14.—President Shaughnessy and party reached here this evening, running by daylight from Brandon. They interviewed a large number of persons in grain centres and the consensus of opinion estimates the crop yield much larger than last year. In Regina section over 30 per cent. is cut, as against 20 per cent. cut this time last year, when Regina was visited by heavy snowfall. The weather to-day thruout the Northwest was brilliant.

G. T. P. ARRANGES.

The New York Herald of Sept. 14 says: It is definitely stated that the Pressed Steel Car Company has entered into an arrangement with the Grand Trunk Railway and the new Grand Trunk Pacific whereby a car construction company will be formed in Canada and the patents owned by the Pressed Steel Car Company will be used in the Canadian company. President F. N. Hoffstot has returned from a trip to the Canadian northwest, to which a number of English and Canadian capitalists had gone to investigate the territory thru which the new transcontinental railroad would pass.

It is understood that the stock of the Canadian company will become an asset of the Pressed Steel Car Company. It will be recalled that the American Locomotive Company interests recently acquired a plant in Montreal in which locomotives will be constructed for Canadian railways.

GARTUNG MUST BE TRIED IS JUDGE HARDY'S DICTUM

County Crown Attorney Wilkes' Request for Suspended Sentence is Refused.

Brantford, Sept. 14.—(Special.)—The case against Ernest Gartung, C.O.F. organizer, charged with embezzlement, took an unexpected turn this afternoon. Gartung was remanded last Monday for a week.

A quiet session of the police court was held this afternoon before Police Magistrate Woodyatt, in which Gartung was committed for trial. At 5.30 this afternoon, Gartung was again in the dock, this time in the court house before Judge Hardy.

Then Mr. Wilkes, county crown attorney, stated that Gartung had admitted the charge, but matters had been cleared up to the satisfaction of the C. O.F. authorities. The judge was asked to suspend sentence.

Judge Hardy stated that the unusual gravity of the charge demanded that the usual proceedings be gone thru with, and accordingly set Thursday morning for the trial. All the events this afternoon were very quiet, tho no attempt was made at closed doors.

Apparently the C.O.F. officials are unwilling to push the case. They will give out no information, but it is conceded that the defalcations amount to over $3000.

KILLED BY A TRAIN.

Ottawa, Sept. 14.—When crossing the C.P.R. tracks at Mechanicsville, a suburb of Ottawa, Mrs. Philip Beaudry of 19 Murray-street was struck by an incoming train late this afternoon and instantly killed. Quebec, Que., Sept. 14.—Captain Bernier will not take part in the steamer Arctic's expedition to the head of the Mackenzie River. He has resigned on the ground that he will not accept the position of second in command. The steamer Arctic's expedition up the straits of the Hudson Bay is altogether a military organization, inasmuch as Major Moodie, in charge, is called upon to perform special duties and make important reports to the government respecting the country and its conditions and geographical boundaries. Major Moodie has been given supreme command of the expedition, and Captain Bernier was simply appointed sailing master of the steamer, to receive his instructions from Major Moodie and obey his orders in regard to the movements of the ship. Captain Bernier revolted against these regulations when he was officially notified of the matter, and immediately threatened to resign, saying he was not going to play second fiddle to any man. He later carried his threat into execution, and telegraphed his resignation to the minister of marine and fisheries. The general impression is that Captain Bernier's resignation will be accepted.
