Princess Victoria, and their presence served to prevent that summary justice being inflicted on Vigers and his brother rebels, which our conciliatory government is afraid to carry into execution, even when sanctioned by a legal tribunal.—Herald.

MONTREAL, May 28.—On Sunday morning the American Government steamboat Oneida, armed to the teeth, and filled with Yankee troops, came into Brockville harbor, and took up an insulting position before the town. Colonel Worth, who was on board, then sent on shore a message, demanding the restoration of the schooner Weeks, with a threat, that unless it was given up, together with the cannon, he would take them by force. He gave the authorities four hours to deliberate upon his demand. The town was consequently in a high state of excitement; the militia had been disbanded some weeks, but in an instant every man became a militiaman. The small detachment of the 73d Regt. stationed at Brockville, was called out, and every preparation made to chastise this Captain Bobadil, had he dared to put his threat into execution. The very best feeling prevailed in the town. In the midst of all this, some influential men there discovered all at once, that the schooner had been wrongfully seized, and, it is said here, bullied the Custom House Officer, until he consented to relinquish his prize.—This effected, they made immediate preparations to satisfy the clamorous demands of the Yankee Bully by returning the schooner and the gun:—when lo! as if the British name was not to be thus insulted, the British steamboat Traveller, Lieut. Harper, R. N., and the steamboat Kingston, having on board detachments of the 83d Regt. hove in sight. This changed the aspect of affairs, particularly as the first act of Lt. Harper was to order the Yankee vessel out of British water into the middle of the stream, which order was complied with in double quick time. We wish we could end the story here, but alas! what follows must be also told. The wretched and cowardly policy that actuated the Brockville authorities was persevered in after this act of Lt. Harper, and the schooner and the gun were delivered up to this Capt. Bobadil Worth, with which he sailed away in triumph!

We assert, and we defy contradiction, that a seizure once made, the Custom House Officer had no liberty to relinquish it until the action of the Executive is known; and it seems clear to us, that he has subjected himself to the loss of his situation by so doing. He should not have suffered himself to have been bullied out of his sense of propriety:—his duty was to have held on; he had the men of the town to back him, and the hearts of all Canadians would have cheered him for his resolute conduct. But to allow the cowardly Yankees to have triumphed in this manner is insufferable.—Ib.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.—We have to acknowledge the receipt of a Communication under the signature of "A Queen's County Farmer," giving a deplorable account of the state of the Church in the Parish of Gagetown. We have no personal knowledge of that part of the country, or of its affairs civil or ecclesiastical, but from all that we have heard, we believe the account therein given to be a true one. The language of the letter is also perfectly temperate and respectful to all the parties concerned. Although we cannot bring ourselves to believe, with our correspondent, that a newspaper communication is the best means of bringing the grievances complained of under the notice of the Heads of the Church, we should certainly have given it insertion, if we could ourselves see the remedy for it, or if the writer had pointed one out to us—The unhappy condition of the Church at Gagetown, with the exception of the "indistinct utterance" of the worthy Rector, "an infirmity" as our correspondent says, "which though great, he poor man, cannot get over," is that of by far the greater number of our country Parishes. There are, we are informed less than twenty Clergymen, and upwards of Fifty Churches. It is therefore physically impossible, that they can all be kept open on the same day, except Laymen be called upon to assist in the business. If we are correctly informed, the Rev. Gentleman referred to has three churches under his care. There can be only one remedy for this unhappy state of things: that is, an increase in the number of the Clergy:—but where and how can this increase be obtained? The Province itself cannot furnish it; and so great is the demand for clergymen in England, that it cannot be expected from thence. This Parish has for nine months been without an Assistant Minister, although every exertion has been used to procure one; and our churches have depended during that time upon occasional assistance from the neighbouring Ministers, or upon the services of Laymen. The same, we are told, has been the case with respect to one of the Parishes in Halifax. If such is the difficulty in obtaining Clergymen for wealthy Parishes, and large congregations like St. John and Halifax, the difficulty of making suitable provision for a place of inferior importance would be infinitely greater.

When the salary allowed our Clergy from home was large enough to afford with reasonable economy a comfortable subsistence, their number was increasing; and there was every prospect of the increase of the clergy keeping pace with the increase in the population. But when the salary was reduced, till it fell below the wages of an inferior mechanic, or common labourer, no one would be so unwise as to think of giving his son the expensive education which is required for the ministry, or of bringing him up to a profession which would consign him to hopeless poverty or bitter privation.—There is only one way for benefitting the Church, and that is by restoring the country clergy to the moderate salaries which they once enjoyed; and when the country livings are made what they ought to be, livings, not starvings, their number will be increased, and the means of religious instruction will keep pace with the wants of the country. If that be not done, the number will go on decreasing, till in the end the country churches will be left wholly unattended to. We fully agree with our respected correspondent, that something ought to be done to remedy the present state of things, and gladly will we devote our columns to the furtherance of so laudable an object; and accordingly we invite public attention to it, and request our friends in all parts of the country to favour us with communications upon it. To our Queen's County friend we would merely ask whether it would not be better to have a Rector with an indistinct utterance, than to have no Minister at all? for looking at the difficulty which is found to procure a clergyman for places like St. John and Halifax, that seems to be the only alternative.

☞ Mr. M'Lachlan's Communications came too late for insertion this week.
