Poetry.

CAN'T DO WITHOUT A PAPER.

What! do without a paper? no
I've tried it to my sorrow,
To subscribe for one, I'll go,
Nor wait until to-morrow.
Should lovers frown or hang themselves,
Or other foolish caper,
I'll never get to hear of it—
I do not take the paper.

Why, there's my neighbour, Jotham Strout,
He always has the news,
And having news to talk about,
He never gets the "blues."
While others yawn in ennui,
His mind is like a vapor;
The cause is plain to half an eye—
He always takes the paper.

While neighbour Strout hears all the news,
And knows each current price,
And always minds his P's and Q's,
By taking good advice.
I cannot tell the price of calves,
Of poultry, coffee, tape, or
Any kind of merchandize,
Because I take no paper.

Though I have studies which require
Much time and mental labor,
Yet I can spare a little time,
As well as Strout, my neighbour,
Though time be precious, I can use
A longer midnight taper;
And thus take time to read the news—
Therefore I'll take the paper.

THE BLIND BOY AT PLAY.

BY ELIZA COOK.

The blind boy's been at play, mother,
And merry games we had!
We led him on his way mother,
And every step was glad;
But when we found a starry flower,
And praised its varied hue,
A tear came trembling down his cheek,
Just like a drop of dew.

We took him to the mill, mother,
Where falling waters, made
A rainbow o'er the rill, mother,
As golden sun-rays played;
But when we shouted at the scene,
And hailed the clear blue sky,
He stood quite still upon the bank,
And breathed a long, long sigh.

We asked him why he wept, mother,
Whene'er we found the spots
Where periwinkles crept mother,
O'er wild forget me-not.
"Ah, me!" he said, while tears ran down
As fast as summer's showers—
"It is because I cannot see
The sunshine and the flowers."

Oh! that poor, sightless boy, mother,
Has taught me that I'm blest;
For I can look with joy, mother,
On all I love the best;
And when I see the dancing stream,
And daisies red and white,
I kneel upon the meadow soul,
And thank my God for sight.

VARIETY.

THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE.—It is spoken in England, Scotland and Ireland, in the United States and Territories, in the British Provinces including Canada, in the West India Islands and Bermuda, and certain colonies of the Main, in the presidencies of India, and may of the protected States; and every day evincing a greater desire on the part of the native to attain it as a mean of promotion. It is destined to be the language of Australia, Van Dieman's Land, Zealand, the South Sea Islands, and the Sandwich Island; if we may not say the Polynesian clusters as a whole. After such enumerations, you will scarcely pick up such items as St. Helena, Mauritius, Malta, Gibralter and Corfu. We have already pointed you to millions. In one parts of the earth is it on the wane, in many parts it is increasing with astonishing rapidity. With every new encroachment of Great Britiain in the East, or America in the West, the English language is borne to fresh victories. Whorever it goes, it makes entrance for our customs trade, opinions and books. The great classics of England are daily read in countries which the authors themselves never heard of and by those who lately had not heard of Great Britain. No other tongue spoken by men is making such adventures; and this for reasons presently to be hinted at. The ancient progress of the Greek, and, even the Latin, was geographically small compared with this. The expansion has been chiefly within the last one hundred years. Now that language has come to be justly regarded as one of the great factors in every philosophical and political calculation, this preponderating influence of a particular tongue must be acknowledged as one of the signal phenomena of the age. Nothing more unlikely could have been predicted 1,400 years ago, when, as they say, Hengist and Horsa, Saxon buccaneers, came over to Britian. By how large a portion of mankind the English language shall be spoken two hundred years hence, it would be wild to predict. But what is certain is, that at this moment it holds the balance of power among the tongues Whatever there is in it, of good and bad, tends to overspread the earth. A lover of his native tongue may then rejoice with trembling. Our literature and science are perpetully circumnavigating the globe.

RHUBARB OR PIE-PLANT.—We would recommend to every person having a good garden to plant half a dozen or a dozen roots of the rhubarb. The leaf stalks in early spring, long before gooseberries are large enough, make most delightful tarts, by some—and by the writer amongst the rest—preferred to the gooseberry. Plants may be raised from seed, but they require much care. It will be more convenient to purchase a small number of some approved variety. They should be set four feet apart each way, in very rich land and well prepared—the ground to be kept clean and lose at all times. The stalks of the Victoria and some other kinds are sometimes almost as large as one's wrist.

RULES FOR STUDY.—The other evening Professor Davies, the eminent mathematican, in conversation with a young friend of his upon the importance of system in studying, as well as in everything else, took a piece of paper and wrote off for him the following important rules:—

1. Learn one thing at a time.
2. Learn that thing well.
3. Learn its connections, as far as possible, with all other things.
4. Believe that to know everything of something is better than to know something of everything.

A seaman having his leg shattered by a ball during an engagement, underwent amputation with the greatest indifference to pain. When the limb was off, it was, of course, immediately thrown overboard; upon which Jack called out to the man performing the last office for his departed leg; "I'll complain of you to the captain. Although you were ordered to throw my leg overboard, you had no right to throw my shoe with it!"

An Albany editor says he didn't see why his place was not washed away during the recent flood there, unless it was because there was such a heavy mortgage on it.

MEDICAL REVOLUTION!

THE WORLD UNANIMOUS.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

THE GREAT COUNTER IRRITANT!

The virus of disease often makes its way to the internal organs through the pores of the skin. This penetrating Ointment, melting under the hand as it is rubbed in, is absorbed through the same channels, and, reaching the seat of inflammation, promptly and invariably subdues it, whether located in the kidneys, the liver, the lungs, or any other important organ. It penetrates the surface to the interior, through the countless tubes that communicate with the skin as summer rain passes into the fevered earth diffusing its cool and regenerating influence.

SKIN DISEASES & GLANDULAR SWELLINGS.

Every species of exterior irritation is quickly reduced by the anti-inflamatory action of this Ointment, Angry ERUPTIONS, such as SALT RHEUM, ERYSIPELAS, TETTER, RINGWORM, SCALD HEAD, NETTLE RASH, SCABIES (or ITCH) &c., die out, to return no more under its application. Hospital experience in all parts of the world proves its infallibility in diseases of the skin, the muscles, the joints and the glands.

ULCERS, SORES, AND TUMORS.

The effect of this unrivaled external remedy upon Scrofula, and other virulent ulcers and sores, is almost miraculous. It first discharges the poison which produces suppuration and proud flesh, and thus the cures which its healing properties afterward complete are safe as well as permanent.

WOUNDS, BRUISES, BURNS, AND SCALDS.

In cases of the fracture of the bones, injuries caused by steam explosions, BRUISES, BURNS, SCALDS, RHEUMATISM, STIFFNESS OF THE JOINTS, and contraction of the sinews, it is employed and warmly recommended by the faculty. This marvellous remedy has been introduced by its inventor in person into all the leading Hospitals of Europe, and no private household should be without it.

UNDENIABLE TESTIMONY.

The Medical Staff of the French and English Armies in the Crimea have officially signed their approval of Holloway's Ointment, as the most reliable dressing for sabre cuts, stabs, and gun-shot wounds. It is also used by the surgeons of the Allied Navies.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases:

Bunions,	Rheumatism,	Sore Throats,
Burns,	Ringworm,	Sores of all kinds
Capped hands,	Salt Rheum,	Sprains,
Chilblains,	Scalds,	Stiff Joints
Fistula,	Skin Diseases	Tetter,
Gout,	Swelled	Ulcers,
Lumbago,	Glands,	Venereal Sores,
Mercurial	Sore Legs,	Wounds of all
Eruptions,	Sore Breasts,	kinds.
Piles,	Sore Heads,
