MANY HONOR MEMORY OF DEPARTED JURIST

Men From All Parts of Province Attend Dorchester Funeral.

DORCHESTER, N. B., May 9.—Representative men from nearly every part of the province gathered here today to pay their last tribute of respect to the late Judge Hanington, whose remains were laid to rest this afternoon in the Dorchester rural cemetery. It was probably the largest funeral ever seen in the shiretown, and those in attendance were representative of all walks in life. A special train from Moncton arrived about two o'clock, bringing a large number of Moncton's leading citizens and also a number of prominent residents of the coutny from other points along the line, while a large number of well known people drove in from Sackville and from different points in the parish of Dorchester.

WILLING TO PUT A MILLION AS BAIL FOR C. W. MORSE

NEW YORK, May 9—Bearing the signatures of more than a score of men prominent in the banking and commercial world, a petition will be presented to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals tomorrow asking that Charles W. Morse, the convicted banker now in the Tombs, be admitted to bail, pending a decision on his appeal. That his friends stand ready to put up an almost unlimited amount of security is indicated by the petition which reads that "we, the undersigned, believing in the innocence of Charles W. Morse, of any intent to defraud the aBnk of North America, or to deceive the government officials, are willing to become responsible upon his bail bond for the sum of $5,000 each, without indemnity. We do this because we do not believe that he will leave the jurisdiction of the court, and that when his case is finally heard and understood, he will be acuitted.

A number of signers, according to Mrs. Morse, have agreed to furnish double or triple, or even ten times the amount stated in the petition thus assuring a million dollars or more, if necessary. The petition will be presented to the court tomorrow when a motion to set down for June 30, the argument for appeal is made. For some time past the movement to procure Morse's release on bail has been going on.

CANADA'S SURPLUS MAY BE OVER TWO MILLIONS

Hon. Mr. Fielding's Estimated Revenue is Being Exceeded.

OTTAWA, May 9.—Hon. Mr. Fielding's estimate in his budget speech that the revenue of the Dominion for the fiscal year closing March 31st last would be found when all returns were in, to be about eighty-four and one half million has been exceeded by over a half million. The accounts for the year will not be finally closed for a month or so yet, but up to the end of April the books of the finance department show a total revenue of $85,055,427. There will be a few additional returns of revenue still to be entered up, but these will be comparatively small The total expenditure on the consolidated fund account will not be definitely known until June, but if it keeps within Mr. Fieldings estimate the surplus for the year will be over two millions instead of a million and a half as estimated in the budget speech.

The Geological Service Department is preparing to send out to public schools for use in continuation classes natural history collections for students in botany geology. These collections have been sent to some schools and institutes.

BOSTON, Mass., May 9.—The strike of the 200 Hebrew bakers, who went out on May 1st, ended tonight, and the union will meet tomorrow morning to ratify the terms of settlement. The old wage schedule will be continued as requested by the union.

PORTLAND, Me., May 9.—The journeymen painters of this city announced tonight that they will go out on strike tomorrow and claim that 225 men will stop work. They ask for a flat wage of $2.75 a day and this the proprietors of the shops refused to grant.

REFUSED TO BE HIS BRIDE WHEN HE TOLD OF DESERT ISLE WIFE

St. Louis Lover Who Told Story of Remarkable Experience in Travel, Sends Expedition So as to Reconcile His Stubborn Fiancee.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 10—An exploring expedition into the wilds of Yucatan has begun in the interest of Miss Eloise Clark, a young woman of good family, and upon it depends whether her engagement to rank J. Thompson will be extended into marriage.

The couple were to have been married during Easter week. In January they were dining with two friends in the Southern hotel. Thompson, who has seen much of the world, related some of his experiences. When he had finished a story of one of his South American trips, 14 years ago, Miss Clark left the table, announced that the engagement was off, and hurried to her home.

The story was all about how Thompson was shipwrecked off the coast of Yucatan. He got safely ashore on Cozumel island and made friends with the gaily painted Indians. The Indians treated Thompson like a king. The chief of the Maya-Toltecs insisted that Thompson marry his daughter. He didn't care to, but the Indian frightened him into it.

"She was a pretty little thing," Thompson told his friends, "and took a fancy to me."

Thompson related how the kingly life got on his nerves and he was glad enough to be picked up by a fishing boat and escape.

At this point in his story his fiancee left the table. All efforts of the young man to reconcile Miss Clark have failed. She declares that unless she is given proof that his Indian wife is dead or has married some man of her own race she will not marry Thompson.

So the dispairing St. Louisian has induced some friends in Mexico to go to Yucatan and send a report to Miss Clark.

St. Louis society is excitedly discussing the case. It is recalled that in the case of Lieut. Burbank, U. S. N., a marriage according to tribal rites with a Filipino woman was pronounced binding, and the lieutenant was declared a bigamist for disregarding it and marrying an American girl.

AMERICANS DEMAND THE MOST LUXURIOUS COFFINS IN THE WORLD

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 10—The annual report of the coffin trust shows that there is a largely increased demand for rosewood, mahogany and quartered oak burial cases. Even the poorer classes are demanding the better grades of caskets. The average citizen now demands a coffin costing $100. The new style casket, a "couch," which opens at the side, exposing the corpse full length, has growing popularity. These may be elaborately trimmed in silk and laces.

Coffins sent to Europe average, in selling price, about $25. The trust managers say: "The people of the United States now use the most luxurious caskets in the world."

The local factories turn out over 200,000 caskets annually.

WIFE NEEDN'T USE HUSBAND'S NAME

TOPEKA, Kas., May 10—Atty. Gen. F. D. Jackson has given it as his official opinion that a married woman does not have to take the name of her husband unless she wishes, that a husband can take the name of his wife if he sees fit, or that both can change names without resorting to the courts.

The opinion was given in a case where a woman who was a notary public married. She desired to know if she could still serve as notary public under the commission granted her in her maiden name. The attorney general held that she could, but remarked that, since she has now married, she should drop the notary public business and attend to her househod duties. The opinion follows:

"There is no statute on the subject in this state of which I am aware. If this matter rests upon custom and the man has the right to change his name if he wishes to do so, I see no reason why the husband could not be known by one name and the wife by another.

"This would probably bring on their heads the criticism of society, but I do not know of any rule of law that would be violated by such conduct.

MURPHY BEHOLDS GHASTLY SIGHT ON ARRIVAL HOME

His Wife Found in Neighbor's Quarters Lying Dead Drunk in a Pool of Blood —Two Others Also Found in Stupefied State—Mrs. Murphy Has Close Call—Drunken Row Supposed to Have Taken Place

Mrs. John Murphy nearly met her death by loss of blood in Mrs. Hannah Collins' kitchen at 23 White street last night. Just how she was wounded is a mystery to the police, who have been working on the case.

The house, No. 23 White street, is owned by Mrs. Charles Brown, who with her nephew, Thomas Wilson, resides in the upper section. The lower apartment is occupied by Mrs. Hannah Collins, widow of Dennis Collins. She is over 70 years of age and her son, Charles Arthur Collins, a laborer, lives with her. In the rear of No. 23 resides John Murphy, his wife and daughter.

From all appearances there was a drunken spree in the Collins home Saturday night, and Mrs. Murphy was very badly injured as the result.

Mr. Murphy is a hard working man and took a little recreation Saturday night by attending one of the moving picture theatres. He returned home about ten o'clock, and finding his wife absent, and knowing that she was in the habit of visiting Mrs. Collins he called there, and the sight which met his gaze was a frightful one. Old Mrs. Collins, her son and Mrs. Murphy were lying on the kitchen floor drunk. Mrs. Murphy was lying in a pool of blood which had flowed from a big cut on the side of her head.

Murphy hastened to the central police station and alarmed the police with the statement that his wife had been cut and was bleeding to death.

It was while Murphy was on his way to the police station that his daughter hastened to the General Public Hospital, which was close by, and notified Dr. Ryan, who accompanied her to the Collins home. Thomas Nelson, who resides up sairs, called the ambulance, but before it arrived a stretcher was brought into use and Mrs. Murphy was carried to the hospital for treatment, and even after her arrival at the institution her drunken screams could be heard as far as Waterloo street, and being a large, strong woman considerable difficulty was met with in dressing the wound on the head of the rum crazed woman.

HASTENED TO THE SCENE.

When John Murphy gave the startling news to the police Sergt. Campbell and Acting Sergt. Scott hastened to the scene. Their repeated raps on the doors proved unavailing, and procuring a short ladder the officers were enabled to enter the house through a window and the kitchen resembled a shambles. There was a burning lamp on the floor, the floor was covered with blood, a couple of old underskirts were all stained red and saturated with blood while a basin on the floor was partly filled with blood, in fact nearly everything about the room was besmeared with blood.

Old Mrs. Collins was too drunk to get up and her son was also very drunk. When questioned they claimed they didn't know how Mrs. Murphy came by her injuries. Mrs. Murphy, however, had said before she was taken to the hospital that a pair of scissors had been used, and the police found a long pair of rusty tailor's shears on the floor. The end of the two blades were besmeared with blood and hair. A jackknife with the large blade open was also found lying on the floor. It is believed that there had been a drunken row in which the knife and scissors were the principal weapons.

Mrs. Murphy is said to have made a statement to the hospital officials, but they will not make it public at present. Sergt. Campbell gathered up the blood soaked garments and the scissors and took them to the central station. It is probable that the whole affair will soon be given an airing in the police court.

This is not the first time that Mrs. Murphy has received public notice. About a year ago while under the influence of liquor she attempted to commit suicide by jumping from the Suspension bridge. The Murphys came from Maine a few years ago. The woman is greatly addicted to the liquor habit.

A report from the hospital at an early hour this morning is to the effect that although the woman received a severe scalp wound and lost a great amount of blood her injury is not very serious and she will be about in a few days.

DEGENERATED, SAYS LORD BERESFORD

Navy Man Deplores Defects Which Have Recenty Developed in British Race

LIVERPOOL, May 8.—Lord Charles Beresford, upon whom the Liverpool University today conferred the degree of Doctor of Laws, took occasion to lecture his compatriots on the "deplorable physical defects that recently have developed in the race."

Lord Charles referred especially to the naval scare that has dominated England of late and declared that the nation had lost the old British method of looking at things with calmness and dignity. If the cabinet committee now considering the question of lack of naval readiness raised by himself found things as he had, no doubt they would, there would be no necessity of panic and recrimination, but the nation would have to reassert the old British spirits, see where things were wrong and calmly put them right.

TRIED TO RESCUE HIS LITTLE CHUM

TORONTO, May 9.—Mrs. George Farrell was burned to death in Sophiasburg Saturday. She went asleep leaving a lamp burning by her bedside. The oil exploded and scattered all over the bed. Her son rushed to her rescue on hearing her screams, but although he carried his mother out and extinguished the flames, she was so badly burned that she died in a very short time.

Official Referee Kappele gave I. F. Hellmuth, K. C., leave to make application for shareholders of Ontario Bank to have liquidators to contest the claim of the Bank of Montreal to rank as creditor of Ontario Bank. Hellmuth argued that agreement made between the two banks in October, 1906, was not properly ratified.

BOAT UPSETS; NINE DROWNED

WILKESBARRE, Pa., May 9.—Six men, a woman and two children, were drowned today in the Susquehanna River near this city by the capsizing of a rowboat in which they had started for an outing.

The nine persons started out for a boat ride in the small craft. While they remained close to the shore all went well, but as the boat drifted into the swift current it began to ship water. The occupants of the boat became panic stricken and called frantically for help. Some boys at play on the bank of the river heard the screams for help, but before a boat could be got the rowboat in mid-stream had filled with water and sunk. None of the occupants could swim, and they were swept down the river to their deaths by the rushing current.

None of the bodies has been recovered.

HARCOURT MERCHANT DEAD

MONCTON, N. B., May 9.— The Moncton High School basket ball team defeated Mount Allison Academy here Saturday afternoon by a score of 19 to 9.

John F. Dorothy, well known flour merchant, of Harcourt, died at ten o'clock this morning quite suddenly. He was well known throughout the province, and was a native of Ontario, coming to New Brunswick in the early sixties.

FRED L. JONES PASSES AWAY

OTTAWA, May 9.—The cabinet on Saturday had under consideration the capital case of Walter Blythe, the Agincourt railway man under sentence to be hanged on Friday next for the murder of his wife. It is understood that there is considerable difference of opinion as to whether or not the crime should be commuted to life imprisonment for manslaughter, and no recommendaton for commutation has as yet been made to his excellency. Blythe in a fit of rage beat his wife with a poker and she died from the effects of the blows.

Fred L. Jones, chief preventtive officer of the customs department, died at his residence here today after an illness of some weeks. He was sixty years of age and some years ago a well known member of the parliament press gallery. He was a nephew of Hon. A. E. Jones, ex-lieutenant governor of Nova Scotia.

MAY LOSE HIS SIGHT

The many friends throughout the province and elsewhere of the Hon. John Morrissy, commissioner of public works will learn with keen regret that he is in some danger of losing his sight.

Mr. Morrissy has been suffering with his eyes for about a month. The nerve is said to be affected as a result of excessive smoking.

Two or three weeks ago Mr. Morrissy consulted an oculist here, and when the local House prorogued he again came here to see an oculist, but he was not benefited to any extent and last week completely lost the sight of one eye.

The other eye is also seriously impaired and on Saturday evening the chief commissioner, accompanied by Mrs. Morrissy, left for Montreal for treatment.

A speedy recovery is earnestly hoped for.

ONE CONCERN OWES $85,000

MONTREAL, May 9.—Two big failures were announced on Saturday. Israel Grossman, doing business as the Canadian Shirt and Overall Co. and the Modern Style Clothing Co. owes $85,500 and there will be about $10,000 to be divided among the unsecured creditors.

Shaer & Eliasoph, ladies' garment manufacturers, have liabilities of about $34,000 and the unsecured creditors will have about $7,000 to divide. This firm had been in business about a year. Disatisfaction of the creditors has led to the arrest of Eliasoph, the financial man of the concern. He is out on a thousand dollar bail.
