PASTORAL LETTER.

4. Every year, at the time selected as most favorable by each pastor, a collection will be taken up on a Sunday or feast of obligation in all the churches of the archdiocese, and the result immediately forwarded to the secretary, to be placed at the disposal of the administrative council of the society.

5. Every month a mass shall be celebrated in the Basilica of Quebec to draw down the blessing of God on all the members of the association and on the colonists it assists directly or indirectly. The deceased members will also share in this mass.

The present pastoral letter will be read and published at the prone of all the churches and chapels of parishes and missions where public office is held, the first Sunday after its reception and later, each year, on the Sunday preceding the collection ordained by the society.

Given at Quebec, under our signature, the seal of the Archdiocese and the countersignature of our secretary, on the first of September, one thousand eight hundred and eighty.

E. A., ARCH. OF QUEBEC.

By His Grace's command,
C. A. Collet, Priest, Secretary.

THE CELTIC MONTHLY.

This popular magazine for October has come to hand. It is crammed so full of good things that it would be useless to particularize. It is one of the best of the monthlies and we hope the proprietors will meet with that large measure of success which they so richly merit.

DONOHOE'S MAGAZINE.

This popular monthly for October comes to hand bright and fresh as usual. The present number contains a portrait of Rev. Father Kavanagh, the pastor of Knock church, Ireland, together with an account of the wonders taking place in that now celebrated locality. The book also contains a large number of other articles equally interesting and timely.

THE CATHOLIC WORLD.

This excellent Catholic Monthly for October has come to hand. It is as usual full of interesting articles which will be perused with pleasure by thoughtful minds. Among the articles in the present number we find "The changes in Oxford," by Arthur Marshall; Chapters I. and II. of "A Woman of Culture;" "Austro-Hungary, its present position and prospects," "A Revision," (poem); "The Catalogues of the Manuscripts in the Vatican Library," part II., (translated by Miss Edes,) by the Commander J. B. De Rossi; "A Dish of Deplomacy," by John McCarthy; "Oberon and Titania" (poem) by Stephen de Vere; Chapter VII. of "Genesis of the Catholic Church," by Rev. A. F. Hewit; "My Raid into Mexico," by Nugent Robinson;" "The Early Catholic Missions of California," by Charles H. Robinson; "Three Catholic Poets," by Maurice F. Egan; closing with a review of new publications. The World can be obtained from D. & J. Sadleir & Co., Montreal. Price, $4 per annum, single numbers, 35 cents.

George A. Mathewson has opened out a stove and tin shop under the RECORD office. He has on hand a large stock of self-feeders and other stoves, and a well-assorted stock of tinware of all descriptions. Mr. Mathewson is a young man who is well-known and highly respected, and doubtless he will succeed in building up a good business.

N. Wilson & Co., the popular clothiers and gents' furnishers, have removed to their new and beautiful store, a short distance east of the old stand. The latter part of their business will now receive special attention, while those who require clothing of every description will be guaranteed satisfaction in both price and quality of goods.

Geo. Bawden, King street, advertises something new in this issue: Hanlan bedroom setts for $35.00. The articles are made up in the most substantial and stylish manner, and are a marvel of cheapness at this price. Call and inspect the setts.

John Moule, grocer, Dundas street, announces in this issue the arrival of a large lot of goods for family use. His stock of groceries are fresh and good, and prices for every article are cut as low as possible. This is one of the very best family groceries in London.
