Good Bread

is the keystone to the structure of health. It means vigor, bone and muscle to your growing children. It means nutrition to the whole family. But you cannot make good bread out of indifferent flour, no matter how you treat it, no matter how proficient you may be in baking. In her desire to make a loaf that looks and tastes well, the housewife is tempted to use flour that is almost devoid of gluten—the rich, strengthening constituent of flour that makes bread the staff of life.

"Beaver" Flour

alone—of all the flours on the market—makes a loaf that is rich in nutrition, and at the same time is white, light, pleasing to the palate. The reason is simple. "BEAVER FLOUR" is milled in carefully balanced proportions from the Manitoba Spring wheat and the Ontario Fall wheat—one with its powerfully nourishing qualities, the other with those properties which make the bread attractive to the eye and taste.

"BEAVER FLOUR" makes equally successful biscuits, cakes and pastry. One flour accomplishes all the requirements of baking, saving trouble, expense and uncertainty as to results. Try it. You will quickly appreciate its superiority. All the best grocers keep it.

Woman Pelted With Stale Eggs

In Streets of Paris for Wearing Trousers Skirt.

Paris, Feb. 24.—Incidents of public disturbance accompanying the appearance in the streets of women wearing the new trousers skirt occur daily. The Avenue De L'Opera was the scene of one of the more serious outbreaks.

A woman having been surrounded by a laughing, jeering crowd was unable to proceed, and a gentleman taking advantage of the situation purchased a basket of eggs from a dealer in a side street and distributed them among the other gentlemen who, in order to show their disapproval of what they considered unladylike conduct, pelted the helpless wearer of the new garment until a squad of police intervened and aided the woman to escape in an automobile.

Penniless Immigrant Makes Fortune as Truck Farmer—Father of 21 Children.

Mineola, L.I., Feb. 16.—In Surrogate Graham's court there was filed to-day the will of John Lahey, who came to this country from Ireland forty-five years ago penniless, became the father of twenty-one children, and died leaving $1,000,000, after a life as truck farmer at Flatlands, L.I. So deficient was Mr. Lahey's education that he was unable to write, and the will bears his mark instead of a signature.

Mr. Lahey's secret of success was contained in this statement, which he gave to his family and friends repeatedly: "I made my money in dealing with honest people."

He was generally too busy in farm work to indulge in any long conversations, but he liked to remark to his acquaintances that "King Edward and I were born on the same day."

John Lahey was born in Tipperary County, Ireland, in 1841. He came to this country in 1866, settled in Flatlands and began the life of a truck farmer. The farm he bought was previously owned by Levi P. Morton and Robert B. Coleman, one time proprietor of the Astor House, Manhattan.

After he had been in this country a few years he brought his mother and brother from Ireland. He was very religious and missed Mass twice in fortyfive years. When he began to prosper he married, and had ten children by his first wife. A second marriage increased the total number of children to twenty-one. Only nine grew to maturity. They are still alive.

Mr. Lahey speculated in real estate and twelve years ago he was offered $300,000 for his property at Flatlands and accepted, buying land at Lakeville, of about one hundred acres, which now adjoins the property of W. K. Vanderbilt, jr.

There are nine codicils to the will, which has six witnesses.

One son, John Lahey, receives the homestead at Lakeville, he being the only one that remained with the father. A daughter, Mrs. Anna Stattel, of Floral Park, also receives her share of the estate outright. The trust funds are: Mary Holleran, daughter, real estate and $10,000; Bridget Washington, real estate and $10,000; James Lahey, real estate and $16,000; William Lahey, real estate and $12,500; Thomas Lahey, real estate and $16,500; Anna Stattel, one-third of $82,000 outright; Ellen Lahey, life estate in $82,000; Rose Lahey, life estate in $82,000. Ellen and Rose Lahey receive all the household effects.

Rajah Mudah Weds

The Hon. Sylvia Brett at London To-Day.

New York, Feb. 22.—A Herald cable from London says: The Rajah Mudah, or Crown Prince of Sarawak, Charles Viner Brooke, was married this afternoon to the Hon. Sylvia Brett, daughter of Lord and Lady Esher, in St. Peter's Church, Cranbourne, Windsor Forest.

The bridegroom is a son of the reigning Rajah, who is a descendent of James Brooke, a young English naval officer and the hero of one of Charles Kingsley's novels, who received Sarawak as a present from the Sultan of Borneo, whose life and crown he saved when Chinese and pirates sought to overthrow him.

Now Cured of Rheumatism

Cost him $100.00 for medicines which failed—Cured by DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Mr. James Clark, Maidstone, Sask., writes: "I suffered for four years with rheumatism in my shoulders and could not lift my arms above the head. I tried nearly all the advertised remedies but none of them gave me relief. It cost me at least $100.00 for medicines before I used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

"With the use of this medicine, I soon found relief. I followed up this treatment for six months and was then quite free from rheumatism. While using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I also used Dr. Chase's Backache Plaster when so stiff that I could scarcely bend. They always found the weak spot and gave relief while the internal treatment was bringing about a thorough cure."

The success of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills has been phenomenal. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Dr. Chase's Recipes will be sent free on request.

LONDON, March 2.

There was a revival of interest when the Veto Bill approached the conclusion of the Second Reading stage to-day. The House was crowded for the first time since the debate began. Mr. Balfour summed up the views of the Opposition on the familiar lines, claiming that the hereditary principle was right, if the Lords was so formed as to make it the servant rather than the master. He wished to change the Upper House, because recent events had shown that it was not at present constituted sufficiently strong to carry out its proper functions. The present Bill, Balfour described as the result of coercion brought by the Irish party on the Government, and declared that its consequence would prove disastrous to the country. Concluding, he said that the Government had imposed their proposals on the country by fraud.

This declaration threw the House into an uproar, and cries of "withdraw" were general. The Speaker ruled that the term "by fraud" could be applied to a party without an infringement of the Rules of the House.

Premier Asquith followed, and expressed a feeling of relief because the Tories had, at last, informed the country that the real motive inspiring that party, which had taken up the reform of the Second Chamber, was to make it stronger against the chosen representatives of the people. As to the charge of fraud, and the pretense that the Liberals were prosecuting the Veto Bill as the result of party exigencies, these were the flimsiest ever made in the House. It was because the Lords were at present the masters that the Government meant to carry their proposals into law. The Commons, said Asquith, must predominate in the Legislature. The Second Chamber must only have the functions of consultation, revision and delay. It should be relatively a small body, not resting upon a hereditary basis, and must not in its origin, composition and attitude be governed by partisanship.

This is taken to mean that it is now practically certain that in the event of the Reciprocity Agreement failing in the present Congress, President Taft will call an extra session of Congress, said one of the Senators after returning to the Capitol. Taft has decided that there must be an extra session, and he will call it earlier than April 4th. March 20th is the date talked of at the Capitol to-day.
