LATEST WEATHER FORECAST

Toronto, Feb. 22—10 a.m.—Probabilities for the lower lakes region for the next 24 hours: Light snow falls in many places today, but on the whole fairer weather; not much change in temperature.

Around the City

—Mr. M. Donoghue, who recently sold his barber business, on Richmond street, will leave shortly for the Klondike.

—Mr. J. H. Boake, 72 Byron avenue, South London, is confined to his room, having undergone a critical operation by Drs. Wishart and Weekes.

—John Walker, of Adelaide street, has reported to High Constable McLoud that a set of single harness and one set of double harness, a patent leather collar and a string of bells were stolen from him last week. Part of the property has been recovered.

—Mr. Andrew Judson White, representing Nutrol, which occupies a full page of today's Advertiser, is in the city in the interests of the company. Mr. White traveled through this part of Canada 50 years ago by stages, and called on Mr. B. A. Mitchell, who was an acquaintance of his at that time.

—At the Jubilee Rink last night, a lively hockey match was played between teams representing the London and Petrolia Barrel Company and C.W. Smith's coopers. The game was fast, and somewhat rough, but as most of the men are members of different hockey clubs, some fast, clean play was witnessed. Score, 4 to 2 in favor of C. W. Smith's men.

—Messrs. Grafton & Co. have leased the store formerly occupied by Messrs. Priddie Bros., and will commence certain alterations in a week's time. It is a magnificent store, and Messrs. Grafton & Co. are making the change on account of the crowded premises which they now occupy. Their trade has continually increased, and with the large stock carried it has forced them to seek larger premises. When settled in their new store, with the intended changes, they will have one of the best retail stores in the city.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

A. McGarvey, L. E. and D. R. R. brakeman, had a narrow escape from death yesterday morning. He was switching on the cars at Wellington street, St. Thomas, and while in the act of setting the brakes, the brake wheel suddenly broke, and he was thrown head foremost to the ground from the moving cars. Fortunately he alighted outside the rails. He was picked up and taken to L. E. and D. R. R. station and Dr. Miller summoned. McGarvey was badly bruised about the head, face, legs and arms, but no bones were broken. He was taken to his home in this city on the afternoon train.

CHIEF DISPATCHER ARMSTRONG TRANSFERRED.

The new southern division of the Grand Trunk Railway comprises only the through line between Windsor and Niagara Falls. It is at present managed from the London office, but after March 1, Mr. Jones, whose promotion to the position of joint superintendent of this division of the G. T. R. and of the Wabash Railway over the same line announced last week, will have his office at St. Thomas. Three dispatchers and one mail clerk will be taken from the London office, and among those to be transferred will be Chief Dispatcher Armstrong. He is a very popular official, and his removal will be greatly regretted by local railway men.

DEATH OF MR. A. R. KINGSMILL.

Mr. Arthur Robert Kingsmill, youngest son of Mr. Thomas F. Kingsmill, died at 8:15 o'clock last evening at his residence, No. 139 Fullarton street. Mr. Kingsmill was taken seriously ill on Thursday, though he had been unwell some time before, his right arm becoming much inflamed. Drs. Macarthur, Eccles and Kingsmill were summoned to attend him, but he gradually grew worse until death came to his relief.

Mr. Kingsmill was born Jan. 21, 1870, and was at the head of the large drygoods business in which his father, Mr. T. F. Kingsmill, is engaged. Seven years ago he was married to Miss King, of Chatham, and leaves besides his widow, a daughter, Marjorie, and two boys—King and Jack. There are two brothers, Dr. H. A. and Thomas F., jun., of this city. The sisters are Mrs. Heal, city; Mrs. (Rev.) Bray, Exeter, and Miss Kingsmill. This is the first break that has occurred in the family. It is a sad circumstance that deceased's father, Mr. T. F. Kingsmill, has not yet returned from his regular European purchasing trip. He was cabled for yesterday. The deceased was an ex-president of the London Bicycle Club. The funeral takes place tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, to Woodland Cemetery, the services being held at 2:30 p.m. A general feeling of sympathy is felt for the bereaved family.

Today at Ottawa

No Session of Parliament on Ash Wednesday.

Very Few Ontario Members in Their Seats—The Adjournment May Be Extended Into Next Week—New Road in the Peace River County Wanted.

[C. P. R. Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Feb. 22.—When the house meets this afternoon, Sir Wilfrid Laurier will move an adjournment be made until Thursday. This is on account of tomorrow being Ash Wednesday. The premier's attention will be called to the fact that as nearly all Ontario members are absent, adjournment should be made to next week. There were only four Ontario members of the Conservative side of the house last evening. Two of them, Clarke Wallace and W. F. Maclean, left for Toronto last night, so that only two remain. The government side of the house is in about the same position. There were only four or five Ontario members in their seats last night, and there will be fewer today.

Sir Charles Tupper is favorable to an adjournment, and his views have been laid before the premier. It is likely that Sir Wilfrid will leave the matter for the house to settle, and will be guided by the opinions expressed by the members. Very little will be gained by sitting this week, as no progress will be made, and neither side will want to vote in so slim a house. Two days only would be lost, Thursday and Friday.

A Winnipeg delegation, along with representatives from the Montreal, Hamilton, Toronto and Ottawa boards of trade, will have an interview with the government tomorrow for the purpose of getting a road built from Edmonton to the Peace River country.

Hot Time at the City Hall

Col. Leys is the best man, and we believe when he goes down to Toronto he goes to support an honest government for the benefit of London. (Cheers.) We do not think there has been a single serious charge against the Ontario Government." (Cheers.) Mr. Cox had compared Sir Oliver Mowat to the "old man of the sea," with his feet in the pockets of the country.

A Voice—And his hands, too. (Laughter.)

Mr. Cronyn—He didn't say his "hands." (Cheers.)

Another Voice—Tupper would have put his hands in, too. (Cheers.)

Mr. Cronyn emphasized the fact that the opposition had been pledged by Mr. Whitney on his second visit to London to follow the former policy of the Conservative Government as indicated in the Dominion and local houses. The Conservative Government of the Dominion had distinctly and strenuously fought for legislative union. The Conservative Dominion Government passed an illegal license act, by which they tried to concentrate control at Ottawa. More than this, the Conservative Government had deliberately attempted to take from Ontario 2,000,000 acres of land—land from which $1,500,000 had already been returned to the people in the way of support to our asylums and other charitable institutions. (Cheers.) The people of Ontario owed this to Sir Oliver Mowat—(cheers)—Hon. A. S. Hardy and their associates. (Cheers.)

Mr. Cronyn's strong appeal on behalf of the colonel was warmly received by the audience.

MR. FRED DALY

nominated Mr. Gould as an independent candidate. Mr. Cox had stated that a harder audience to address than a city hall audience would be an audience of lunatics.

Mr. Cox attempted to offer an explanation, but the uproar which arose prevented him from being heard.

Mr. Daly, proceeding, said that he did not wish to be misunderstood. Mr. Cox had just referred to an audience out at the asylum which he (Mr. Cox) had addressed in conjunction with Dr. Bucke. (Laughter, and a voice: "That's another story.") Continuing, he said that ultimately the labor candidate would whitewash all the other candidates in the field. There was at present no representative of the wage-earning class in the legislature.

A Voice—There will be when Col. Leys gets there. (Cheers.)

Mr. Daly thought it unfair to this large class of people, the wage-earners, that such should be the case. He pointed out the evils of existing social conditions, by which it was possible that men such as Rockfeller, Jay Gould, etc., were able to acquire such immense fortunes. Mr. Daly said his party stood for principles, not for the candidate. They were in favor of the public ownership of railways, and all oil and gas wells, and of gold lands. Another plank of Mr. Gould's platform was the reduction of the hours of labor in proportion to the progress of production. People were compelled to work too long considering the improvements in industrial arts. Mr. Gould also advocated public works for the unemployed. Mr. Beck employed girls at 68 cents a day. Some of them doubtless had mothers dependent upon them, and how could they provide food and clothing on such a sum? These wages were too low. He did not blame Mr. Beck or other manufacturers, but he blamed the system. Mr. Gould was a prohibitionist, like the speaker. The Ontario Government had played fast and loose with the conscience of the people in their temperance legislation. Mr. Gould also advocated the control of all trusts, combines and natural monopolies. The profits of these should go to the public. Glasgow, where there was no taxation, was an instance of this. Mr. Gould also favored compulsory education of children under 14 and free text books for all.

seconded Mr. Gould's nomination. The position of the two parties was ridiculous. He quoted from the Scriptures in support of Mr. Gould's platform. As to the party candidates, Col. Leys promises the Normal School. No one knows what Mr. Beck promises. He (Dr. Swann), though finding in both platforms many things that he approved of, could not support anyone of them as a whole. He wanted to be a free man, and he could not be a party man. They wanted to have a right to live, and under present conditions that was next to impossible. Both party candidates in this election had axes to grind, because they are already capitalists. Under right conditions, no boy or girl would be working in Beck's box factory at the wages stated today. Such child labor should be prohibited, so that men now unemployed could have something to do. Dr. Swann then advocated direct legislation, and concluded by saying Mr. Gould would resign if he did not continue to support the platform which he has signed.

MR. A. BARTER.

nominator of Mr. Ashplant, was the next speaker. Mr. Ashplant, he said, represented the international socialist labor party of the world. The principles enunciated by Mr. Daly and Dr. Swann were those of socialism. "We are socialists through and through," said the speaker, "and we are a party embracing every country in the world." This was the first nomination the party had made in Ontario. They were in the United States, France and Germany—mothers and babes were laying in their gore. The human race was traveling towards annihilation, and the political plans and strife in this city were leading towards that end.

Voice—What's the matter with Ireland? (Laughter.)

Mr. Barter said the people of the world today were in a gladiatorial arena, and there were some people on top each with a knife in his hands. "I can hear in the distance the hosannas of the multitudes coming to deliver us from prostitution, sin and death," said the speaker. Ignorance was the great trouble in this world.

COLONEL LEYS.

Col. Leys received a great ovation, and could not speak for some time, the cheering being again and again renewed. "I come before you as a supporter of the Hardy government," said the colonel, whereat the cheering was renewed. "It is a government that has been in power for 25 years, and when in the opposition we had strong men like Sir William Meredith, Mr. Howland, and Dr. Ryerson, who were not able to point to one single act of wrongdoing on the part of that government, I say you are not going to turn out that government, and put in such pigmies as Whitney, Matheson and the swinarium champion, St. John. (Cheers and counter-cheers.) This government has no new policy—it is the old policy of right and justice to the people they represent. (Cheers.) That government has husbanded your resources, and has now a surplus of $5,200,000. (Cheers.) That does not include your asylums and other public buildings, which they could take credit for as assets, and which would swell the surplus to $10,000,000 or $12,000,000. (Cheers.) Are you willing to turn out such a government for men of the caliber of Messrs. Whitney, Matheson, and St. John? (Cries of "No!" cheers and counter-cheers.) Besides the assets I have mentioned, we have timber limits in our northern countries which will endure over 100 years. (Cheers.) We have the best educational system on the face of the earth. (Cheers.) In the educational exhibit at the World's Fair, in competition with the whole world, it took the first prize. (Cheers). The people of Ontario should be proud of their educational system. There is not a better educated people on the earth than in Canada, and especially Ontario." (Cheers.)

Col. Leys refuted the charges made about school books, and read a list of the prices for the several readers, showing that the total cost for the complete set, covering a period of eight years, was only $4 95. (Cheers.) The motto of the government was "Canada for the Canadians." They said that the authorship and publication of text books should as far as possible be in Canada. In 1883 there were 49 Canadian and 135 American, British and foreign school books used in Ontario. In 1898 every book, with two exceptions—a Greek and a Euclid—were the work of Canadian authors." (Cheers.) In 1883 nearly every school book was imported. In 1898 every book was manufactured in Canada, giving employment to our own printers and publishers. (Cheers.)

The Hardy Government, continued the colonel, had done more for the working classes than any other government in Canada. (Cheers.) Every suggestion made by the trades and labor councils had received consideration and generally been acted upon. Cool. Leys alluded to the labor legislation of the government—the wages privilege claim, the employers' liability act, the factories act, the succession duties and other enactments.

Referring to the Normal School, Col. Leys repeated the declaration that if the land was not purchased and the building got under construction within one year he would resign. (Cheers.) The school must be built by the laborers of London and all the material must be purchased here. (Cheers.)

"As to the saw-log question," continued the colonel, "I say that the people of this country should give Mr. Hardy their support for that act alone. (Cheers.) In years gone by our saw-logs have been cut in the northern part of this country and carried into the United States to be cut into lumber. Under a recent act these must now be made into lumber in Ontario, and this will give many thousands employment at home. (Cheers.) We have been cutting Canadian logs in Saginaw, but that mill will be moved to the northern shore of Lake Huron." (Cheers.)

Touching on the license question, Col. Leys showed that in 1874 there were issued in Ontario 6,185 licenses, or one to every 287 of the population. In 1897 there were issued only 3,096 licenses, or one to every 725 of the population—a decrease of 140 licenses every year for 22 years. (Cheers.) They were told that the Ontario Government had kept control of the licenses. It was a wise thing that they had. (Cheers.) The government was spending large sums of money for charitable and other purposes, without a cent of direct taxation on the people; and they had millions left in the treasury. Not one millions left in the treasury. Not one against them.

Col. Leys resumed his seat amid a storm of applause.

MR. BECK

Mr. Beck then rose. There were cheers for Leys and cheers for Beck, so that he could not proceed for some minutes. He was speaking at the hour of going to press.

East Middlesex.

Nomination day in West London was no exception to previous ones, and the same enthusiasm was displayed. John McDougall, returning officer, for the riding of East Middlesex, presided, and at 11 o'clock when the nominations opened, there were only about 70 present. As the hour advanced the crowd grew, and the enthusiasm increased with it for Dr. McWilliam. When Mr. Hodgens entered, Mr. Stinchcombe was the only one who endeavored to secure applause for the Tory candidate, but the effort was futile, and he grew weary of the attempt in a moment. When Dr. McWilliam arrived he received an enthusiastic reception.

The following nominations were made immediately after 11 o'clock and read at the close of the nomination.

Dr. John McWilliam, by Elisha Ironside, of London township, and George Riddell, reeve of Westminster.

Mr. Thomas D. Hodgens, by R. A. Jones, and Ray Stinchcombe, of West London.

MR. SHORE OUT OF IT.

It was rather a surprise to some of the Conservatives that Mr. Shore had not put in an appearance, and at 12 o'clock he had not been heard from. Consequently, the field is left to the two candidates.

After reading the list of polling places, the deputy returning officer said Mr. Hume B. Elliott had been appointed by Mr. T. D. Hodgens as his financial agent, and Mr. Robert Morrill, of Cobble Hill, as the financial agent of Dr. McWilliam. The day upon which the vote will be summed up will be March 4, next.

Mr. R. W. Jackson, of London, was elected chairman, but one of the Tory contingent took exception to this, and claimed that the vote was not counted accurately. When Mr. Jackson took his seat, and the applause had ceased, Mr. Hodgens rose and said: "I am thoroughly satisfied with the selection of Mr. Jackson as chairman, and my friend, if he is a friend, I think, will withdraw that statement."

Dr. McWilliam was greeted with applause. He said he came before them with the great claim of a supporter of the Hardy government, and if elected he would carry out the trust reposed in him. He offered himself as a candidate of a government worthy of their support, and he believed they would elect him. (Cheers.)

He had nothing to say against his opponent, Mr. Hodgens. He had received every respect at his hands. He dealt with the school system of Ontario, as acknowledged the world over to be the best in the world. The Americans referred to our school system as the purest, fairest and best governed in the world. The educational advantages were set forth by the fact that 37 professors had been taken from Ontario during the past few years to preside over the universities of the United States. (Cheers.) Our text-books were one-half cheaper than in any state in the union, and one-half cheaper than in any country in the world. Text-books necessary for a whole course of years of instruction would cost only $4 95. The nearest that price in any state was that of New York, where the same cost $9 96, and were not half so good. (Cheers.) The commission which sat to consider the matter as to whether these books were dear had said Ontario had nothing to complain of in this matter. (Cheers.) The speaker referred to the Hardy Government as being affiliated with the government of Hon. Wilfrid Laurier—(cheers)—who had done so much for Canada at the Jubilee, and was the pride of every Conservative and Liberal alike. (Cheers.) Canada was practically unknown in England before he took the reins of power. Toronto, Montreal, London and the other cities were never heard of. Mr. McWilliam clearly illustrated the splendid financial position of Ontario, and the judicious disposal of the timber limits, and the crowd cheered lustily as he made point after point. Referring to Mr. Whitney, the speaker pointed out that the opposition leader had voted to give away lands from which Ontario now received $1,500,000 from mining and shooting licenses, and asked: "Is it well to trust the lands of Ontario in such hands?" (Voice—No, we are not going to.) He quoted Mr. Hodgens' speech at Crumlin, and asked, "Do you intend to elect a man who tells you that he has no policy, but if elected he'll make one?" (Cheers and cries of "No.") In closing, the doctor said he felt sure of election, as he would have the support of Patrons, Conservatives and Liberals. "If elected," he said, "I'll try and forget that I am a Liberal, or a Patron, and remember that I belong to the province, and more especially to the county of Middlesex." (Cheers and loud applause.)

Mr. Hodgens took the platform after Dr. McWilliam. The meeting was still in progress at the time of going to press.

A SARNIA WONDER.

W. Barton Got Health and Strength from Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Sarnia, Feb. 21.—The case of Mr. T. Johnston, of Osborne, excites widespread interest here, as Mr. Johnston is well known in Sarnia, and the published report of his case is known to be true.

But William Barton, of Sarnia, claims to have been a still worse case than Mr. Johnston. Mr. Barton was afflicted with Bladder Trouble for many years.

Doctors and medicines utterly failed to relieve him. His sufferings were almost beyond endurance.

At length he tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. As in scores of other cases in Sarnia, a cure followed in astonishingly short time. Six boxes were all he used. But they gave him perfect health and manly strength.

There are houses still standing in Nuremburg, Bavaria, that were built in 1030.

Continued Success.

Continued success means sterling merit. Norway Pine Syrup has sterling merit—hence its continued success. It cures coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, hoarseness, sore throat and all throat and lung troubles.

The United States national debt is now $13 41 for each individual. In 1867 it was $69 26.

FAGGED OUT.—None but those who have become fagged out know what a depressed, miserable feeling it is. All strength has gone, and despondency has taken hold of the sufferers. They feel as though there was nothing to live for. There, however, is a cure — one box of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will do wonders in restoring health and strength. Mandrake and Dandelion are two of the articles entering into the composition of Parmelee's Pills.

A Banker's Experience.

"I tried a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for a troublesome affection of the throat," writes Manager Thomas Dawson, of the Standard Bank, now of 14 Melbourne avenue, Toronto. "It proved effective. I regard the remedy as simple, cheap and exceedingly good. It has hitherto been my habit to consult a physician in troubles of this nature. Hereafter, however, I intend to be my own family doctor."

The cost of maintaining a cavalry soldier and horse in the British army is about $500 per annum.

THERE is not a more dangerous class of disorders than those which affect the breathing organs. Nullify this danger with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil—a pulmonic of acknowledged efficacy. It cures soreness and lameness when applied externally, as well as swelled neck and crick in the back, and, as an inward specific, possesses most substantial claim to public confidence.

A young woman in Chicago supports herself by taking care of other people's birds and flowers.

Bronchitis Cured.

Messrs. T. Milburn & Co., Toronto, Ont.:

Dear Sirs,—I have used Hagyard's Yellow Oil for my children when they had bronchitis, and always with great success. I also use it for sore throat, and can say there is nothing to equal it as a sure cure. MRS. JAMES O'BRIEN, Huntsville, Ont.

West Virginia is now producing more high-grade petroleum than any other state in the union.

LIFE SAVED.—Mr. James Bryson Cameron writes: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice, I procured the medicine, and less than half a bottle cured me; I certainly believe it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me good."

Sydney is now the center of the Australian wool trade.

Suffering Stopped.

The sufferings caused by constipation cannot be numbered. All of these troubles can be permanently cured by Laxa-Liver Pills. One Laxa-Liver Pill every night for 30 days, cures constipation and billousness.
