12TH OF JULY.

THE GREAT ORANGE DEMONSTRATION TOMORROW.

A Parade of Thousands of Orangemen, With Rich Regalia, Beautiful Banners and Thrilling Music to Celebrate the Second Centennial of the Battle of the Boyne.

To-morrow, the 12th of July, 1890, promises to be a great day, and one long to be remembered in the city of St. John and throughout the Maritime Provinces. The occasion is the 200th. anniversary, or the second centennial, of the famous Battle of the Boyne, for which the Loyal Orange Order throughout the Maritime Provinces have been, for more than a year, engaged in preparations for the grand celebration to be held in this city to-morrow. In former years the Orangemen have had some notable celebrations in St. John, but the greatest of these, or of the past processions of any other order, must be wholly eclipsed by the splendid Orange parade of "the 12th of '90." In 1876 about 600 to 1,000 Orangemen walked in St. John on "the 12th," and the turnout was a fine one, the men walking two abreast. Tomorrow, however, nearly 3,000 members of the order will take part in the parade, walking four abreast, interspersed by about 15 bands of music, and with rich and beautifully decorated banners unfurled to the breeze. They will form

A HANDSOME POSSESSION of a mile to a mile and a half in length. During the past year the Orange order in the provinces seems to have been imbued with new life, and in every county in this province as well as in Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island large numbers have been added to the different lodges. Most of

THE NEW MEMBERS

are young men and all have taken hold in earnest to prepare for the great event in St. John to-morrow.

Nearly every lodge and chapter has been newly equipped and many thousands of dollars have been expended in obtaining the handsomest sashes and regalia. The most skilful artists here and in other places have been employed in painting and decorating the rich and beautiful banners that are to float over the grand procession of Orangemen; Sashes the richest ever seen have been brought from Ireland, and banners have been brought from Ontario. The tailors' skill, also, over the province has been taxed to the utmost to supply the demand for fine dress suits, uniforms and regalia.

And now everything is ready. The executive committees have done their work well. Everything is working smoothly and to-morrow will show the result of good organization. The St. John city and county lodges in particular have made most complete preparations. Their ranks have been growing and the spirit to out do any former turnout has had a good effect. They have had many of the members at drill in marching and will appear in the parade about 500 strong.

A GRAND FEATURE

of the procession will be the appearance of the Royal Black Knights of Ireland, a high branch of the order, and one that has never appeared in a procession in St. John before. They will form a body of about 60 men, attired in the richest uniforms to be seen in the procession, and led by four Sir Knights mounted on handsome steeds, and will form a most imposing feature. Their uniforms will consist of handsome black suits with black sashes bordered with scarlet, fringed with silver and bearing the beautiful emblems of the high order; fine aprons, swords and belts and military gauntlets, the whole surmounted by the splendid chapeaux caps decorated with flowing jet black plumes.

THE MANY BANDS.

will be interspersed through the procession so as to give continuous music and the most inspiriting selections suitable to the occassion will be played during the entire march.

The way through the streets will be cleared by a squad of mounted policemen and the procession will be proceeded at some distance by Mr. William Roxborough, Grand Director of Ceremonies, who will be mounted. Immediately in front of the ranks Grand Master A. J. Armstrong representing will ride the historical white horse and after him comes the procession made up as follows:—

KING WILLIAM,

Senior and Junior Duputy Grand Masters Thomas H Colter and H G Wadman, mounted.
Barouche containing G Lodge officers.
Royal Black Knights of Ireland, led by Sir Knights R A C Brown, W J Hunter and George R. Vincent, mounted.
Fredericton and Marysville B Bands.
Geo I Gunter, mounted.
York County Lodges.
St Stephen B and Calais C Bands.
A Cleland, mounted.
Charlotte County Lodges.
Woodstock Brass Band.
Cnas A Lewin, mounted.
Carleton County Lodges.
J DeVeber Neales, mounted.
Queens County Lodges.
D S Duplisea, mounted.
Sunbury County Lodges.
Victoria County Lodges and Visiting Brethern, headed by mounted marshals.
Kings County Brass Band.
Geo. W. Fowler, mounted.
Kings County Lodges.
Moncton Brass Band.
J. R. McLaren, mounted.
Westmorland County Lodges.
E. A. Bleakney, mounted.
Albert County Lodges. Northumberland and
Kent County Lodges, led by mounted marshalls.
Pisarinco Fife and Drum Bands, Kingsville
Brass Band and Fairville Fife and Drum Band.
Robert Burns, mounted.
St. John County West Lodges.
62nd Band.
James Keys, mounted.
St. John Scarlet Chapter and County Lodges.
Cushing Fife and Drum Band.
62nd Relief Band.

As will be seen by the above, the county master of each county will precede the lodges of his county, he being mounted and wearing in most cases the uniform of the scarlet chapter with the three cornered cap.

The officers of each lodge immediately follow the county masters.

St. John city will be represented by Verner, Eldon, York, Gideon, Johnston, Havelock, Dominion and True Blue lodges, the latter from the West side and Dominon the North end; the St. John district lodge will also appear. The eastern end of the county will be represented by two St, Martins, and Golden Grove lodges. The western section of the county, by Guardian of Musquash, Immanuel, of South Bay, Willis, of Fairville and Mount Purple of Pisarinco.

FIRST EDITION.

From York county the turnout will without doubt be the largest ever made of Orangemen there. The county lodge will have under its banners Graham, Rossmore, Anderson, Equal Rights, Pickard, Morning Star, and it is expected three or four other lodges there. They have charted the steamer David Weston and will take in several lodges located at points along the river. They will have a band or two. They leave Fredericton to-night and reach here early in the morning. With Carleton county lodge will be Woodstock and other lodges in the interior. The Victoria contigent includes that old war horse, Past Grand Chaplain Baird.

Charlotte county is putting forth unusual exertions and both border bands, St. Stephen and Calais, will be with the members. An excursion will be run over the Shore Line. Queen's Own, Baillie and St. Stephen lodges will be found in line, as well as the scarlet chapter.

Advices from Kings county indicate that Wellington, Kinnear, Kingston Beaconsfield, Londonderry Heroes, Admiral Nelson and other lodges will be in line with the scarlet chapter and have the Sussex band.

Under the banners of Westmorland county lodge will be Armstrong, Moncton, Phœnix and Morning Star lodges, the scarlet chapter and several lodges of Albert county. They will have the Moncton band. Beyond these will be Northumberland and Kent lodges with Cumberland's delation. The Fredericton Junction lodge will join the Carleton county men on their way or take the morning train from the capital.

When the Charlotte county contingent reach the West side they will be escorted to the East side by True Blue lodge and join the city lodges who are to march from the Orange Hall, King street, with the county and district lodges. The St. John, west, delegation will await at the end of Bridge road the arrival of the up-river Orangemen, and do escort duty to the city, while those coming from the east by train will parade direct to the Lansdowne rink.

THE UNIFORM

of the county lodges will be the uniforms of the Knightly orders or black clothes, white tie, white gloves, with silk or regulation hat. Many of the lodges from the interior counties have adopted the regulation hat, which is a neat looking soft felt hat with a good brim and a crease in the crown, and having a gold cord around it surmounted in front by a gold device representing King William on the horse. The members of the St. John city and county lodges will all wear silk hats.

Beaouches with Past Grand Masters, Edward Willis, Wm. Wilson, D. F. Merritt, and Thos. A. Kinnear, and Grand Chaplains Rev. J. G. Flewelling and Rev. B. H. Thomas will be placed at invals through the procession.

District L. O. L. will be led by P. A. Melville, A. O. Crookshank and H. A. McKeown, M. P. P.

THE ROUTE OF THE MARCH.

The men will assemble at ten o'clock a. m., sharp, at the Lansdowne rink, and will form in procession. The route of march will be from Lansdowne rink, along Charlotte street to Union, thence to Brussels street, along Brussels to City road, through Paradise row to Main street, along Main to Simonds street, thence to High, along High street to Portland, up Portland to Main street, down Main to Mill and Dock streets across Market Square to King, up King to Charlotte, around King Square by north side, down King to Prince William, along Prince William to Queen, up Queen to Charlotte, thence to Lansdowne rink.

The above route may be changed a little in the North end. To follow it to the letter means that when this fine procession over a mile long encircles the small block of building bounded by Main, Simonds, High and Portland streets, it will be doubling on the narrowest part of Main street opposite Orange corner for about a quarter of an hour. To avoid this it may be advisable to go down Harrison street, along the Strait shore road and up Simonds or Portland streets to Main; or to proceed to opposite Price & Shaw's factory, and turn by way of Durham and Metcalfe streets and Adelaide road. The route by way Harrison of street would be the shortest and would show off the procession to the best possible advantage on the rise of Main street,

After the return to the Lansdowne rink, Grand Master A.J. Armstrong, will take the chair, and orations will be delivered by Grand Master Major Armstrong, George W. Fowler, barrister-in-law; Wm. Wilson, M. P. P., and T. A. Kinnear, barrister-at-law, H. A. McKeown, M.P.P., and Rev. Messrs. Thomas and Flewelling, which will conclude the demonstration of the day.

THE VISITORS.

The city will be crowded with thousands of wives, sweethearts and friends of the Orangemen and sight seers generally. All the trains coming to the city are crowded, and the steamers of the various lines running to St. John have all the passenger they can carry. The State of Maine brought about 400 passengers yesterday from Boston. The Valencia landed 60 this morning from New York. The Hiawatha will arrive tomorrow morning with about 200 or more from Cumberland and Colchester counties in Nova Scotia. Large crowds are coming from Digby and Annapolis and all the boats on the river will have full loads of passengers. From north, south, east and west, by rail and steamer they come, and should the day prove as fine as usual it will indeed be a "glorious 12th" in St. John.

THE CESSION BILL.

SECOND READING OF THE HELIGOLAND CESSION BILL MOVED.

Lord Salisbury's Speech in the Lords Last Night—Heligoland of No Use to England Now—The Agreement was a Gain to Both Sides.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

LONDON, July 11.—Lord Salisbury moved the second reading of the Heligoland cession bill in the Lords yesterday. He said the island had been of some service to England during the struggle with Napoleon. Since then it had been neither fortified nor defended and England never had any intention to fortify it. For strategic purposes it was worthless. Commercially it was of small value. In the event of war it would be a distinct disadvantage to England having to defend a widely scattered empire, to be obliged to keep a naval force to guard a place of no value.

Referring to the African clauses of the convention, he contended that the agreement was a gain to both sides, each obtaining what suited its own purpose and neither having an absolute advantage over the other.

Lord Rosebery inquired what would have been said if such proposals had come from the Gladstone government? (Hear hear.)

Lord Kimberley said parliament ought not to be called upon to ratify the cession of Heligoland without the assurance that France would assent to England's protectorate over Zanzibar.

The bill passed its second reading without a division.

BILL NYE IN THE SENATE.

He Plays a Mean Trick on the Unsuspecting Pages.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 9.—The Star says: Sauntering around in the senate lobby yesterday was a rather odd looking specimen of humanity. He looked like a Catholic priest, so Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms Reade says, and he acted as though he was not overfull of worldly wisdom or ordinary common sense. By and by several of the pages espied him and with that unerring intuition that belongs to boys and dogs they came to the conclusion that he was their meat. It was the pages' holiday time, and they fulfilled Dr. Watts' prophecy about Satan's never failing success in finding mischief "for idle hands to do." They proceeded to make the stranger's acquaintance, and within five minutes were satisfied that he was a real crank, and a rare specimen of that genus. He used multisyllabic words, and he piled them up in sentences of marvellous construction. In return for his voluble and somewhat insane imagery, the youngsters poured forth such a stream of misinformation as only boys full of deviltry could think of. They took him to the big map on which the weather bureau displays the national style of weather from day to day, and they told the guileless visitor that it was a gambling device, much patronized by senators who were not interested in the Senate proceedings. These and other like delightful fictions they prattled of in their artless manner, and the guest of the occasion was so overcome with the attention paid him that he found it difficult to express his thanks when business called them away from him. A sanctimonious smile was on his classic features as he bade them good-by, and as he turned the corner into the corridor the tails of his clerical coat twisted a mournful farewell. A little later the boys discovered that they had been having fun with Bill Nye, the humorist, and today they fail to respond when any one speaks of the way they guyed the national "funny man."

No Further Obstruction to the Estimates—When the Session Will Close—The Next Parliament.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

LONDON, July 11.—The Parnellites will offer no further obstruction to the estimates. It is probable the session of Parliament will close at the beginning of August. A large number of Conservatives are willing to sign a memorial asking Smith to postpone the reassembling of Parliament until January, and it is expected he will acede to their request.

OUTRAGE BY SOLDIERS.

AN ENGLISH SERVANT GIRL BRUTALLY TREATED AT QUEBEC.

A Searching Investigation is Being Held—Found Dead in Beauport Asylum—The Coroner Making Inquiry—&c., &c.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

QUEBEC July 11.—An English servant girl tells a horrible story of the outrageous treatment to which she was subjected by some of the soldiers in the garrison. She says she came out from England six weeks ago but lost her situation a week ago on her employers discovering that she was subject to epileptic fits. On Tuesday night, her money being gone, she sent her trunk to the police station and went to sleep in a field in the rear of the cavalry quarters. Here she was discovered by the sentry who opened a barn and told her to sleep there. She went in and was immediately followed by the soldier, who she alleges, committed a criminal assault upon her. Then he went out and locked the door and shortly afterwards three more soldiers came in and two of them held her while the third assaulted her. She resisted violently until she lost consciousness. In the morning she was found still unconscious and the police were notified. A searching investigation is being held.

Marie Eleni Jobin, a patient in the Beauport asylum, was found lying between two mattresses dead. The affair occurred some days ago but was hushed up. The coroner is investigating.

MONTREAL, July 11.—A little girl, named Lafond, five years of age, the daughter of Zotique Lafond, living at St. Martin street, was playing with another little girl, named Grenin, twelve years of age, when the latter sent the former for some matches to light a cigarette. The Grenin girl, after obtaining a light, threw down the match, which ignited the clothes of the little Lafond girl, and soon she was one mass of flames. A neighbor put out the fire with a blanket, but the little one died from her injuries shortly after, being terribly burned.

TORONTO, July 11.—Vicar General Vincent, Provincial in Canada of the order Basilicans and principal of St. Michaels college has been retired from both positions on account of ill health. His successor as Provincial is Father Marifon, a Parisian Frenchman by birth and education. He will not arrive here for some weeks. The Rev. Father Lefy will succeed Father Vincent as principal of St. Michaels college.

There is considerable discussion in Catholic circles just now as to who will succeed Archbishop Walsh in the diocese of London. Two names are mentioned, Dean O'Connor, of Sandwich, and Dean McCann, of Brockville.

A pitch-in happened on Grand Trank track at Union station last night. The night train from Montreal ran into a freight, the engine was derailed and some damage done but no one was seriously injured.

It is reported that Nicolas Ardrey M. P.P. for South Wenthworth has been appointed minister of agriculture in the Ontario government.

NOT CAUGHT YET.

The Police Thought They had Their Men and so it was Rumored, but the Case Proved Otherwise.

Notwithstanding all the rumors which were afloat about the capture of the Sussex burglars this morning they are not yet in the clutches of the police. It was rumored this morning that officers Baxter and Evans had taken three men at Gagetown or on the Gagetown road, but unfortunately such has not been the case. It seems that a scheme had been laid by which the men could be inveigled to St. John. A baggage car was attached to the through freight train to this city, and left open. At Welsford two persons answering the description of those who are wanted, boarded the baggage car. The conductor was on the watch and he immediately closed the door and fastened it. "Don't lock us in," called out one of the individuals, "Give a fellow a chance, or we'll be arrested." The conductor, perhaps through no fault of his own, did give the fellows a chance, for when the train steamed into the I. C. R. depot here the birds were found to have flown. Several officers were on the lookout, but nowhere could the men be discovered. The bolt had been kicked off the bottom of the door and the door itself forced open. The chief, Sergt. Hastings and officer Jenkins repaired as hurriedly as possible to Fairville and there they ascertained that the men were seen getting out of the car. The engineer of the outgoing train stated that he saw them open the door, jump down and make off. Evidently very little guard had been kept on their actions. It is not known, however, for certain, that the two individuals who have thus created such excitement in police circles here, are the Sussex burglars, but it is believed by the authorities that they are. They answered the description, and their actions warrant the belief.

The chief, Sergt. Hastings and Officer Jenkins, scoured the country in the vicinity of Fairville, but their efforts were fruitless.

Capt. Rawlings, who returned to the city this morning, stated that the two tramps reported at Vanceboro last night were not those for whom the police are looking. Those two came through to Fredericton Junction, on, or rather under the early morning freight. They answered somewhat the description, but were not the men.

Other reports yesterday were to the effect that the burglars were seen on their way towards Gagetown, on the road. Officers Baxter and Evans this morning took a team near Welsford and started on the search. Since then they have not been heard from.
